C. E. Field Secretary Speaks

Russell J. Blair, Christian Endeavor Field secretary for Massachusetts, met the local Christian Endeavor society Saturday evening in the chapel. He stressed the importance of coming county, state and international conventions, but his real message was regarding "The Fidelity Campaign" which embodies four main objectives, open confession of Christ, service to Christ's church, loyalty to Christ's church, and fellowship.

The speaker had nothing against social life and forums, but said that these did not take the place of open confession.

Mr. Blair made it very clear that loyalty to the organization is not sufficient; only as the society serves the church of which it is a part, does it fulfil its mission. He said, "If we think just of ourselves, we are doomed to failure." Christian Endeavor literature was displayed and offered for sale.

Brainard Lyman of the Amherst Local Union presided.

Girl Scout Party

The Girl Scouts of Troop 2 enjoyed a party given by the Girl Scout Council at Mrs. L. G. Warren's house last Saturday. The girls arrived in two's and three's for fifteen or twenty minutes around two o'clock. When the Scouts were all there, Mrs. Wesley started the party by directing some games.

After one game was played, the guests hunted around for fortunes which Miss Warren had hidden. Some were green hearts for jealousy. One girl got a thimble and was doomed to be an old maid the rest of her days. The others got various comical things.

Then they adjourned to the kitchen to play more games. A number of games put together was called an automobile race. Different parts were things representing filling the tank with gas, blowing up tires, assembling of parts, towing in, and the final race.

The Oriole patrol won the most games for the afternoon and Patrol Leader Barbara Rowland received an aluminum drinking cup for the skill of her patrol.

Belchertown Easily Defeats Ludlow Big Five

By Noel

The Belchertown basketball team won its fifth game of the season, when it defeated the Ludlow Big Five quintet on the town hall floor last Friday night before a fair-sized crowd by a score of 40 to 25. The first half of the game was close and interesting, but the final period developed into a walkaway for the home team.

The visitors started off with a rush and soon took the lead after the game opened with floor goals by Rooney and Sullivan. Capt. Grayson then scored Belchertown's first points by dropping in a floor goal, followed with a similar toss by Williams. Rooney of Ludlow again came through with a double decker, a side court shot, after taking a pass from Cottini. Dyba then dropped in his only basket of the half. The local team now opened up a speedier attack and baskets by Williams, Grayson and Fairchild placed the home team ahead for the remainder of the game. But the Ludlow team kept up its fine work and left the floor at half time only three points behind, the score being 18 to 15 in the local team's favor.

It was in the second period that the Belchertown scoring machine started rolling and then the points came thick and fast. Williams and Grayson were wholly responsible for the heavy scoring in this period, for they were dropping them in from all angles.

George Williams furnished the heavy work for the home team with no less than eleven floor baskets and one free try for a total of 23 points, which was within two points of the entire Ludlow score. George said after the game that they were all "baby baskets". Capt. Grayson was second with five floor goals and two free tries for a total of 12 points. Em managed his usual hard game and managed to dribble through the entire visitors' defense several times during the game. Bill Bridgman seemed to have a "night off" for he could not find the hoop at all, but made up by playing a wonderful floor game. Jack Fairchild and Charlie Austin, the veteran guards, played their usual stellar games.

O. E. S. Meeting

At the meeting of Mt. Vernon chapter, O. E. S., Wednesday evening, the following were presented with past matrons' jewels: Mrs. Grace Schmidt, Mrs. Geraldine Howard, Mrs. Melvina Cutting, Mrs. Ninfa Collard. These received Eastern Star rings: Mrs. Maude Aspengren, Miss Irene M. Jackson, Mrs. Evelyn R. Ward. The presentations were made by Worthy Patron Belding F. Jackson.

There was singing by a quartet consisting of Mrs. William Bridgman, Mrs. H. A. Hopkins, Carl F. Aspengren and William Bridgman.

M. E. Church Notes

There will be special music at the morning service of the Methodist church, Sunday. In the evening the supplemented choir will render the cantata, "The King Eternal."

At the official board meeting Wednesday evening, reports from all departments for the entire year were received. The report of the treasurer showed that nearly all bills are cared for.

During the past year $114 has been contributed to the World Service, an increase of $75 over the preceding year. With the offering next Sunday morning designated to the same purpose, the showing will be even better.

It was voted at this meeting to add to the $50 left the church by the late Mrs. Mary Hinds, a sum sufficient to purchase a Wayside pulpit, to be appropriately inscribed with her name.

This evening will be held the last of the Holy Week services, the subject being "The Cross."

The pastor leaves next Tuesday for the conference in Westfield. On the evening of that day, previous to the opening of the conference, the Epworth Leagues of the Springfield district will entertain the other leagues at a banquet. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick, general secretary of the national organization, will be the principal speaker.

Yearning for Power

How earnestly man hungers for power! He yearns for it. He labors diligently to get it.

Man goes in for anything which will give him physical power. He will read "Science and Health." He will say each day, "I am growing better and better every day in every way."

If he is seeking power in athletics, he will deny himself luxuries and extravagances and undergo hard training and discipline. The youth studies early and late, they crowd the doors of our colleges and universities in search of securing intellectual power.

They long to be intellectual giants like Rabbi Wise or Dr. Cadman. The lawyer yearns for power to debate, the physician the power to heal, the clergyman the power to persuade. Every man wants power.

Moral power is of a higher order than physical power or intellectual power. Who does not long to have the power over a city's life which Dr. Washington Gladden had in Columbus or Calvin in Geneva? These are all noble aspirations.

When one sees how little power there is in a community to bring needful things to pass, one wonders if men are searching in right places and at the proper sources for power. And are we eager for the highest forms of power, or are we content with a lower form of power?

It is right to work for power. And then we must be careful to use that power unselfishly.

Austin was forced out of the game with about five minutes of play left, on account of a slight injury to his left leg. Connie Lynch ably filled his position for the remainder of the game.

For Ludlow, Rooney was the star player with six field goals for a total of 12 points. Cottini had his hands full at center watching the 'tricky' Em. Bobi, visiting right back, who plays on the Enfield five, amused the crowd with his "football tactics".

A Day in Florida

Rev. C. G. Burnham

The day began when a mocking bird awakened me with his matutinal song. A trip to the highland and lake region of the state was on the programme of the day. An early start was called for as the objective point was 75 miles away. A company that filled two commodious and luxurious auto busses gathered at the St. Petersburg office of the Haven Villa Company as their guests for the day to be shown the attractive property they are developing for home lots in the heart of the lake region.

It has been most slanderously reported at the north that food was lacking in Florida this winter, but no one of our party could have the temerity to report that there is any scarcity of house lots, as we passed section after section either developed or being developed, or about to be developed. You must use three tenses for the conjugation of the verb "to develop," the past, the present and the future. Much has been accomplished, much is being done and great things are promised.

Our route took us through Tampa, Florida's largest city, Plant City and Lakeland to Winter Haven, the city of 100 lakes. Before we reached Tampa, we crossed Gandy bridge, the longest automobile bridge in the world. With its approaches it measures six miles—that is some bridge, as they say. A bird walk over Gandy bridge would be a rare event in a bird lover's perambulations. What tantalizing glimpses we had of birds swimming in the water, walking on the sands, wading in the shoals or flying in the air, as the buss speeded along, ducks, herons, gulls, plovers, pelicans and others. The sun was shining brightly, the water on either side of the bridge was smooth and the birds were out enjoying life.

After leaving Tampa our course turned us from the coast and its monotonous levels and bleached sands. There was evidence all along our route that the cultivation of citrus fruits is a leading feature of Florida's agricultural life. But it is not the whole thing. We saw herds of cows, fields of peas, beans, cabbages, celery and other vegetables as we rode along. Plant City is the shipping center of a considerable region devoted to the growth of strawberries. Beyond that city we came into a region among the hills—such hills as Florida boasts of—more exclusively devoted to oranges and grape fruit. Winter Haven is in Polk County, which county we were told produces one-fourth of Florida's orange crop, and one-half of the country's golden fruit is shipped from its station. It takes more than half a dozen or half a score of trees to make an apple orchard in Belchertown. I had seen orange trees before I took this trip. When we reached Winter Haven I saw Orange Orchards. I saw the fruit bending the branches to the ground. I saw it in boxes by the roadside, waiting to be taken to the great packing house to be graded and made ready for the northern market. I saw it on the ground under the trees—wind falls or discarded as unfit for transportation beyond the orchard—in such quantity that the lanes between the rows looked like streets of gold. The land company had bought hundreds of acres of orange orchards for development into home lots.

The pioneers in the fruit industry of Florida who cleared these fertile acres that lie among the hills and border the lakes could not have found a more beautiful situation for orange orchards. And where could the men who have turned this land to other purposes find in this southern state a more beautiful spot for the building of a home than on one of these lots by the shore of one of Winter Haven's beautiful lakes.

After being taken in autos about this property to see its desirable features, we were ready for the lunch provided for us in Eloise woods, a section bordering on Eloise Lake. A lunch in February among the pines and other southern trees with the moss on the trees swaying in the gentle breeze and the mocking birds furnishing the music was a unique event in the life of a New Englander like me and undoubtedly in the life of others of our party. Needless to say, the lunch room, the food and the music were all enjoyed.

After the luncheon was finished we were invited to listen to the company's spokesman. This is a regular part of the programme of a trip like this on which we were taken, a free ride, a free lunch and the "lend us your ears." From points as remote in latitude as Alaska and Texas and in longitude as California and Maine, people had journeyed to Florida for the winter, a fact which shows the far reaching attraction of this southern state. It was an interesting story about Florida and its growth in recent years in population, production and wealth; and its prospects for further development were painted in glowing colors. The speaker emphasized, of course, the company's own portion of Florida, its attractions among the hills and lakes as a place of residence and its opportunities for profitable investment. He told us what the company had done for improvement of its property in the way of good roads and of water and light, and what it pledged itself to do to increase, if possible, the attractiveness of a spot for which nature had done so much.

The shadows were lengthening near the sunset hour when we boarded the busses for the return trip. Though Gandy Bridge was illumined by a line of electric lights stretching over its full length—a beautiful sight as we approached it—we could see no birds on the water as we recrossed it. They had sought their lodging places for the night and we, though well pleased with the delightful trip given us, were glad to be nearing ours.

Town Farm Inventories

Perusal of copies of old town and school reports, recently bound, yield a wealth of interesting information. The town farm inventory, for instance, contained in the 1852 report, is noticeably shorter than that published this year, and while the totals are not far apart ($4,834.75 in 1852 and $4,208.25 in 1926), still in the earlier inventory it will be observed that the valuation of the town farm and town house is included in the grand total, so there is some difference, after all.

By the looks of the prices of some of the vegetables, etc., evidently the appraisers hadn't seen 1926 quotations. My! but those potatoes would be a good buy, wouldn't they?

DODGE BROTHERS, INC.

Driver Escapes/ injury when all steel car turns upside down

An icy pavement between Piqua and Dayton, Ohio . . . traffic complications . . . and the car shown above plunged through a wire fence and turned completely over.

"The driver," reads the report, "only found it necessary to operate the window crank in the left front door and crawl out. He had not received a scratch."

Lucky motorist to have been driving a Dodge Brothers all steel sedan!

Imagine what would have happened, under similar circumstances, to a motor car with a body of wood—and to the driver!

Every automobile body should now be all steel just as every sleeping car is now built of steel.

All steel bodies are safer. Anyone knows that. Steel doesn't splinter. Steel doesn't burn. Steel is tough and strong—the modern ship metal—the modern aeroplane metal—the modern bridge and building metal.

That's why Dodge Brothers built the first all steel touring car eleven years ago—the first all steel closed car four years ago—and this year pioneered again in further perfecting all steel construction.

And remember that while nearly all types of motor car bodies appear to be all steel, most of them are simply frames of wood covered by a steel shell—a fragile substitute for the sturdy construction common to Dodge Brothers product.

Protect yourself—and family—with steel. Demand all steel automobile bodies.

They will stand up under impacts that would crush the average body to splinters.

And by substituting slim, strong steel columns for bulky wooden corner posts, they almost double driving vision—a safety improvement of transcendent importance.

Then there are Dodge Brothers dependable quick-action brakes to protect you. And a chassis possessing more pounds of drop forgings and costly alloy steels in proportion to total weight, than any other car built, regardless of price.

The car will continue to be a "four".

Boy Scout News

Last Wednesday was the first rainy day in Camp Deerfoot. We are glad to have a rainy day occasionally as it gives us an opportunity to accomplish tasks that seem difficult on pleasant days. Much was accomplished in the way of passing tests, and after a questionnaire by Scoutmaster Shaw it was found that nearly all the Scouts were qualified to go before a board and pass their second class Scout work.

Wednesday being the last day upon which Scouts could register, it was found that there were eighteen registered Scouts in Belchertown. The names of those registered have been sent to the Scout Executive in Northampton.

We have been adding a little equipment to our stock at camp though we still have room for some chairs, pictures, etc.

A new Scout has been added to our list, LeRoy Nutting of Granby. We are always glad to get in new Scouts. We hope that there will be many more added before long.

Belchertown Loses at South Deerfield

By Noel

Manager Eddie Parent and his strong Belchertown five traveled to South Deerfield Monday night and met their first defeat of the season at the hands of the fast Lathrops of that town by a score of 15 to 12. The game was one of the best ever played on that floor and, although playing amateur rules, the local team, strengthened by three Amherst players, put up a great exhibition of basketball. In fact, it was a close and interesting game, as the teams were within a few points of each other through the entire game, the Lathrops leading at half time, 8 to 7.

Hayes, of the winners, was the highest scorer of the night, with three floor goals and one free try. H. Parsons, star center, also played well, getting two baskets and two free tries. O'Brien was the leading Belchertown player, with three field goals. Capt. Grayson, although unable to score from the floor, tossed in three free tries. George Williams, with one twin counter, was the only other local player able to score from the floor.

It has been rumored that local basketball fans would like to see these teams in action here again.

Girl Scout News

The following letter from National headquarters has been received by the local Girl Scout council in reply to their protest against the ruling that church work is not considered a part of a Girl Scout's community service.

"The Standards committee at a recent meeting agreed to include church work as community service when the local Court of Awards or Council believed that it should be so included. In practically all small communities, a great deal of the town life centers around the church. When girls give their time without pay, to singing in choirs, serving at church suppers, securing and arranging flowers for church services, this should be included as a definite service to their community."

The Girl Scouts of Troop 2 have voted to hold a rummage sale again this year. Scouts Jane Shumway, Joan Rowland and Alice Hussey are in charge of contributions and will be glad to hear from anyone willing to donate articles for the sale.

The three months inter-patrol contest in Troop 2 has just ended. The Beaver patrol scored the highest record, although the Orioles and Bees were but one and two points behind the winning patrol.

PATHFINDER TIRES

Here's the real "low-down" on these Pathfinders that people are talking about, wondering, "How so much for so little money?"

Quality was the key note in designing and building these Balloons, Oversize Cords and Fabrics. Tremendous volume makes it possible to give high grade fabrics and compounds. Goodyear tire brains and vast plant equipment make possible manufacturing economies.

Cut open a Pathfinder and you will find it sound to the core—and full of this new Goodyear elastic, durable Supertwist cord fabric.

I sell them as cheaply as you can buy most Unknown brands; for less than the cost of mail order tires that you send away for, wait for, and mount with the sweat of your own brow.

Death of Edward W. Coomes

Edward W. Coomes, 76, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Effie Remington of Hartford, Monday evening, following a considerable period of ill health. Mr. Coomes was born in Haydenville Oct. 19, 1849, but spent most of his life in Belchertown where he was a carriage painter by trade. Of late years he had spent his summers here and his winters at the home of his daughter in Hartford. Mr. Coomes married Emma Holman of Ware, who died not many years after.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Effie Remington of Hartford, Conn., two sons, Thomas Coomes of Westfield and Willard Coomes of San Bernardino, Cal., also a sister, Mrs. Flora Condon, and a brother, John Coomes, both of this town.

The funeral was held in the chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2, Rev. D. L. Hilliard officiating. Burial was in South cemetery.

Entertainment Tonight

Although there is a dance tonight the Young Peoples Branch of the W. C. T. U. hopes that it can have a successful outcome to its entertainment. This entertainment will be held in Grange hall tonight at 8 p. m. The program will be something as follows:

Play—"A Good Girl" Miss Melvina Ola Campbell Miss Cornelia Esther Squires Elder Walton Bartlett Green Adam (good little girl)

Francis Quinn Deacon Peabody Bartlett Green Katie, the maid Ruth Shuttleworth Piano duet, Esther Squires, Dorothy Blackmer

Play—"Elsa, the Runaway" Elsa Benton Lillian Upham Mrs. Benton Jane Shumway Mr. Benton Walter Roode Mrs. Crook Minnie Squires Simon Crook, her son Donald Terry Recitation "A Greedy Chap" Harriet Squires

Mr. Lewis "What the Y. P. B. stands for" Miss Ross

Piano solo The Y. P. B. and L. T. L. owe thanks to Miss Martha Conklin who helped to make it possible to put on this program. They also owe thanks to the Grange which so kindly let them have the hall.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a Snow Drift food sale in the hall from 7 to 8, immediately preceding the above entertainment. Mrs. Slocum, county president, will be present and speak briefly.

Easter Service

The Easter service at the Congregational church Sunday evening was an impressive presentation in song, recitation and pageant of the Easter story. Assisted by the choir and by individuals in the parish, the Sunday School provided a program not only varied in nature but rich in devotional appeal. Especially was this true of the pageant, "The Triumph of Love," which closed the evening's exercises.

"Life," impersonated by Miss Frances Sauer, was visited by six heralds: George McPherson, who pictured life as a battle; Jane Shumway, a school; Edward Schmidt, as work; Ola Campbell as pleasure; Rachel Randall and Leila Stevens as poverty; and Louis Fuller as a journey.

Belding Jackson impersonated greed and self; Alice Howard, service; Marie Baggs, death; Maxine Fuller, fear; Evelyn Shumway, hope; Irene Jackson, faith; and Mary Howard, love.

The program follows: Hymn; Scripture reading by George Roode; prayer; song by children from Primary department; recitation, Catherine Doerpholz; exercise by Mrs. Taylor's class; anthem; recitation by Leila Stevens; song by Mrs. Bardwell's class; recitation by Evelyn Sessions; young ladies trio; March of the Seasons, Miss Howard's class; recitation, John Buchanan; recitation, Sylvia Randall; duet, Mr. and Mrs. William Bridgman; reading, Mrs. Stevens; hymn; pageant, "The Triumph of Love"; benediction.

Executive Council Meeting

The Belchertown Boy Scout Council entertained at supper in the chapel Wednesday evening the executive council of Hampshire County. There were twenty-three present, ten from Northampton and Amherst and thirteen from this town. A fine meat supper was served by Miss Conklin, Domestic Science teacher, and the older Girl Scouts. Arrangements for the evening were in charge of the troop committee of the local council.

This was one of the regular monthly meetings of the county organization, which are being held in the several towns having Boy Scout councils.

Grange Notes

The program at Union Grange Tuesday evening was in the form of a shadowgraph entertainment put on under the direction of Dr. Wilder. Instead of making one long story, there were several short scenes. The various parts were taken by some of the Boy Scouts: Bartlett Green, Wilbur Eaton, Donald Terry, Louis Fuller, Edward Schmidt, George McPherson and Walter Roode.

The Grange will hold another military whist party in Grange hall April 27.

Cooking Club Meeting

A monthly Cooking club meeting was held in the domestic science room on Wednesday, with Miss Helen Camp, president, presiding. The subject taken up was milk.

Helen Shea, Edna Howard and Avis Hussey were on the entertainment committee.

Persis Ritchie spoke on "Evaporated Milk"; Rose Menard, "The Value of Milk in the Diet"; Evelyn Shumway, "The General Sources of Milk and Characteristic Milk of Other Nations"; Beatrice Zitka, Sanitary Conditions under which Milk is Produced"; Jennie Rockwood, "The Percentage Composition and Properties."

The program was followed by a general discussion, in which state requirements were discussed. The Massachusetts requirements were compared with those of other states. The process of pasturization and certifying milk was discriminated, also milk as a germ carrier and State and Federal tests for Tuberculosis.

Helena McKillop and Frances Sauers served refreshments after the meeting, which were solicited from the members of the club.

Our Lack of Power

There is wonderful power in the world. What power there is in machinery, in electricity and in the whole scientific world! We stand aghast at the present day marvels. A push of the button releases power like that of a Niagara. There was never a time when there was as much power in the world as there is today.

And yet the tragedy everywhere is lack of power. There is lack of power in individuals. They have little power to rise above their environment and surroundings, above their problems and sorrows, so little power to carry on. There is lack of power in our schools. We have our standards, our ideals, but we do not have the power to live up to them.
We know how to live, but we do not have the power to live the life.

There is lack of power in the industrial world. The employer and the employee, the capitalist and the wage earner are not ignorant of the principles which when applied will bring order out of chaos, but they lack the power to apply the principles. That is the trouble in the political world and in the international world.

We lack power when it comes to moral issues. All the lawlessness is but an evidence of our lack of power.
People laugh at us because of our failure to enforce the Volstead Act.
We lack power as yet to cast out the devil of war.

What this community needs and the state needs and the nation needs is men and women of power. This is the crying need everywhere. We need to create in every hamlet men and women of power and then we shall not be so helpless. Why not set ourselves to the task of training men of power?

To Those Who Judge Quality by Price

The quality of Ford cars cannot be judged by the prices at which they are sold—because Ford prices are made possible by conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry.

From mine to market the Ford car is the work of a single organization. The Company owns and operates the mines and forests that furnish the raw materials for its products. This material is carried over Ford transportation routes, fabricated in Ford mills, manufactured in Ford plants—and the finished product is sold to the public through Ford dealers.

The following statement, previously made in an advertising message, is repeated because of its significance to the public:

"If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford, according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like Ford prices. And it is well to note that even with less costly design they have not met Ford prices."

"WE HAVE NEVER LOWERED THE QUALITY TO REDUCE THE PRICE"

A By-Product

Every once in a while a writer pines over the decrease in population and bemoans the fact that families are not as large as they used to be.
But do we realize that the paternal instinct which comes to its fruition through the care of those dependent upon it, may not become totally lost, even under the modern system?

The influx of chickens—thousands of them—in this community, leads us to this reflection. Already in the dark hours of the night, the twinkle of lanterns may be seen in the neighbor's door-yard. No, the baby is not sick and the father going to get a little medicine from the one living next door. It's simply that the night is a bit windy and possibly the fire needs refueling to keep that precious circle of chickens just 11½ inches from the hover. Oh, it was some job to get pa to get up in the night to warm the baby's milk, but even by the light of the lantern one can see that he's perfectly willing to get out of his warm bed and see that all's well at the chicken coop. That paternal instinct is being developed to a nicety.

Or watch pa the next day as he talks with the neighbors over the back yard fence. Not a peep about the League of Nations or the World Court or the latest crime of the Senate—it's simply a heart to heart talk about just the right mixture to feed the latest arrivals to have them live and grow up. Pa's interested in the Senate, but just now he's more interested in bringing up his family.
He wants his youngsters to come on as well as the Jones's and so he must be alert.

If anyone doubts the truth of the above logic, let him take a trip to the chicken house of any of these gallant gentlemen and see the feeding chart on the wall showing the hours for "giving them the bottle" and the hour for taking it away; the weight of that especially promising youngster on the twenty-first day of his existence; see those little bottles tucked in the corner of the coop, containing epsom salts, tobacco dust and cod liver oil for emergency cases.

Oh, something besides chickens come to Belchertown. To be sure, some of the over-anxious ones get a case of nerves, but right here at

OPEN FORMULA MASH

A large Co-operative association now comes out with another and later open formula Egg Mash, as follows:

680 lbs.	Yellow Corn Meal
340 "	Wheat Flour Middlings
340 "	Ground 40 lb. Clipped Oats
340 "	Standard Wheat Bran
300 "	Meat Scraps, 55%

2000 lbs. Egg Mash

Whether this is as good or better than the formulas formerly recommended can only be told by trying them, but we want to call the attention of all poultrymen to the fact that we can mix the above mash, or any other open formula mash, just as good as the people who claim so much for it, that we will use just as high grade goods, or better, and we think we can save you money. If you doubt our ability to do this, just give us an opportunity to quote you a price for a ton or half-ton lot. You can watch us mix it if you wish.

We have Cel-O-Glass in stock. Use it in your brooder house.

An Acre of Bran?

A city man bought a farm and was very much interested in planning his crops. A friend asked him what he intended to plant and he replied, "Ten acres of corn, ten acres of oats and ten acres of bran." If he had planted Alfalfa instead of bran, he would have had something as good or better than bran, with the prospect of a better crop.

Alfalfa is equal to bran in feeding value and furnishes much mineral and other matter that is needed by dairy cows. It will give three to six tons of hay to the acre, and will leave the soil in better condition than before. Alfalfa will not grow on wet land and most soils will need liming to correct the acid condition. Your County Agent will test your soil for you and advise how much lime it needs. He will also be glad to give you any other information you may need. For best results, all clovers should be inoculated before sowing.

We have Grimm's Alfalfa seed in stock and are now taking orders for lime. Try one acre this year. Alfalfa hay will reduce the amount of feed you will have to purchase.

from those who knew my father's family years ago. Two generations have come upon the scene since we left there, and but few of the names that appear in your columns are familiar to me, and our good old friends of other days are falling by the way very frequently of late. I was especially saddened when last month three of my good friends, W. L. Bishop, E. B. Sanford and W. F. Nichols, passed on so close together. These broken ties of friendship that come so often remind us of those lines of Thomas Moore, where he says:

"The smiles, the tears of boyhood's years, The words of love then spoken; The eyes that shone, now dimmed and gone, The cheerful hearts now broken.

I feel like one who treads alone Some banquet hall deserted, Whose lights are fled, whose garlands dead, And all but he departed."

Many of the older people in your town will be interested to have me state that not long ago I had the pleasure of visiting with the Shumway family who left Belchertown in the early '80's and came to the Territory of Washington; the three men folks and one of the girls took up homesteads on government land, the other girls with a high degree of courage and good business judgment invested their all in property in the outskirts of the then little town of Seattle.

For many weary years they had to struggle to keep up the taxes, and the many improvements and demands contingent on the building of a big city in the space of forty years, but with true Yankee courage they held on while many others were

Perhaps some people thought that the Y. P. B. and L. T. L. entertainment last Friday evening in Grange hall would appeal only to infants and invalids, but such was not the case. It was what is commonly termed a red blooded affair. Dr. McPherson of the State School, set all fears aside with his challenging address, made especially for the benefit of the young people occupying the front seats. The doctor started out with the proposition that in becoming a good man or a good woman one does something worth while, and that to attain this it is desirable that our lives be mixed in due proportion—not too much anger, not too much sorrow, not too much work, not too much play—in other words, temperance is a prime requisite.

Dr. McPherson flouted the teachings found in the old text books concerning the immediate harmful effects of cigarettes and alcohol, but proceeded to point out the exact dangers involved. He said that nicotine was bad for growing boys and girls, doing damage that can never be replaced. It interferes with heart action and causes shortness of breath which is the reason that those at the training table are required to abstain from its use. Because of this he said that it was imperative that young people leave tobacco alone until they are 21 years of age. On presenting this proposition of delayed use to the young folks present, there was a considerable response.

Hubbard-Ritter Wedding

TURKEY HILL NEWS

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hubbard Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock when their daughter, Bernice Loraine, became the bride of Mr. Robert E. Ritter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ritter of Holyoke. Rev. W. Harold Snape, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony, using the single ring service. A victrola furnished the wedding march. Evergreen, pussy-willows and bittersweet were used for decorations in the room in which they were married.

The bride was attended by Miss Madeline Sears. Lyman Hubbard, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Ritter as best man. The gown of the bride was of peach crepe de chine over pink silk embroidered with gold and brown. She carried bride roses. The bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a blue calfskin handbag and the best man received a set of white gold cuff links.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ritter will make their home in Holyoke.

May Dance

Mt. Vernon Chapter, O. E. S., will give a May dance in Memorial hall, Wednesday evening, May 5th. Music will be furnished by Bryant's Singing orchestra. Admission $1.50 couple, single admission 75 cents.

Takes on Two More Towns

J. B. Giguere, the local moving picture man, has taken over the movie business in Enfield and North Dana and starts this week operating in these two extra towns, formerly served by Mr. Smith of Enfield.

Mr. Giguere will each week show the same picture in all three halls, Thursday night in North Dana, Friday night in Enfield and Saturday night, here. He expects to show a better quality of pictures than formerly, owing to this new combination.

Goes to West Springfield

Rev. W. H. Snape, who has been pastor of the M. E. church for the past two years, will not return, having been appointed to the church in West Springfield. Rev. Mr. Snape has rendered most acceptable service here, putting on a program worthy of a city church. The Daily Vacation Bible school last summer and the church night series were due to his initiative. He has also rendered a valuable service to the community both as a leader at "sings" and as assistant scoutmaster.

The new pastor, Rev. Cato Dick, assumes the local pastorate Sunday. He was a Norwegian nobleman, whose father is one of the king's councillors, but who gave up his title for the ministry.

Garage Entered

Five balloon tires and tubes worth $300 were taken from the garage of the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., Tuesday night. A German Police dog, which is kept in the building at night, awakened the neighbors at 1 a. m., but seeing no light and hearing no further disturbance, they thought nothing of it. Small change in the cash register was not taken. A reward of $500 is offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons involved. The matter has been placed in the hands of Joseph V. Daly.

Social Union Supper

The Ladies' Social Union of the M. E. church will serve a hash supper with pancakes and maple syrup, rolls, pickles and doughnuts in the M. E. vestry, April 21st, at 6.30 for the low price of 35 cents.

Loving Cups Presented

At a meeting of the High School Athletic association Tuesday, loving cups were presented to the boys' and girls' Senior basketball teams, because of their superb work on the court this season. C. G. Moynihan made the presentation.

Dies in San Diego

Mrs. Mabel White Fenton, 83, died suddenly at San Diego, Cal., April 2. Mrs. Fenton was born in Belchertown, October 25, 1842, the daughter of Reuben and Emmeline (Snow) White. In 1867 she married Laban Fenton of Belchertown, who died in 1918. Mrs. Fenton had lived in the west for many years. She leaves one son, Myron L., of San Diego, and three brothers, Austin White of Sauk Centre, Minn., John A. and George H. White of Denver.

Boy Scout News

The program of scouting was continued last Wednesday afternoon at Camp Deerfoot. About six of the younger fellows, Junior Scouts, were invited to the camp to sort of get an insight on scouting. Altogether there was a good representation.

After a few preliminaries in military discipline the scouts started on a hike which was more of a quest. The name of the camp—Deerfoot—is used because of the fact that not far from the camp there is an imprint of a deer's foot in a ledge, and as none of the scouts have seen it, it is an object of interest whenever a hike is mentioned. The scouts split up, and after an hour's search all came back without having found the deerfoot.

After the hike, supper was cooked over the open fire. There are only two fires used, and the order and good fellowship displayed in getting the various things cooked, is really good to see.

Dr. McPherson and Dr. Westwell made a visit at the camp just as the boys were having their supper. As they were both mounted their coming seemed to lend a military air to the surroundings.

All of the scouts are now in the second class, or at least are prepared to pass their tests with the exception of two new scouts. They have passed their tenderfoot tests, and soon will be second class as they show a great interest in their work. Nearly all the scouts now have uniforms.

It is hoped that we can find some good material among the scouts for a ball team.

To Those Who Judge Quality by Price

The quality of Ford cars cannot be judged by the prices at which they are sold—because Ford prices are made possible by conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry.

From mine to market the Ford car is the work of a single organization. The Company owns and operates the mines and forests that furnish the raw materials for its products. This material is carried over Ford transportation routes, fabricated in Ford mills, manufactured in Ford plants—and the finished product is sold to the public through Ford dealers.

The following statement, previously made in an advertising message, is repeated because of its significance to the public:

"If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford, according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like Ford prices. And it is well to note that even with less costly design they have not met Ford prices."

The speaker said that liquor was another story, that there was no time in one's life when it could safely be taken. He pointed to the number of hospitals that have dispensed with its use with no increase in mortality. He said that liquor sets one's brain afire and caused one to behave, talk, walk and run his auto badly—it is a sure poison, quite in contrast with spring water which makes one feel better. "Liquor," he said, "is triply poisonous and you can't afford to tamper with it." He pled with the children not to be like jelly fish in fighting this demon, alcohol.

Dr. McPherson's concluding words were concerning the use of "dope," which he said was frequently taken by people who couldn't live with themselves. He doubted whether this would be a severe temptation in the lives of those before him. "Not more than 10 per cent of drug addicts," he said "acquire the habit because of its prescription medicinally." The doctor said that many of our notorious criminals are connected with dope users or use it themselves. His concluding advice was, "If you are going to amount to anything you've got to be different from the fellow who doesn't amount to anything."

Dr. McPherson was fearless in his comment on the notoriety of Belchertown as a place to easily get one's thirst quenched and spoke of the wickedness that had been carried on in high places.

Following a duet by Miss Esther Squires and Miss Dorothy Blackmer, Mrs. Slocum, president of the Hampshire County W. C. T. U., commended the local organizations for their activity and said that the Belchertown Y. P. B. is the only branch in the county. Mrs. Slocum, in her usual vivacious manner, spoke of the wisdom of Dr. McPherson's words and held before the young people the goals of united endeavor in law enforcement, making everybody realize the value of total abstinence and the necessity of living lives of purity—in heart, thought, word and deed. Mrs. Slocum was introduced by Mrs. Etta B. Randolph of the W. C. T. U.

The play, "Elsa, the Runaway," a real thriller, was then put on by the young folks to an appreciative audience.

Miss Ross, instructor at B. H. S., then rendered two piano solos, after which a second play, "A Good Girl," was presented. The success of both plays was greatly enhanced by the coaching of Miss Conklin, while to the chairman of events, Bartlett Green, president of the Y. P. B., goes considerable credit for the successful presentation.

The receipts from admission and from the sale of home-made candy were $18.34. The W. C. T. U. held a food sale in conjunction with the event.

Yesterday was the first day of the trout season and an exceedingly chilly one for fishing. A local sportsman said that there were 30 on Jabish brook between Bruce's mill and John Woods—when they were not in the house getting thawed out. One man came back with his teeth chattering so that he could give no intelligible information concerning his luck. But from other sources we learn that several had a successful catch, Clifford Rawson, Howard Spencer and Harold Kimball getting seven trout apiece.

Mrs. Raymond Goodell of Dwight has been assisting at the post office while Postmaster A. L. Pratt is recovering from the grip.

The third in the series of old-fashioned dances will be given in Memorial hall this evening. Mr. Connelly of Springfield will again be prompter and his orchestra will furnish music. These dances, sponsored by several married couples, have proved very popular, especially

Hash and Pancake Supper

There were about 70 at the hash and pancake supper at the M. E. church Wednesday evening. The hash was so good it had hard work to stay on the tables, while the pancakes actually went like hot cakes. But the ladies kept bringing them on, so that the men, who knew from experience something of how things were flying in the kitchen, gave up trying to corner the market.

The committee in charge were Mrs. H. H. Witt, Mrs. Mabel Stebbins, Mrs. E. F. Shumway, Mrs. H. W. Conkey, Mrs. W. H. Ballou, Mrs. R. E. Chamberlain. Mrs. Shumway and Mrs. Conkey had charge of the griddle cakes, while Mrs. Ballou supervised the making of the hash. The fine maple syrup, which was especially fine, was contributed by Mrs. R. A. French.

Notes Anniversary

Rev. D. L. Hilliard prefaced his sermon last Sunday morning by remarking that while to the congregation that Sabbath was probably like any other, it was very significant to him, as exactly 40 years ago, even to the day of the week, the day of the month and the hour of the day, he preached his first sermon. With the exception of a year and a half while in the seminary, he said that he had had preaching appointments for every Sunday and was able to fill them all but twice when he was sick.

Mr. Hilliard has averaged two sermons a Sunday since he began his ministry. His first sermon was preached at East Fairfield, Vt., while he was a student in preparatory school.

Junior Prom in Memorial hall.

Neighbors' Night

Neighbors' Night at Union grange attracted about 150 “neighbors” and local patrons. The visiting granges, Ludlow and Amherst, gave interesting programs. That furnished by Ludlow was as follows: Selection by 4-piece orchestra; song, Warren Fuller; reading, Mrs. Potter; harmonica trio, Robert Munsing, W. M. Fuller, A. H. Cole, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Munsing; selection by the orchestra; reading, Mrs. Rhodes; solo, Miss Fiske; accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Wright; selection by the orchestra.

Amherst's presentation was especially novel, being in the form of a radio program broadcast from station WOLF, whose Park View studio was just back of the curtain. The familiar voice of the announcer was that of George Williams whose celebrities rendered the following program: Bedtime story, Miss Holina Doughnut (Mrs. Moriarty); Gould's World-Famous 3-piece jazz band (Dorothy Keyes, Virginia Keefe, Frank Durant); sermon, Rev. Hezekiah Pettibone (Mrs. Charles Goodale); song, Duncan Sisters (Dorothy Keyes, Virginia Keefe); Irish tenor solo, Isadore Rosenberg (Frank Durant); song, Duncan Sisters (Dorothy Keyes, Virginia Keefe); tenor solo, John McCormack, Jr. (Dan Moriarty); basso-profundo, Madam Tobasco (Gilbert Thomson). After giving the unofficial weather report, the station signed off.

Refreshments were served by Union grange and dancing followed.

Fire at Dwight

The house, barn and large poultry house owned by William F. Schwartz on the Gulf road, was burned to the ground Monday morning. Two new brooder houses were saved, but nothing else, either furniture or clothing. $700.00 was in the house and was consumed. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Schwartz, but was under such headway that nothing could be done. In fact there was only time to get the elderly father and mother, still abed, from the building. The fire department responded to the alarm, but to no avail. Within a half hour from the time the fire was discovered, the house and barn were levelled to the ground.

There was $1,200 insurance on the property, which was valued at $8,000. Mr. Schwartz expects to rebuild.

Store Property on Market

The store on Main street, formerly used by D. D. Hazen as a general store, is now on the market, the judge of probate having granted permission to Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, trustee of the H. D. Longley estate, the permission to sell, as requested by the Belchertown Historical association, the legatee.

This property is by common consent the most desirable business location in town and should find a ready purchaser. The building is somewhat larger than it was in the old days, additions having been put on in the rear, the cellar enlarged and a modern store front added on the street side.

At present, M. J. McKillop has a meat market, and A. H. Phillips, Inc., a grocery store in the building, while half of the lower floor and all of the upper has been vacant since D. D. Hazen closed out his business in 1924.

Previous to occupancy by the Hazens, around 1895, the store was operated by the Longley family. Mr. Hazen has in his possession early store account books showing that the building has a history. These reveal that gin as well as groceries found its way over the counter at this store, while evidence still remains of a tobacco shop operated on the second floor. Part of the time this story was used as a tenement.

Although used for different purposes, it is evident that the property has been sort of a family possession and it is an uncommon event to have it on the market.

Boy Scout News

The program at Camp Deerfoot last Wednesday afternoon was as follows: 3., assembly and roll call; 3.15, flag raising; 3.20, conferring of 1st and 2nd class badges by Scout Executive Hendrickson of Northampton; 3.30, close order drill; 3.45, hike in search of Deerfoot Rock; 4.45, preparation of supper and eating. 6.00, retreat.

It was a very eventful day. Fifteen of the Scouts received Second Class badges, and two received Tenderfoot badges. These were duly presented by Mr. Hendrickson of Northampton.

After having a little close order drill, a hike was started which included the finding of Deerfoot Rock. Scoutmaster Shaw having given the direction and location of the rock.

Hampshire East Association Meeting

The spring meeting of the Hampshire East association of Congregational churches will be held at Packardville next Tuesday. Following is the program: 10.30 a. m., devotional, Rev. Frederick N. Rutan of North Hadley; business; report of the statistical secretary; report of the committee on religious education; discussion. 12.30, dinner. 2 p. m., devotional; topic, "The Church in the Community," "Its Organization," W. F. Forward; "Its Ministry," W. H. Atkins; "Its Social Program," Frank Parsons; "Its Service Program."

The delegates appointed from the local church are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bond and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Randall.

Mr. Hendrickson used his method of searching. That was, spreading out in fan-like formation. The scouts each secured a "buddy" with whom to keep in touch. At the rear of the line could be seen Scout Rhodes with his charge, Milton Chamberlain, perhaps the smallest of the Junior scouts, but none the less lively. Eluding the watchful care of his guardian he was at times hard to manage.

There were six Junior Scouts at camp last Wednesday and all show promise of becoming "Good Scouts."

Scouts Nutting of Granby and Fairchild of Belchertown were the two who received tenderfoot badges. Judging from their interest in scouting, it won't be long before they wear the 2nd class badge.

Quabbin Club Pictures at Enfield

Flower and travel pictures of Holland will be shown in the town hall at Enfield on Monday evening, April 26, at 8, (daylight saving time) by the women of the Quabbin club. The program of music, pictures and stories is planned by the club in observance of National Garden week.

The three pictures of Holland, entitled, "In Tulip Land," "A Pair of Wooden Shoes," and "Let's Go Fishing," tell the story of the country from which come the loveliest tulips, hyacinths, narcissus and daffodils. When these pictures were shown in Holland, the people received them with delight. There was spontaneous applause after each picture. There is no conventional movie story—they entertain by a succession of beautiful scenes and amuse by the dry, typically American humor in the titles.

The admission for adults will be 20 cents. It is hoped that a sufficient number of adult tickets can be sold to enable the club to admit children attending school in the village free of charge, otherwise a fee of five or ten cents will be necessary. Here is an opportunity for people who love clean, beautiful pictures to help.

To Whom It May Concern

We Girl Scouts have been very slow, As you outsiders probably know; So we're going to show when we get to work, As Girl Scouts we don't know how to shirk.

So sometime in the month of May On some bright sunny day, We're going to show you in a different way Where to buy some things that pay.

Then just notify us some day Of anything that's in your way, Of anything under the sun's ray That you think will help us in any way.

Now we've kept it just as still as a mouse—

It's where Mr. Morse had his Boarding House.

Attorney John C. Hammond, who died Wednesday at Northampton, will be remembered by the older people as one who as a young man, taught school here, at least during one winter term at Cold Spring. He was greatly beloved by the people of the district, to whom he ministered in many ways. His willingness to sacrifice much to avail himself of every helpful influence, is remembered by those who knew him.

The Ladies' Social Union will hold a thimble party with Mrs. A. R. Ketchen next Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. All ladies are especially invited.

The annual meeting of the Belchertown Historical association will be held at the Stone House next Wednesday evening at 7.30.

Miss Edith Shaw of Springfield was the week-end and holiday guest of the Misses Howard.

Dr. Harvey M. Watkins, former senior associate physician at the State school, broadcasted a talk from station WEEI at Boston Wednesday noon. Employees at the school were pleased to hear their former chief.

The new Boston and Maine timetable has been received. Translated in terms of Daylight Saving, the schedule is the same as heretofore with the exception that the early morning train to Boston leaves one minute earlier on week days and ten minutes later than usual on Sundays. The C. V. table has not been received.

The body of Mrs. Della White Redner, who died at Stony Point, N. Y., last December, will be brought here for burial in the family lot in Mt. Hope cemetery, on April 30th. Committal service will be at 2.30 p. m.

Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Stone and children, Ashton and Nancy, of Hyde Park, have been guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Aspen-gren.

Novel Camping Outfit

It is said that if a man can make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to his door. Likewise the world seeks out a venturesome spirit and is curious to know whither his dreams will lead him.

All this has a local application. While others have been "pawing over" "ready to use" camping outfits in the mail order catalogues, H. D. Hoag has been working away on a model all his own, and his creation has developed so uniquely that the curious have on very little pretext made it a point to get a glimpse of this house on wheels, for such it really is.

The startling thing about this house as one glimpses it is that you can literally "raise the roof" of it. Man's permanent habitat is usually a story and a half or a two story structure, and thus it remains until some carpenter, at considerable expense, changes it, but this camping outfit yields a luxury not attainable at home in that it can be raised and held in place at any desired height, or removed altogether. No back-breaking attitudes are necessary in this combination kitchenette, dining room and bed room, and "stuffiness" is unknown. The roof is of thin boards and is supported by six posts notched to receive the irons that hold it in place, while curtains are intended to serve as side walls for this adjustable upper story.

Not only can the roof be raised but an extra room can be added at the rear—and dispensed with just as easily, by reason of an extra floor that slides backward and forwards. Double doors at the back open into this extra room.

Besides these unusual features, there are cupboards on either side, two wardrobe closets, one attached to each section of the double doors, and two drop shelves, all replete with catches and accoutrements that one cannot wholly absorb on a single inspection.

Lockers have been built in between the floor and the running board. In fact all the space on the car has apparently been utilized, except that between the spokes of the wheels.

There are small windows on either side, and in front a large, four-light window, horizontally placed, serves as a windshield.

The outfit is not yet ready for the road, although it is rapidly assuming shape, and if it was its destination has not been determined, even though kind hearted neighbors are sure that it will see Florida some day and are anxious to know the exact time of departure. Perhaps they're right and perhaps they're not, but this house on wheels is certainly the most novel 1926 model yet turned out in this old carriage town.

The Girl Scout council will meet with Mrs. L. G. Warren Monday evening.

As the fiscal year at the Congregational church ends May 1st, renewal of pledges is requested next Sunday.

Beginning Sunday the bus lines will run on the same hours as heretofore with the exception of the last trip Sundays and holidays, which will be one hour later.

Forest Fires

These are busy days for Forest Fire Warden, J. H. Cook, and his men. Mr. Cook's records show that 62 persons are on the payroll of fire fighters this week. Yesterday afternoon the observation man at Mt. Lincoln notified him of a fire between here and Granby.

Mr. Bridgman responded with 11 men, and found that the fire was just over the line and was caused by a brush fire out of control.

On Monday the warden was called to a fire on the Belchertown side of the Ludlow line. This fire got a second start which caused a lively battle between 6 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Other calls this week included a grass fire near James Lodge's Sunday, another at Lake Metacomet which ran under the cottages there and scorched the clapboards, one on Monday at Hillcrest farm and another at W. H. V. Belding's. Tuesday the warden was not called out.

About fifty, including guests from Amherst, attended the military whist party conducted by Union grange Tuesday evening. Honors were as follows: High scorers, Thos Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis, Mrs. E. C. Howard; low scorers, Miss Dorothy Peeso, Miss Marjorie Peeso, Miss Helen Camp, Miss Alice Howard. Dancing followed until a late hour.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Second Congregational church, Amherst, will present the play, "Home Ties," in Grange hall Tuesday evening, May 11, under the auspices of Union grange. This is a two hour production which is to be given at Easthampton, also. An orchestra will come with the troupe and furnish music for the dancing which will follow.

Boy Scout News

A rainy day at Camp Deerfoot usually means more play than work. And last Wednesday was no exception to the rule. No sooner had routine started in earnest than it began to rain, necessitating the curtailing of duties, which had been laid out. However there was time to get the grounds cleaned up, and at the present time the camp and surrounding grounds look fairly respectable.

Instruction by patrols was carried on in the patrol rooms for a period of about an hour. Of course the Junior Scouts were left out of this part of the program, and under the direction of Patrol Leader Robert Camp, they played games while the others were given a few more ideas on scouting.

On April 17 Patrol Leaders McPherson and Green went to a Patrol Leaders' conference at Northampton. Much valuable information was gained and they came back with many new ideas to impart to members of their respective patrols. A program of events which they brought back with them certainly showed that the time was not spent in idleness. They came back Monday, April 19th.

Annual Meeting of Historical Association

The annual meeting of the Historical association was held at the Stone House Wednesday evening, President J. W. Jackson presiding. Reports of the various officers showed a sustained interest in the organization and its work. The custodian reported that during the last fiscal year there have been 435 guests at the Stone House, including a number of large delegations.

Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, trustee of the Harriet D. Longley estate, of which the association is legatee, filed an inventory of property and assets placed in her care and reported on the matter of selling the store block on Main street. As in a previous meeting when more definite action was taken, a disposition was manifested to sell the tenement house on Maple street in case opportunity offered.

It was voted to construct a picket fence on the east line of the Stone House property along the new boundary made possible by the acquisition of a 30-ft. strip of the so-called Davis house lot.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Trustees, Mrs. M. D. S. Longley, Miss Marion E. Bartlett, Mrs. Leila S. Curtis, Miss Ella A. Stebbins, Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, Willard A. Stebbins, Everett C. Howard, Mrs. Louise Sherman, John W. Jackson, Lewis H. Blackmer, Myron G. Ward, Fred D. Walker, H. F. Curtis, Marian E. Bardwell, Wesley M. Goodell.

High School Wins in Opener

Coach Connie Moynihan's high school baseball team opened the season auspiciously last week by defeating both Holyoke High, 9-8, in a practice game, and South Hadley Falls High, 18-13, in a regular scheduled game.

Although the Holyoke game was not scheduled as a regular game, yet the local boys worked splendidly and defeated them in nine full innings. Coach Moynihan's charges were in the lead at all times. Tommy Landers proved invincible while pitching. He pitched air-tight ball, allowing no hits nor runs while in the box. However, Coach Moynihan tried out Dunbar, a novice at the game, as a relief pitcher, and he, too, worked well. Captain Mike Keyes, star third baseman, was on the side lines, due to an injury received a few weeks ago.

On Thursday afternoon, the boys again showed their wares by taking Coach Geremonty's South Hadley Falls' nine into camp. Regardless of the large score, the game was fast and interesting at all times. The Falls' lads led 4-3 until the seventh inning, but the locals renewed the fighting spirit which has always predominated in Belchertown, and took the lead by knocking in six runs in their half of the seventh. From this inning on there was no question as to the outcome of the game. Here again Tommy Landers, the ironman, performed splendidly in the box, allowing but seven hits. Capt. Mike Keyes was placed in center field in the sixth inning and played his usual stellar role.

Coach Moynihan can claim the honor of having one of the best high school third basemen in this section in Mike. In addition to these men, the hitting of J. Keyes and Gustafson, a newcomer, featured for the locals, while the slugging of Aitken featured for the Falls nine.

Control Work of White Pine Blister Rust

Three inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture will be stationed in the eastern section of Hampden and southern Hampshire counties during the coming season to assist pine owners in protecting their land against the white pine blister rust. This work will start about May 1st, and continue into September.

The control of this disease consists in the eradication of all currant and gooseberry bushes, both wild and cultivated, within 900 feet of pine. No other method of control is possible. Black and flowering currants (spice-bush) cannot be grown anywhere in the state, nor can any species of currant or gooseberry be sold, transported, or planted henceforth in the towns of Brimfield and Belchertown. Holland also falls in this latter class, as control work has been completed there.

It is planned to complete control work in the townships of Brimfield, Wales, Monson, Palmer, Ware and Belchertown during this season. To accomplish this it will be necessary for the department to have the active cooperation of every owner of pine timber or reproduction, as well as the equally active cooperation of every owner of cultivated currants or gooseberries where the latter are a menace to pine.

Under the present cooperative scheme, the state furnishes the services of an inspector free of charge to every pine owner to instruct the owner in the nature of the disease and its control, and to assist him in controlling it on his own property. In return for this service, the state requires the owner to go out with the inspector to show the latter the boundaries of the property and to assist him in eradicating any currant or gooseberry bushes found.

Any person desiring further information regarding this disease, or desiring an examination of his pine lot, can obtain the same by communicating with Ralph E. Wheeler, Blister Rust Control Agent, 719 Bridge Street, West Springfield, Mass.

Owing to the severe weather, unusual at this time of year, line 35 is doing some queer stunts. It frequently happens that two parties carry on a conversation at the upper end and central rings in and connects a second, while perhaps a horse trade is completed without much interruption to either conversation.

C. R. Green has been transferred to the 53 line which has heretofore been a two-party line. We wish him luck. If you want him, call 53-4.

MORTGAGEE'S FORECLOSURE SALE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Sarah Olive Eastman Hickox to Amanda W. Ewing, dated January 26, 1924, recorded with Hampshire County Registry of Deeds, Book 800, Page 94, and for the breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the highway in front of the dwelling on the premises, on Saturday, May 8, 1926, at 8 o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises described in the said mortgage deed as follows:

Beginning at a stone on the east side of Hill Street, thence northerly on said Hill Street one hundred forty-eight feet to an iron pin; thence easterly on land of one Briggs (formerly of Lyman Sherer) ninety feet to an iron pin; thence southerly parallel with said Hill Street, one hundred twenty-eight feet to an iron pin at land formerly of Mrs. Jefferson Southwick; thence westerly on land formerly of said Southwick to place of beginning. Containing forty-five rods more or less, together with the buildings thereon standing.

Also one-half interest in a well and ditch to convey water from same well to the buildings, a distance of about thirty rods. The grantee to keep well and ditch covered or filled so long as she may own the said land and rights, and not to pass title to another except as such other or others shall assume the same obligations to fill or cover the said well and ditch.

Being the premises deeded to me the twenty-fourth day of January, 1924, said deed to be recorded herewith; said deed given by the Grantee. Subject to rights to lay water pipe across said lot. Terms of sale, cash at time and place of sale.

It will be noticed that there are no home games this year. The management has decided to postpone home exhibitions till such time as a suitable ball field is made available here. They hope that the "town fathers" or some others interested will see that a suitable field is provided as the park is considered unsatisfactory by reason of the trees and the limited space. In the meantime the townspeople are asked to go with the boys to their games and help root them to victory. Most of the games start at 3.30.

Be Neighborly!

If you are one of those who have written for The Charles William Stores' Catalog of big bargains and have not received it we are sorry. The reason is, an amazing demand for this book has exhausted our supply. We earnestly ask you to borrow a catalog from one of our customers—there are many in your community—and we are sure they will oblige you . . . and us.

Of our old customers we ask please help us and your less fortunate neighbors by loaning them your catalog for awhile. We could not foresee how great the demand would be for this catalog and as our Special Midsummer Sale Catalog will be published so soon—May 15th, it seems hardly practicable to print a fresh supply of the big book before the special sale catalog is out.

We have all the big bargains that have made our catalog so popular and created the huge demand, but unfortunately we have no more books. However, if our old customers and new ones will cooperate with us they will render a real service to us and to their neighbors. We thank you.

FRIDAY

Observes 80th Birthday

"Yes sir, I'm just 80 years old today." With these words, Dwight F. Shumway, Belchertown's veteran tax collector, greeted his friends last Friday. They were not spoken from a sick bed, either. He took his usual early morning walk over street and boyishly proclaimed his anniversary as he rubbed elbows with his fellow citizens. He had a cane, but he did not lean heavily upon it. It was rather an accoutrement that properly attaches to one who has reached his four score land mark.

Mr. Shumway was remembered with cards and presents and on Sunday his family came home to celebrate this anniversary, about twenty being present. On this occasion Mr. Shumway reminisced a bit regarding his boyhood days.

He recalls with great vividness his early years spent in the center, his acquaintance with noteworthy families, among them the Lawrences, for whom he ran errands, his later residence with the Sabins in the Cold Spring district, and can tell many stories connected with the early life of the town.

He remembers when the town was wholly Protestant and the entire population was the minister's parish. He recalls the coming of the first Frenchman to town, a man who took up his residence on the G. E. Scott place, formerly known as the Anderson place. Mr. Shumway also remembers the coming to town of the first four Irishmen, Messrs. Ford, Clark, Doherty and Kelley. This.

To Rake Common

The Boy Scouts plan to rake the common this afternoon, or part of it anyway. They expect to appear at two o'clock, and do what they can. They will bring their supper and eat it on the green.

Officers of the Park Association, in view of this interest which has been dormant for some time, are trying to induce the citizens to come out and lend a hand, as well.

Most everything nowadays is paid for in cash, but there is a lot of zest in a good, old fashioned raking bee that is not to be had on the more modern basis.

In conjunction with this movement, E. A. Fuller, chairman of the selectmen, plans to have a truck cleaning the ditches around the common today and take care of the material raked off the park.

STREWN PAPERS

Speaking of community spirit, it has been called to our attention that papers strewn on the streets, especially in front of the stores, result in a certain untidiness that is not the best of an advertisement for the town. In the absence of a street cleaning department, possibly some more of that good old fashioned community spirit on the part of the abutters would be the easiest and best remedy for the matter.

RIDING ON SIDEWALKS

With the advent of each spring, the attention of the public usually has to be called to the fact that bicycle riding on the sidewalks is forbidden. It so states in the new town by-laws, and the selectmen respectfully remind this class of the riding public of the fact.

Boy Scout News

Gives Talk on Birds

The Metacomet Fox Rod and Gun Club had a rare treat last Monday evening, when Dr. E. G. Rowland of the State School gave a most interesting and informative talk on birds. It was intimate in its presentation as well as in its bearing on the subject.

Dr. Rowland said that from time immemorial the student of birds has been more or less the subject of ridicule, most folks' interest being only spotty. In the spring they say, "It's about time for the birds" and then, "Aren't the eggs pretty?" and that's about the end of it.

From close observation of birds, both at large and in captivity, Dr. Rowland said there is a high percentage of deformity in birds. He also told of diseases and parasites which afflict them. One authority, he said, tells of a hundred different kinds of lice prevalent on birds. Right here the speaker put in a word for the disinfection of bird houses.

The doctor said that one has to study birds in the hand to truly know them, find out their characteristics, determine their age, etc.

Speaking of migration, Dr. Rowland said that the bobolink vary hardly a day in their arrival. In the fall many birds migrate a rela-

The morning and afternoon sessions will be held in the Congregational church, and the evening service in the Methodist church. Both dinner and supper will be served in the Methodist church, the price of the dinner being 50 cents and the supper 35 cents. In the evening the local young people's branches of the W. C. T. U. will conduct a memorial service in honor of the late Miss Elsie Shattuck, whose birthday falls on May 12. Miss Shattuck's pupils plan to sit together. The program is as follows:

mittee of Girl Scouts had previously mapped out the trail to be followed, and it was mapped out to perfection. From the very first card which read, "Face North," the program held much of interest. A number of different angles of Scouting were brought forth in that hunt, nature study, trailing, hiking, observing, games and numerous other things which pertain to scouting.

With the mapping out of the trail, a level spot had been found and it had been planned to play a game. Also it was mapped out that the girls were to win the game. At least they did, coming out one point ahead. It was very closely contested throughout.

About 5.30, the field in which the treasure was hid, was reached. Here the hunt started in earnest. The treasure was too well hidden. At the end of an hour's search, the treasure was still in its hiding place, and the scouts were scattered about the field.

Everybody was crying out, "When do we eat?" So it was decided to abandon the treasure until after the eats. The supper had been prepared by the girls, and brought in individual baskets with the name of the owner written on the inside. No chance for friendship stuff here. The boys filed in, one at a time and secured a basket, each emerging with a slight blush on his otherwise calm countenance. Everbody was too hungry to think of being bashful. The girls of course had spotted their boxes, all having their characteristic wrappings, so instead of the boys having to call the names, the girls were right at their elbows eager to get started. A little dog looked on at the munching with longing eye, but soon walked away disappointed. 'Nuff Sed.

After supper the treasure was again in the limelight. After a hunt of about 15 minutes, Miss Jackson thought it nearly time to disband, so she gave a few gentle hints and the scouts began to get "warm". At last Marie Hubbard dragged it forth from its hiding place, and then began the distribution. Because of course it was eats. The poor finder, after passing it around, had one piece of candy for herself. How lucky she was that all had had their supper, otherwise she would not have had that one.

With three rousing cheers for the Girl Scouts, the party broke up, all agreeing that a better time was not to be had.

itive distance south, birds from Canada stopping in Massachusetts, while those summering here go farther south. The chimney swift goes, no one knows where. Some birds, however, spend one season in the arctic circle and another in the antarctic, travelling 22,000 miles a year.

Dr. Rowland raised several interesting questions as he went along—"Can anyone tell the different species of crows?"—"How long does it take for a bird to grow a tail?"—"In what order do they moult their feathers?"—"In migrating do the younger birds go by themselves and the older ones by themselves?"—"Can you tell how old birds live to be?"—all of which went to show that there are several interesting things yet to be known. Only one banding birds from year to year as Dr. Rowland does, can acquire accurate data on some of these questions.

Last year, 43 birds which he had banded the previous year, came back. Not only does he deal with numbers, but he becomes interested in their personalities, which are as diverse as in people.

But the burden of Dr. Rowland's talk and probably the most practical part of it was his emphasis on the invaluable assistance birds render the agriculturist. He ventured the opinion that if orchardists put a bird house in every tree that practically all spraying could be done away with. Nesting birds live almost entirely on animal food. The woodcock eats twice its weight in angleworms a day while the crow eats wire worms and grubs. The speaker said that if crows should become almost extinct, it wouldn't be surprising if farmers would try to encourage propagation of this much hated bird. The rose breasted potato-beak is the only bird eating potato-slugs, while the cuckoo eats tent caterpillars. He thought it would be good business for the farmers to have six pair of grosbeaks on their farms and more cuckoos, of which there is a limited number. Right here, he said, is where the government is especially interested.

The maintenance of a proper balance of bird and animal life was the obvious lesson of the evening's talk. A general discussion followed, after which doughnuts, cheese and coffee were served.

he says, was in connection with the building of the C. V. railroad.

Mr. Shumway lived in the golden days of the carriage industry and vouches for the fact that there were here at one time about 300 skilled mechanics.

Mr. Shumway will always be remembered as the moving spirit of the Farmers' and Mechanics club, of which he has been president longer than any other man.

In 1900 he began his duties as tax collector, a position which he has held almost continuously since. He succeeded Samuel Allen who, in 1899, collected for the town about $13,000, this being the whole tax at that time. Last year the tax levy was over $56,000.

He has been attendance officer for some forty years.

Mr. Shumway carries his years easily and while he can do no great amount of manual labor, he feels as capable of collecting the taxes as anyone and is now preparing to send out the 1926 poll tax bills with as much alacrity as though he was holding the office for the first time.

It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Shumway celebrated their golden wedding in 1917, which indicates that their 60th anniversary is not far distant.

Attention, All Ex-service Men

Stringent efforts are being made to re-organize the Belchertown American Legion post. Other towns can, and are, boasting of their live-wire posts. Why can't Belchertown?

All ex-service men are cordially invited to attend a meeting Monday night, May 17th, at the Legion headquarters at 8 o'clock sharp. This is not a regular meeting but one planned for the purpose of re-organization of a post worth having, one Belchertown can well be proud of and stand by.

Mr. Patterson of Easthampton, district commander, and two or three comrades will be at the meeting to install the officers.

Bury the hatchet, let's iron out the old difficulties and start with a clean slate. Make this a successful meeting by turning out 100 per cent. Remember, 8 o'clock sharp, not 8.15, and leave your grudges outside.

Death of Mrs. Viola I. Shaw

Viola Isodore Shaw, 80, widow of Fernando G. Shaw, died at 2 a. m. Sunday at her home on Maple street, following an illness of two weeks.

Mrs. Shaw was born in Pelham December 18, 1845, the daughter of Asa and Ruth Thompson. Coming to Belchertown in early childhood, she was educated in the public schools here and at Wilbraham academy. After graduation she taught school in the Rockrimmon district and in 1867 was married to Fernando G. Shaw, whose death occurred February 22, 1925. Mrs. Shaw made her home in Belchertown for 72 years, spending all of her married life here with the exception of two years spent in Leverett.

Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Shaw suffered a broken hip from which she never fully recovered. Herself practically a shut-in, she conceived and organized the Community club which rendered service and brought good cheer to the sick and shut-ins and to others in special need, regardless of race or creed. Besides being president of this club, she was past president of the Woman's Relief corps and an interested worker in that organization.

All parents are invited.

Exhibit of Extension Clubs

The annual exhibit of the Junior Extension clubs of Belchertown will be held on Monday, May 17, from 1 to 4 o'clock at the Domestic Science room. The sewing exhibit will represent the work done by the sewing club under the leadership of Mrs. Edwin Shumway. The work accomplished by the handicraft club under the leadership of William French will be shown. The cooking club will also have an exhibit of the work done under the leadership of Miss Martha Conklin.

Norman Whipple, county club agent, and Mrs. Clifton Johnson, a very interested worker, will act as judges. Pins will be awarded and prizes given.

A play will be given by the Food club, entitled, "Food for Thought." The following are members of the cast: Margaret Couture, Anna Shuttleworth, Agnes Menard, Joan Rowland, Alice Hazen, Rachel Randall, Madeline Haesaert, Evelyn Archambault and Katherine Dressel.

Makes Recommendations

At the invitation of M. A. Morse, Prof. F. A. Waugh of M. A. C. met a few of the townspeople Monday afternoon and went with them to Holland Glen and other points of interest on the Amherst road with a view to giving expert advice on preserving and developing some of the town's beauty spots. Prof. Waugh has advised in hundreds of similar situations in different sections of the United States, so his deductions regarding the matter are worthy of consideration.

His first suggestion was that the town open and preserve the view to the left at Pine Hill—just below Ballou's corner, where a wide stretch of landscape is visible. He said, "If the town thinks as much of that view as I do, they will secure a 'right of view,' " which, he explained, was an agreement on the part of the owner to erect no buildings that would obstruct the vision. At this point Prof. Waugh advised placing a small sign calling the attention of the swiftly passing motorist to the extensive view that otherwise might be missed.

Regarding Holland Glen, he said that in the interests of the public and the Historical association—that owns it, the glen should be kept wild and

W. C. T. U. Convention

The spring convention of the W. C. T. U. was held at Belchertown Wednesday, in accordance with a wish expressed by Miss Shattuck last fall that the union might meet in Belchertown, "after my school is over." May 12 was her birthday and although the organizer and first president of the local union could not meet with the convention in person, from first to last her memory was with all who knew her and mention was made of her even aside from the special In Memoriam in the evening.

The convention was called to order by Mrs. Slocum of Amherst, county president, who also led the devotional service, using verses in Nehemiah as a basis for the message "They had a mind to work."

Minutes of the last convention were read by the secretary, Mrs. Cleveland, and the statement of the treasurer was given by Mrs. M. M. Mason.

The delegates were welcomed by Mrs. Etta Randolph, president of the local W. C. T. U., and by Rev. D. L. Hilliard in behalf of the churches. Mrs. Randolph, in her

Nearing Completion

The dance pavilion on the west side of the Amherst road in the vicinity of Holland Glen, work on which was begun only three weeks ago Monday, is nearing completion and it is expected will be formally opened Memorial Day. The structure is a large one, the floor, which is of spring construction, being 40x60, 10 ft. piazzas run the full length of the north, east and south sides. The platform for the orchestra is located on the west side.

Space to the north of the pavilion is being cleared for an auto park, while a drive with two entrances is being built in front. A stand is located at the edge of the state road, where the usual commodities will be sold. In the basement of this stand will be located the electric lighting plant, which will generate electricity for the dance hall, etc.

This new pleasure resort is to be called Glen Hall, by reason of the fact that it is only a quarter of a mile from the head of Holland Glen. In fact, an old cart road leading to this beauty spot branches off the main road a few rods beyond the pavilion.

Mr. Kelly, who is promoting the resort, plans to build a more permanent road to an old orchard not far from the glen, and mark out a trail the remaining distance.

Belchertown's latest amusement enterprise is located not only near a beautiful glen, but the country is historic, as well. As one starts on the road to the glen there is an old cellar hole of small dimensions, which Mr. Kelly says is the remains of an Indian camp. Mr. Kelly is thoroughly in accord with Prof. Waugh's views concerning the glen, elsewhere recorded, and has expressed a willingness to co-operate in any way possible.

Opens May 15th

The first dance of the season at Barrett's pavilion, Lake Metacomet, will be held Saturday evening. A dance will be held each Saturday evening thereafter. This is Mr. Barrett's 5th season at the lake. This spring he has re-roofed and painted the pavilion. The stand which he has had at Lake Arcadia has been made into a camp and rented to Holyoke parties.

"Home Ties"

The play, "Home Ties," given by the Christian Endeavor society of the Second Congregational church of Amherst under the auspices of Union grange in Grange hall Tuesday evening, drew an audience of nearly a hundred that was delighted with the presentation. While there were many new people in the cast, there were a few familiar faces. Lester Lovett, the manager, who has been here in all the shows thus far, was present and played a leading role. The orchestra of six pieces rendered very acceptable music, both between the acts and for the dancing which followed.

Boy Scout News

The Pow-Wow system was introduced to the Scouts of Troop 1 at Camp Deerfoot last Wednesday afternoon. This is a card system which takes care of the record of each individual scout. The patrol leader has a patrol card upon which he has the names of the scouts in his patrol. He also has charge of the individual record cards. There are markings on the cards which indicate the progress the scout is making. There is more interest shown under this system as there are points to be gained, and no scout wants the other fellow to have more points than he. For instance, for being present on time, the scout gets two points; present but tardy, one point; present in uniform, three points; dues paid, one point; day hike, five points, etc.

that people be not forced into it. He recommended, however, that at the approach to the glen a place be provided for visitors to get water, that suitable toilet facilities be made available and that two or three places for camp fires be constructed. He thought one or two good trails leading to the glen advisable, but did not favor an automobile road going too near.

In clearing up the grounds adjacent to the glen, Prof. Waugh thought that a clearing up bee in conjunction with a picnic on the part of some organization or the townspeople would be a fine idea.

Prof. Waugh was quite concerned that bill boards be kept off the new Amherst-Belchertown road and advocated that the town pass a by-law forbidding their erection. He explained that bill board interests in this state are contesting the legality of a law passed two years ago, but if they lose out in their contention and the town has a proper by-law, it will be protected.

welcome on behalf of the union, said that Dr. McPherson had invited the delegates to visit the State school between 1 and 2 when they might see the children at work in the industrial department; also that Mrs. Curtis would be at the Stone House between 5 and 6 if any of the visitors cared to see the collection there. Later on, Mrs. Slocum commented on these invitations, saying that in all the years which she had been connected with the county union, (and it is a score or more we believe) it was remarkable that there had been "no single instance when we have been invited to visit anything of special interest."

Rev. Mr. Hilliard, speaking in behalf of the church said in part:

We welcome you for your history, that you stood for that which must be if our country was to remain; you stood for it when no one else would, stood in the slish and mud of the gutter in Ohio. We welcome you because there is work to do, work that you alone can do, work that you can do better than we men can do it, work in the home, along lines of education, social virtue and social purity. We welcome you for the promise that is given for the carrying out of the principles we so much need. And so we welcome you to the church and to the churches of the community. And may you go forward to the complete triumph of the white ribboners.

In responding to the welcome, Mrs. Annetta M. Cleveland of Northampton said that the W. C. T. U. needed the help of the churches which in some conspicuous cases, had failed them. She spoke of the year having been a hard one but said that the brightest spot in the whole year was a letter from Miss Shattuck last fall saying, "We have organized a Y. P. B. and L. T. L." At that time there was not one in the county, although there are three now, and naturally the older workers must look to the young people to carry on what they have begun.

At 11 o'clock the county directors gave reports for their several departments: Anti-narcotic, evangelistic, literature, scientific temperance instruction (the director interpreted this to stand for "Sometimes Triumphant I" and also "Signs of the Times are Inspiring."), temperance and missions, flower mission, medal contests, S. S. work, etc.

In the afternoon the devotional service was led by Mrs. R. M. Woods, following which a recognition service for ten White Ribbon recruits was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Kelley, who tied a white ribbon on the arm of each child. Five of the children presented were grandchildren of a Belchertown White Ribboner.

The address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Kelley, who took for her subject, "Please Stand By." Going back to the announcement of Christ's birth, his resurrection, and songs of thanksgiving in connection with some of the memorable migrations of history, she pointed out that women had always stood by.

WHY Firestone TIRE DEALERS Serve You Better

We represent one of the world's largest and most efficient tire makers—Firestone.

We sell and service the most economical tires made—Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—the only tires on the market with every fiber of every cord saturated and insulated with rubber. These famous tires have given—and are giving—unheard of mileage on the largest taxicab, bus and truck fleets in the world. They are also giving unheard-of mileage to hundreds of thousands of car owners.

We offer you our facilities and experience in aligning your wheels, mounting your tires, checking them for air pressure, inspecting them and making repairs when necessary by the latest Firestone methods of repairing, thus enabling you to get full mileage from your tires.

Equip your car with these wonderful Gum-Dipped tires. WE WILL TAKE YOUR OLD TIRES IN TRADE, giving you a liberal allowance for unused mileage.

In this present crisis in the prohibition battle, she said that the women must stand by and hold the front line in the face of the enemy that is stealing up. They proved themselves loyal to God and country during the war but the call comes just as loud that we are close to God, there is no doubt but that we will stand by."

The speaker held in contempt those to whom the constitution means nothing, and laws weigh but little, holding as their prerogative the right to choose the ones they will obey. She said that obedience must be exacted in the home, school and the workshop if it is to be manifested in government.

Speaking of the press, she said that there was hardly a paper in Boston but what was largely controlled by the wets. The Christian Science Monitor, was given a clear

As for light wines, Mrs. Kelley said that there was no such thing, the percentage of alcohol being from 8 to 20 per cent, and as for beer, Americans had never been satisfied with Canada's 4.4, so she failed to see how 2.75 would answer.

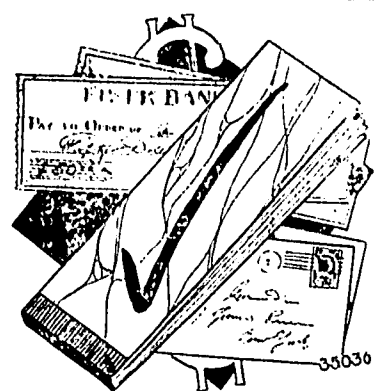

She warned against the effort being made to split the dry vote by having one wet candidate and two dries in the field in each district, and abhorred the drive of the wets to train the appetites of boys and girls. In closing Mrs. Kelley said that there had been a golden thread running through the history of the United States and only as we stand by will the intended pattern be brought out.

At the evening service, held in the M. E. church, there was a good attendance. Rev. Cato Dick had charge of the devotional service.

Following this, Bartlett Green, president of the Y. P. B. and L. T. L., conducted a memorial service in honor of Miss Elsie Shattuck, who was instrumental in forming the local temperance organizations. A favorite poem of Miss Shattuck's was read and two of her favorite hymns sung. The young people were present and sat in a body.

Mrs. Kelley's evening subject was "Signals at the Cross Roads." She said that we are all travelling the King's Highway which leads to the palace of the King, and that it behooves us all, especially the young people, to "Stop, Look and Listen," at Life's turning points. People need to contemplate more than they do before making their decisions.

As for prohibition, she urged the training of the young, so that the torch of enlightenment might be passed on burning brightly.

Legion Meeting

A meeting of the Chauncey D. Walker Post of the American Legion was held in the Legion rooms on Monday evening, and officers for the present year were elected and installed by visiting district officials. The new officers are:

Dr. F. C. Wilder, Commander
W. C. Bishop, Vice Commander
Dr. A. E. Westwell,
Adjutant and Finance Officer
S. P. Blackmer, Chaplain
Kenneth Bristol, Sergeant-at-Arms
Dr. F. M. Austin,
Member of Executive Committee

The Legion after heated discussion concerning the use to which the rooms have been put unofficially in the past, went on record as being in favor of so conducting its club room and organization that both will be a credit to the town.

As a proof that this was no idle chatter, the Legion authorized the present officers to watch over the use of the rooms, and if any infringements upon the rules of the house were noted, this group must relinquish the use of the rooms and conduct all further actual business meetings in Memorial hall.

The subject of a fitting observance of Memorial day was discussed and the following committee appointed to assist with a tentative program: Joseph C. Bothwell, Belding F. Jackson, William Bridgman, Aubrey Lapolice, and Dr. F. C. Wilder, chairman.

Death of
Mrs. Edward R. Peeso

Mrs. Ruth Samina Peeso, 66, wife of Edward R. Peeso, died at 11 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of three months with pneumonia and complications. Mrs. Peeso was born May 23, 1860, the daughter of Wilson and Lucina (Snow) Hamilton. On Jan. 14, 1886 she married Mr. Peeso of this town. Like many another woman of her generation, her home was the place of supreme duty.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Harry W. Conkey and Miss Edith Peeso of this town and two sons, Herbert D. of this town and Frank E. of Palmer, two grandchildren, Ruthella and Edward Conkey, and two brothers, Frank Hamilton of Pelham and James Hamilton of Feeding Hills. There are also two half-brothers, Clinton and Clifton Hamilton of this town, and two half-sisters, Miss Amy Hamilton of Amherst and Miss Grace Hamilton of Springfield.

The funeral was held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 3, Rev. Cato Dick, officiating, assisted by Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby. The bearers were Herbert D. and Frank E. Peeso, Harry W. Conkey and Ralph Miller of Willimansett. Burial was in Mount Hope cemetery.

Exhibit of Junior Extension Clubs

An attractive exhibit of the Junior Extension clubs was on display Monday afternoon at the domestic science room in Memorial hall, where Mr. Whippen, county club leader, and Mrs. Clifton Johnson of South Hadley awarded prizes as follows: Cooking, first year—1st, Althea Dodge; 2d, Doris Holcomb; 3d, Margaret Couture. Sewing, second year—1st, Barbara Rowland; 2d, Dorothy Fairchild; 3d, Lillian Upham. Sewing, first year—1st prize, Myrtle Green; 2d, Madeline Lincoln; 3d, Ruth Spencer. Handicraft, third year—1st prize, Harlan Davis; second year—1st, James Collard; 2d, Ellison Dodge; 3d, John Buchanan; first year—1st, Austin Warren, 2d, Joseph Soja, 3d, Charles Coomes.

A play, "Food for Thought," was presented by nine girls in Memorial hall, after which pins were awarded by Mr. Whippen to 27 members of the cooking club, 17 sewing club members and eight handicraft boys. Clover-leaf pins were also awarded to the three leaders, Mrs. E. F. Shumway, leader of the sewing club;

Miss Martha Conklin of the cooking club, and William French of the handicraft club.

Death of
Mrs. Eva Atwood

Mrs. Eva Snow Atwood, wife of H. Edwin Atwood, died suddenly at noon yesterday, following a shock suffered the evening previous, when she was in her usual health.

Mrs. Atwood was born in Belchertown Oct. 18, 1853, the daughter of William and Abbie Snow, and has lived her life here. She was educated in the public schools and was one of the first pupils to attend the High school when it was organized. She graduated with the class of 1871, the first class to receive diplomas. She was married May 14, 1881, their 45th wedding anniversary occurring last Friday.

Besides her husband she leaves three sons, Carroll, Harry and Sidney Atwood, all of Springfield, and two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Amidon of Springfield and Mrs. David Wands of New York; also eight grandchildren.

The funeral will be held in the chapel, Saturday at 2, Rev. D. L. Hilliard, officiating. Bearers will be the three sons and Winslow Piper. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Hard-Surfacing Enfield Road

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead,

Who never to himself hath said,
(and to his neighbor, too) "I wish that Enfield road were fixed." And now the good news comes that these fond desires are to be realized, and not only that, but work has already begun on hard-surfacing the section of road which reaches from the center to the top of the hill near E. O. Lofland's. The base of the road has a rock bottom already, as those who drive over it know full well, but the top always resembled grandmother's washboard.

The estimated cost of putting the road in shape is $3,500, which will be paid from the road maintenance fund of the town to which the state will contribute this year $11,500. Considerable credit is due the selectmen, who took the initiative in this matter of road improvement.

While Enfield will undoubtedly be flooded some day, there is no question but that the road will age somewhat before that day comes, and even then the sight seeing public will want to see the big engineering project for some time to come.

Beer and Light Wines

There is quite a popular clamor in many quarters today for the legalizing of the sale of light wines and beer. The danger of such a popular cry is the same danger that exists in any popular movement. And the danger is that people will ask for something they do not want. It is quite likely that a small group know exactly what they want when they clamor for beer and light wines. But it may be possible that some do not.

What is "light wine"? A light wine is a wine containing any proportion of alcohol up to 13 per cent. How great a per cent of alcohol must wine possess in order to be intoxicating? That depends on the individual. During the World war the army medical experts declared that a liquor containing only 1.4 per cent of alcohol would intoxicate the average healthy soldier if taken in sufficient quantities. Some may be able to take liquor which has only four or five per cent of alcohol in it and not become intoxicated, but the average man will. It is evident, then, that those who demand the sale of beer and light wines are demanding intoxicating drinks. We wonder if a large proportion of our people wish to legalize the sale of intoxicating drinks. The 18th amendment, which is the expressed will of the people, prohibits "the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors."

The railroads, the life insurance companies, the physiologists, the business men, the great employees of labor, as well as ministers and Sunday School teachers have in overwhelming numbers emphatically put themselves on record against intoxicating drinks. If they are thoughtful, will they be advocating the sale of beer and light wines?

Blue Tag Dairy Ration

To the Dairyman who wants a really good high grade dairy ration at a reasonable price we are pleased to offer our new ration, to be known as

Blue Tag Dairy Ration

This ration is the result of considerable study on the part of ourselves and others, and we believe it will prove to be a valuable feed for the dairymen of Belchertown and vicinity. As we make this feed in our own plant, we believe that we can make it better and sell it for less money, than some of the larger mills with a much greater overhead expense.

Blue Tag Dairy Ration is made up of the following materials, viz, Buffalo Gluten Feed, Cottonseed Meal, 41%, Old Process Oil Meal, White Hominy Feed, Standard Wheat Bran, Standard Middlings, Ground 40 lb. Oats, Calcium Carbonate 1%, Dairy Salt 1/4 of 1%, and nothing else.

ANALYSIS: Minimum Protein, 20 per cent.

Fat 4.5

Maximum Fiber 10

Digestible Nutrients, 1500 lbs. to a ton

Try a few bags of this ration and compare the results with what you are now feeding. Never change abruptly from one ration to another, but change gradually. Watch for our Cash and Carry Sale price list next week for low cash price on Blue Tag Dairy Ration.

Of course you're going to spray this year with the more effective, more convenient Pyrox, so why not save money by getting your Pyrox in the five, ten or twenty- five pound drums?

You'll save money and time and run absolutely no risk, because the new improved Pyrox will keep its soft, creamy, easy-working consistency until used.

Last season the success of the new Pyrox was nothing less than sensational. Its increased effectiveness as a combined insecticide and fungicide spray, and its greater convenience, were revelations to the thousands who used it.

With Pyrox, five minutes, and you're ready to spray. Pyrox saves time, labor and money. It goes farther. It sticks, making frequent sprayings unnecessary. And by improving foliage it lengthens the growing season, increasing the yield and improving quality.

Finds Old Tax Bill

George F. Lincoln, while rummaging recently through a desk used by his grandfather, Enos Lincoln, came on to an old tax bill dated Dec. 18, 1823. It was a small bill, both in size and amount. It measures 3x3/8 inches, (bills of later date were even smaller than this) and contains the following items:

State tax	$1.14
Town do.	3.20
School do.	2.42
Minister do.	3.06

$9.82

This tax is levied on the same property that Mr. Lincoln now pays taxes on, so that with the last item obsolete, there is some contrast in amount between the 1823 and 1925 tax.

Delegate to Inaugural

Newell S. Booth of this town was among the 300 Boston University students selected by their classmates to represent the 10,979 students of the university at the inauguration of Daniel L. Marsh, LL. D., as the fourth president of Boston University on Saturday morning, May 15. Mr. Booth is a member of the class of 1927 at the School of Theology of Boston University, and was one of ten representatives from his class to be present at the inaugural ceremonies for Dr. Marsh.

Membership in the student delegation is a high honor. The student delegates took part in the academic procession which preceded the inaugural program, marching in cap and gown in line with college presidents and faculty representatives from 100 colleges and universities, and with the Boston University trustees and faculty.

Welcome Home

The Fourth of July celebration this year is expected to bring back to the town many of its old inhabitants. Besides being a bang-up celebration containing the spirit of '76, it is to be an Old Home day; the folks with the old Belchertown spirit are requested to return for the day and renew old acquaintances. From 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the afternoon there will be something doing. The program will include a parade in which there will be floats characteristic of olden days between the time of the landing of the Pilgrims and the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There will also be band concerts, sports, ball games, etc. In all a gala day is planned, so come early, bring the old time spirit with you, join with us in making merry, stay late, and carry away with you the impression that Belchertown is the best place on the map.

All who come will be requested to register at Memorial Hall where there will be a registration book for that purpose and which, after it is all over, will serve as a memento of that great day.

4-H Club Exhibit at Union School

The combined clothing and handicraft clubs held their exhibit at Union school on the afternoon of May 21, 1926. The program consisted of a play entitled "Helping Others," written and given by ten club members, followed by a short talk by Mr. Whippen, County Club Agent.

Prof. Farley, State Club Leader from M. A. C., gave a very interesting address, in which he told us how club work was begun and of the wonderful growth club work has made in twelve short years. Prof. Farley closed by telling the parents that successful club work in any community cannot be attained unless the parents cooperate. Speaking of our audience he said, "When I attend a club exhibit and see so many parents present, I know that club work cannot help but be successful."

Prizes in clothing club work were awarded as follows: First year—1st, Madelene Perry; second year—1st, Helen Pele; 2nd, Rachel Fay; third year—1st, Madeline Whitcomb; 2nd, Fannie Dzwonkowski; 3rd, Jennie Dzwonkowski. Prizes in handicraft were as follows: First year—1st, Warner Perry; 2nd, George Brooks; third year—1st, Oscar Olson; 2nd, Allen Ross; 3rd, Stanley Ross.

Ice cream and cake were served, which seemed to be enjoyed by all.

Play Tonight

The Senior-Junior play, "A Bunch of Fun," in three acts will be given in the Lawrence Memorial hall this evening at 8.30, and promises all that the name implies. The school is indebted to Dr. Westwell for assistance rendered at the closing rehearsals.

After Acts I and III there will be selections by the Glee club, while following Act II Mr. Gorman, supervisor of music, will render three piano solos.

The price of admission is 35 cents.

Herman C. Knight Elected School Sup't

The school committee has announced the election of Herman C. Knight of Littleton to the office of superintendent of the Belchertown and Enfield schools, succeeding A. R. Lewis, who retires next month from that position after serving the district since 1908.

Mr. Knight was born in Pelham, and, interesting to relate, taught his first school here in the north part of the town, boarding at the home of Ebenezer Ward. Mr. Knight was educated at Salem academy and Hyannis Normal school. He has had 15 years' experience in teaching rural schools. His last school before becoming a school superintendent was at Abington, where he taught the Dunbar street school.

From 1911-12 Mr. Knight superintended the schools in Paris and Woodstock, Me. For the next eight years he assumed charge of the schools in Ashby, Lunenburg and Townsend. From 1920-26 he has had the Littleton district, which comprises the schools of Acton, Carlyle and Littleton. New high schools were built at both Littleton and Acton during his term of office. At one time he had 57 teachers under him.

Mr. Knight has been at the head of a number of educational enterprises. He has served as president of the local Middlesex Northwest teachers' association, and in 1924 was chairman of the committee appointed by the state department to study rural schools.

Mr. Knight will begin his duties July 1. He has a wife and three children, one of whom is a student in Bates college.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day exercises will be held on Sunday this year. At 12.30 the line will form at the Legion rooms in the following order: colors, band, members of the G. A. R., American Legion, Women's Auxiliary, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, school children. The line will march to Memorial hall, thence to the cemetery where flowers will be placed on the graves of departed comrades, and then proceed to the soldiers' monument where Attorney Daniel O'Brien of Northampton will give the address of the day. The M. A. C. band has been engaged for the occasion.

In the evening at 7.30 there will be a union service at Memorial hall. Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby will give the address. Scripture and prayer will be by Rev. Cato Dick. The High school will lead the singing.

The members of the Legion are requested to meet at the Legion rooms at 12 on Sunday.

Forest Fire

A spectacular forest fire got under headway on Great Hill Tuesday night and persisted in causing trouble. Twice it was thought out and a guard left for the night. The blaze was finally extinguished Wednesday evening about 11. Hundreds of acres of woodland were burned over in both Belchertown and Enfield. Scholars from the High school were called out Wednesday to assist the department.

Eight girls, most of them Scouts, got transportation over to the fire and tramped two or three miles through the woods with lunches for the fire-fighters.

Is There as Much Drink- ing as Ever?

We hear it very frequently stated these days that there is more drinking now than in the days of prohibition. We ought to combat such an erroneous statement as that. Six years ago there were 1,092 breweries, 236 distilleries and over 177,000 saloons. Not all this business has gone, of course. A great majority of the brewers have succumbed and the distilleries for the most part have ceased operations. They have either been torn down or converted into something else. The liquor business is now conducted in the dark and not in the open, which naturally means that a great host of people have quit the business. It is conducted in secret places and amid many obstacles; and a vast number do not wish to assume the risk. Thousands of young men who formerly went into the saloon because it was open and not outlawed, now refuse to take the hazard necessary to secure strong drink. Other thousands do not have the appetite for liquor because the public temptation is taken away.

Ask any man forty years old as to conditions now in comparison with what they were when he was a boy, and if he is honest, he will declare that thirty years ago it was not uncommon to see a drunken man on the streets, but now very uncommon. Then there was carousal and boisterousness around saloons. Now that is gone.

Young people in college drink today, but we have yet to learn of a college president who admits that prohibition has increased drinking and arrests and filled the jails. When one says there is more drinking than ever and that more people drink than ever before, he simply does not know what he is saying.

Using Electric Lights to Feed Fish

Clipping from Public Service

Bulletin

Izaak Walton, in his "Compleat Angler," commended the night time as being the time to catch the biggest trout, but it remains for Charles Wolf, who has a private trout hatchery in Wisconsin, to utilize electric lights in the night time to feed his fish.

He has strung electric wires over the middle of each pool in which the fish are kept, and from these, at 5-foot intervals, he has a 5-watt electric lamp dropped to about 3 inches of the water level. These lights attract great swarms of flies and moths at night, and the trout, following their natural instinct, catch them by jumping or when they fall to the surface of the water. According to Mr. Wolf, this method not only substantially reduces the cost of feeding, but gives the trout an exceptionally fine flavor.

On the coast of Denmark great quantities of eels are caught by means of electric lights which illuminate portions of the water, while traps are set in the darker places.

Girl Scout Council Entertainment

The folk dancing lessons under the direction of Miss Boakes, which the Girl Scout Council started last February, are being held both Monday and Tuesday evenings these last few weeks before the exhibition next Friday. Costumes have been arranged and the program is complete. Besides the folk dancing and a minuet, there will be solos by Mrs. Bridgman, a reading by Miss House, and a solo dance by Leila Stevens, besides several numbers by the orchestra.

One important part of the program is the intermission when home-made candy will be sold.

Tickets for this entertainment are 25 cents and another 25 cents will buy a fresh fruit strawberry sundae with home-made cake.

Proceeds from the entertainment will go towards sending a girl from each troop to Camp Bonnie Brae for two weeks' fun combined with instruction in Scout subjects.

Serve You Better

We Are Tire Specialists

Our experience and equipment help you get the most mileage, comfort and safety from tires.

Gum-Dipping—the only known method of insulating every fiber of every cord with rubber—gives the strongest construction possible. And the special Steam-Welding process makes Firestone tubes both leak-proof and long-wearing—further increasing the life of the tire.

The proof is demonstrated by the biggest taxicab and bus fleets—by race champions and in everyday service of hundreds of thousands of motorists.

Let us see that your tires are properly mounted, inflated and cared for.

We repair your tires, when necessary, by the new and better Firestone method.

Equip your car with these famous Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. We will take your old tires in trade, giving you liberal allowance for unused mileage.

We Also Sell and Service Oldfield Tires and Tubes

These well-known tires are built in the economical Firestone factories and carry the standard guarantee.

We offer them at these low prices.

Memorial Day Observance

Belchertown paid tribute to her soldier dead last Sunday afternoon, with exercises in charge of the American Legion. At 12.30 the line formed at Legion headquarters in the following order:

Colors, carried by A. R. Lewis, Jr.; post emblem carried by Lincoln Cook; F. C. Wilder, Commander; Edward Parent.

23 piece band from Massachusetts Agricultural College.
Two members of G. A. R.—Stephen W. Roode and Henry Woods in car driven by A. D. Moore.

12 members of Chauncey D. Walker Post No. 239.

Clergy—Rev. D. L. Hilliard and Rev. Cato Dick.

Boy Scout color bearers; Scoutmaster R. M. Shaw and Boy Scouts. Girl Scout color bearers; Scout leaders, Capt. McPherson and Lieut. Rowland with Girl Scouts of Troop I.

Capt. Stebbins and Lieut. Jackson with Girl Scouts of Troop II. Children of Center schools and children of Franklin school with Miss Nellie Shea, teacher.

In all, there were more than 125 people in line. The procession marched down South Main St. and returned by the same route, stopping at Memorial hall where Commodore J. C. Bothwell and Belding F. Jackson placed a wreath at the honor tablet whereon are inscribed the names of World war veterans.

The line then marched to Mount Hope cemetery, where flowers provided by the Woman's Relief Corps, were placed on the soldiers' graves. Exercises in the cemetery consisted of: Prayer by Stanley P. Blackmer, chaplain; decoration of graves and singing by High school pupils.

The line of march was then resumed to the Soldiers' monument. After a selection by the band, Commander Wilder made a few remarks, following which prayer was offered by Chaplain Stanley P. Blackmer. High school girls then sang a selection.

The speaker of the day, Attorney Daniel O'Brien of Northampton, was then introduced by Commander Wilder. Mr. O'Brien eloquently passed the nation's crises in review and asked his hearers to compare the patriotism of the past with that of the present. He said that with other nations time has dimmed the panorama, but that there is one nation that cannot view its history through a mirage. Our heroes were set on no pedestal; they were too human for that; we know them because they were of yesterday.

Att'y O'Brien referred to this as the only country that ever went to civil war for a principle. He spoke of Lincoln as a pine upon a mountain top—bent but never broken. America, he said, went through the test, not for aggression or for power. God knew that America was going to be needed to purify and save the world and make it safe for democracy.

Referring to our entry into the World war he said that it was not for land, money or power, but to preserve a principle—that the only right of the governing comes from the governed. The war, he said, was ended more by our moral influence than by our military action.

The cry comes from the city of the dead, he said, "Have you who are living kept faith with those who died?" If the answer is yes, we pay

Fourth of July Program

Plans for a mammoth celebration in Belchertown for July 4th, are rapidly nearing completion. The committee met last Tuesday evening and discussed in detail the program for the day, laying particular stress on the parade. Each member of the committee has a part of the program to supervise. The morning exercises will be under the direction of R. M. Shaw; the parade under the direction of E. A. Fuller. H. F. Peck will have supervision during the luncheon period, after which C. F. Aspengren will take the entertainment under supervision. Band concerts throughout the day will be under the supervision of J. C. Bothwell. The sports, which will be under the direction of Dr. F. C. Wilder, will occupy the latter part of the afternoon. During this part of the program the married men and the single men will clash in a real peppy ball game, so bring your tin horns and root for the best team. The evening's entertainment which will include a Colonial dance in Memorial hall, will be under the direction of R. M. Shaw.

On Wednesday, June 16th, the members of the committee will start on their soliciting campaign. There are six on the committee and each one will take a section of the town and canvass it thoroughly. So get ready, and when you see us coming, dig down, not in, because the more generous the donations, the more elaborate the celebration. We want to make this Fourth the biggest day in the history of Belchertown, and now all that is needed is a little cooperation on your part.

The Woods

We frequently sing,
"I love thy rocks and rills, Thy woods and templed hills."

How true it is that we love the woods!

We love the woods for their fragrance. There is a perfume about a flower garden, but there is a great aggregate of perfumes in the woods. There are the odors from the flowers, odors from the mosses, odors from the trees, odors from the shrubs and odors from the ground. Nature is constantly throwing us bouquets of perfumes as we journey through the woods.

We love the woods for their music. Sometimes we say we love the woods for their quietness, but really the woods are full of sounds. We are removed from the harsh noises of the city, the honk of the automobile, the clank of the machinery and the roar of the street; but we are in a world of sounds, as musical and tuneful as a babbling brook. There is, first of all, the music of the birds, their high notes and their low notes, their shrill notes and their soft notes, their sweet notes and their gentle notes. There is the melody in the hummings and the twitterings and the chirpings and the gurglings of the woods.

We love the woods even more for their beauty. What is prettier than a winding path or a road through the woods? A nature scene is not perfect or complete unless there is a brook in the landscape; a walk is not perfect or complete unless it takes one through the woods. Woods are beautiful at any season of the year, but their greatest beauty is in the autumn when they are clothed in colors of gold and crimson and scarlet.

We love the woods for their meditation. The woods have always been a favorite retreat for men. There, away from the madding crowd, men have solved their vexing problems, have received strength for their struggle, and obtained horizon for their thoughts.

We love the woods for their romance. A lover's lane is always a long a pretty wooded road. If the woods could only speak, how many a tale of love it could tell! How many troths have been there plighted!

The woods bring healing to body and solace to mind and joy to soul. Let us flee often to the woods.

M. E. Church Notes

Dr. L. A. Nies, the district superintendent of the Springfield district, will speak at the M. E. church on Sunday night, June 6, at 7.30 o'clock. Dr. Nies is known as a strong preacher and will try everybody will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear him.

Mr. and Mrs. French happily surprised the great audience of the M. E. church last Sunday morning by presenting a splendid piano for the use of the church for an indefinite length of time. The piano adds to the beauty of the church and will be a great help to the services. As a symbol of the generosity of the donors, it is a most fitting tribute to their interest in the work of God.

The Children's Day exercises in the M. E. church will take place the second Sunday in June, June 13.

Dr. E. V. Hinchliffe, the executive secretary of American White Cross, will present two motion picture films, "The Ray of Life," and "The House of Life," at the M. E. church on Monday night, June 7, at 8 o'clock. The pictures portray in a vivid way the wonderful work done by the Deaconess hospital and other associated charitable institutions. Everybody is cordially invited. Admission free.

South End Items

At the last dance in Community hall, Alden St., State road, there was a good sized, enthusiastic company who enjoyed the fine music put on by the Lincoln 6 Singing orchestra. There were many old-fashioned numbers on the program and all enjoyed the time. All those interested in dancing old numbers or new are cordially welcome to attend the dance Saturday evening. A large crowd is expected.

Milton Paine, a teacher in the West Medford Junior High school, returned after spending Memorial day with his parents.

Town Items

Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Shumway and Eric Shumway of Brooklyn, N. Y., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis over Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kelsey of Middletown, Ct., and Mrs. Kelsey's sister, Mrs. Medbury, of Worcester, were in town for Memorial day.

Robert E. Dillon of Boston was in town for Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Riley of Pittsfield and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Thayer and daughter of Amherst were guests at the home of Thomas Riley for the holiday.

Mrs. Cornelia Holland of Boston was in town for Memorial day.

Social Guild Food Sale

The Social Guild will hold a food sale in the chapel Friday afternoon, June 11 at 3.30. Home baked food of various kinds, ice cream, and tea recently received direct from China will be on sale. Come and enjoy a social hour and supply your family with food for the week-end.

Water Bills Must Be Paid

The water commissioners are sending out statements for water bills rendered and expect prompt payment of the same. Notices have been sent on previous occasions but the rules have never been invoked. This time the commissioners state that they mean business and that water will be shut off for non payment. Interest is falling due and obligations must be met. Those who have water shut off must pay $2.00 by reason thereof before service will be resumed.

Those Detours

I've been thinking of my troubles
—'Tis an awful thing to do—
But when it comes to colors,
I'm sort of set on blue.

Things always used to run quite smooth

Way back when I was young—'Bout all a feller needed then
Was just to hold his tongue,

Turn to the right upon the road
When on the road he went,
And get there way a crow would fly—
Not have to circumvent.

But now!—I flivver 'long the road,
Pass one those "U. S." signs, Just "two miles" where I want to go —Just 'cross the county lines.

When, blame the luck! I see a sign
That makes my blood run cold;
I shake my fist, but there it is,
Struck out in letters bold.

"Detour," it says! Confound that man

Who sticks up those there signs:
I'd follow him through thick and thin,
And pay no end of fines

If I could land him back the bars
For killing all my joy;
I'd think 'twas worth it all and more
—But he's a wary boy!

I've seen the arrows where he's gone,
I've hit her up for speed,
But though I've seen his dust sometimes,
I've never got him treed.

He makes me turn upon my course,

I know the jar that holds the drink
Has busted long ago;
Those hard boiled eggs are hard no more—
My in'ards tell me so.

I'm late besides, I know I am,
It says so by the clock, I've rushed right through a lot of ducks
And killed off half the flock,

But 'taint no use! the day is spoiled,
Confound that Detour man!
I'm not as near the place I's gwine
As when I first began.

But here is where my story starts,
I'm bothered as you see,
Not only as to what is past,
But what is yet to be.

I've all but bought a flivver plane,
To get above this mess,
And watch the feller down below—
I want to, I confess.

But I don't know, I sort of feel,
The more I think it o'er,
That maybe things wont be as nice
As they have been before.

I'll hit the air some cloudy morn,
Away above the town,
I'll strike right out—right straight across—
No wandering around.

I'll have a grin upon my face,
I'll juice her up for fair—
So far's I know the air ahead's
In need of no repair.

But "Whoa!" I clutch both right and left,
I shiver in my seat,
"Taint so! Taint so!"—But yes it is,
Right there!—I'm surely beat—

NO-NOX

MOTOR FUEL

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR many years mechanical engineers struggled to build automobile engines of higher compression. As compression is increased the power line goes up and the fuel consumption line goes down —ordinary gasolines would not withstand this higher compression without knocks, clicks, or detonations—accumulated carbon deposits increased this compression by decreasing the size of the combustion chamber —and the audible sounds of the engine distress grew louder.

It has been our good fortune to produce a gasoline that positively eliminates clicks, pings, and knocks.

Gulf No-Nox and Carbon are

Power Twins

By increasing the compression of the engine, ceases to be a nightmare as long as it does not interfere with valve action. In other words, it puts carbon to work. More power and greater efficiency is thereby accomplished, resulting in greater mileage.

With GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel in your tank—step on it—you will get the story better than we can tell it.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor summer or winter.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

The Orange Gas—At the Sign of the Orange Disc

GULF REFINING COMPANY

"Detour! Detour!" Confound that man.

When did he hit my trail
And write upon the clouds ahead
The words that make me quail?

"Turn right, turn right," it also says,
—Cross-bones are there and head!

"Go east, then north, and hurry too!
A thunder shower's ahead."

So quick the levers turn my course,
There's nothing else in lieu,
The shower has hit me and I sway
And bump's I used to do.

I dip one cloud and top the next,
My jar of drink's no more,
The hard boiled eggs have cleared the decks
And struck the ocean floor,

But soon my ship rights on the waves,
I'm back upon the "road,"
The air has sort of flattened out,
And better bears its load.

But "Whoa!" I clutch my heart this time,
And all but faint away—
For tell me man! Where can I go
And feel that I can stay?

"Detour" again! Confound my luck,
And see! the arrow points,
Not right, nor left, but right above,
—My car creaks in its joints

And soars aloft—I've got to go,
There is no other way,
But when I catch that Detour man,
I'll have my little say,

For this is how the lett'ring ran
—I caught it as I flew—
"Blasting below, fly high today, And stay there till we're through,"

So this is how the thing will work;
No matter which the way,
You'll have to read the signs of life
And do about's they say.

them the greatest tribute. Continuing he said, "Americanism and Socialism cannot exist in the same country. Americanism and Bolshevism cannot exist together. Americanism and sectionalism cannot exist together." The heroes whom we honor gave their all for the whole. Americanism and law-breaking cannot exist side by side. Laws must be obeyed, no matter what that law may be. The American nation will go down when her people refuse to observe her laws.

His closing thought was that if we are determined that the present measure up to the past, this will be a wonderful Memorial day indeed.

Mr. O'Brien's address concluded the ceremonies of the afternoon. There was the usual attendance at the exercises, a number being present from out of town.

UNION EVENING SERVICE

A union evening service of all the churches of the community was held in Memorial hall at 7.30, Rev. D. L. Hilliard of the Congregational church presiding. The scripture was read by Rev. Cato Dick of the Methodist church and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Hilliard. A selection was sung by children from the public schools, with Mrs. W. E. Shaw accompanist.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby, a former pastor of the Congregational church of this town, who recalled the days when E. J. Griggs' Post boasted around 70 members and when the celebration was "done up brown."

Rev. Mr. Smith took for his text, "This is the day that the Lord hath made." He appealed to his former townsmen not to fail to recognize and to honor the boys in blue and the boys in khaki of a later time who endured privations that we might enjoy the blessings which we now possess. He questioned whether we had been thankful enough. "The thankful man," he said, "is the thoughtful man."

In this connection he called for an appreciation of what the mothers of the nation had contributed. He said "America has been great because she has had women who were great." Reared in this atmosphere of an heroic past, he believed that America would be true as had been her fathers and mothers.

Mr. Smith said that one is patriotic when he obeys the law. "This applies," he said, "to 4-inch trout and to the person who drives 90 miles an hour when he ought to be going 15." He maintained that the laws of the land and the word of God should be upheld, asking the question in this connection, "How much are you willing to do for your country? How much are you willing to do to en-

Last season thousands of farmers and home gardeners proved conclusively that there's nothing like Pyrox for protecting plants against insects and disease

THEY found, as you will find, that the new improved Pyrox spray is even more effective as a combined insecticide and fungicide, more convenient to use and more stimulating to plant growth than it ever was before.

You'll like Pyrox because it's so easily prepared for use. Five minutes and you're ready to spray. Pyrox goes farther, it sticks, making frequent sprayings unnecessary.

It does its work more efficiently—killing insects and preventing blight more effectively than anything you've ever used.

Buy Pyrox in the 5, 10 or 25 pound drums. You'll save money and time and run no risk, because Pyrox will retain its soft, creamy consistency until used.

To Publish Book

Dr. F. C. Wilder, Commander of Chauncey D. Walker Post, No. 239, will shortly publish a book entitled,
"War Experiences." This book is deduced from notes from his diary and from a vivid recollection of the period which it covers, from his enlistment to the signing of the armistice, a period of 22 months.

The table of contents is:

- I. Early Days of Training in the U. S.
- II. Embarkation for France
- III. Training for Trench Warfare in the Neufchateau Area
- IV. Preliminaries in Trench Warfare. Soissons Area
- V. Toul Sector
- VI. The Chateau Thierry Offensive
- VII. The St. Michiel Salient
- VIII. In and Around Verdun

Things are not glossed over in this book, neither is the picture overdrawn. It is a stark portrayal of the author's experiences, and gives one a vision of what war was and is.

The story is told in intimate fashion. The reader unconsciously lives through with Dr. Wilder the many ludicrous and near-death experiences.

The book will contain over a hundred pages and will be of especial interest to Dr. Wilder's friends and acquaintances, a large number of whom have already made reservations for the book. Several in town have read the manuscript and have been delighted with the story.

Locally the book will be handled by J. W. Jackson. Those desirous of being sure of a copy should make application at once, as the supply will be limited. The price will be either $1.25 or $1.50. Dr. Wilder is himself assuming the task of publication.

Fourth of July Notes

The committee on the Fourth of July celebration have not met since the last issue of the Sentinel, but that does not mean that affairs are at a standstill. Each member of the committee has his own particular program to carry out, and you may be sure he is on the job. Mr. Peck makes the assertion that nobody will go hungry. Mr. Fuller is sure that the parade will be a good one. Mr. Bothwell is getting on the good side of the bandmaster. Mr. Aspengren is getting all the inside dope on the entertainment. Mr. Shaw is selling grease for unused limbs that are going to trip the light fantastic at the dance in the evening. Dr. Wilder is trying to find out how many fat men are going to do the puffing in the 100 yd. dash. So, plan to come early and stay late and help make your own fun.

Mrs. Jennie P. Bishop

Mrs. Jennie P. Bishop, 77, widow of William L. Bishop, died Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carrie B. McLaughlin, of Stafford Springs, Ct., where she had been since the death of her husband, Jan. 9, 1926. Mrs. Bishop was born in this town, April 27, 1849, the eldest of eight children of Albert Augustus and Sarah Jane (Shumway) Atwood. March 4, 1867, she married William Lyman Bishop. In 1874 Mr. and Mrs. Bishop moved to Holyoke where they made a large circle of friends. Mrs. Bishop was a member of the Second Congregational church, the Glenwood Daughters of Rebekah and the W. R. C. They returned to Belchertown in 1912.

Mrs. Bishop leaves a son, Archie L. Bishop, of this town; a daughter, Mrs. Carrie McLaughlin, of Stafford Springs; two grandsons, William C. Bishop of this town, and Harry E. Bishop of Boston; a sister, Mrs. Susan K. Converse of East Saugus, Mass.; and two brothers, E. H. Atwood of this town and Frank L. Atwood of Anderson, Ind.

The funeral will be held in the Congregational church this afternoon at 2, Rev. D. L. Hilliard officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Demonstration at State School

A demonstration of the work of the Physical Education and Music classes of the State school was given in the assembly hall of the institution last evening at 8. The demonstration was under the supervision of Miss Deatherage, head teacher; Miss Boakes, teacher of physical education, and Miss Dray, teacher of music.

From the opening number, "Cheer for the State School," (to the tune of Old Amherst) rendered with spirit by the chorus, till the closing selections presented by the same company, there was much of real appeal in the program. Many of the musical numbers were difficult of rendition but were finely done. The folk dancing numbers were similar to those given at the Girl Scout entertainment last week under the same direction, and in comparison, were very creditable.

The marching drill by 16 girls of the second class was rendered with precision, and calisthenics by the same number in the third class re-

Girl Scout Council Entertainment

The Girl Scout Council entertainment last Friday evening was unique among entertainments that have been given in Belchertown. Folk dancing, the distinctive feature, was the culmination of a course of lessons given under the direction of Miss Boakes of the State School, and the patrons were evidently aware of it, if the look of expectancy on their faces was any indication. This keen interest was manifest throughout. All the participants were winners in the final appraisal.

Mrs. William Bridgman contributed much to the entertainment by her solos, the reading by Miss House with shadowgraph was humorous in the extreme, while the dance by six year old Leila Stevens, simply captivated the audience. The closing minut in costume formed a fitting ending.

Accompaniments were played by Mrs. L. G. Warren and Mrs. Doris Squires. An orchestra rendered two selections and furnished music during the intermissions, when home made candy and strawberry sundaes were sold. In all a little more than $50 was cleared for scout purposes.

A Present Day Patriotism

We insist that everything should be up to date. We turn down a car that does not have all the latest devices. We hang our pictures on the walls by the latest method. We dress according to the latest fashion. We want to be up to the very minute.

The methods of education in our public schools are constantly changing. Let a teacher drop out of school, even for a single year, and he discovers that he is out of date. The live teacher wants to know the last word in education. Of course, it is too much to expect that every latest method in education is an improvement, and yet it is only fair to say that the education of fifty years ago would be totally inadequate and unsatisfactory today.

So we ought to bring our patriotism down to date. There were days when a patriot was one who shouldered a musket and went forth to kill his enemy. It by no means follows that this is what a patriot would do today. There were days when to be a patriot one could not advocate entangling alliances with other nations. So George Washington was a true patriot in his day. But if George Washington were living today, we are of the firm belief he would bring his patriotism down to date.

A present day patriot must give his life to right the wrongs of his country and to heal the sore spots in his land. There is race prejudice, to mention only one item. Race antagonism must be abolished if there is to be true democracy and liberty in America. The patriot of sixty years ago answered the call of Lincoln to keep this nation a unit. The patriot of today must give himself wholeheartedly to the curing of our national ills.

A present day patriot must wish nothing for his own nation that he would deny to another. There may have been a time when a patriot was one who loved his own country and hated all foreign nations. But that day is past. A man cannot be a true patriot unless he is a lover of humanity. Let no man call himself a true patriot unless he has a patriotism that is up to date. —R.

vealed a surprising amount of alertness.

The Simple Minuet and the Virginia Reel, put on by 8 kindergarten girls, in costumes indicative of the olden time, was decidedly appealing, while the more elaborate minuet by 8 third class girls in similar garb, and with colored lights playing on the scene, made a fitting climax.

The younger girls figured more largely in this entertainment than in some, but came through nicely.

As usual, the costuming added to the effect. The marching and calisthenic girls were dressed in khaki knickers with waists of white and sashes of red, while the chorus girls were all in white.

Superintendents of schools of Northampton, Springfield, Holyoke, Palmer and Ware and selected subordinate teachers as well as the local school authorities were invited to the demonstration as were also educators from Smith, M. A. C. and Mt. Holyoke.

and disease

THEY found, as you will find, that the new improved Pyrox spray is even more effective as a combined insecticide and fungicide, more convenient to use and more stimulating to plant growth than it ever was before.

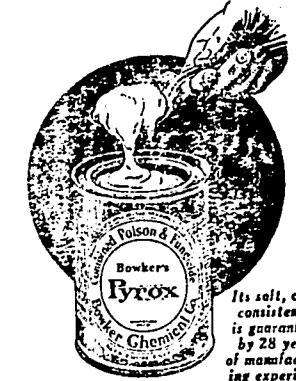

You'll like Pyrox because it's so easily prepared for use. Five minutes and you're ready to spray. Pyrox goes farther, it sticks, making frequent sprayings unnecessary.

It does its work more efficiently—killing insects and preventing blight more effectively than anything you've ever used.

NO-NOX

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR years the carbon knocks, clicks, pings or detonation in automobile engines have been a menace to motor efficiency and a sore spot to the motorist. GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel has turned the old time carbon bugaboo into an asset, in fact it has put carbon to work.

No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

Compression is power—Carbon adds compression—No-Nox withstands compression and the combination gives wonderful motor efficiency.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel not only withstands the high compression of the modern automobile engine—but also the added higher compression caused by carbon deposits on the walls and piston head which increases with the age of the car;—clicks and knocks are eliminated—greater efficiency is accomplished—followed by more power and greater mileage.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—and will not heat in summer driving.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

"Anything that grows on the earth can be raised here, and the famous magnesia springs, noted for their curative properties, are patronized by people from all parts of the world."

GUM-DIPPING

the Extra Process for Extra Miles! Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co., of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,600 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., say: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Staehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

Presents Deaconess Work

Dr. E. V. Hinchliffe, executive secretary of the American White Cross, presented the work of the Deaconess hospital and associated institutions, by the use of motion pictures, at a largely attended meeting in the Methodist vestry Monday evening.

Before showing the pictures, Dr. Hinchliffe gave a few interesting facts regarding the hospital which was started in 1896 with 14 beds and has now grown to a 175-bed institution. He said that the death rate was exceptionally low, having been only 1.99 in the last five years, whereas mortality usually ranges from 3 to 9 per cent in hospitals similar in nature.

The speaker especially emphasized the fine equipment, the efficient staff and the Christian atmosphere. He said that most all non-Christian patients go away with a change of mind if not of heart.

Dr. Hinchliffe spoke a good word for the associated institutions, the Palmer Memorial hospital for the incurables, the training school for nurses, the home for the aged and the home for children.

Ministers and members of the Methodist constituency, especially in worthy instances, receive special consideration as to fees. The speaker said that $100,000 of free work had been done, 94 per cent for members of the Methodist denomination.

Dr. Hinchliffe played melodies and hymns on the piano while the pictures were being shown and invited the audience to "sing when you want to". The audience accepted this friendly invitation and spent an enjoyable evening. At the close, pledge cards were passed for subscriptions for the White Cross work.

Dr. and Mrs. Hinchliffe are touring New England with a view to giving their message to the people of the 900 Methodist preaching stations.

What the Navy Offers

A few lines from the Recruiting Officer in Ware, Mass., to the young men of this district.

Following is an article for the guidance of young men seeking to enlist in the United States navy.

All men filling out application and passing physical examination will be sent to the Main Station at Springfield, Mass., and from there be sent to the training station at Newport, R. I., where their training will begin.

They will be taught to splice rope, tie knots, pull an oar, sail a boat, and military drills to fit them for duty aboard ship.

While on board ship he will have a chance to see the world and travel to all the different ports. Now when great changes are taking place in governments and peoples is the time to travel and see the history-making changes. The navy offers many opportunities to a young man entering the service—good pay, steady work, $100.00 worth of clothes, good wholesome food free, medical and dental treatment free.

The pay of a young man entering the navy does not look big to the high wages outside, but the pay of the young man in the navy he has to himself, while the young man out in civilian life has board, clothes, laundry, doctor and hospital bills to pay, while the man in the navy gets it all free.

And the navy will pay you while learning a trade, and while this is going on you will see things you have read about and longed to see, such as the Dimond Ragoda and the Temple of Heaven in China and the great Bronze Buddha in Japan, the Pyramids of Egypt, the great ruins of the temples of Greece and Italy, and the glaciers of the Straits of Magellan and thousands of other places in the world. Seeing these is

Control Work Begun

Inspector Stanley Cole of the State Department of Agriculture has established headquarters at the Colonial Inn for the purpose of assisting pine owners of Belchertown in controlling the white pine blister rust. Inspector Cole has working with him a local man, John Fairchild, who has also been appointed a State inspector.

Work was begun last week. So far, owners have been very willing to assist the inspectors where the rust has been discovered. The amount of time to be put in here by the inspectors is undetermined. It may be a matter of a few weeks and it may be an all-summer's job. For the last four years Mr. Cole has been engaged in this kind of work, and two years previous to the war he was similarly employed.

The control of this disease consists in the removal of all kinds of currant and gooseberry bushes from the vicinity of pine stands. The rust will not spread from pine to pine directly but must travel through the medium of the currant or gooseberry bushes. Black and flowering currants (spice-bush) are banned everywhere in the state, and their further planting or growth prohibited. The township of Belchertown is now quarantined under State law against "the further sale, transportation, or planting of any species of currant or gooseberry (Ribes sp.)."

Under the cooperative system now in use in Massachusetts, the services of the inspectors are furnished every pine owner free of charge, provided the owner cooperates with the State by going out with the inspectors to show them the boundaries of his land and assist them in removing any bushes found. The owner may, of course, designate someone to go in his stead. In this way, the pine owner obtains the assistance of trained men at no cost to himself other than his own time.

This work is carried on under the supervision of Agent Ralph E. Wheeler, whose headquarters are in the office of the Hampden County Improvement League, 719 Bridge Street, West Springfield. The Hampshire County Extension Service is also cooperating through the county agent. Pine owners and any other persons interested may obtain information regarding this disease or its control from either of these offices or from the inspectors now stationed in town.

July Fourth Celebration

Last Wednesday afternoon the members of the July Fourth Celebration committee covered a good part of the territory in their soliciting for funds. There is still work to be done along this line as there are a few streets which are not yet canvassed.

In the last issue of the Sentinel the statement was made that Mr. Peck would see that nobody went away hungry. This was an error on the part of the writer. Everybody is expected to bring his own basket lunch. Hot coffee and lemonade will be served during the luncheon period.

Through the medium of our press we wish to urge all owners of automobiles to decorate them and join with us in the parade.

All the married and single men who possess any ability in the way of ball playing are requested to meet on the common next Wednesday afternoon at 3 p. m. Bring your baseball paraphernalia with you. Andrew Sears has charge of organizing the teams, so get in touch with him at an early date.

Domestic Science Exhibit

"There is nothing new under the sun," so said "the wisest man." But Wednesday's Domestic Science exhibit was a new variation, at least to Belchertown.

Coming into Lawrence Memorial hall at the main entrance, it looked not unlike a city department store. On two lines stretching the length of the hall were displayed the garments made by the 32 pupils in this course under the direction of Miss Conklin. At the left were blouses, most of them white, some of them beautifully tailored; then children's garments and cotton dresses. At the right were the wool dresses, red, blue,

John J. Garvey

John Joseph Garvey, 62, died last Saturday at his home on Mill Valley Road, following a four months' illness with aneurism. Mr. Garvey was born in Chicopee, Dec. 23, 1863, the son of James and Mary Garvey. With the exception of one year spent in Chicopee and five years in Washington, D. C., all his life has been lived in Belchertown. On Oct. 29, 1890 he was married to Ella McDonough, who survives him.

For over a quarter of a century Mr. Garvey was in the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad, rounding out 27 years of continuous service, first on the section crew, then on the work train and finally as section

Death of

James F. Moriarty

James F. Moriarty, 63, died at his home in the Cold Spring district Tuesday evening at 6.30, following an illness of two years with diabetes which had confined him to his bed since last September.

Mr. Moriarty was born in South Belchertown in May, 1863, being the son of Maurice and Mary Moriarty, and had lived on the farm where he died for 58 years. Jan. 6, 1887, he married Mary Bowler, who survives him. He was a man of industry and served the town in various capacities. Although he never sought office, he did accept appointments by the selectmen to minor positions. He served the town as an inspector of meat and for a long term of years, at town meetings both regular and special, he opened the gate at the polling place for his fellow townsmen to enter and vote. He was a consistent supporter of the Democratic party.

He leaves besides his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Thomas Flaherty and Miss Margaret Moriarty of this town; Mrs. C. L. Sweeney of Worcester; and Miss Ella J. Moriarty of Springfield; a nephew, Morris J., at home; two brothers, John Moriarty and Thomas Moriarty of this town; also a sister, Miss Margaret Moriarty, at home. There is one grandson, James R. Flaherty of this town.

The funeral will be held this morning at 10 at St. Francis church, of which he was a member. Burial will be in St. Thomas's cemetery, Thorndike.

Noon in the Forest

By James Clair

The morning-glory's winding, from branch to branch
They string;
The robin's cheerful calling as he in the morning Sings.
The sun shines warm and brightly, the sky is calm
And serene,
As the wood folk of the forest play, fearing nothing of Human beings.
High up on the side of the mountain, bounding from Ledge to ledge,
Runs the silvery line of a brooklet, as it pours o'er
The mountain's edge.
When at noon-day the dark, tall forest, is quiet
And still,
The valley is hazed in a cloud of smoke as
It strings from hill to hill.
Not a sign of life stirs anywhere, the birds are
On their nests,
While the animal folk, in a shady place, lie Down for their noon-day rest.

Surprise Birthday Party

While Theron V. Pratt was working in the fields last Thursday afternoon, things were doing at his house of which he little dreamed. All was being put in readiness for a birthday party in his honor, and that of his brother-in-law, Milton Blackmer, of Hazardville, Ct., whose birthday came on the 11th. It was a genuine surprise and the strawberry shortcake supper and general good time which followed, were heartily enjoyed by the family which had suddenly grown to 19. Friends were present from Hazardville, Ct., Enfield and Sunderland.

brown, black and all sorts of mixtures, all of them cut from one of three stock patterns, but with endless variety as to development and finish of neck, sleeves and skirt. Yet all were alike in being wrought with care and neatly finished and pressed. Thoroughness as to detail would seem to be one of the lessons to be learned in this course.

At the end of this line was an interesting display of made-overs. Here was a good-looking coat cut down from mother's and by means of ingenious piecing, a whole lining had been evolved from the old. Here was a dress cut from a gored skirt, but you could never guess it unless you were told. And here was a dress, good as new, fashioned from two old ones. And so on.

A table of embroidery and fancy work gave an idea of the work done along this line and a group of dainty party dresses in the center of the hall showed what a school girl could achieve with little expense. Another table displayed slips and aprons, etc.

The year's work included a slip, a Christmas piece, a wool dress, a blouse, a child's garment and one made-over garment. Some of the pupils had four months of sewing last year, but none of them have had over fourteen months in this course. As the work advances, designing, millinery and other projects will be added.

The visitor is impressed with the very practical training in this department of High school work. It would seem, too, that the parents must appreciate such tangible results. Skill with the needle is not the only end sought, and it was of interest to learn that the instructor visits each home in the course of the year to make sure that the lessons of the class room are being put to use at home.

Parents, teachers, school mates and other friends accepted the invitation for Wednesday afternoon. Even a few masculine representatives were present, although they had the appearance of being somewhat out of their element. The Seniors assisted Miss Conklin as hostesses and punch and cup cakes were served in the Domestic Science room.

NO-NOX

MOTOR FUEL

PUTS CARBON TO WORK

PUTTING the old demon, carbon, to work sounds like a paradox—nevertheless that's just what GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel does and here's how it happens: Compression is power. The more compression the more power. Greater compression is secured by reducing the displacement or space in the combustion chamber. Carbon deposits materially reduce this space—old time gasoline would not withstand this added carbon compression—clicks—knocks—pings or detonations of distress quickly following sudden acceleration or heavy pulls.

No-Nox withstands higher compression—stops the knocks or detonations, thereby increasing engine efficiency. GULF No-Nox and Carbon Deposits work together for more power and greater mileage.

Turns Mountains Into Mole Hills

This guarantee goes with it: GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor, winter or summer.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

Rev. Newell Booth has received an appointment as pastor of the M. E. church at Bryantville, Mass., and began his ministry two weeks ago. This church is in the Southern New England conference.

On Monday afternoon, Victor, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smola, strayed away from his father with whom he went into the woods. After searching until dark, the neighbors and fire department were called upon to help, also the state police. Throughout the night they searched and at 9 in the morning he was located in a deserted hen-house about a mile from his home, none the worse for his experience. Miss Mary Connolly and Miss Alice Connolly of Hadley visited at Jason Hurlburt's, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Green with a party of 30 friends went to West Suffield to a barbecue dinner, Sunday, to celebrate Mrs. Green's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Shumway and Mrs. C. R. Green motored to Boston, Tuesday.

James A. Hall of Keene, N. H., is visiting Mrs. Iva Peeso.

Eighteen Girl Scouts took the test for the folk dancers' badge Tuesday evening.

Dr. Charles W. Nichols of Minneapolis, Minn., has joined his family who are spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis went to Rumford, Me., yesterday where they will spend a ten days' vacation at the home of their son, Rev. Harold W. Curtis.

A successful food sale was conducted by the Social Guild at the chapel Friday afternoon. In addition to the sale of food, iced tea and ice cream and cake were served. Musical numbers by the Misses Higgins and Hagstrom and Mrs. Duncan made the occasion partly a social affair. Mrs. Dora Bardwell was chairman of the committee in charge.

The Senior class reception is held before the graduation exercises this year, due to the fact that some members of the class expect to leave town immediately after commencement.

Last year growers were amazed at the increased effectiveness and greater convenience of Pyrox spray. This year why not give your crops every chance to produce the biggest possible yields

You, too, will be amazed at what the new improved Pyrox spray will do for your crops.

We've made it more effective than ever as a certain, positive, combined insecticide and fungicide. We've made it easier to prepare for use. Five minutes and you're ready to spray. No fuss, no bother.

You'll find that Pyrox not only saves time and produces better results, but that it is more economical. It goes farther and it sticks — making frequent sprayings unnecessary. And because it improves foliage it lengthens growing periods and increases crop yields.

It is more economical in the five, ten or twenty-five pound drums, too, than in the one-pound jars.

boss. On retiring from the employ of the railroad he purchased the store next the post office, which he has since maintained. Mr. Garvey was a member of Palmer Council, Knights of Columbus, and held numerous offices of trust in the town. He was a member of the board of selectmen for 12 years and since 1914 has been chairman of the Democratic town committee.

Besides his widow, Mr. Garvey is survived by four brothers, James Garvey, Michael Garvey, Timothy Garvey and Patrick Garvey, all of this town, also two sisters, Nellie Garvey and Mrs. M. Carmody, also of this town.

The funeral was held at St. Francis church, Tuesday morning at 9.30, with solemn requiem high mass. Rev. J. A. Dunphy, pastor of St. Francis church was celebrant and Rev. John Griffin of Holyoke and Rev. James McGrath of Bondsville served as deacons. The choir of St. Bartholomew's church of Bondsville sang and John Donahue of Palmer rendered "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Bearers were members of Palmer Council, Knights of Columbus: Peter Bard, Charles Doherty and Michael Garvey of Palmer; Francis M. Austin, Eugene Flaherty and Joseph C. Bothwell of this town. Burial was in St. Thomas cemetery, Thorndike.

The esteem in which Mr. Garvey was held was attested by the large number attending the funeral services. The stores were closed from 9 to 11, and the workmen taken off the road in deference to the memory of Mr. Garvey.

O'Malley of Amherst. Mr. Gorman of South Hadley Falls sang, "Pie Jesu," and Miss Mary Catherine Sullivan of Bondsville rendered, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." John J. Donahue of Monson and Joseph Austin of Bondsville assisted the choir of St. Francis church.

Burial was in St. Thomas's cemetery, Thorndike. Fathers McGrath and Dunphy offered prayer at the grave. The bearers were Thomas J. O'Connor, John J. O'Connor and P. J. Greaney of Holyoke, P. J. Long of Springfield, P. T. Sweeney of Worcester and P. J. Moriarty of Belchertown.

July 4th Celebration

Plans for the big celebration are completed and now all that remains to be done is getting in touch with the weather man and ordering a good day.

Don't forget, folks, to put a little work on those cars of yours in the way of elbow grease and streamers and get into the parade.

Nearly all of the organizations have floats assigned to them. But if any organization wishes to put on another float, or any individual wishes to do so, the addition will be appreciated.

Contrary to some rumors, a horse drawn vehicle or any other type of locomotion is permissible.

Ball players were as scarce as hens' bicusped teeth last Wednesday afternoon. Let's get together next Wednesday afternoon at 3 p. m.

Everybody is asked to decorate his own store and home. Material for decorations may be obtained at R. M. Shaw's store.

Death of John Wood

John Wood, 69, died last Friday at the Holyoke City hospital where he had been for two weeks. He had been sick for a little over a month.

Mr. Wood was born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England. He came to this country 38 years ago. In New York he met J. R. Gould who engaged him to come to Belchertown and enter his employ as a meat cutter. He arrived in town the night of the big blizzard in 1888. Since that time many employers have availed themselves of his outstanding ability as a meat cutter.

He married Jennie Aldrich of this town, who survives him. Besides his widow he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Charles Stockwell of Cushman and Mrs. Ernest Denny of Northampton; six sons, Fred W., in the United States army in New Mexico, Walter W., of Enfield, Milton J., John, Jr., Berkley E. and Elwyn H., all at home. There are also four grandchildren, and three sisters living in England.

The funeral was held in the vestry of the M. E. church, Sunday afternoon at 2, Rev. Cato Dick officiating. Mrs. Clarinda Shaw rendered "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Shall We Meet Beyond the River." The bearers were four sons, Milton J., John, Jr., Berkley E. and Elwyn H. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Trip Day of Class of 1926

As several of our class are to leave to work at once after graduation, it occurred to us that to have a day off as a class and take a trip to some place of interest would be in accordance with our idea of a good time. Sort of a "junketing" expedition, so Mr. Allen called it. As we could not decide on where to go, as usual we asked Mr. Allen. He said, "Visit Memorial hall at Deerfield. There you will see many things of interest, all historic, and that have had to do with the history of this section of the country. Then go on to Greenfield and Brattleboro, cross the river, and come home through historic Northfield."

We took his advice and on June 18, chaperoned by Mrs. Hill of the faculty, we made the trip. Rain threatened in the morning but Mr. Allen advised one or two timid ones not to wait for weather.

Visiting Memorial hall, it was all he told us and more, for no one can do justice to the collection there. We received the pleasing compliment that we were the best behaved class that ever visited the hall.

Thence on our trip we took in other places and on the way back we climbed Sugar Loaf. Talk about climbing Belcher hill! Say! It's a mere hillock to that red hump.

Arrived home early, tired and happy, we all voiced the opinion that we had had a splendid time. No doubt it will be one of the bright spots on which to look back when we shall be grave and gray alumni.

—M. D. P., Sec.

B. H. S. Graduation

The attendance at the High school graduation last year surpassed all expectation. With a large class this year and nearly all taking part, an equal attendance is expected. That near relatives of the class may be deprived of seats, tickets have been issued and seats will be reserved. The public will not be admitted to these till after 8.10, nor at all to those reserved for the school in the front rows. It is hoped no inconvenience will be caused, but this is the great night for the class of 1926 and their relatives should have the hall. If attendance increases, doubtless admission in future will have to be by card only till a certain time, after which the general public may occupy what seats are left.

Baccalaureate Service

The Baccalaureate service this year will be in the M. E. church on Sunday, June 27. In order to have the privilege of seeing the members and friends of the Congregational church participate with us in this service, the exercises will take place in the evening at 7.45 o'clock. Everybody is welcome.

Domestic Science Picnic

Students of the Domestic Science department to the number of about 40, with Miss Martha Conklin, teacher, went to Lake Metacomet Wednesday for a picnic. The party walked to the lake where games and boating were enjoyed. Basket lunches were eaten early and a hot dog roast with toasted marshmallows enlivened the afternoon. Other members of the faculty went down for the finish and transported the party home.

Christian sanctuary, the symbol of death where once was preached the way of life. It stands conspicuously at the intersection of the two main streets suggesting to those who approach the center from several ways that we glory in war and our it speaks of all that is subversive of the orderly and equal administration

A Night in Fall

By James Clain

The golden moon shone o'er the hills,

Its face seemed far away,
A broad grin on his countenance,
Which was hidden in the day.

Millions of stars twinkled in the sky,

Like candles in a breeze,
But old Jupiter like an electric light,

Was in view o'er the top of the trees.

The Milky-Way stretched across the sky,

On which the Heaven-Folk can tread,

Alas! A comet shoots across the sky,

'Twas next where my gaze was led.

A gust of wind blows all around,
Bending saplings to and fro,

Lifting leaves from the ground,
And sending them fluttering like flakes of snow.

A silver-lined cloud came up from the South,

Drifting across the moon,
Covering up the imaginative mouth,

Then disperses soon.

More clouds come, big and black,
Shutting off the mystic view,

I wish they would drift back,
But it is more than possible, I knew.

Excursion to Boston

A rail excursion to Boston at reduced rates on Sunday, June 27th, is announced by the Boston & Maine Railroad, with the beaches and shore resorts now offering attractions of a high order.

The Boston & Maine excursions have become increasingly popular and this trip over the Central Massachusetts will provide for the comfort, pleasure and safety of all passengers. With the week-end highway congestion, many motorists find the Boston & Maine reduced rate excursions offer enjoyable trips without the worry and strain of driving on crowded highways.

The Boston excursion train will leave Belchertown at 7.30 a. m.

Eastern Standard Time, and the round trip rate has been reduced to $2.50.

B. H. S. Graduation

With each passing year it hardly seems possible that another class of equal ability can be forthcoming from B. H. S. But the class of 1926 "came through" and proved worthy to stand in line with its predecessors. Before a crowded house, a large part of which was admitted by ticket, the 24 graduates marched in, escorted by Donald Hazen and the lower classmen. The platform had been appropriately arranged for the occasion. The front was hedged with laurel, while overhead were the class numerals and the motto, "En Avant."

The invocation was given by Rev. J. A. Dunphy, following which the Glee club rendered "Yachting Glee." The salutatory by Miss Edith L. Shaw contained the customary words of welcome and was appreciative of the helpful influences with which the class of 1926 had been surrounded. She alluded to this as B. H. S.'s 54th graduation and the third in the present building.

Miss Frances Sauer, in her essay, "School Spirit," said that the school had not once failed in its undertakings, had won a majority of its baseball games and had been successful in the whole field of athletics. She advocated a heating system at the town hall, now used as a gym, and the acquirement of a baseball field.

Miss Dorothy Blackmer took for the subject of her essay, "Where Your Money Goes," and showed what becomes of the elusive dollar, giving figures showing the average expenditure per person for luxuries and necessities. Joy riding came in for $27.00, religious work $1.29 and public schools $10.

After "Welcome, Sweet Spring-time," by the Glee club, Roy Gustafson gave an oration on "Our Forest," calling attention to the annual loss by fire which in 1924 amounted to 29 million acres, the need for reforestation and the necessity of conservation.

Miss Beatrice Smith gave a vivid picture of the change in living conditions time has wrought, in her essay, "The Old Housekeeper vs the New." The windowless cabin to the modern home seemed a far call.

There were two declamations during the evening, one by Evelyn M. Corey, entitled "A Legend of Service," by Van Dyke and the other by Miss Irene L. Sullivan on "How the Guards Came Through," by Doyle. Miss Helen Shea rendered a violin solo.

The Play, "Educatin' Mary," was

We have been fortunate enough to secure Mr. Knight, the superintendent of schools, to be the speaker of the day.

Plenty of good music will be furnished at various times during the day. This means during the parade, during the luncheon period—though we do expect the band will stop playing long enough to devour a hot dog—and at frequent intervals during the afternoon.

Relative to the luncheon. Bring your own basket lunch, but you will be supplied with ice cold lemonade and hot coffee. See the genial Mr. Peck when you get thirsty.

Graduating from Superintendency

With so many graduates orating this week on the grand opportunities which life has to offer, it hardly seems possible that Alvan R. Lewis, our superintendent of schools for the past 18 years, has rounded out 44 years as teacher and superintendent and has reached the limit when retirement is necessary. In the best of health and apparently well able to carry on for a decade or more yet, still Mr. Lewis is not bitter against the law's requirement but is looking forward wistfully to getting out to pasture where life's routine is less restricted.

It is most appropriate and interesting, therefore, in view of this period of service to gather up at this time the strands of his life and note the manner of their weaving.

Alvan Richardson Lewis was born in Sterling, May 25, 1856, and spent his boyhood days on a farm, attending until 15 years of age the school in that town known as the "Mary's Little Lamb school," named so because of the fact that it was here that occurred the incident that called forth the verses by that name. In fact, one of Mr. Lewis's teachers was

Baccalaureate Address

Rev. Cato Dick, pastor of the Methodist church, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1926, B. H. S., last Sunday evening. There were eleven graduates present and a good sized audience.

Mr. Dick took for his subject, The Three Golden Apples, and had for his text the words of Paul, "So run that ye may obtain." Mr. Dick used an incident in Greek mythology for a "framework" for his picture. He said in part:

"Of those who ran, only one succeeded. All had the same vision of beauty. None of them failed to run. Yet only one succeeded. And if you look for the reason for his success, you are told the story of sources at his disposal overlooked by all of those who had failed. Those trusting their own strength failed, while he who provided himself with the golden apples obtained. Don't think for a moment that I want to minimize the value of personal efforts. But all honest men will tell us that the great things in life are never won in their own strength alone. As Meilanion, we can only win the prize by using the golden apples freely given by One greater than us. If there be one here tonight, who has been hampered by discouraging circumstances, won't you consider with me the three golden apples at your disposal.

"The apple of self respect is certainly worth its weight in gold. Most people regard success as the main object in life. And if by success you mean not how to get a living, but how to give a life, I agree. But in the great art of how to give a life, few people are successful.

"Those who really succeeded travelled far but they never travelled that far by treading on other people's toes. The bigger the man, the more he considers your feelings. It is only the man who has lost his self-respect to whom nothing is sacred. It is only the youth who does not respect himself who ever descends to petting parties and cheap dances. Those whom we respect for their achievement as well as their ability, were just as pure as they were successful. They got there without bargaining away their self respect. So friends, as you run the race, don't overlook the apple of self respect.

"Another apple that you will find essential for a successful race is the golden apple of patience. Perhaps we young people too often expect to begin at the top, where our hero is. My! what great things we would do if we only had his job. We forget that those men did not begin where they are now. For years they travelled unknown in the crowd. In humble places they learned the value of disappointment and monotony. Their life moved perhaps in zig-zag. And often victory was won through defeat. Friends, we need the golden apple of patience, or we will soon find ourselves among the quitters in the game of life—that pitiful crowd of disgrusted people who lost their ideals and now suffer from the sting of the emptiness of it all.

"And now friends, we are ready to consider the last apple that is going to help us win the prize. I have in mind the golden apple of religion. I wish you folks would get this straight. Religion does pay. The crooks and gangsters and rotters, all the lowest elements of mankind are seldom or never religious. But Presidents and statesmen and the leaders in all the trades and great professions usually are. The people who go to churches are the best people in the community. Forget the hypocrite and the narrow little bigot and remember only this fact. If you would make the most of your opportunity, you will need all the strength and inspiration which religion can give you. Without religion you will never be as great as you will be with it. You can keep your faith in God and follow any profession you may choose. It will not restrict your opportunity or become an obstacle to your ambition. It will not deprive you of a single decent pleasure or rob you of a single manly friend. But religion will not merely help you reach the goal of success; it will also keep your success from getting mirthful in plot and equally so in presentation. The actors were unable to detach themselves from the audience's viewpoint, but nobody cared.

The Class History by Raymond Dunbar revealed an entering class of 28. By reason of the fire their first year was spent in the Methodist vestry. School parties were launched in their freshmen year. The class was awarded the banner in athletics for four successive years and won two loving cups for prowess in basketball.

The duologue by Miss Helen Camp and Miss Eleanor Gay was the class prophecy in new garb. Some of the class are to be aviators, some ranchers, some musicians. Like Postum, there was a reason for the visions of the future.

The Class Will by Eugene Flaherty, held the audience and especially the lower classmen in suspense. Instead of a "barrel of fun," it was a bushel basket of fun. Basket and all were disposed of.

The valedictory was given by Frank Shaw, who paid tributes to the teachers, members of the School Board, and others who had helped them attain the goal. He expressed the determination of the graduates to be a credit to their alma mater.

Following the 1926 class song, Mr. Geer of the School Board, presented Herman C. Knight, the new school superintendent, who took the opportunity of alluding to the young people as our most valuable asset. As far as his own work was concerned, he said his slogan would be, Help All! Not Merely One.

Prin. Thomas Allen then announced the following honor pupils and special awards: Thelma Dickinson, straight A in all subjects for the year; Madeline Sears, Evelyn Downing and Joan Rowland, an average of A for the year. Miss Edith Shaw received a prize for the best-kept note book in civics, and Miss Persis Ritchie a prize for the best collection of flowers. Miss Rachel Randall was presented with a certificate from the Palmer company for superior ability in the Palmer method of penmanship.

In closing, Mr. Allen presented the class to the school committee, in whose name Belding F. Jackson presented the diplomas. Mr. Jackson alluded to the fact of his being a teacher of the school in their freshmen year and said that by reason of this association, it was a very real pleasure to give them their certificates. He called attention to the educational opportunities offered in America, speaking in particular of the fact that it is possible to secure a High school education without cost to the boy or girl.

"Morning Invitation," by the Glee club, and the benediction by Rev. D. L. Hilliard concluded the ceremonies. Mr. Gorman acted as musical director and both Mr. Gorman and Miss Hagstrom assisted as accompanists on the piano.

a cousin of Mary.

As high schools were not as plentiful in those days as they are today, Mr. Lewis had to leave home to secure an education. Thus he attended Fitchburg High school, Lancaster Academy and Agassiz Institute. He received his degree from Western University.

It was at the age of 19 that Mr. Lewis taught his first school. This was in Ashburnham. For six months he taught the Dutch Farm school and the next six months the Wilson school in the same town.

After receiving his degree, Mr. Lewis taught the School Street grammar school at Mansfield for five years, the Thaxter school at Hingham two years, the Eliot school of Natick two years. While at Natick he was principal of the evening High school, where the ages ranged from 16 to 53 years.

It was at this time that Mr. Lewis was requested by the State Board of Education to take up the work of superintendency and recommended him for the Hopkinton-Ashland district, which he served for eight years. He then became superintendent of the Provincetown - Welfleet district where he was for eight years.

In 1908 he came to Belchertown where he has since been superintendent of the Belchertown-Enfield district. At that time G. H. B. Green, (who was the first man whom he met in town) Mrs. M. D. S. Longley and Dr. S. W. Perry were the committee here, and Rev. P. R. Stratton, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Barlow, the committee in Enfield. During 44 years as teacher and superintendent, Mr. Lewis has the satisfaction of knowing that all votes have been unanimous but twice, when only one vote was cast against him. He has been offered positions in larger towns and cities but has preferred to work in rural communities.

From the time when he began teaching his first school after receiving his degree—43 years—his service as teacher and superintendent has been continuous and he has not lost a single day.

In the field of religious work, Mr. Lewis has rendered valuable service. He is a member of the Congregational church, joining when he was 16. For 25 years he was either a teacher or superintendent of a Sunday school.

Mr. Lewis is a Past Master of John Warren Lodge of Hopkinton; Past Master of Vernon Lodge; Past Patron of Summit Chapter, O. E. S., of Hopkinton; Past District Deputy of the 19th Masonic district for the years 1922 and 1923. He is also Past Master of Union grange, a member of Hampden Royal Arch Chapter, Palmer, and has been chairman of the Republican town committee for four years and moderator at town meetings for ten years.

During this 18 years' sojourn in our midst, as the foregoing paragraphs indicate, Mr. Lewis has become assimilated with our community life, has shared our joys, listened to our tales of woe and still knowing all, is glad to linger with us in his comfortable home on Cottage street.

This graduating year for our superintendent brings memories of surprising contrasts. When Mr. Lewis came here, the town expended less than $8,500 for schools; now the figures are around $42,000. Then there were 15 district schools, now there are 5; then there were two teachers at B. H. S., now there are seven; then graduates from our High school had to go elsewhere to fit for college, now B. H. S. is approved by the State Board of Education and is in the college certificate list, Class A—the highest. Eighteen years ago the grade schools kept 32 weeks, the High school 36, now we have a 40-week year; then the lowest salary in the grades was $5 and the highest $25 a week, now the lowest grade salary is $750 and the highest $2,000. There were 45 in the High school when Mr. Lewis came here; next year there will be around 150. Numerous courses of study have been added during these last 18 years, among them the commercial course, domestic science physical training and music.

As Mr. Lewis recalls what the years have brought, he pays high tribute to the teachers in his charge and appreciates to the full the kindness of his fellow citizens who at this time, both in public and in private, are tendering him congratulations and wishing him many happy days.

Junior High Graduation

The balcony and a good portion of the main floor at Memorial hall was filled for the Junior High school graduation exercises on Monday evening, which was indicative of considerable interest on the part of the townspeople in this comparatively recent innovation in graduation events.

The program was carried out substantially as printed last week. The 18 graduates, led by Hope Nichols, marched to the platform which was in true graduate setting. White daisies in a large bank of ferns on the rear wall proclaimed the class numerals, while over the platform in letters of green on a white background, was the motto, "We shall be heard from again."

The class history, given by Louis Fuller, showed that the class numbered 36 when it entered the center primary school and that by reason of shortage of room and the later burning of the High school building, the class had held forth in a number of different places—including the basement of Community hall and Engine House hall.

The class will was interestingly given by Catherine Doerpholz who bequeathed both tangible and intangible property—mostly the latter. The presentation of class gifts was by George McPherson, and of course was the most popular feature of the program. Horns, rolling pins, rubber balls, etc., were dealt out in plenty by the graduate, who did not so easily escape when the prophecy by Alice Hussey was given. She predicted for him a future state ludicrous but not wholly comfortable. Miss Hussey gave her prophecy in rhyme which was a new idea locally.

The history of Belchertown by Jane Shumway showed a painstaking amount of study in preparation.

Musical numbers included several selections by the school under the direction of Mr. Gorman, musical supervisor, and a piano duet by Ola Campbell and George McPherson.

Miss Campbell was valedictorian of the class and Barbara Sears, salutatorian.

A former teacher of the school, the late Miss Shattuck, was respectfully alluded to by the graduates in their essays. In her memory a framed picture of George Washington was presented by the class to the school. Edward Schmidt made the speech of acceptance.

The class play, "On the Threshold," was given just before the valedictory.

Prin. Thomas Allen of the High school presented the certificates of promotion. He complimented the class on the talent and ability which it had shown, but called to their attention that what they were receiving were merely certificates of promotion and there were heights yet to gain.

A pleasing feature of the evening's program was the presentation by the class of a set of gold cuff links with Masonic emblems thereon, to Supt. A. R. Lewis, who is this week retiring from his office which he has held here for the last 18 years. Mr. Lewis, in responding, said that in a sense he, too, was graduating and desired to appropriate their motto, paraphrasing it to read, "I shall be heard from again."

At the close of the exercises opportunity was afforded the public to meet the graduates.

Town Items

Miss Florence Nelson of Ryegate, Vt., was a guest this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jackson of South Main St. Miss Nelson with her mother and sister has returned from an auto trip to Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Winifred G. Hawley, Miss Helen Hawley and Chester Hawley of Homestead, Florida, are guests of Mrs. Hawley's sister, Mrs. Lewis H. Blackmer.

Miss Lina Fisher of Amherst was the week-end guest of Miss Nora Connors.

The reception of the graduating class of the High school Friday night was well attended. The hall was decorated with streamers of purple and white, the class colors. Ray Gould and his seven-piece orchestra furnished music and played for the dancing which lasted until 12.30. Ice cream was sold during the intermission.

Miss Helen Boakes has resigned her position at the State school and gone to Syracuse where she will attend summer school.

Children's Night at Grange

Tuesday evening was Children's Night at Union grange, when about thirty children furnished the program, which was prefaced by a xylophone solo by Chester Hawley of Homestead, Florida. The children's numbers follow:

"Trouble with His Opening Speech," four boys; piano solo, June Sanford; song, Milton Chamberlain; exercise, "The Little Suffragettes," four boys and four girls; song, Miss Stadler's pupils; Virginia reel, six boys and six girls; song, Miss Orlando's pupils; recitation and song, Hilda Green; song, "Old Dog Tray," seven boys; "What Some Girls Like to do," six girls; Virginia reel, six boys and six girls, (older children); song, six boys; "A Boy's Troubles," Madeline Lincoln and Ellison Dodge; "Playing Grandma," Dorothy Trainor; song, Miss Orlando's pupils; quadrille.

The audience of about sixty manifested great interest in the quadrille and Virginia reels, which were well rendered by the older children and very cutely executed by the younger ones. The recitations, dialogues and exercises were, many of them, in costume. The children earned their right to a box of ice cream, while others paid for the privilege.

The program was in charge of Miss Irene Orlando, Miss Ruby Knight, Miss Emma Stadler and Miss Madeline Orlando.

Independence Day Celebration

Belchertown's celebration of the 150th Anniversary of our Independence is still the talk of the town. From the anniversary address in Memorial hall Sunday evening to the Colonial dance in the same hall Monday night, the program was worthy of the community and of the occasion. It seemed as though every one in town had some part in the proceedings and undoubtedly therein lay their success. No prizes were offered in any event. The simple incentive of doing something as well as it could be done was the sole reason for the days and hours of effort consumed in preparation. In fact, no expense was spared by those who entered the floats.

UNION SUNDAY SERVICE

A union Independence Day service was held in Memorial hall Sunday evening at 8. Rev. D. L. Hilliard presided and Rev. Cato Dick preached the sermon, which was a clarion call to America to hold fast to those high principles which have won for her the place which she holds in the world. The address is more fully reported elsewhere.

THE NIGHT BEFORE

It seemed as though the whole town stayed up for the bon fire. As midnight approached, the town trucks were busy gathering up boxes, crates, barrels, the remains of old buildings, etc., and taking them to the Walker lot on Maple street where they were dumped in the old cellar hole. Soon the superstructure began to rise and material had to be passed up for appropriate placing by Messrs. Spencer and Stevens, the head engineers, who soused the whole pile with gasoline and cylinder oil before the torch was applied. A spectacle it was indeed with the sudden dazzling light revealing several hundred townspeople gathered on the lawn at M. G. Ward's, on the post office corner and in cars on the street. A continuous banging of fire crackers and the ringing of the church bell made it a noisy spot as well.

But it was not so much the fire and noise in themselves that was appealing—it was because the 150th anniversary had begun. And everything seemed auspicious. The committee in charge of events could be clearly seen at the rear of Masonic hall. One of them was sitting cross-legged on the flare board of his truck, pulling confidently on an old Havana, while the others were standing about him, with an occasional up-turned

Fourth at the State School

The Fourth was a big day at the State school. At 6 a. m. there was the flag raising, at 7 the distribution of horns, bells and noise makers, and at 9.30 the parade. The parade was of great merit, combining antiques and horrors with floats decidedly appealing. The line, led by George McPherson, Jr., was made up as follows:

Gould's 7-piece orchestra
Miss Margaret McPherson, as Paul Revere, mounted 12 girls carrying flags Boys' baseball club with bats
Skeletons, comedians, topsy-turvy man, scare crow, etc.

9 "wooden soldiers" in red blouses and white trousers
Moving boxing match
16-piece "Razzberry" band—outlandish in costume and in harmony Floats—

"The First Americans," showing Indian village with wigwam, birch-bark canoe, etc. 7 Indian girls
"The First Thanksgiving," Red, white and blue float. Pilgrims and Indians seated at bounteously laden table

"Signing the Declaration of Independence," Red, white and blue float. Wheels basket-woven with these colors. Five people in colonial costume at table

"Washington Crossing the Delaware." Large, flat-bottom boat with oars. Cakes of ice represented at sides. Washington beside American flag with six boys at oars

"Betsy Ross," Express wagon daintily trimmed in pink and white. Three maidens thereon in pink and blue and grey, with white caps. Betsy Ross seated in center, at work on the colonies' flag

"Frigate Constitution," 3-mast, 30 ft. boat in brown, built around a motor truck. Manned by six sailor boys in blue and white. Boat replete with anchor, guns (boate pipes), steering wheel, etc.

"Liberty Bell," Mammoth bell elevated on truck, sailor boy at rope. Girls in white beneath bell, each with letter spelling word "Liberty." Two girls at a table. Nine girls in white walking beside float, each with a streamer reaching to top of bell

"Eli Whitney and the Cotton Gin," White float. Six negro cotton pickers, red bannannas, at work in cotton field with white overseer. Baskets of cotton, and machine representing cotton gin

"Fairyland," Express wagon trimmed with green. Birch posts.

Anniversary Address

Rev. Cato Dick gave the address at the union meeting in Memorial hall, Sunday evening. A synopsis follows:

America arose out of great ideals. Considering that we are only a child of yesterday, our achievements are the more remarkable.

The natural resources of America are tremendous. To us a great patrimony is given, but it is easier to waste a patrimony than to make one. We have a tendency to be wasteful. The whole world has been living through some prodigal years of late, during which we have been throwing away great opportunities, on which the weal of mankind depends.

I am not so sure that "every day in every way we are getting better and better." To be sure, we are using electric lights where our forefathers used candles, we speed along in our cars where our forefathers used ox carts. Surely the instruments of life have improved. So if man's life consisted in the abundance of things possessed, we have progressed indeed. It was never easier to make a living. To live nobly, however, was never more difficult.

The most alarming feature of our day is the general desecration of life caused by the waning away of religious influence.

There are two tremendous forces in conflict today. There is a certain philosophy that tries to picture men as born of the dust, doomed to the dust, without spiritual origin, spiritual meaning, or spiritual destiny. Over against this low conception of life stands Christianity with her great gospel of the origin and meaning of human life.

Some leaders of today view with anxiety the civilization of tomorrow as they view it through the lives of our youth. Isaiah said, "Lengthen your ropes and strengthen your stakes." The main trouble with us who are young is that we are enjoying a greatly extended freedom without the stabilizing self-control needed.

We as a nation want it plainly stated that liberty is not the same as licentiousness. I do not put the right to get drunk among those great fundamental liberties guaranteed to the people by the Constitution. The man or woman who thinks more of his appetite than he does of his fellowmen is not fit for the liberties our Constitution guarantees.

The breakdown of authority in the family is one of the many causes of lawlessness. Personally I want to say that I never saw, in any country, so many spoiled children as I have here.

But perhaps the real source of our lawlessness is to be found in the lawless character of the individual. The building of character is our most fundamental need, and I know of no force but religion that can accomplish this.

The glorious response of our people during the war will never be forgotten. It is an honorable page in our history. But the battle is not yet over. The nation never needed our devotion more than she needs it today. The years to come are likely to be critical in her history. We are sorely in need of constructive patriotism.

To live for America, to build it by loyal service and unselfish toil in times of peace is just as great an expression of our patriotism as to die for her in times of war.

God help us to see America through. May her future be as great as her past.

Mammoth toadstool. Five little girls with white wings

"Music." Large white float. Girls in white with headbands of gold, playing harp, chimes, horns, trumpet, cymbals and violin

The line passed before the reviewing stand twice. The judges, L. S. Parsons, C. F. Aspengren and Mrs. McPherson, awarded banners as follows:

1st prize—"Liberty Bell"
2nd prize—"Frigate Constitution"
L. S. Parsons, on behalf of the judges, made the presentation, stating as he did so that he wished they had prizes for all.

The floats representing the cotton industry and the First Americans came in for honorable mention.

Immediately following the parade all of the floats were sent to the center where they formed a part of the parade there.

The pupils at the school had a full program provided for them. At 10.30 there was a track meet with 20 events, the last of which was the distribution of prizes. Then came the picnic lunch in the birch grove at 1. At 2.15 the girls played a 5-inning ball game, and at 3.15 the Hill boys played the Farm Boys.

Reception to Supt. and Mrs. Lewis

A reception was tendered to Supt. and Mrs. A. R. Lewis in Memorial hall last week Thursday evening, the occasion being the retirement of Mr. Lewis from his duties as school superintendent, as noted last week.

The school committee assisted in receiving and the High School faculty served as ushers. Everett Geer of the school board, on behalf of the people whom Supt. Lewis had served, presented him with ten ten-dollar gold pieces.

The Misses Higgins and Haggstrom gave piano duets and Mrs. Florence Clough sang. The domestic Science department served refreshments.

An Appreciation

The members of the Fourth of July celebration day committee wish to thank all those who participated and helped to make the day the best in the history of Belchertown. Those who worked so hard on the various floats are especially commended for the fine spirit they displayed in putting so much of their time and attention into every detail. We also wish to thank others of the townspeople who helped out in many ways: those who entered their cars in the parade, those who decorated their residences, and those who so generously responded to our request for funds with which to defray expenses.

The day was a huge success from every stand point, and the committee realizes that without the hearty cooperation of the people of the town, this would not have been possible.

glance at the starry heavens that betokened good sailing weather on the morrow.

THE DAY BEGINS

At 6 o'clock Monday morning the townspeople were awakened by the ringing of a bell and the "Hear ye, hear ye" of Town Crier Fred B. Purdy, in colonial costume, the town crier of other days, announcing the anniversary celebration. It was not long before the roads to the village witnessed the passing of many cars filled with old residents coming back to the town of their first love.

STATE SCHOOL PARADE

The State school parade took place on the school grounds at 9.30. While the public was not generally invited, all of the floats appeared in the parade at the center later. The celebration at the State school is elsewhere reported.

BIG PARADE

The parade was the event of the day. No one remembers when so many floats were ever in line here, and as far as quality is concerned, those who came back from the big centers claimed they had seen none better.

The line formed on Federal street, circled the common, went down South Main street and around the common again. It was made up as follows:

Town Crier Fred B. Purdy
Dr. F. M. Austin, marshal, and aides

Three Boy Scouts with colors Auto with three G. A. R. veterans
—H. L. Hadlock, Henry Woods and S. W. Roode

25-piece band from Three Rivers
"Landing of Pilgrims," by Union grange. Bank of green in front. Boat with numerals "1620" thereon. Pilgrims and families going ashore
"Ye Old Church," by the Congregational church. Aged minister in pulpit, tithing man at back and families in pews

"The First Home," by the Methodist church. Log cabin (made of rough slabs). Person in doorway at rear

"The Boston Tea Party," by Vernon Lodge. Blue and white float showing large boat with nine Indians in full costume aboard. Tea being thrown into the "sea" of people

"The Thirteen Colonies," by Mt. Vernon Chapter, O. E. S. Red, white and blue float. Members of order in blue regalia behind a railing of yellow and green on the sides, each person representing one of the original thirteen colonies. Names of states in gold lettering on sashes

"Signing the Declaration of Independence," by the American Legion. Five people in old-time costume around table on which were old documents, globe of the world, etc.

"Petersham and Athol" express wagon bus with baggage on top. Six people aboard, including "Just Married" couple. Bird cage, trunks, old shoes, etc. at rear. Entered by E. F. Shumway.

"Abraham Lincoln Freeing the Slaves," by St. Francis church. Abraham Lincoln, the Statue of Liberty, Uncle Sam, the scales of Justice, negro children

Boy Scout float, showing Scout life. Tent and six Scouts aboard "Covered Wagon." Hide stretched on side. Plow and other agricultural implements hung at rear. Children looking out of "prairie schooner." Entered by Turkey Hill

"The Liberty Bell," by the center grade schools. Bell in center with 11 children seated in front and rear

One-horse chaise, 165 years old, entered by the Belchertown Historical association. President J. W. Jackson and Mrs. Louise Sherman in old-time dress Belchertown Farmers' and Mechanics' club, float No. 1. "Pres. Shumway and his cabinet, 1926." President Shumway and seven of his colleagues

B. F. & M. club, float No. 2. Agricultural implements in use in "1856" some being manipulated. Float drawn by pair of oxen imported from Greenwich.

B. F. & M. club, float No. 3. Agricultural implements of "1886". Horse rakes, mowing machines, etc., which displaced the earlier hand tools

"Prohibition" float by Young People's Branch and Loyal Temperance Legion. Blue and white, with members thereon. Mottoes, "No good thing is a failure," "No evil thing is a success"

"Paul Revere," Miss Margaret McPherson. Flag and colors. Floats: "The First Americans," "The First Thanksgiving," "Signing the Declaration of Independence," "Washington Crossing the Delaware," "Betsy Ross," Eli Whitney and the Cotton Gin," "Fairlyland," "Music," "Liberty Bell"—State school section of parade elsewhere described.

Small boys' contingent: Kenneth Collard, Donald Sessions and Junior Farrington, miniature policemen with uniforms and "billies"; Sherman Gould on a decorated bicycle and Gould Ketchen on a scooter bike.

Dog-drawn cart with litter of puppies aboard, entered by Mrs. Ethel Palmer

Two decorated cars, entered by L. G. Warren of Belchertown and Henry Shumway of Amherst

Five boys on decorated wheels
H. D. Hoag's modern "covered wagon", originally designed adjustable Ford camping car, replete with all sorts of paraphernalia within. 2,000 screws used in construction

Pony cart trimmed with national colors, driven by Robert and Virginia Shaw

Old chemical apparatus drawn by several boys
Old "Mary Jane" hand pump, also drawn by seven huskies

Chief Cook and the two new auto fire trucks

Celebration committee in stove pipe hats and Palm Beach suits—H. F. Peck, C. F. Aspengren, R. M. Shaw, E. A. Fuller, Dr. F. C. Wilder and J. C. Bothwell

C. R. Rhodes with new truck; Dodge Bros. cars by H. B. Ketchen, and Chrysler car by F. L. Gold

The State school float, "Constitution," also appeared in the parade, although it was delayed in arriving.

THE NOON HOUR

The next thing after the parade was dinner. The common was turned into a picnic ground, people bringing basket lunches. Tables and settees were provided by the committee.

As prophesied by the "Publicity Manager," the "genial" Mr. Peck was on hand and saw that lemonade and coffee were provided in abundance, free of cost. Lemonade was the big "seller", about a barrel being disposed of. That the quality was superior was demonstrated by the fact that several youngsters made high drinking scores—one rang the bell at 17 glasses.

While Mr. Peck was the guiding spirit in this "free for all," he would have been helpless without the assistance of the Girl Scouts who stayed by in fine fashion at the booth which was erected on the common, opposite the chapel.

During the dinner hour the band gave a concert from the band stand.

THE ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment came at 2. This took place near the lemonade and coffee stand and was in charge of C. F. Aspengren. It consisted of three folk dancing numbers by the Girl Scouts of Troop II and a solo dance by Leila Stevens. The band gave more music at the close.

SPORTS

Before the regular sports were called, the men started some events themselves, making use of the cannon balls for a shot put and the adjacent ground for a jumping match. It was an effort to disburse for the slated events. These were run off under the direction of Dr. Wilder.

No great exertion was necessary to get people to enter. If one demurred he was immediately "lifted" into the line.

The rope pulls called forth a lot of interest. The Turkey Hill section pulled against Cold Spring, augmented by people from the center. This was declared a tie. The married men walked away with the single men in the next contest. Then everybody took a hand in a grand free for all. And still the old town bell rope held. No one need worry but what that will be around here 150 years from now.

Prize winners in the other events were as follows:

100 yd. dash, men. M. Keyes, Mr. Stevens.

100 yd. dash, young men. John Wood, Orrin Davis.

100 yd. dash, boys. Donald Terry, Albert Schmidt.

100 yd. dash, girls. Madeline Lincoln, Madeline Lemon.

Boys under 10. Raymond Dana. 3-legged race, boys. Kenneth Rhodes & Stanley Dunbar; John Fairchild & Philip Soja.

Fat men's race. A. J. Sears, H. F. Peck.

Boy Scout Obstacle race. John Fairchild, Louis Fuller.

BASEBALL GAME

Everyone anticipated the ball game. It was here that has-beens and never-has-beens were expected to furnish merriment to last for a decade. But the desire to win was a little too strong and the married men's team was composed of those somewhat used to the game. They had a married man for umpire of bases as well as of balls and strikes, to say nothing of the score keeper, but they couldn't win at that. However, in the sixth inning, (which was the last) they got six runs, which made the married state seem a little more attractive. The final score was 14-9.

Edward Parent managed the "singles" and A. J. Sears the "doubles." The line-up at the beginning of the game was as follows: (Like the rope pull, everybody had a chance at the finish.)

Married Men	Single Men
Orrin Davis, c	Dewey, p
J. Fairchild, p	Piper, 3
Wm. Kimball, 1	Austin, c
Howell Cook, 2	M. Keyes, cf
Stanley Cole, ss	C. Lynch, ss

THE COLONIAL DANCE

The Colonial dance in Memorial hall at 8 was the final event of the celebration. There was a good attendance, and all who went had a good time. The quadrilles were especially enjoyed. Music was furnished by the band orchestra. To safeguard against a possible deficit, a collection was taken at the dance.

This a mounted to over $19. Ice cream was sold during the intermission. Dancing continued until nearly midnight, thus making a fairly continuous celebration for the revelers of the night before.

With the firing of a few stray fire crackers, the celebration expired.

THE CROWD

It could hardly be termed a crowd that attended the celebration. It was instead a typical Old Home gathering. There were a few officers on the grounds but there was little to do. When at the dance in the evening, "Ad" Moore with his usual banter, gave evidence of starting an altercation with some one on the floor. Officer Bert Shaw could stand the monotony no longer and promptly grabbed "Ad" amidships and quickly carried him out. "Ad" must have gotten a reprieve, however, for he soon appeared smiling and was on hand for the last dance.

People came from many states. The most remote registration was Pasadena, Cal.

Death of John W. Jackson, Jr.

The name of John W. Jackson, Jr., has been added to the list of those who gave their lives for their country in the World War. Gassed and wounded several times in France, he never regained the measure of health he had previous to his leaving for camp. In fact since his return the fight has been a losing one, and while he had apparently found an occupation suited to his strength, he died at 1.30 Wednesday morning, following an attack which he suffered a week ago Monday.

Mr. Jackson was born in Belchertown Mar. 12, 1896, the son of John W. and Sarah (Porter) Jackson. He was educated in the public schools here and when only 21 was called to the service. He went to camp Devens with the first draft from this town and was the last Belchertown man to return from overseas.

He was a member of Company H., 308th Infantry of the 77th Division, the first National Army Division to reach France. His outfit went into the lines with the British near Mt. Carmel in northern France May 17, 1918. They were there until June 16 when they went down to the American sector. Mr. Jackson saw service at the Alsace Front, in the Moran offensive and at the Vesle front, receiving machine gun wounds at the latter place. At Fismes he was gassed a second time. (The first time was at the Alsace front) and after three weeks in base hospital No. 7 at Tours, he was transferred to the Postal Express service as a dispatch carrier. On July 19 he went to Brest, sailing from there to New York and finally receiving his discharge at Camp Devens on Aug. 25, 1919, after nearly two years' service, 18 months of which was spent overseas, in England, France, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

June 21, 1920 he married Edna Louise Huff of Athol, who, with a daughter, Louise, survives him. Following their residence in Athol, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson moved to Milford where Mr. Jackson graduated from the New England Horological Institute. A few weeks ago the family moved to Belchertown and Mr. Jackson had just opened a place of business over his father's store on Main street.

Mr. Jackson was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, of the American Legion in Milford and of the Methodist church of Milford.

Mr. Jackson leaves besides his widow and little daughter, his father and mother, two brothers, Harry P. Jackson of Meriden, Ct., and Blake S. Jackson of Hartford; and three sisters, Mrs. Carlton E. White of Springfield, Miss Irene M. Jackson and Miss Esther Jackson, both of this town.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at the Congregational church, Rev. D. L. Hilliard officiating, assisted by Dr. E. V. Hinchliffe. The service will be at 3.

Gildemeister-Witt Wedding

A pretty church wedding of interest to Belchertown people took place Monday afternoon at 3 at West Brookfield, Vt., when Earl M. Witt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Witt of this town, and Theodora Ruth Gildemeister, daughter of Mrs. Alice Gildemeister of West Brookfield, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Day, the double ring service being used.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. H. Regal of West Brookfield, and Miss Grace Gildemeister, sister of the bride, sang, "O Promise Me." Miss Stella Gildemeister, another sister, was maid of honor, and Belding F. Jackson of this town was best man.

The bride was attractively gowned in white crepe satin and wore a veil caught with pearls. She carried bride roses. The maid of honor wore peach georgette with hat in harmony. The church was prettily decorated with ox-eye daisies and evergreen.

The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, while he received from her cuff links with Masonic emblems. The groom's gift to the best man was white gold cuff links with Masonic emblems. The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a hand bag.

A large number of friends attended the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the bride's home. Many gifts were received, including silver, china and money.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and of the Y. W. C. A. school for dietitians at Boston. The groom also graduated from the local high school and from M. A. C.

After a wedding trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Witt will make their home at Stafford Springs, Ct., where Mr. Witt is teacher of science in the high school.

Stereopticon Lecture

At a union meeting of the Congregational and Methodist churches Sunday evening, Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, gave an illustrated lecture on the Universal Christian Conference held at Stockholm, Sweden, last August. The whole Christian Church was invited, he said, and all branches but the Roman Church, were represented. The king of Sweden opened it with pomp and splendor. It was greater than the first Christian Council held in Nicea 1600 years ago. That represented only lands around the Mediterranean; this the whole world. 300 million Christians were represented at Stockholm. That vainly tried to define for all time what Christians must believe; Stockholm said, "In the presence of the Cross we have accepted the urgent duty of applying the gospel in all realms of human life—industrial, social, political and international."

Which would Jesus approve? Would he not say, "Why call ye Me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" For the first time the Christian church has united to apply the gospel to society as well as to the individual.

Rev. Mr. Root traced the efforts made through the centuries to bring about the fulfillment of the prayer "that they all may be one." Of particular interest was his allusion to the conference held in Constance, Germany, whose members "were scattered as leaves before the wind," because of the breaking out of the World war. Later, in London, the same desire for unity, brought into being the World Alliance for Friendship Through the Churches.

The cost of the conference was $54,000. Mr. Root said that for less than the cost of a torpedo boat, the ends of the earth were brought together for the furtherance of unity.

The address was illustrated by 70 beautiful slides showing the interior of church and palace and the conference itself and its leading personalities.

Fading Today

By James Clain

The sun is sinking in the west,
And twilight coming on;
The sun is disappearing fast,
And today will soon be gone.

Not a breath of air stirs anywhere,
The frogs creak in the pond;
Tomorrow the weather will be fair,
But today is almost gone.

We miss the rays of the noon-day sun,
And the little birds' morning songs;
Twilight now has begun,
And today is almost gone.

From twilight into darkness,
The stars sparkle one by one,
Twilight is disappearing fast,
And today is at last done.

The Power of Attraction

One of the strongest powers in the world is the power of attraction. One of the first principles in electricity is the principle of attraction. This appears in physics as magnetism and in chemistry as capillarity. The world is held together by attraction. We see this power working in plant life. The sprout in the earth is attracted by the sun and reaches upward. "It is in the nature of all living things to turn unto the light."

The principle of attraction is operative in the heavens above, keeping all the planets in their orbit, and in the earth beneath, keeping it from bursting apart. Atoms are drawn together to form matter.

The principle of attraction is one of the strongest forces in the animal world. The cows keep together in a pasture, and so do sheep and pigs. The species are preserved by this power of attraction.

In the world of humanity there is no stronger power. People love to come together. You cannot keep men apart. Because of the principle of attraction we have clubs and lodges and churches and conventions. The family, the primal institution in society, comes into existence because of the attraction of the sexes to each other.

Since this principle of attraction is so strong, why do we not use it more? We ought to use it more, not simply in the training of our children, but in dealing with adults. It ought to be applied to economic and international matters. We may accomplish something through fear, or through compulsion, or through argument, but we may accomplish far more by being winsome and attractive. Given an attractive personality or an attractive cause, and the desired result is not far away.

father was deacon Root.

At the close of this friendly article is noted the circumstances connected with the introduction of the honor system, now so well and favorably known. We quote:

So it came about that this young professor was one of the first to introduce what is now known as the honor system in American college life. He did not do it formally, but spontaneously.

It happened in this way. At one important examination—I think a semi-annual examination in course—after distributing the questions on which we were to write, he said: "Gentlemen, I regret that an important engagement compels me to leave you. As you finish your papers, lay them on my desk, and I will collect them when I return this evening."

As he left the room we looked at one another in amazement, but not a man violated his confidence.

One man in particular, a cripple, whose mind was as brilliant as his record as a student was bad, got up, pulled his coat sleeves over his cuffs, which were covered with adventitious aids in the shape of formulae and definitions, went to the desk, laid down his blank sheet, and limped out of the room, exclaiming, "Hell, he's too much for me!" He was conditioned, of course. But he had the satisfaction, of which perhaps he was not consciously aware, of gloriously passing a test of honor, although he ignominiously failed in a test of a knowledge of physics.

The professor of whom I am speaking died at Amherst, Massachusetts, when only thirty-five years old, in 1879. Some of his students were still talking about him at Amherst in this year of our Lord, 1926

Funeral of John W. Jackson, Jr.

Impressive funeral services were held for John W. Jackson, Jr., at the Congregational church last Friday afternoon at 3. The Roy L. Boyce Post 650, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Athol, of which he was a member, furnished a guard of honor, Joseph Bodway and Everett Thomas, and otherwise participated in the service, as did the Chauncey D. Walker Post of the American Legion. The service men and the Woman's Auxiliary sat in a body.

Dr. E. V. Hinchliffe, of Boston, former pastor and intimate friend, spoke feelingly of the virtues of Mr. Jackson, emphasizing his religious trend of mind which found expression in Sunday School work in his church and in workaday life as well. Rev. D. L. Hilliard offered prayer. Miss M. Louise Allen played the funeral march.

The floral tributes revealed the esteem in which Mr. Jackson was held by his friends and comrades. Twelve of the latter carried large pieces to the lot in Mt. Hope cemetery.

The color bearers were Adam Miller and Charles Regan of Athol, and Kenneth Bristol of this town. The color guards were Thomas Carulo and Fortunato Bonesille of Athol.

The bearers were Harry P. Jackson, Blake S. Jackson, Carlton E. White and George B. Jackson. The honorary bearers were Frank Blodgett and Byron Aldrich of Athol, and Frederick C. Wilder and Francis M. Austin of this town.

The bugler was F. Henry Rainey, and the echo, Dell Simonds, both of Athol.

Supper and Entertainment

The Young People's Branch and the Loyal Temperance Legion did themselves proud at the supper and entertainment in the chapel last Friday evening. They solicited the food, set the tables, which they attractively trimmed with colored crepe paper, started the coffee and served the menu with hardly a bit of assistance from their elders.

They rendered service to the last degree. Had they realized that the patrons were going to be so few, undoubtedly they would have seen to going out and bringing them in. After the supper, the following program was rendered:

Duet, Dorothy Blackmer and Esther Squires; talk on Americanization work, Miss Alice Booth; recitation, Harriet Squires; monologue, "When Grandma was Young," Lillian Upham, assisted by Harriet Squires. These numbers were interspersed with temperance and other songs.

Miss Booth's address was of especial interest. It had to do with her work in Bellaire, Ohio, where she was instrumental in assisting the foreign born to enlarge their circle of interest and take a self-respecting place in the life of America. Many were not able to read or write, and their children made their only contacts with the outside world.

Miss Booth vouched for the capabilities of these people and said that they would become great men and women if they only had a chance. But she said that many Americans care little whether they are given a chance. Friendliness, she asserted, was the chief thing that the foreign born crave and without its exercise, little good can be accomplished.

In closing, she quoted from Pres. Coolidge's address at Omaha, and gave the late president Woodrow Wilson's definition of Americanism.

Legion Council Meeting

The Hampshire and Franklin County Council of the American Legion met with Chauncey D. Walker Post last Sunday afternoon, holding a public meeting on the park, and a business meeting afterwards at the Legion rooms.

The Holyoke Legion band gave a concert on the park at 3. Following this, F. C. Wilder, local Post Commander, introduced James J. Mullen, Jr., of Boston, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of this state, as the orator of the afternoon.

Mr. Mullen was eloquent in his presentation of the cause which the American Legion is championing. He called attention to the fact that Massachusetts sent as many men to the World War as any state in the union. 4,800,000 in this nation wore the uniform of their country to make safe and secure a democratic form of government.

The speaker stated that the American Legion is the hope of the people of America for the next generation of time. Especially does it desire to keep alive the memory of the sacrifices made, which many people are prone to forget. 50,000 sleep in France, he said, and in hospitals all over this country are those who are armless, legless and sightless, and in the saddest plight of all are those who know not the time of day.

Emphasis was made on the fact

Bardwell-Braim Wedding

Miss Isabel D. Bardwell, daughter of Mrs. Dora Bardwell of Mill Valley road, and James F. Braim of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Braim of Auburn, N. Y., were married at the home of the bride, last week Saturday evening at 7 by Rev. D. L. Hilliard, who used the full Episcopal service with the single ring ceremony. Mrs. William E. Bridgman sang "O Promise Me." The couple were unattended.

The bride was attractively gowned in rose georgette over crepe and carried a shower bouquet of roses and infant's breath. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of rhododendron and white roses. The home was decorated with daisies and ferns and white roses. Many gifts of money, cut glass, china, silver and linen were received. Only relatives and a few friends were present.

The bride is an alumna of Middlebury college and since her graduation has been teaching, last year in Medford High school. Mr. Braim received his education at Syracuse university and is now employed by Jordan Marsh company. After a wedding trip of two weeks in New York state, Mr. and Mrs. Braim will live in Boston.

Storm Does Damage

If one was not acquainted with the facts, it would seem a strange coincidence that there are so many small piles of wood along down our several streets. One would think that the tree warden had proclaimed a Trim Your Trees day. Of course, the storm of last Sunday afternoon did the work and caused many a householder to get out his axe.

In falling, some of the trees dislodged telephone wires, and in one case a car was struck.

The greatest damage was done at Paul Haesaert's in the Blue Meadow district. Here the house was lifted two feet off the foundations, part of which caved in. The windows were broken in and the furniture tossed about the rooms. Chicken houses nearby were blown across the road. The family was away at the time.

The storm assumed cyclonic proportions at Mrs. O. B. Davis's place, where a ton and a half of hay, all tumbled, was whirled clear from the field and has not been heard from since, although search has been made over a wide area. Funny, yet considerable of a loss.

that everything possible must be done for the victims of the terrible conflict. 30,000 boys are yet to be rebuilt, he said, and asked his audience if it was not a laudable ambition on the part of the American Legion to restore them to the streets of America.

Speaking of orphaned children, Mr. Mullen said that there are 5,000 children in America, fatherless, because they lost their dad in the war, and he predicted that ten years from now the number would be increased to 35,000. He failed to see how anyone could stand back in the face of that appeal.

The speaker gave no quarter to the pacifists advocating no army or navy, stating that in the last 105 years, we had had on the average a war every 21 years, like a birthday. He thought that considering the fact that the American Legion had stood in the breach in the recent conflict, there was no better group to determine the policies of America than these ex-service men, and the mothers of service men.

An engagement in the war was instanced in which 1,000 men participated and of whom 500 were slaughtered because unprepared. In the face of this he said, there is such a thing as being unnecessarily or overanxiously overpeaceful.

Mr. Mullen said that we have eye-winkers to protect our eyes, fire escapes to protect our homes, health departments to safeguard our health, and that preparedness should be recognized in our national policy.

Those who advocate peace at any cost, he said, never contributed an offspring or a blood relation to the cause of America.

He deprecated foreign influences being brought to bear on this country to disrupt its government, and said that there are 300 organizations preaching the policy of the overthrow of America. Especially active are such movements in the west and middle west.

Mr. Mullen advocated Washington's policy of no foreign entanglements. He said that since the armistice there had been 11 wars going on in Europe. He said that America was despised by those she fed in 1914-1917, and that foreign governments had tried through the League of Nations to get the best of her.

Although this country had voted to go into the World Court, the speaker maintained that the Senators and Representatives at Washington did not vote according to the wishes of their constituency. He also asserted that foreign powers are looking to the youth of America, expecting that the boys in knee pants to-

Belchertown Man Commended

George E. Williams of Amherst, one of Belchertown's boys, came in for some words of commendation in the Sunday Union and Republican of July 11. Mr. Williams has charge of the athletics at Amherst High school and is also connected with the playground work carried on in July and August. The correspondent writes:

"This playground activity owes its existence, pretty thoroughly to George E. Williams, who has been its director since it began. Mr. Williams is coach of athletics at the high school, and is always on the alert for the best for the boys in his care. A large number of boys each summer gather at the Hitchcock field, which automatically turns into a playground, just as soon as the boys arrive. The fact that the senior class at the high school dedicated their class book to Mr. Williams, is proof of his standing in the minds and hearts of boys and girls alike.

"This is what they say of him: 'George Edmund Williams, our coach, has taught us to play fairly; to win modestly; to lose manfully. His influence on the life of our school is greater than is generally known. With a desire that this may carry some portion of our appreciation, the class of 1926 affectionately dedicates this book.'

"He is one to whom the criticisms recently coming from psychologists and doctors regarding too great stress on athletics in the high schools over the country, do not apply. He is heart and soul for the success of his team, but success to him, sometimes means losing 'manfully,' rather than winning at the expense of his team."

Selectmen Congratulated

The selectmen are in receipt of the following letter from the county commissioners:

July 13, 1926

Mr. Joseph C. Bothwell Belchertown, Mass.

Dear Sir:

I wish to say to your Board that day will be available ten years hence to fight on the sands of the Sahara desert or in the mountains of Europe.

He called the Court a subsidiary body of the League of Nations, and asked, "What have they done?" He said that they had determined the citizenship of nations, other than America, the boundary lines of nations, and had passed an opinion on the right of alien land owners to hold property. In this last connection he told how the Japanese situation in California would work out if this country went in with these 40 other nations and their prejudices.

He termed America the greatest land on God's footstool, and asked his audience to assume every obligation that goes with citizenship, and ever bear in grateful memory those who had represented her in times of stress, no matter in what war.

An audience of approximately 175, made up largely of out of town people, heard the address and the concert which preceded it.

At the close of the speech, led by the national and Legion colors and the band, the members of the Legion and some of the townspeople marched to Legion headquarters where the Council held a business meeting. District President Harold Patterson presided, and William Parker of Easthampton, formerly of this town, was secretary.

The roll call showed the following attendance: Charlemont 5, Colrain 4, Easthampton 18, Greenfield 9, Shelburne Falls 1, Millers Falls 2.

State Adjutant Dennis Haverty made a few remarks in which he asked those present to attend the American Legion parade (not a Pacifist parade) in Boston November 11.

The speaker of the afternoon was called upon to make a few remarks and make suggestions as to how the Legion story could be put across.

It was voted to hold the next meeting with the Colrain post the third Sunday in August.

Sunday afternoon's big storm came just at the close of the outdoor exercises and was at its best while the business meeting was going on.

A DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

$ 895 / F. O. B. Detroit

People are surprised to learn that this beautiful and sturdy car now sells for $895.

They have heard so much about its exceptional value that they are under the impression it sells for a higher price.

Moreover, the Sedan possesses all the roominess and character of closed cars that call for a much greater investment.

It is substantial in appearance because it is substantial in fact. And serves its owners far beyond the period usually expected of a car at any price.

The body is all steel—safe, sturdy, fireproof, and smartly finished below the belt line in coolie blue lacquer, with cartouche yellow stripe—upper body in black lacquer—shields and fenders in black, oven-baked enamel.

Blue Spanish genuine leather upholstery, removable rear seat-back, and optional wood or steel wheels are included among many other features that commend themselves forcefully to the buyer.

Many who expected to buy a cheaper car, now find that Dodge Brothers product is well within their means. Many who had expected to buy something more expensive, now find everything they could possibly desire in these smart and dependable vehicles.

See the cars for yourself—and investigate our attractive time-payment plan.

Road Petition Granted

The Department of Public Works has notified the Board of Selectmen that it has allotted to the town the sum of money petitioned for under Chapter 90 for permanent construction work on the Three Rivers road. This money will be used in conjunction with the $2,500 appropriated by the town at the last town meeting with the amount allotted by the county. Work on the construction will be started within a short time.

Social Union Outing

Thirty-one, including grown-ups and infants, attended the Ladies' Social Union picnic at Orient Springs Wednesday afternoon and evening. All work—and the thought of it—was left behind and a good time enjoyed wandering by the stream and through the woods. A supper, consisting of salads, sandwiches, stuffed eggs and cake, contributed by the members, was enjoyed. Mrs. H. T. Putnam, the hostess, for the occasion, furnished punch.

Death of Mrs. Emeline M. Pratt

Mrs. Emeline M. Pratt, 75, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Rumwell, of Winchendon, after a three days' illness. Mrs. Pratt was born in Belchertown, the daughter of Aaron and Emeline (Blake) Munsell, and lived here until a few years ago when she went to Winchendon. She was married to Seth Pratt of Amherst who died more than twenty years ago.

She leaves three sons, Eugene Pratt and Archie Pratt of Winchendon and Homer Pratt of Keene, N. H., also two daughters, Mrs. Laura Russell of Keene, N. H., and Mrs. Mary Rumwell, in whose home she died. There are 14 grandchildren besides several nephews and nieces.

Mrs. Pratt was a twin sister of Mrs. Eveline Squires, and for the 75 years have not been apart on their birthdays but once.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 1 in Winchendon. The floral tributes, especially from the Ladies' Aid society, of which she was a member, were profuse. Burial was in the cemetery at Winchendon, N. H.

Wins $15 Prize

Otto Reimann, the local bookbinder, came in for a $15 prize in the $30,000 Makers of American History competition, recently conducted by nine Hearst Sunday newspapers. The Boston Advertiser was the paper in this territory which carried the "problem pictures", each of which was composed of parts of three photographs, the contestant being required to put these parts together correctly, identify them correctly, name the day and the place where the great man was born, give similar facts concerning his death, and finally write not more than 20 words about the subject's "principal achievement". In many cases, neatness and accuracy were the determining features.

Qualifications of Teachers

The qualifications of school teachers stand out prominently as one reads the old school reports of this town, previously alluded to. Nowadays comments on the ability of teachers is withheld from the printed page of the annual document, unless something complimentary can be said, but in the 1850's it was evidently considered the duty of the school committee to publicly appraise without fear or favor the school teacher, be he man or woman.

The following scattered sentences and paragraphs taken at random are interesting as well as informative along this line:

"Her health seemed not sufficient for the government and instruction of the school; and from that or some other cause, the scholars made little improvement, and the school, your committee are sorry to say, was to a great extent a failure."

"Some of the classes appeared a little deficient in animation; but the scholars had made fair improvement."

"The winter school was the first which the teacher had taught, and was attended with partial success, and pretty general acceptance."

"The winter school was taught by a resident of the District, who had qualified himself to teach, and would have succeeded well, but from a defect in government, arising from a natural reluctance to administer needed discipline to some of the older lads, who had been his schoolmates."

"We think a little more firmness and perseverance on his part, would have enabled him to keep the School through the term with honor to himself and benefit to the district."

"The school has been under the care of Miss—, who has the rare faculty of preserving order and imparting instruction without wasting words or strength."

"The winter term was taught by—who appeared to be competent but failed to gain the good will of his pupils, whose proficiency, therefore, was not so great as desirable. Honors await him in other fields of labor, but he evidently gathered no laurels here."

"The latter, it is believed, would have been successful, if she had not been reluctant to administer needed chastisement."

"This teacher manifested a laudable zeal while laboring in his vocation, but made some mistakes, through inexperience, which he was so candid as to acknowledge. We consider him a promising young man."

"She tried hard to preserve order, but was too affectionate to do it effectually."

"We are sorry to be under the necessity of saying, that there appeared to be a failure in thoroughness of instruction; nor did she succeed in gaining the confidence and esteem of her pupils to that extent which would have been desirable."

"His being employed the second winter in the same School proves that his valuable labors are appreciated by the District. We think he might safely venture into deeper waters hereafter."

"To see, a teacher, pacing the school room, with his coat off, swaying both hands and snapping his own thumbs and fingers to preserve order, disturbs greatly our early impressions of 'the master's' dignity."

The foregoing shows that the teachers were the fulcrum upon which pivoted the success or failure of the school system. The records show that it was customary for the school committee to examine the teachers previous to their employment, and much stress is laid in these old reports of the advisability of examining them all at one time. Evidently the rule was a hard one to abide by, for in one place it says, "It has been no unusual sight to see the committee of some District ride into the village with his selected teacher, on the morning of the day that the school was to commence, and proceed to 'scare up' the School Committee, calling one from his work in the field, and arresting another where he could find him, until he had succeeded in getting a majority together, for a hurried and unsatisfactory examination."

This discloses another interesting fact regarding the operation of schools in the early days. Each district was in great measure a law unto itself, and even the authority of the School committee came near being classed as a "foreign entanglement."

In the 1854 report the committee yields to the autonomy of the local district when it advocated: "—but in a place like this, where some of the districts, on account of their remoteness from the center, like distant provinces, have little connection with the seat of government, we deem this transfer of authority highly advantageous."

What would they have thought, do you suppose, of our present system of transportation, school superintendents and state authority?

No honor roll of pupils is to be found in those early reports, but continually tabs were kept on the teachers, for the report of a teacher's work often closed with the statement, "He was neither absent or tardy during the term."

But as before stated, as years passed on, there was less publicity given to the shortcomings of teachers, till the practice practically died out, possibly much to the regret of posterity.

One wonders if instead of spending so much money for protection by armaments we had spent a tenth as much for building peace in the world, we would not have advanced faster in civilization and not be compelled to have such a financial burden today. Were it not well for us to give heed to Kirby Page's suggestion that a National Peace Department be established and that $100,000,000 be appropriated for purposes of peace? Surely no sane-minded person would decline to give one cent for peace for every quarter he gives to war.

How little has been done to a real continued attempt to understand other nations and peoples! The Department of Labor thinks it necessary to publish a Monthly Labor Review. Why would it not be advantageous to publish monthly an International Peace Review and special peace booklets and scatter them all over the world? What would happen to keep the peace of the world if we could send 10,000 students and 500 professors and 500 ministers abroad every year to establish better relations? Would not this make for a more secure protection from an invasion than building up armies and navies? We have prepared for war long enough. It is high time we took a new departure as a nation in preparing for peace.

Revere Beach Excursion

Revere Beach with its host of attractions is again the destination of reduced rate excursions to be conducted by the Boston and Maine Railroad on August 1 and 15.

$2,000,000.00 of new attractions and important renovations and improvements have made Revere Beach more popular than ever this season.

Auto owners have found the Boston and Maine excursions by rail a welcome relief from driving over congested highways on Sundays and holidays. More and more are leaving behind their motors and are enjoying their holiday trips via the Boston and Maine excursion trains in comfort and safety.

The Revere Beach excursion train will leave Belchertown at 7.33 a. m., (E. S. T.) and the round trip rate has been reduced to $2.25. This includes transportation to the beach, the B. and M. having made the necessary arrangements with the street railway company.

There will be excursions to Old Orchard on the 8th and 22nd.

Details tell impressive story of quality standards strictly maintained

Unprecedented sales prove how well the public knows that Dodge Brothers Motor Car is sturdier and more dependable than ever before.

Delivers more miles at lower cost-per-mile. Stands up under harder going. Calls for fewer repairs. Provides greater safety. Excels in every quality that has earned its good name.

In fact, you have only to check any chassis part against its own past best—engine, axles, gears, bearings, frame, springs, shafts, electrical equipment—to prove how strictly and consistently Dodge Brothers have preserved and improved the basic goodness of their product.

MOTOR CARS

Dodge Brothers Sales

Retail deliveries of 7,460 new motor cars and trucks by Dodge Brothers dealers in United States and Canada during the week ending July 17, have established a gain of 209 cars over the previous week. Compared with the week ending July 18 last year, when 4,767 cars and trucks were sold, the gain is 2,693 cars or 56.5 per cent.

The record of the best week last year, that ending April 11, when 6,644 cars and trucks were sold, was surpassed by 816 cars or 12.3 per cent.

During the three weeks ending July 17, Dodge Brothers dealers in United States and Canada have placed 23,862 new cars and trucks in the hands of owners, a gain of 9,150 or 62.4 per cent over the corresponding three weeks last year when 14,692 were sold. "Weekly sales holding up to figures so near those attained during the peak of the spring selling season and averaging over 50 per cent ahead of the figures for the corresponding period last year," said of the local Dodge Brothers dealer, "indicate how well the public recognizes the exceptional values represented by these cars."

20% Less Than Year Ago!

Never before in our history as tire dealers have we been able to offer our customers such wonderful tire "buys" as right now. Due to the great volume of tire business coming direct from car owners throughout the country—the great Firestone factories have been, and are now, working at top speed building Gum-Dipped Tires in tremendous quantities. Manufacturing costs have been lowered—crude rubber prices have been reduced—and the savings passed on to car owners.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloon Tires are now 20 per cent less than they were a year ago this time.

Take advantage of this exceptional opportunity to equip your car—right at the height of the summer season—with these long-mileage Gum-Dipped Tires at our new low prices. Buy your tires from us and you'll be sure of complete satisfaction—with the comfort, safety and long mileage that only Gum-Dipping can give.

Roads to be Painted

We have it on good authority that at the intersection of state roads at the center, the direction and names of towns ahead are to be painted on the road surface. There may be several plausible reasons for this which will be revealed in days to come. Some may say that because H. F. Shaw, all on his own account, did some lettering in Muresco on Wednesday, the state took the hint. Some may say that they suggested the idea to Mr. Shaw, even though they trembled at the fate of the material he was using, but anyway the former fire chief gave a sample day's showing of what the real thing will be when it comes—and he took no one's job away, either.

What the Navy Offers

Thousands of young Americans are today learning a trade at sea in the navy. Every ship has modern machinery, and this machinery needs skilled mechanics, so the navy is constantly training electricians, machinists, carpenters, blacksmiths, copper-smiths, and many others. Men showing special aptitude in any of these lines receive special training that fits them for promotion in the navy or for good positions in civil life afterwards. And at the same time, these men are building up their bodies, and developing self-reliance and leadership.

Pay: Ashore or afloat, sick or well, at work or at play, a navy man's income is never interrupted except when due to his own misconduct. In the navy practically all the pay is clear money, for food, medical and dental attention, and quarters, are supplied by the government in addition.

Navy food is wholesome and nourishing but not fancy, health is good in the navy. The percentage of sick men in the navy is lower than in any occupation.

Variety of scene and work: Ships of the navy cruise in all parts of the world, but chiefly along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. It is impossible to say where a recruit will be sent or to promise that he will see certain places, but it is a safe guarantee he will see many places that he would not ordinarily expect at great expense. Not only does the scene change frequently, but the nature of the work generally changes the scene.

Every man on board ship has excellent opportunities to advance a long many lines and each promotion means greater pay and greater privileges.

Every year 100 enlisted men of the navy are eligible for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy for training as officers. Some of the Car Overturned

George Carpenter, an insurance agent of Palmer, while driving to town Monday night, struck a sandy place near John Brown's, which overturned his sedan, first on its side and then directly upside down. Mr. Carpenter was badly shaken up and bruised, but his most serious injury was a finger so badly cut that it had to be amputated by Dr. J. L. Colvard. The car, when righted, ran on its own power, although two windows were broken and the top will have to be rebuilt. Mr. Carpenter would probably have been crushed had he been in a car without a steel frame top.

Warned of Apple Maggot Fly

E. F. Shumway, local director of the Hampshire Trustees of county aid to agriculture, was notified yesterday by the county authorities that the apple maggot fly is out in great abundance, so that people may use their own judgment about further spraying.

Recent Acquisitions of The Historical Assn.

A number of interesting articles made by his father and uncle were recently placed in the Ford Annex of the Historical association by Austin Carver of Ludlow. A boot buggy, English pattern, wood and metal parts both made entirely by his father, George Carver, stands beside the other vehicles in the annex. After completion, and every part is carefully wrought and shows no signs of wear, it was taken to the Cowles shop in this town where it was painted by Washington Eliot, and thus bears the Cowles stamp.

A hand-made fanning machine, date 1851, and a corn sheller made before 1860 by his uncle, William Carver, are models of their kind. There is also a braided horse collar and a quaint cheese press of the Dutch type brought by his grandfather from Hebron, Ct.

The "Constitution"

WHY CONGRESS DID NOT APPROPRIATE MONEY TO REBUILD THE CONSTITUTION

By act of Congress of March 3, 1925, the Secretary of the Navy was authorized to receive donations for the restoration of the old frigate, "Constitution".

The question often and naturally arises in the minds of the people, "Why does not Congress appropriate the money for this purpose?"

Congress would readily and quickly have done this if Congress had been asked, but it was not. The Secretary of the Navy thought that it would be a beautiful exhibit of patriotism if twenty-one million children of the country gave small amounts and raised the half million dollars needed. Already ten million children have been reached and have contributed about $148,000.00. The total so far contributed is $221,000.

It has not mattered how much or how little the children gave, provided the school authorities held the exercises in schools and encouraged the children to study the history of "Old Ironsides", and the early history of the country in times when she fought her forty-two successful battles. This was the great, thought, to get the children to study the history of this time and learn the lasting lessons of patriotism and love of country, to appreciate the struggles of the early settlers of this country and to study the principles for which they fought.

Lessons so learned will abide with children forever, and make better citizens of them. It teaches them what the navy has done and creates a wholesome interest in good government and the principles on which democracy was founded.

The exercises in the schools were instructive and patriotic, essays were written and judged, and bronze and silver medals were given for the best. This whole movement among the children is a deposit in the bank of patriotism which should and will yield big dividends in the future as these children grow up.

That is why Congress has not been asked to appropriate money to rebuild the "Constitution".

Dies in Bedford, N. H.

Mrs. Coral May (Peabody) Merrill, 50, wife of John W. Merrill of this town, died July 25 at Bedford, New Hampshire, in the home of her mother, Mrs. Ira Barr, where she had gone exactly a month previous by reason of her health which had been failing for the last four years. She was confined to her bed for two or three weeks.

Mrs. Merrill was born in Littleton, Mass., and was married to Mr. Merrill about eleven years ago. She leaves besides her husband, two brothers, E. S. Peabody of this town, and Amos Peabody of Marshfield, Vt.; also two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Cowles of New Haven, Ct., and Mrs. Edith Girard of Reading, Mass.

The funeral was held at Wallace's Undertaking parlors at Manchester, N. H. Burial was in Bedford, N. H.

M. E. Church Sunday School Picnic

The waters of Aldrich lake were decidedly inviting to those who went on the Methodist picnic, Wednesday. It was a scorcher for a day, and everyone went in—or wanted to.

Two truck loads of children and a representation from the older people, including a number of parties going in private cars, took over things for the day.

Sports were on the schedule, but the exertion necessary thereto was not forthcoming, so they did not materialize. But dinner and drinks everyone indulged in.

Wayside Opportunities

It is important that every individual have a vocation. Women are increasingly entering vocations with men, and chief among vocations among women is that of home-making. Vocations are so important that a long period of years is frequently spent in preparation for the same. An individual shows his good will to his fellows by choosing a high vocation and becoming an expert in it. An able bodied person who refuses to do his part in the world's work is deserving of censure.

But a man should have an avocation as well as a vocation. He should have a period of vacation as well as one of work. It is perfectly legitimate for every person to have an hobby. Most of the time every day is spent at one's vocation, but there should be some time in every day which does not directly bear on one's vocation.

Then, too, there are abundant opportunities for service along the side lines. As we are on our way to and from work, these opportunities come. While we ought not to forget the main road on which we are traveling, we should not forget to watch the opportunities that come our way by the side of the road. A cheery "Good morning" is a wayside opportunity. Lifting the load of some one traveling our way is another.

Quite often we are rated in life by the way in which we lay hold of these opportunities by the side of the road. And it may be quite rightly. We show what we are, not simply by the way we do our special task, but by the way we handle the tasks for which we are not directly responsible, but which come our way. Let us live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man.

Beans or Meat

Many people believe that beans, such as the navy, lima and other kinds of dried beans are substitutes for meat from the standpoint of their nutritive value. Recent research by the United States Department of Agriculture on the kind of protein contained in different foods has shown that the protein of meat is superior to that of beans from the standpoint of meeting the needs of the body. The protein in meat is called "complete" or "efficient" while that in beans is called "incomplete", because it lacks certain essential acids. The average meal that Americans eat, however, usually contains bread and other foods that contain some kind of protein. Generally a combination of these with the protein in beans will supply the body what it needs. So far as nutritive value goes, it is therefore all right to use beans occasionally in place of meat for dinner.

Lawn Party Postponed

The lawn party of St. Francis church, which was to have been held Aug. 17 and 18, has been postponed till Sept. 8 and 9.

Go to Granby, Sunday

There will be no services at the Congregational church, Sunday, in response to the invitation of Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby, the congregation will go to that town, where Old Home day services will be held.

The program of the day will include morning worship at 11 a. m., with sermon and special music, lunch and social hour at noon when the ladies will serve coffee, and a fraternal meeting at 2, at which Henry Dickinson of Brooklyn, N. Y., will preside.

Attend Bennett Reunion

The Bennett family, which includes many from Belchertown, held its annual reunion at Grange Hall grove, Ludlow Center, on Wednesday. The following attended from this town:

Mrs. Harriet Dickinson, Mrs. J. R. Newman, Mrs. Guy C. Allen, Mrs. Roy G. Shaw, Miss Ruby Knight, Mrs. Iva Peeso and Frank Clark.

Attend Blodgett Reunion

Mrs. Ella Conkey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warner, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conkey and family attended the Blodgett reunion at Southampton Sunday. Mrs. Ella Conkey's brother, Morrison Blodgett, and his wife, from Florida were present, the gathering being held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. F. B. Pease. About twenty were there.

Street List to be Printed

The assessors have submitted to the printer for publication what is termed the "street list". This contains the name of each adult male and female inhabitant of the town with the street address, about 1,200 in all. In some places ages and occupations are printed, but in towns of less than 5,000 this is not compulsory. In view of this fact, the lists will not be as interesting as otherwise. None will be printed for general distribution.

Repair Work at Library

Repair work is being done at Clapp Memorial Library by William Kimball. The cupola and tower have been painted and work will be done on the windows.

Post-office Block Entered

Entrance was gained to the basement of J. W. Jackson's store Friday night, and from there the intruders entered the Masonic block as far as O. W. Gavill's shoe repair shop. It is thought that the objective point was the postoffice, but evidently plans failed. The outside aerial leading to the radio in the Masonic club room was cut, being taken perhaps as part of a burglar alarm.

Party at St. Francis Church

The children of St. Francis Sunday school were given a party in the basement of the church Friday afternoon by Father Dunphy. Some of the mothers were present also. A good time was enjoyed by the little folks with refreshments of cake, ice cream and soda.

Deerfield Trip

Belchertown contributed its quota to the 5,000 visitors to Old Deerfield Tuesday obtaining entrance to homes never before opened to the public. Mrs. L. G. Warren and Mrs. Guy C. Allen furnished transportation for members of the Historical association who were interested in attending this unique affair.

The first intimation of a crowd came as one's car was held up by a slow-moving line of autos stretching far ahead on Main street, both sides of which were lined with parked cars.

At 2.15, 15 minutes past the hour of opening, long lines of people were already waiting before some of the homes and a crowd about the ticket seller completely obliterated that individual. However, an assistant seated on the running board of the nearest car hastily signed his name on Deerfield Academy blanks, adding Admit 1 or 2 or 5, as the case might be. Deerfield Academy blanks, yes, for before this every ticket for the occasion had been sold. It had been estimated that perhaps 1,000 were needed but 1,500 were printed. When a little later it was learned upon inquiry that 3,000 had been sold, some one remarked that the cemetery wall they wanted to build could be studded with diamonds.

The first glimpse of the antique, aside from the exterior of the houses, was a lady tripping along the sidewalk in old-fashioned, full skirted dress, shawl with deep fringe, and carrying a tiny sun shade. In each home the visitors were greeted by different people, all in long-ago attire, and almost all, it might be said, looking somewhat warm and uncomfortable, particularly the poor little bride.

One of the interesting personages met was Mrs. Edith Barnard Delano, who owns the Barnard place and who greeted her callers in the parlor of her home, displaying her hooped-skirt dress and "ring" shawl, of ma-

The Walter Hines Page School of International Relations

From the Manufacturer and Industrial News

It is the goal of each of us, no matter what our politics, to arrive at intelligent opinions on all affairs that concern us, and many more besides. We try to consider all the facts in each case, weigh them, and finally come to some sort of conclusion. We do attempt to judge wisely, and, in our own minds, arrive as nearly as possible at the truth, that greatest of all human ideals.

Our circle of concern has materially widened in the last few years, largely due to the Great War and subsequent activities in international affairs. Our newspapers devote much more space to world problems and foreign events, and Americans, collectively as well as individually, are coming to know more about other countries and other peoples. We are forming opinions on these matters.

When we try to form conclusions on problems in the international field, we are frequently at a loss for basic facts to guide us.

This condition occasions much of the interest in the plans for the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations that is to be founded at Johns Hopkins University. This pioneer agency for studying world affairs will have one object—find the facts, the accurate impartial facts and make them available so that sound opinions may be formed.

BELCHERTOWN, MASS.

THERE IS NO SATURATION POINT FOR HONEST VALUE

Build a product that the world needs, better than the world expects, and mounting sales will answer those who are constantly predicting a saturated market.

During the first six months of this year, for instance, Dodge Brothers sold 207,115 motor cars and trucks.
This represents a gain of 49.3 per cent over the first six months of 1925, and continues Dodge Brothers in the enviable position of THIRD IN THE INDUSTRY.

For the three weeks ending July 17th, 23,862 motor cars and trucks were delivered to customers—an increase of 62.4 per cent over the same period last year, and impressive evidence that Dodge Brothers great sales gain is continuing through the quiet weeks of mid-summer.

There may be a saturation point for mediocrity, but honest value will always command a great and ever expanding market.

terial so fine that it could be passed through a ring, and entertaining her visitors with vivacious remarks concerning some article in the room. For instance, there was the miniature pewter lamp which burned whale oil, holding about a tablespoonful, perhaps, which Mrs. Barnard said was called the "courting lamp"— when the light went out it was time to go home.

Both the interior and exterior of the houses bore evidence of the difference in architecture since the 17th century. The small panes of glass, the inside shutters, the deep window seats, the wide board floorings, the hand-hewn beams overhead, the paneling, the curious, hand-wrought latches and hinges, etc., all was interesting.

And the beautiful furniture. Our Historical association has a tavern table, a butterfly table, a high-boy, a chest on chest, a console table, a Boston rocker, etc., but to see these same things over and over again in different homes made more real the fact that such things were really used and not simply to be found in a museum.

Much remains untold, the ballroom, the secret stair-way, the old meeting house, Memorial hall, the Doll House, the stage coach, but suffice to say that no one visiting Old Deerfield Tuesday could have been disappointed.

Nelson-Jackson

Wedding

A wedding of interest to many people in this vicinity took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the United Presbyterian church at Ryegate, Vt., when Miss Florence C. Nelson, daughter of Mrs. Annette E. Nelson, of Ryegate, was married to Belding F. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Jackson of South Main street, by Rev. Harold Giffin. The double ring service was used.

Mrs. Donald Blodgett, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., sang, "Oh, Promise Me," and Miss Ruth Gegenheimer, of Waverly, Mass., was the organist. The bride was given away by her mother, and attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Nelson of Ryegate and Colorado Springs, Colo. The best man was Kenneth F. Bristol of Belchertown; the flower girl, Miss Mary Katherine Nelson, of Townshend, Vt., the ring bearer, Master Chandler Nelson, of Ryegate; and the ushers, Philip A. Nelson, of Ryegate, and J. Amos Nelson, of Tampa, Florida, brothers of the bride. The church was decorated in green and gold, ferns and golden rod being used in profusion.

The bride was gowned in white georgette and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Her veil was of embroidered net, from India. The bridesmaid wore blonde crepe, and carried Ophelia roses. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a pearl necklace; the groom's gift to the bride, a gold brooch; to the best man, a gold knife; and to the ushers, silver license containers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, to about 50 of the immediate relatives and intimate friends. There were many beautiful gifts, including silver, glassware, and china. Guests were present from Florida, Washington, New York, Connecticut and several other states.

After a honeymoon of about two weeks, the couple will make their home in Springfield, Mass., where Mr. Jackson has recently taken a position in the English department of the High school of commerce.

Mrs. Jackson is well known in Belchertown, having been employed as dietitian at the State school until last fall, when she resigned to accompany her mother and sister on an auto trip to Colorado, where they spent the winter. Her home has been in Ryegate. She is a graduate of St. Johnsbury academy, and of the Boston school of Domestic Science. Before she left Belchertown, she was an officer of the Eastern Star.

Mr. Jackson is a native of Belchertown, a graduate of the High school, and in 1922 he was graduated from the Massachusetts Agricultural college, where he was editor of the college paper and a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. After two years as teacher in the local high school, where he also coached athletics, he has been for the past two years an instructor at M. A. C. He is at present Master of Vernon Lodge of Masons and Patron of Mt. Vernon chapter, O. E. S. He also serves as a member of the Belchertown school committee.

American Legion Carnival

A meeting of the American Legion was held last Friday evening at the Legion rooms at which the general theme was the means of increasing the activities of the post.

It was unanimously voted by those present that a carnival would be more in order at this particular time of year than anything else. As a consequence, plans were drawn up for the conducting of a carnival on Friday, August 27 and Saturday, Aug. 28.

This will be held on the common, admission free. Come and see that the Chauncey D. Walker post is still walking around on its own feet.

The next meeting of the Post will be held Monday evening, August 23. All members who can possibly attend on that evening are requested to do so.

A Primary Lesson on Beer

by W. A. Evans, M. D.

(Inserted at instance of Y. P. B. & L. T. L.)

While cold beer tastes cool and pleasant to a hot man, it does not cool him off. It heats him up. The alcohol and solids are burned into heat. The effect of alcohol is to send an excess of blood to the skin.
Whenever a large amount of alcohol goes to the skin it causes a feeling of warmth. When a man drinks beer he causes himself to feel hot.
This often leads him to take more beer, thinking it will cool his skin because it feels cool in his throat.
Beer increases a man's chances of sunstroke at least 100 per cent. The best drink for a man at work in hot weather is clean, cool water.

Smart New Rumble Seat
For Sport Roadster

Rumble seats are justly popular. They add a smart, rakish touch to roadster lines, and increase the carrying capacity by two passengers.

That Dodge Brothers Sport Roadster now provides this convenience, will be welcome news to thousands.

Like the main seat, it is deeply upholstered in gray Spanish genuine leather, and the seat back is high and well pitched, providing unusual comfort.

When closed, the rear compartment is absolutely waterproof, even in rainiest weather.

Ample space is provided behind the main seat for golf clubs, suit cases, tennis rackets and similar luggage.

Brilliant pheasant green lacquer body and hood, strikingly in contrast with the tan top, black fenders and full special equipment, complete a general color scheme of exceptional dash and charm.

Randolph-Tribe Wedding

The wedding of Miss Marion Gold Randolph, daughter of Mrs. Etta B. Randolph of Dwight, and Stanley Gordon Tribe, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Tribe of Somerville, took place Tuesday evening at 8 at the home of the bride. Rev. Cato Dick, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Belchertown, performed the ceremony, the single ring service being used.

Music for the wedding was furnished by Mrs. F. L. Gold, aunt of the bride, who sang, "O Promise Me."

Miss Randolph was attended by Miss Evelyn M. Riley of Fall River. The best man was Herbert A. Randolph, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with green and gold, and a white felt hat. She carried a bouquet of butterfly roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of orchid taffeta with a picture hat.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for Springfield on the nine o'clock train and on Wednesday continued their journey to Greenwich, Conn., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Tribe is a graduate of the Belchertown High school in the class of 1925, and was a student of the Two-Year course at Massachusetts Agricultural college. Mr. Tribe is a graduate of the Somerville High school and of the Two-Year course of Massachusetts Agricultural college in the class of 1926. He is employed as a pomologist at the Conyer's Farm, Greenwich, Conn.

Registrars' Meetings

The registrars announce the following meetings for registration. September 8 is the last opportunity of registering before the fall primaries which come September 14.

Sept. 8—Town Clerk's office, 7.30 to 9.30 p. m.

Oct. 16—Mrs. LaCross's, South Belchertown, 2 to 4 p. m.

Oct. 20—Town Clerk's office, 12 m. to 10 p. m.

Old Documents Presented

J. W. Jackson, president of the Historical association, has received from Mrs. Benjamin Harwood of Waurvatos, Wis., formerly of Greenwich, some old documents to be placed in the Stone House.

Of special interest is an 1804 tax list, showing the valuation given by counties of all the towns in the Commonwealth. The valuation for the entire town of Belchertown was $348.00, while the total for the state was $157,084.52. The list of counties shows that Hampden county had not then been set off from Hampshire. "York" county is a new one in the list.

Other documents include an accusation of "breach of Christian faith" in the breaking of the 9th commandment, and another for violence against the person. The "Greenwich-Belchertown turnpike" is set forth in one paper. A booklet containing "psalms, hymns and spiritual songs," printed in 1748 in Edinburgh, is interesting.

Mrs. Harwood sent several old newspapers, among them copies of the Hampshire Gazette. The issue of March 29, 1842, contains a paragraph entitled, "The Way to be Happy." It reads thus:

"We shall never be a happy people till we are a wise people; we shall never be wise till we are sober; and we can never be sober till we give up drinking; and we shall never give up drinking till rich and poor, and especially those who are the instructors of the people, endeavor to

In the same issue an advertisement of the Belchertown Classical School reads as follows:

"The Spring Term of said School will commence April 4th, under the superintendence of Mr. Ira H. Smith of Yale College. Mr. Smith is a Senior in College, and expects to devote some years to the business of instruction. The President of the College recommends him, as sustaining 'an exemplary Christian character, and a distinguished rank in his class, in literary and scientific attainments, and as well qualified for the various departments of academic instruction.' Ordinary English branches, Languages, Ancient and Modern, Music, Painting and Drawing will be taught as usual. Competent Assistants will be provided in both the male and female departments. Board can be had in the school building and in private families, at fair prices. Such as intend to board at the Seminary must apply soon. MYRON LAWRENCE For the proprietors."

DODGE BROTHERS
DE LUXE SEDAN

People select motor cars by different standards.

Some desire luxury and ostentation. Others, utility and economy alone.

Dodge Brothers De Luxe Sedan strikes a fine and distinguished balance—both in appearance and price—between these two extremes.

It provides unusual comfort and roominess; a refinement of line and design in which the owner takes deep pride; and everywhere in the world the name it bears is associated with the highest standards of integrity and workmanship.

With reasonable care, the De Luxe Sedan serves its owners for years, frequently delivers mileage running well into six figures, and on the resale market brings prices that strikingly reflect the solid value Dodge Brothers have built into it.

Legion Carnival

"You can't all win and you can't all lose." That was the tune to which the American Legion carnival was played last Friday and Saturday evenings. Herbert Story, Edward Parent, William Kimball, Aubrey Lapolice and their assistants called out their wares in friendly, competitive fashion while Commander Wilder, the local dentist, extracted dimes while his patients
"darted".

One man in particular got a profuse supply of whips by the latter process and proceeded to "unload" on delighted children. Another person tramped the circle the evening long, burdened with a blanket and a sample of about every aluminum dish offered, while bashful young men drew a spider or some similar household utensil, and slipped slyly into the darkness.

Ray Gould and his orchestra furnished music for the first night.

The company was made up mostly of home folks and it was of no great proportions but evidently the patronage was good, for about $100 was realized, a sum sufficient to start the

Chinese Christmas Party

A Christmas party on September 10! It sounds queer,—yet it is true.
The good women of the M. E. church interested in foreign missions are going to send a Christmas box to their friends in China and we are all given the privilege of making it a success by bringing our gifts. Dolls, pencils, vaseline, tooth paste, crayo-las, large size bone hair pins, and handkerchiefs (boys' size only) will be accepted with thanks.

There will be a good program and an unusual setting. So be sure to be at the M. E. church on Friday evening, September 10.

St. Francis Carnival Next Week

St. Francis church announces the "last and best lawn party and carnival of the year" next week Wednesday and Thursday. A program of sports, amusements and music is slated, together with the "best list of gifts and attractions ever offered."

A chicken supper will be served at the Park View next Wednesday evening from 5 to 7. The price will be $1.25.

The lawn party stands will be placed on the hotel grounds as last year.

Picnic at Aldrich Lake

About seventy attended the picnic of the Christian Endeavor society and Sunday school of the Congregational church at Aldrich Lake, Wednesday. A good crowd, plus an exceptionally fine day and an interesting program of events, made a winning combination for a picnic and all went home having had a fine time.

Swimming and boating were the chief attractions, especially for the young folks. Shortly after dinner, the sports, in charge of Miss Eleanor Bardwell and Francis Allen were run off, with the following results:

Apple race, boys—Robert Camp,
Edward Schmidt; girls—Frances Sauer, Esther Squires.

Three-legged race, girls—Esther Squires and Frances Sauer, Nannie Ahern and Alice Couture; boys and girls—Frances Sauer and Esther Squires, George Roode and Francis Allen; boys—George Roode and Francis Allen, Harold Cook and Albert Schmidt.

Sack race, boys—Albert Schmidt, George Roode; girls—Irene Squires, Nannie Ahern.

Ball throw, boys—Robert Camp,
Albert Schmidt; girls—Frances Sauer, Helen Shuttleworth; small girls—Alice Couture, Nannie Ahern.

Soda Drinking contest—George Roode and Jessie Orlando, Walter Roode and Helen Shuttleworth.

Foot race, girls—Esther Squires, Frances Sauer; small girls—Nannie

Ahern, Ruth Spencer; boys—Albert
Schmidt, George Roode.

The sports over, the young folks took to the water again, while the older ones vied for honors at horse shoe pitching. In the late afternoon, the girls limbered up their muscles at a scrub game of ball.

And all through the day, punch flowed freely, thanks to the committee having that picnic necessity in charge. At 4.30 the bus arrived and all was over.

Hold Class Reunion

The class of 1920, B. H. S., held a reunion in Three Rivers last Saturday afternoon at the newly completed home of Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Gay. There were ten present to enjoy the steak and corn roast, and games inside, afterwards.

Mrs. Gay, Miss Eleanor Bardwell and Osborne Davis were the committee in charge this year. Next year, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Witt will be the committee. The class has held a reunion every year but one since its graduation.

Fifth Wedding Anni- versary

A party was held on the lawn at J. V. Cook's, Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Bridgman, whose 5th wedding anniversary fell on Aug. 24, while they were away on their trip. Besides the family, which included Mr. and Mrs. Cook's seven grandchildren, there were present as guests Mrs.
Parish of Dayton, Ky., and six friends in town. Mr. and Mrs.
Bridgman were presented with a purse of money for a library table.

Anti-Saloon League Representative Speaks

America today is, "Shall Constitutional Government Survive?" and proceeded to show how that unwillingness to abide by law vitally affects democracy.

He said that there is no more reason for repealing the 18th Amendment because of a lack of law enforcement than to do likewise with the Ten Commandments because they are not lived up to, 100 per cent.

Mr. Haughton spoke of foreign influences being brought to bear on America to bring about the return of the liquor traffic. He quoted from resolutions passed by the wine merchants and brewers of Europe.

The speaker said that it is a job to wake up even the churches to the seriousness of the situation, stating that the propaganda of the wets had deceived a great many good people.
Bringing the wet and dry issue close home, he said that in the last six years, 7 big county jails had gone out of business in this state, either having been sold or at present on the market.

Likewise 65 Neal institutions for inebriates, had treated during 12 years 125,000 drunkards, while now only a few of these institutions remain and they do not average two patients per month.

Mr. Haughton said that the liquor traffic had not made a single contribution to the coming of God's kingdom.

As for personal liberty, he said that people vociferously claimed that privilege in the matter of holding slaves, but now, nothing more is said about it. He said further that he who laughs at the 18th Amendment laughs at the stars and stripes, and that it has taken (in spite of all protests to the contrary) over 75 years to accomplish prohibition in America.

At the close of the address, subscriptions were received for the furtherance of the activities of the Anti-Saloon League.

The Young People's Branch and the Loyal Temperance Legion sat in a body at this service.

Report Northfield Con- ference

George Roode gave a report at the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening of the Northfield meetings which he and his brother attended. He contributes the following to the Sentinel:

Two boys, my brother and I, attended the 20th Massachusetts C. E.
Institute at Northfield this year. The speakers were Rev. Stanley Addison, C. Robert Fraser, Prof. Frank L.
Duley, William N. Brooks, Miss Lela M. Cheney, Rev. Grady D.
Flagon.

One of the speakers, Rev. Grady D. Flagon, remarked how God was everywhere. He said, "You can't get away from God. If he comes to us and wants us to do a thing, we can't get away from Him. We can go around God or take a short cut some other way and then we may think we have left Him behind or else evaded Him, but when we go around the next turn, God is there."

He also spoke of how men will pay blood for building bridges, and of men that will get killed in mining coal. They are willing to endanger their lives just to discover a new kind of fish, or to find out about another planet in the heavens. But how much blood are they willing to shed for Christ?

One of the other speakers, who was Dr. William Hiram Faulks, spoke of how, whenever men come to him and ask how they can become Christians, they think they have only to give up such things as cards and other pleasures, but he told them they would have to be willing to give up everything to be able to follow Christ.

St. Francis Carnival

St. Francis church two-night carnival opened Wednesday evening with a chicken supper served at the Park View hotel to about 85 people. T. J. Ferriter, chairman of the supper committee and proprietor of the hotel, personally saw to the comfort of the guests.

The several booths on the hotel lawn, laden with blankets, aluminum ware, fancy work and confectionery, attracted considerable of a crowd. Home-grown fakirs plied their trade like professionals and had assistants that combed the crowd thoroughly.

Miss Gertrude Riley had charge of the candy table; Mrs. Thomas Flaherty, aluminum ware; M. F. Carmody, fancy work; E. F. Flaherty, blankets; Mrs. Sears, ice cream and soda.

The list of committees follows:

General committee: J. C. Bothwell, E. F. Flaherty, Dr. F. M. Austin, A. J. Sears, Walter McKillop, Maurice Moriarty, Timothy Garvey, Frank Hurd, Mrs. T. J. Flaherty, Mrs. J. J. Garvey, Mrs. T. E. Hanifin, Miss Gertrude Riley, Mrs. Couture, Miss Mae Carmody, Mrs. McKillop.

Supper: T. J. Ferriter, M. McKillop, Fr. Dunphy, E. F. Flaherty, A. J. Sears, Mrs. McKillop, Mrs. Thibodeau, Mrs. Frank Hurd, Mrs. Homer Couture, Mrs. J. J. Garvey.

Entertainment: J. C. Bothwell, A. J. Sears, Thos. Hanifin, M. McKillop, Walter McKillop, James Garvey.

Publicity: J. C. Bothwell, T. B. Garvey, E. F. Flaherty, Maurice Moriarty, Miss Alice Flaherty, Miss Margaret Moriarty, Mrs. Thos. Hanifin, Fr. Dunphy, Miss May Hanifin.

Receives More Documents

J. W. Jackson, president of the Historical association, has received more old documents from Mrs. Benj. Harwood of Waurvatosa, Wis., formerly of Enfield. This latest consignment includes a receipt dated 1776; a petition to the common pleas court, 1824; an assessor's salary order of 2 Lbs., dated April, 1732; an invitation to "Social Recreation" at S. Phelps hotel in Ware Village, 1827; and a song book of 1789.

There is also included a sermon, (written in an exceedingly fine hand) delivered by Mrs. Harwood's great, great, grandfather, Rev. Robert Cutler, of Greenwich, in 1751. A part of her grandmother's ball dress, worn in Enfield (or South Parish, Greenwich) in 1806, is a part of the collection.

An interesting document is a written warrant of the assessors of Brimfield to "John Mighell, Constable," dated Dec. 26, 1738, wherein it is stated that in case of non payment, permission is given to "expose and openly sell at an outcry" the goods of such, or lacking same, "to seize the body or bodies of the persons" of such.

Grange Notes

Union grange held its first meeting Tuesday evening, following the summer recess. The program consisted of current events by Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt; reading, Mrs. Henry Witt; piano duet, Mrs. Charles Sanford and Mrs. E. F. Shumway, two guessing games and songs.

Next Tuesday evening will be held the first of a series of military whist parties. It is planned to keep a record of the total score at these parties throughout the season.

A chicken pie supper will be served October 6.

15 members of Union Grange accepted the invitation of Amherst Grange to neighbor with them last Friday evening. Supper was served at 6.30 followed by a business meeting and an address by Leslie R. Smith, past master of the state grange, on his trip from Boston to Sacramento, Cal., a year ago. The address was illustrated by moving pictures taken by Mr. Smith.

Wash., an interesting letter which he has passed on to us with the privilege of quoting from it, in view of the fact that Mr. Abbey is so well known to our subscribers.

Anacortes, Wash., Aug. 27, 1926.

Dear old Friend:-

Have had charge of the city tourist camp for the last two years and own the commissary that goes with it. Am "Information Bureau" for the city. Have lived in this county since it was established back in territorial days, so am pretty well acquainted with it.

I like this work as it gives me an opportunity to meet a great many nice people from all over the United States and Canada, and a splendid chance to be of service to the city as publicity agent.

Last year I had cars from Boston and Maine, yesterday one from Vermont, one from Illinois, one from Oklahoma, one from Moosejaw, up on the Saskatchewan, one from Prince Rupert, British Columbia, and two from California. It is very interesting to converse with these people and to show them our wonderful resources. I take them through our mills, and they see the huge logs pulled out of the bay and cut into boards in an incredibly short time. One lady timed a log the other day from the water to sorting table and it took 11 minutes; the log scaled 4,200 feet and was cut into one inch boards. It went through the head saw, into four inch cuts, then through the edger, then the cut-off gang and the resaws. We have one mill here in town that cuts 200,000 feet per day.

Some of the tourists like to visit the salmon canneries, where sometimes many thousand salmon are in one pile. I have seen 35,000 salmon on the cannery floor. It takes 50 expert men and women with all modern machinery to handle that many in a day.

I am so glad that I made that visit back to Belchertown in 1920. So many of my dear old friends have passed on since then, four of the Bishop family, Mrs. M. Ward, W. Nichols, Mrs. Jos. Morse, Enoch Sanford, and several others.

Our baby is through college and teaching school. He is located at Longview, down on the Columbia river, where there is a saw mill that cuts one million feet of lumber per day. Our two youngest girls are married; one lives about 30 miles from here and comes home every week-end. Her husband is an expert machinist. The other daughter lives in Bremerton, 140 miles away. Her husband is an electrician in the Navy yard.

My four sisters are scattered around here. Grace, the oldest one, lives here in Anacortes; they have a small farm. One son, over 30, is unmarried. Alice lives in Seattle, no children. Sadie lives on an island ten miles across the bay from here. We can see her house from our home. She has six children; four of them are married and she has six grandchildren. Lottie, my youngest sister, lives in Whatcom county and has four or five children, some of them married. My brother Will is in Riverside, California, and has two girls. So you see my Dad's family has spread out pretty well. Louis is in Worcester and has four children, two of them married, and a couple of grandchildren. I have one grandchild, four months old, and she is the best one of the whole bunch.

Good Old Belchertown! How often I go back there in my day dreams, and once again in my visions of retrospection meet happily, the old friendly faces of my boyhood days. But alas, only in happy memory can I ever meet them this side of eternity. Few of them are among the living, and very soon we will be among them. What a blessed hope, that we may all meet "Over There", and the comfort of knowing,

There's a Home in that Land At the Father's right hand, There are mansions whose joys are untold, Perennial spring, Where the birds ever sing, And nobody ever grows old.

Always your friend, Fred G. Abbey

Left-over hominy grits may be cut into slices and browned in butter or other fat to make a most appetizing dish, good to serve at any meal. The slices should be at least a half inch thick, dipped in flour, and fried a delicate brown on both sides. Have the fat hot enough to form a brown crust quickly on the grits before the inside soaks up the fat. Also time the cooking so that the fried grits can be served as soon as they are browned.

The wearing qualities of pile fabrics depend very largely upon whether or not sufficient extra yarn has been used to hold the pile into the body of the fabric. It is always well to examine such fabrics very carefully and note how readily the pile can be pulled away from its foundation.

COMPETITION IN WORDS

One who goes into the market to buy a motor car today is naturally confused.

He has read the words best and greatest so often that they have ceased to be convincing. Where all is best, he reflects, there can be no best.

Thousand-dollar cars have been described to him in ten-thousand dollar language. And vice versa.

He finds himself the target in a war of adjectives; the helpless victim in a gigantic competition of words.

And so he is forced to rely on chance—the advice of friends—or his own limited experience.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., have never participated in this verbal competition.

They are content with the position they have long maintained in the far more vital competition of honest value.

They have continued steadily to improve their product, not only in comfort and beauty, but basically—beneath the body and hood where fundamental values lie.

Yet they have not unduly stressed each betterment that has marked the steady progress of their motor car toward a higher perfection.

And when economic conditions or greater sales have permitted them to reduce prices without reducing quality, they have announced the fact without excessive emphasis.

Unexaggerated truth is not spectacular. But in the long run, implicit public confidence has been Dodge Brothers reward, and this they propose to preserve forever by continuing to build just a little better than they tell.

Presents Morgan Memorial Work

Rev. E. N. Hubbard, of the Morgan Memorial, spoke to an interested audience at the Congregational church, Sunday morning. Questions were asked concerning the collection of the Good Will bags in this town, and an offering was taken for this organization which is well and favorably known.

Rev. Mr. Hubbard stated that 125,000 bags had been sent out, and told of the repair work these contributions afforded. In fact, the slogan of the Good Will industries, where from 4,000 to 5,000 were employed last year, is, "Not charity, but a chance."

In particular did Mr. Hubbard speak of the summer camp at South Athol, where 150 boys and girls from Boston most needing an outing are permitted to spend a few weeks during the summer. This season's contingent gained an average of five pounds each. Over 60 gardens were tended by these city young people, and all the vegetables are brought together for the greatly anticipated Harvest Home day at harvest time.

Mention was made of the fact that religious education is stressed both at South Athol and at Boston. A rug factory is operated at South Athol. In fact, old carpets and, strange to say, false teeth, were spoken of as most acceptable material for the Good Will bags.

Death of Timothy Garvey

Timothy Garvey, 56, died at the House of Providence hospital, Holyoke, Friday morning following an operation performed Wednesday night. Earlier that same day Mr. Garvey had assisted in putting up stands for the St. Francis's church lawn party and carnival.

Mr. Garvey was born in Belchertown, the son of James and Mary Garvey. For 25 years he was employed by the Boston & Maine railroad, most of that time at the pumping station. He was a man of wide reading and a member of St. Francis's church.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Carmody and Miss Nellie Garvey, and two brothers, James Garvey and Michael Garvey, all of this town. Another brother, John J. Garvey, died last June.

The funeral was held at St. Francis's church Monday morning at 9, with requiem high mass. Rev. J. A. Dunphy was celebrant, assisted by Rev. John Griffin of the Holy Rosary church of Holyoke and Rev. James W. McGrath of St. Bartholomew's church of Bondsville. Miss Mary Catherine Sullivan of Bondsville was soloist, assisted by Joseph Austin of Bondsville and the choir of St. Francis's church. The bearers were Thomas Flaherty, Eugene Flaherty, Dr. John Dunphy of Northampton, Maurice Moriarty, Peter Hanfin and Andrew Sears. Burial was in St. Thomas's cemetery, Thorndike.

Reduction in Water Rates

The commissioners of the water district, in their forthcoming report, announce that they have asked the town for an assessment of $3,500 on the district, the same as last year, when $1,500 was included for construction purposes. Instead of asking for a less amount to be raised by taxation this year, it was decided to reduce the water rates to $24 per year, the new rates to be as of September 1st.

The following figures are culled from the forthcoming financial statement.

EXPENDITURES
Printing, postage, stationery	67.68
Treas.' expense, bond, etc.	72.69
Interest and cert. of notes	2,761.92

Observes Fortieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Austin celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at their home on West Walnut street Wednesday evening. Four generations were present, Mrs. Austin's mother, Mrs. Mary Allen, three children, Miss Maud Austin and Mrs. E. E. Bidwell of Springfield and Charles Austin of this town, and four grandchildren, Charlotte, Marjorie, Norma and Alice Bidwell. Mr. and Mrs. Austin were presented with a bridge lamp from their children.

Chinese Christmas Party

The Chinese Christmas party in the Methodist vestry last Friday evening was a novel affair for Belchertown. Santa Claus did not appear. In fact the purpose of the party was to make sure that he remembers a certain mission station in China, when the great holiday arrives.

The tree was there, though, hung with gifts of dolls, picture cards and packages in all shapes and sizes, and while the children on the front row were not peeping to see the names marked on each, the musical romance and the play were intended to picture the delight that will be prevalent when the gifts are presented on the other side of the planet.

The musical romance related to the call, voyage to the field and the responsibilities there assumed of the present day foreign missionary, and the sense of comradeship which the old-time songs gave in the several stages.

A play depicted Christmas in a Chinese mission station and the reception of a Christmas box from the missionary's home land. The play was given in costume. In fact, the party was distinctly Chinese. Ten Chinese lanterns lighted the vestry, mottoes in Chinese hung upon the walls and the national colors of that country hung between the stars and stripes.

After the play, games in charge of Mrs. Dick, were played with considerable vivacity, and ice cream was dispensed. About 60 enjoyed the evening's party, which was in charge of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Mrs. A. R. Ketchen, president. The committee on decorations were Mrs. Ella Hunt, Miss Lucy Bardwell and Mrs. Robert Chamberlain. The program was in charge of Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Corliss, Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. Peck served as pianists.

James Clain, a local high school boy who recently joined the navy and who was on a furlough at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Archambault was attacked by a cow Monday night. He had gone to the pasture for the animal and when he failed to return, Mr. Archambault followed and found that he had been attacked and rendered unconscious by the cow which had evidently become vicious because of her calf. Dr. J. L. Collard was called and took him to the Holyoke City hospital. An X-ray examination showed no broken bones, but his left leg was paralyzed. Mr.
Clain, who is still at the hospital, was to have returned to the navy this week.

Mrs. Nellie Sears entertained at supper Sunday 20 friends from Holyoke and Chicopee.

Dr. N. Louise Rand of West Newton, general secretary of the Massachusetts Y. P. B., was the guest Tuesday of R. Bartlett Green.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Putnam entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. H.
C. Paine and sons, Chester and Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Wilder of Ludlow, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L.
Roach and daughter, Bertha Gildings, of Westfield.

M. E. Church Notes

The Epworth League will meet for the first time after the vacation on Sunday, Sept. 19, at 6.30. Everybody welcome.

Young and old ought to reserve
Friday, Sept. 24, for a real good time at a big Poverty social given by the League that evening.

On Thursday, Sept. 23, the boys and girls of Belchertown, regardless of their church affiliation, are invited to come to the vestry in the M. E. church for the purpose of organizing a Junior Epworth League. This is not a Sunday school, or a substitute for one. It is simply a non-denominational group of boys and girls, its only purpose being to bring boys and girls in touch with the Master of men.

Parents to whom children are giving in trust ought to send their children to the M. E. church at 3 o'clock on Thursday, Sept. 23.

The class of 1924, B. H. S., held their first reunion at Holland Glen last week Thursday evening. Fifteen members were present to enjoy the corn roast, hot dogs, marshmal-lows, etc., after which the company adjourned to the pavilion for dancing. The committee appointed to arrange for the reunion in 1928 is Charles Scott, Miss Dorothy Peeso and Donald Hazen. William Chamberlain is president and Miss Alice Randall, secretary.

Mrs. G. E. Scott and son, Charles Scott, have gone to Harborside, Me., to join Miss Beatrice Scott for a two weeks' vacation.

Better than Ever—

Following their traditional policy of constant improvement with no yearly models, Dodge Brothers, during the past eight months, have vastly bettered their motor cars in many vital respects.

Indeed, there has never been an equal period in Dodge Brothers history when so many refinements of a popular and fundamental nature have been made.

The public is registering its appreciation of this progressive industrial service by purchasing every motor car Dodge Brothers can build—in spite of the fact that Dodge Brothers production, during these months, has broken all previous records by an impressive margin.

O. E. S. Inspection

Official inspection at Mount Vernon chapter, O. E. S., Wednesday evening was the noteworthy occasion that it usually is. Forty were present from the Robert Morris chapter of Holyoke, besides representatives from other chapters. The inspecting officers were Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Madge MacDonald and Deputy Grand Marshal Mrs. Nellie Fleming, both of them being past matrons of Robert Morris chapter of Holyoke. One of the officers of the grand chapter was also present, Mrs. Cyrilla Malcolm, Grand Electa, of the George E. Fisher chapter of South Hadley Falls. More than 100 partook of the excellent supper provided by the chapter, Mrs. J. L. Colard being chairman of the committee in charge.

Sportsmen!

For those whose interest still remains loyal to the local sportsmen's club, it may be well to call attention to the work of the club the past year. A few new members have joined and a few have been dropped from membership. Upward of 1,500 trout of good size have been put into not too distant streams. Also some pheasants and hares have been liberated.

Water District Meeting

Old-time town meeting atmosphere prevailed at the water district meeting Monday evening. The air got considerably charged when the salary of the tax collector came up for discussion. D. F. Shumway stood for a salary of $75, plus $25 expenses, the same to be retroactive as of 1925. Exception was immediately taken that the price asked was all out of proportion to that charged for collecting town taxes. Mr. Shumway maintained that getting $3500 on top of the regular taxes was deserving of more pay. The meeting turned a deaf ear, however, and voted him only $50, that to include expenses. As to pay for collecting last year's assessment, (practically all of which has been collected) the moderator ruled that as the commissioners had made no definite agreement with him, that part could not be acted on under the war—continued on page 4—

Making Plans for Fair

The Belchertown Farmers' and Mechanics' club are completing arrangements for the annual fair to be held October 12. Starrett's band of Athol has been engaged for the occasion and a merry-go-round is expected as usual.

The club have gone over the matter of judges and premiums and have made a few additions and changes.

Prizes of $2 and $1 will be offered on dogs, any breed. The same prizes will be awarded on puppies. Judges in this class will be Wm. H. Ballou, Bert Fellows and Henry Baggs.

Prizes are offered for the best specimens of beans, pumpkins, beets, carrots and melons, prizes being 25 cents.

Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt, Mrs. Cornelia Holland and Mrs. Arthur Warner will have the task of deciding the baby awards, and Mrs. W. A. Kimball, Mrs. Rose Putnam and Miss Mary E. King, the winners in flowers, prizes on best collections being 50 cents and 25 cents.

Allan Cox and Miss Goodnow, physical directors of B. H. S., will have charge of sports and have submitted the following list of events:

Boys—100 yd. dash, 100 yd. obstacle race, standing broad jump, running high jump.

Girls—75 yd. dash, 75 yd. obstacle race, standing broad jump, running high jump.

100 yd. slow bicycle race, 3-legged race, handicap race, etc.

As to changes in the program, the parade is listed at 10 a. m. this year, and the draft horses at 1 p. m.

Grange Notes

Union Grange at its meeting Tuesday night enjoyed a series of children's pictures by great artists, the tableaux being in charge of Mrs. E. G. Rowland. The following pictures were shown: "Cherry Ripe" (Millais), Nannie Ahearn; "Infant Samuel" (Reynolds) Dorothy Trainor; "The Dauphin" (Greuze), Milton Chamberlain; "For the Squire" (Millais), Marjorie Shaw; "The Torn Hat" (Sully), Harry Sanford; "Boy With a Rabbit," Barbara Rowland; "Simplicity" (Reynolds), Marian Shaw; "Age of Innocence" (Reynolds), June Sanford; "Penelope Boothby" (Reynolds) Madeline Lincoln; "Lilacs" (Millais), Myrtle Greene; "Cherry Girl" (Champney), Priscilla Rowland; "Caritas" (Thayer), Mrs. Bertram Shaw, Virginia Shaw, Ruth Chamberlain.

Prin. Thomas Allen contributed a solo to the evening's program.

Gas-Electric Trains on Both Roads

Only two steam passenger trains a day now pass through town. The other four are all gas-electric. The Boston and Maine started the new type on the two mid-day trains last week Thursday. As in the trial of approximately a year ago, they have hard work to make the schedule, but are gradually doing better. They began by being around 40 minutes late. Now they are hovering around 20.

The Central Vermont is having better success. They started in Monday with the new type and have been on time about every day. Previously the C. V. tried a gasoline train and gave it up. This is their first experiment with the gas-electric type.

Work a Blessing

Many heresies have existed in the world. One of them is that work is a curse. For centuries this idea has resided in the mind of man. For ages the notion was prevalent that in the beginning man sinned and the punishment laid upon him for sinning was that he was set to work. Because of sin, thorns and thistles grew and the ground became cursed, and the penalty was that man no longer was able to live a life of ease, but was compelled to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. Now this heresy has existed long enough. It is time that it was banished.

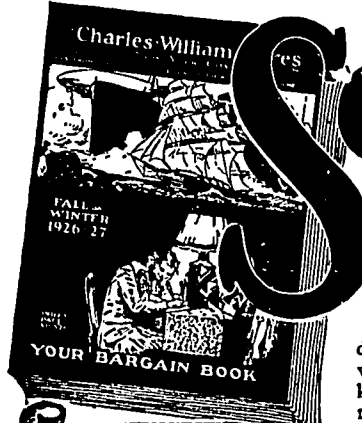

Idleness, not work, is a curse. "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." The most unhappy and the most pessimistic people are those who have little or nothing to do.

Work is one of the great blessings of life. Sometimes we complain because of the severity of our work, but we would complain even more if we were out of work and unable to get a job. The newspapers almost always declare when they publish an account of a suicide that he had been for some time out of work.

We are created for work and not for idleness. If we fail to work, our bodies become flabby and sickly. We get muscle and acquire strength through work. Work is one of the best developers we have.

The happiest people in the world are the workers. And also the most noted people. The world does not seem to care to remember those who are idle. Only the workers are immortalized.

Sportsmen!

The club has held regular meetings the first Monday of the month except in July and August. While these are not crowded, the social hour after business leaves a thrill of good fellowship with those present. To enjoy any organization, it is almost necessary to attend its meetings and enter into the spirit that pervades it.

During the year the club joined with other clubs to form the Hampshire County League of Sportsmen, thus making its influence more potent and bringing us into more cordial relations with the county sportsmen. Hampden county has a like league and through its efforts funds are being raised to enlarge the hatchery at North Amherst. Some 20 acres are offered at half the price paid by the late purchasers, they making a gift of their half to the state, provided the clubs can raise the necessary other half.

Thus the hatchery will have plenty of room and can become the finest in the state.

We hope all sportsmen realize what these improvements mean towards maintaining trout fishing and that they will be anxious and willing to bear their part of the expense by joining some club and paying regular dues.

To those whose dues have lapsed and who stand in the shadow of being dropped from membership, may we urge you to square up and help keep a good and worthy object running.

—Thomas Allen, Secretary

Town Items

The following winter schedule at the library will be effective next week: Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 2.15 to 4.45; Saturday evening from 6.30 to 8.30.

It will be of interest to the townspeople to know that Supt. Knight has regular hours at his office in Memorial hall where he will be found on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 3.30 to 4.30. A telephone has also been installed, the number being 58-3.

Mrs. E. J. Ward broke her arm Tuesday night.

Mrs. Edna Jackson has moved to the Gould block and will occupy the tenement vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bennett.

G. W. Warren of North Dana has moved to the Baggs place on Blue Meadow road.

The bus line resumes its winter schedule Sunday, the last trip Sunday evenings being one hour earlier than at present.

The fall meeting of the Hampshire East Assn. of Cong'l churches will be held at Granby October 19.

Leroy M. Blackmer left last evening for Florida, where he will spend the winter.

The resumption of standard time on Sunday will not affect the schedule on the Boston and Maine railroad. The C. V. time table has not been received as yet.

Mrs. E. S. Shumway and son, Eric of Brooklyn, N. Y., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis.

Mrs. Charles Cook attended a reunion of her father's family at Springfield Wednesday.

Mrs. Henry H. Witt has been substituting in the 5th and 6th grades for Mrs. Marian Shaw who has been confined to her home with a sprained ankle.

The postponed carnival of St. Francis's church was held Monday evening. Instead of being a lawn party as before, tables were used inside of Park View hall. Considering that it was a postponed event, the patronage was good. The winners of the $100 in cash prizes were: First prize, $50, Atty T. J. O'Connor of Holyoke; 2nd, $30, Miss Marian Patnaude; 3rd, $20, John Brown.

James Clain has returned from the Holyoke City hospital.

Mrs. Russell Weiss and Mrs. Wm. Morris of Holyoke were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Beach.

Misses Alice and Rachel Randall are at the Boys' and Girls' Dairy camp at the Eastern States exposition this week. Alice won first prize on her herd of Holsteins, and Rachel fourth prize on her Guernseys.

Mrs. George Kelley is visiting her sister, Mrs. Snow, of Suffield, Ct.

Girl Scout Notes

Troop 1 of the Girl Scouts will hold their first meeting after the summer recess next Wednesday afternoon at the Scout rooms. Work will be begun on the first class requirements in measurements and weighing. According to the vote of the council last year, only girls of high school age who have passed the second class work are eligible for membership in troop 1.

The Girl Scouts of troop 2 are having a series of "different" meetings in opening up the fall work. Last Monday the Oriole patrol had charge of affairs and arranged for the place of meeting out of doors. Following the business meeting and a game of flowers in which Barbara Rowland was winner, the Orioles got out the food which they had purchased and everybody was soon busy with her fire.

The next meeting of troop 2 is a secret. After school Monday there will be arrows at the end of the school lane pointing out the direction to go for the meeting.

Make Good at Camp

The following letter was received by Dr. G. E. McPherson from Scout Executive Hendrichon of Northampton concerning the record of the local Boy Scouts who were at camp this last summer. Those who went were Louis Fuller, Edward Schmidt, George McPherson, Jr., Leroy Nutting and Bartlett Green.

Dr. George E. McPherson,
Belchertown, Mass.

Dear Doctor:-

You will probably be glad to know that the Belchertown scouts made a very good account of themselves at camp. They snapped into it like veterans, kept their tents in fine shape and won inspection a number of times. They also did all their assigned work efficiently and cheerfully.

I cannot help but feel, because the boys do show such fine spirit, that somebody must have done some good work with them, and I think that Mr. Shaw and Dr. Wilder deserve a lot of credit.

With best wishes for continued success with scouting in Belchertown I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Christian Hendrichon, Scout Executive

This is in contradistinction to the former method in which the fiscal year started Jan. 1.

During the course of the meeting, Herbert Story made a report on the Convention at Salem which he attended as a delegate. After the meeting, a buffet lunch was served, consisting of sandwiches, cake, doughnuts and coffee.

From now on, watch the Sentinel for the date of the next meeting, and let's turn out 100 per cent., and bring along the new members.

rant. Mr. Shumway claimed that he was being dealt with in high handed fashion and that the district would have another guess coming.

A salary of $30 ($10 each) was voted for the assessors without argument, likewise a salary of $50 each for the commissioners. C. G. Bartlett was also allowed $10, attorney's fees incurred in 1925.

The article calling for the extension of the water system on Everett Avenue was what split the meeting, however. The point was immediately made that the line should be completed to the end of Federal St., as originally planned, before other construction was begun. The opposition maintained that the district needed water takers and that here was the opportunity to secure the largest consumer in town with a small outlay. It was also stated that the Federal St. line had been a disappointment so far, on account of the few customers secured. It was countered that the prices asked were double those contemplated when the original canvass was made.

When the matter was put to vote, 14 voted for the Everett Ave. extension and 28 against. An effort was made to reconsider, but to no avail.

Under the last article, a motion made by Rev. C. G. Burnham was carried, to the effect that it was the sense of the meeting that the commissioners complete the line on Federal St. and that if the money is not available for that purpose, that a special meeting be called to see if the district will vote to appropriate money for it.

During the recess which followed, previous to the closing of the ballot, the matter of the Everett Ave. extension was thrashed out with considerable spirit by interested groups.

At 10 the results were announced. W. E. Shaw was reelected clerk with 51 votes and C. G. Bartlett was reelected treasurer with 54 votes, both being unopposed. E. C. Witt, who resigned as commissioner during the year, received 30 votes and was elected in a free-for-all contest. E. A. Randall ran next highest with 13 votes.

A. R. Lewis was moderator of the meeting and W. E. Shaw, clerk.

Howard-Hazen
Wedding

The wedding of Miss Irene Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard of West Walnut street, and Daniel Donald Hazen, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hazen of Main street, took place Sunday afternoon at 4.30 at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Cato Dick, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony, using the double ring service.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary E. Howard. Harold G. Hazen, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The home was profusely decorated with autumnal garden flowers.

A reception followed the ceremony which was attended by the members of the immediate families while guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Crown of Shelburne Falls; Mrs. Ruel Wheelock of Colchester, Vt., and G. C. Hubbard of Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen are both graduates of the local high school, classes of 1925 and 1926, respectively. The best wishes of their friends go with them to their new home which they will make in Springfield, Mass., where Mr. Hazen is employed as Alemitte agent at the Colonial filling station at 137 Taylor street.

The Poverty Party

Between 50 and 60 were present at the Poverty party given by the Epworth League last Friday evening in the vestry. In spite of the fact that junk men ply the town incessantly there was a rare display of "poverty" costumes. Burlap bags, all kinds of rags and mismatched shoes showed up in the procession. Miss Helen Camp won first prize for girls and Preston Atwood first prize for boys.

Refreshments savored of poverty, too. Cups were passed, but only to be half-filled with water "dipped" from a pail. Toothpicks followed, in order to cheat the dentist out of a job. After the suspense, doughnuts did show up. These were served a la bag. At last the coffee pot came travelling along to fill the washed cups, so all ended happily. Games formed a pleasing part of the evening's program.

Completes Blister Rust Control Work

Stanley Cole, who has been in charge of the white pine blister rust control in town for the last three months, has completed this season's work and is leaving town. He reports that he has covered about three-fourths of the territory and has found much property infested. In most cases he has found owners ready and willing to assist him in the work. J. J. Fairchild has been co-laborer with Mr. Cole during his stay, and others have been employed as well.

B. H. S. Athletics

This week through the courtesy of the Crowell Publishing company, the school is putting on a drive to secure subscriptions for several publications. The terms offered are good and while the subscribers gain no advantage of rates, the school gets quite a liberal discount from regular prices. This all goes to build up an athletic fund for the coming year. Apparently the generous donations given last year have all vanished. Of the dozens of baseballs bought, none remain. Of the bats only a few are here. Gloves, mits and such equipment for baseball, of which there was a good supply, are lacking. All this is necessary for a team and we hope the treasury will be given a good boost for athletics.

Later, The Curtis Publishing Company wishes to put on a drive to swell its membership in this section, granting liberal discounts that will also go towards the athletic fund.

The gymnasium equipment in the Town hall has been sorted out and put in order. Settees have been repaired and panes of glass set by the janitor. New screens for the windows are to be installed, hinged so as to permit free access to the windows without removal of the screens. The hall is not to be a hang-out at noon or after-school for pupils and

Although our teams this year will be light and unskilled in the games, the boys have quite a little ability in sports and the girls can put up quite an argument in basket-ball.

While the girls' coach approves of basket-ball for those physically fit, her aim is not to stress athletics as such, but to develop ease, graceful carriage, agility, suppleness, health--the feminine qualities that bespeak the trained and cultured woman.

This Friday afternoon is the regular High School Field day. No doubt talent will show up and interesting events be run off, even though the contestants are not so mature and husky as were those of former years.

The Three County Fair

The Three County fair will be held at Northampton for the 108th season next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The show will be open on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Four large vaudeville acts, the biggest and best outdoor amusements obtainable for fair patrons this year, have been secured to perform each afternoon and evening.

Culbertson's Roman circus, the most thrilling exhibit of horsemanship ever brought to Northampton, will stage chariot races and will do a startling bareback riding stunt.

ing fast time without the assistance of a driver.

Luster, Allen and Goodwin, three of America's most famous clowns, will present an uproariously funny act by doing difficulty acrobatic stunts, in which their versatility will grow more evident with each achievement.

Sensational Roscoe, an aerialist, will thrill fair goers with his hair-raising toe and heel catches while swinging high in the air.

Billy Lorette, a nationally known clown, will make laughter spontaneous with his droll cut-ups. This funny Southerner with his cigar and old faded policeman's uniform and himself, will provoke laughter by his clever burlesquing.

Tuesday will be children's day. Beginning at 12.30 a program of sports will be interspersed by band concerts, vaudeville performances and the boys' and girls' parade. A day of fun for the children.

Wednesday and Thursday will be grown-ups' day with racing events every afternoon. Races at Northampton are an assured attraction under the direction of "Mace" Dickinson, track superintendent, of Hatfield. He is booking a fast card of horses which will be announced in a few days.

The mid-way, bigger and better than ever, will contain a group of clean, amusing attractions that will be sizzling with fun for both young and old.

And the Three County Fair has not forgotten the heritage given to it by the founders 108 years ago, when it was organized, primarily as an agricultural fair for exhibits of produce, live stock and drawing contests. These exhibits still hold an active part in the making of the Three County Fair.

Modern transportation, the automobile, has taken the place of the driving horses in recent years, necessitating an automobile show. This will be complete in every detail. All of the popular makers will have their latest models on exhibit in the automobile building.

It is always fair weather at Northampton, so make your plans to attend the Three County Fair on October 5, 6 and 7 and help in making the oldest, largest Hampshire County Fair, an institution of which Hampshire County may be justly proud.

Town Items

The Methodist church began last Sunday the use of calendars with special printed insides furnished by the World Service Commission.

Mrs. Elsie E. Preston and children, Enid and Davis, who have been living in St. Albans, Vt., will make their home in town. Mrs. Preston expects to take a position at the State school.

The Social Guild will meet with Mrs. A. H. Bartlett next Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. All members are requested to be present as this is the time for the election of officers.

The grange is making preparation for its annual chicken pie supper next Wednesday evening in the chapel. Supper will be served from 6 to 8. A dance will follow in Grange hall from 8 to 12. Music will be furnished by Hamilton's orchestra. There will be square and modern dances. Supper will be 75 cents, and dance 50 cents.

A. E. Cook, city electrician of Meriden, Ct., was in town last week, calling on friends. Mr. Cook did considerable house wiring here when electricity was first available, and lived in the Thomson house.

A bulletin board, which will also be used as a wayside pulpit, purchased with the legacy of Mrs. Hinds to the Methodist church, has been received and has been placed on the lawn in front of the church. Brief dedicatory exercises will be held following the morning service, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Noel moved Wednesday to the town farm where they will serve as warden and matron.

Dr. F. C. Wilder has opened a branch dental office in Bondsville, where he will be on Thursdays of each week.

Miss Lucy Sanderson of Springfield is at her home on Cottage St.

Between 8 and 9 Sunday evening, the homes of Mrs. Dora Bardwell and Mrs. Ella Garvey were entered and the contents thoroughly overhauled. A fur coat of Miss Eleanor Bardwell's was taken at the Bardwell home, and a gold watch belonging to the late Mr. Garvey, at the Garvey home. Entrance was gained by removing a screen at one place while a pane of glass was broken in obtaining entrance at the other place.

No one was at home at either place. It is thought that those responsible were local characters evidently acquainted with the hours of occupancy.

The Boy Scout council held their first regular meeting of the season Tuesday evening.

The Girl Scout council met with Mrs. L. G. Warren Tuesday evening and discussed plans for the rally to be held in connection with Girl Scout week beginning October 23. Plans for raising funds were also considered.

Miss Esther Hagstrom spent the week-end in Worcester.

Mrs. C. H. Harriman of Hartford, Ct., spent a few days this week with her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Hilliard.

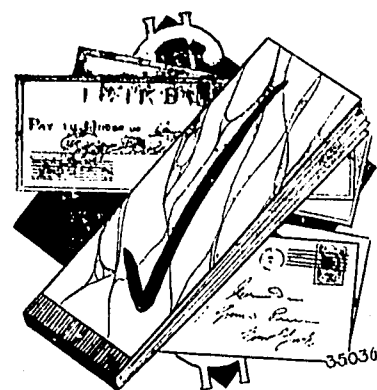

The Girl Scouts of troop 2 visited the Stone House Monday afternoon.

Chicken Pie Supper and Dance

Of the thirty chickens that slumbered beneath the crusts, awaiting the supper served by Union Grange at the chapel Wednesday evening, only a remnant remained and these went quickly in the hands of Bob Munsing, the prompter-auctioneer, during the intermission at the dance which followed in Grange hall.

Shortly before 6, patrons began to arrive and were promptly served. Delegations from neighboring towns formed a large part of the company, parties coming from Granby, Enfield, Ware, Amherst, Ludlow and Holyoke. Altogether about 100 were served, and in such a manner that they will be likely to come again, for this was the first annual.

The committee in charge were Mrs. F. E. Austin, Mrs. E. A. Randall, Mrs. Charles Trainor, Mrs. Alvin Cutting and Miss Gertrude Riley.

At Grange hall elaborate preparations had been made for the dance. Festoons of red, white and blue streamers hung from the ceiling, while large sprays of vari-colored autumn leaves on the wall at the rear of the stage made an appropriate background for Hamilton's 3-piece orchestra of Amherst, which furnished music. Modern and old-fashioned dances were enjoyed, the patrons especially appreciating the

Exhibit at State School

An exhibit of educational and industrial classes of the Belchertown State School will be held in assembly hall on Wednesday, October 20, from 2 to 9 p. m.

This exhibit will attempt to show the abilities of defective children as developed under special training, and will be open to the public.

It is hoped that many of our interested friends will avail themselves of this opportunity to attend this, our first exhibition.

At the present time the school has 750 children, over two-thirds of whom demand and are receiving school or industrial work. We are sure that visitors will be surprised at the variety of exhibits. You are invited to come to see, for yourself.

Rally Day

Last Sunday was Rally Sunday at the Congregational Sunday School. The Primary department joined with the main school for the preliminary exercises and gave their usual opening program. Contributions by the other departments were as follows:

Reading, "Through Another Year," George Roode
Recitation Marion Shaw Song, "When Everyone Helps," Mrs. Allen's, Mrs. Taylor's and Miss Howard's classes

Recitation James Collard
Recitation Harriet Squires
Reading Miss Esther Squires
Previous to the taking up of the lesson, Miss Irene M. Jackson, assistant superintendent, gave words appropriate to the opening of another year's work.

There were 90 present. The various classes of the school are taking turns decorating the church these fall Sundays.

B. H. S. Field Day

B. H. S. held its annual Field day last Friday afternoon on the south end of the common. Class spirit was in evidence as the various events were run off, all of which attracted a growing company of passersby. The 75 and 100 yard dashes were very closely contested, the winners changing places at the finish line. A look behind by the leaders cost them a place in every instance.

There were numerous entries, especially in the girls' three-legged race, when half the width of the common had to be cleared for the contestants. In fact the girls held up their end of the scoring in fine fashion.

The rope pulls were winners for interest, but for some reason or other the rope was like a one-way street. In both cases it refused to budge in the opposite direction from which it started, no matter how much the dragged dug in or the crowd shouted.

When this event was over, the school busses honked and those living out of the center entered a free-for-all 100-yard dash for the cars.

Those having bicycles insisted on the fast bicycle race around the common, and this proved the concluding event of the day. There were other numbers that would have been run off if time had permitted and probably would be yet, but interest now attaches to the sports on Fair day, for which many have already signed up.

The Field day program was in charge of Prin. Allen and the two physical instructors, Allan N. Cox and Miss Goodnow.

Following is a tabulation of the points scored, high scorers, etc., also a list of the winners in the different events.

Joy in Work

If work is a blessing and not a curse, as we maintained in one of our editorials, then why is it that more men are not happy in their work and why is it that they do not whistle at their tasks?

If we were to ask men why they were not happy, we would get many replies. Some would say, "We are not happy because we are overworked. We have too long hours. We work too hard. We are compelled to work beyond our strength." Others would say, "We are not happy because we are underpaid. If we could only secure enough money so as not to be continually worrying where the next meal was coming from, then we could be joyful. We earn more than we get." Still others say, "We are not happy because our place of work is unhealthy and unsanitary. We do not get fresh air or sunlight. We work in cramped quarters. How can one sing in such a place?" There are others who reply, "We are not happy because our employers do not treat us as men but as slaves. We are mere tools. We are too much ground down. We are not allowed initiative." And still another group says, "We are unhappy because we are not well. We run down in the middle of the afternoon. Our work drags. The hours go slowly and heavily."

Now these are real reasons and not fanciful ones. And if we are good citizens we will do our utmost to remedy all these ills. And yet there must be other reasons more vital because we have known workmen to be happy in spite of ill health and low wages and long hours and bad living conditions.

Do not the more vital reasons for unhappiness lie in another quarter? In a happy workshop all pull together. There can be no happiness where the workers are all at cross purposes. A selfish man can never be really happy. Neither can a selfish workman be happy. The man who thinks of work in terms of self only is bound to be unhappy. If a man would be happy, he must be unselfish and brotherly.

Dies in Amherst

Mrs. Miranda (Root) Knight, of Amherst, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank L. David. Mrs. Knight was born in Belchertown 74 years ago, the daughter of John and Miranda Ross' Root. Her residence here was only of a few weeks duration, however. The first 30 years of her life were lived in Pelham. She moved to Amherst 23 years ago and had lately contemplated being with her son, Herman C. Knight, who recently accepted the position of superintendent of schools in this town. Her health had been good up to about a month ago.

She leaves six children, Mrs. Frank David of Amherst, Herman C. Knight of this town, Mrs. Spaulding of West Pelham, Mrs. Arthur Whittier of Marlboro, Mrs. Ralph Smith of Marlboro, and Curtis Knight of Brookline. There are nine grandchildren and a half brother, Eugene Root of Warren. The funeral will be held in Amherst at 1.30 today.

Girl Scout Week

October 23-30 is Girl Scout week. The observance is nation wide, but varies with different groups. Yet Sunday, October 24, is everywhere observed as Girl Scout Sunday and Scouts attend church in a body and listen to a sermon of special interest and meaning for Girl Scouts.

Local plans are not all complete, but in Belchertown Girl Scout week will be ushered in with a rally Friday night, October 22, when Miss Smith of Springfield will be present to award merit badges, etc. This meeting will be open to the public. On Sunday, October 24, Rev. D. L. Hilliard has invited the two troops and the council to attend the Congregational church. Other plans for the week will be announced later.

Among the many worthy causes for which appeals are made to the public, none is more worthy of our support than this one. "Hunger knows no armistice." To relieve the suffering of orphans and widows who have been rendered destitute by the vicissitudes of war and the cruelties of men, causes beyond their control, is a truly Christian deed of charity.

The efficiency of the organization is well known, being a guarantee that our gifts will reach the field of need.

Everybody welcome.

Visit of Physical Director

Miss Florence A. Somers, assistant state director of physical education, was in town yesterday, visiting the Enfield schools in the morning and on her return giving the remainder of the forenoon to the High school. Setting-up exercises were demonstrated on the common by the school under the direction of the physical instructors. Miss Somers spoke highly of the work already done along this line and sensed strongly the school spirit. Her visit here was to note the progress of the work and to offer suggestions regarding it.

In the afternoon her time was given to the elementary teachers of the town, showing them how they could best use the facilities at their disposal. The 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades of the center were given a demonstration. Miss Somers laid stress on posture, deep breathing, team work, etc. She especially urged the teachers of the center to make good use of the common, which is ideal for the furthering of this branch of education.

The Annual Fair

For the last few weeks, Dwight F. Shunway, president of the Belchertown Farmers' and Mechanics' club, has been boasting that he would have the best day of the season for the 69th annual fair, and most people will admit that he got it. At least no day has surpassed it. The people in this section of the state were evidently aware of it, for even gray-haired men don't remember when there was such a jam on the common. It was lucky there was a ferris wheel; there surely was not room for everyone on the ground.

The fun started when the merry-go-round got under way a little before 9. A few minutes later, Starrett's 14-piece band of Athol gave the initial number of the day, and then it could truthfully be said that the fair was officially opened.

The great trouble was to get to it, however. For the last half mile, at least, and at times more, on the Holyoke road, it was a case of inching along at a snail's pace. The stream of cars moved slower than the Connecticut, while the lucky ones reaching the brow of the hill steered for the several auto parks with thankful hearts.

THE PARADE

The parade got under way a little before 11. E. F. Flaherty was marshal. He had five aides, Misses Frances Sauer, Dorothy Peeso, Nannie Howard, Evelyn Archambault and Orace Fuller, the last of Ludlow. Next came Starrett's band, followed by Miss Gertrude Knight with the colors and ten other Girl Scouts in single file, each bearing aloft on a standard one of the ten Scout laws.

"Ring Ling's Circus" was next in line. This was a comic entry. A low wheeled cart, on which was a young rooster beneath an onion crate, a teddy bear under a basket in the upper berth, and a doll for a driver, was drawn by Ruth Spencer as a clown, accompanied by her sister, Lorraine, as a circus lady, each astride a home-made hobby horse.

Henry Fisherick of Ware was next in line with a driving horse—a reminder of what used to be. Five cars of the Belchertown Motor Sales came next, followed by four others from out of town.

"Poppy" Day a Success

Results of the sale of poppies last Tuesday was a proof of the loyalty of the people toward Chauncey D. Walker Post No. 239 of the American Legion. Nearly one hundred dollars was dropped in the little tin boxes in the course of the day. The generosity of the people is very much appreciated, and I take this opportunity to express that appreciation on behalf of the Post. The girls and boys who sold poppies certainly deserved a great amount of credit.

The window in McKillop's vacant store, containing relics of war, came in for a good share of interest. Many people stopped to examine the different kinds of guns, souvenirs, etc., and Comrade Parent was kept busy answering the various questions put to him throughout the day. Perhaps the mere fact that he got tired of standing helped to fill his can quicker than it ordinarily would. Many people seeing him sitting down, had the mistaken idea that he was a cripple. This was not a reuse on his part, but just a little touch of "legwearyitis."

The fact that "poppy" day was held on the holiday and day of the Cattle Show helped greatly toward the sales.

Letter from Miami

The following is taken from a letter recently received by Mrs. F. W. Fellows from her granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Parkman, who returned to Miami, Fla., just after the storm to begin another year's work at Biscayne school, with which she has been connected the last four years. The letter shows the conditions prevailing on her arrival.

I know you have been wondering all week if there was any place left for us to come to and what we are eating and how we are living at all. I couldn't find a minute during the whole week to do anything but fight and struggle with destruction left by wind and water. At night there are only candles for light, so when darkness descends the only thing we can do is to go to bed. Tonight I am writing by the light of three candles, flickering and jumping in the breeze.

To begin at the heart of things, Miami has been terribly destroyed by the hurricane. I say terribly because the poor people have suffered and are still suffering beyond anyone's conception who hasn't seen what has happened. There have been hundreds of families stripped of everything they have in the world. There is a family of refu-

William Pranaitis, who always contributes a float to the Fair parade, was first in the line of such, with mammoth squashes aboard his farm wagon, also cabbage and baskets of potatoes, grapes, etc., spread around a shock of corn—all on a ground-work of evergreen.

A truck driven by Robert Baggs and trimmed with red, white and blue striped paper was entered by Union Grange. "Union Grange, organized 1874," was on the back of the cab. Farm produce lay thick on two settees placed back to back and also on the floor below.

W. A. Sauer followed with a sedan profusely decked in Halloween attire. Black cats stared out of the windows and real children as witches were inside making merry.

Paige Piper came next with a decorated car. Small flags lay on bunting on the radiator, which also adorned the rest of the car.

A truck was next in line with six German police dogs aboard. This was entered by Jesse Johnson.

D. C. Randall brought up the procession with a car neatly decked with pink streamers.

Prizes were as follows:

Floats—1st, William Pranaitis; 2nd, Union Grange; 3rd, Jesse Johnson.

Comics—Ruth and Lorraine Spencer.

Girl Scouts $10.00.

Decorated autos—1st, Frances Sauer; 2nd, Paige Piper; 3rd, D. C. Randall.

Driving horse—Henry Fisher and Dick of Ware.

DRAFT HORSES

The draft horses at 1.30 were as usual a big drawing card at the fair. People would persist in getting inside the ropes in spite of Eugene Flaherty's threat to charge, so anxious were they to see the several teams pull.

It was a three-cornered contest this year, J. W. Hurlbert, E. F. Shumway and D. C. Randall being those to enter. The latter's team was soon eliminated, but a tussle royal developed between the other two. While Shumway's team stuck to the lead, the crowd clapped in great style at the way Jase's pair dug into the turf. The latter drew 6,500 lbs. and a little over, a distance of seven feet, thus winning first prize.

BABY SHOW

At the same hour that the horses were pulling, the baby show was in full swing at the town hall. There were 14 entries this year to challenge the judges who were really on trial. The awards were as follows: Hand-somest baby, 1st, Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gates of Ludlow; 2nd, Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ward of Pelham. Best natured, Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker of South Deerfield; 2nd, Roland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Campbell of Amherst. Fattest, Millicent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Elliott of Northampton; 2nd, Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Towne of Belchertown. Youngest (1 month, 6 days), Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Harold Woodworth of Westfield; second youngest, Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold House of Springfield.

HORSES AND CATTLE

There were six head of cattle on the chain at the south end of the park, besides those in the pens which were well filled with live stock. Especially noteworthy were the blue ribbon Holsteins exhibited by Rachel Randall and the Ayershires by W. A. Sauer.

POULTRY, ETC.

No one would think from the display at the fair, that Belchertown is the poultry town it is, although there were more boxes of birds on the tables designated for that purpose than is sometimes the case.

THE SPORTS

The sports were run off around 2.30 under the direction of Prin. Allen and the physical instructors, Allen N. Cox and Miss Goodnow, of B. H. S. The first event on the program was calisthenics put on by 20 girls of the school. In fact the sports were limited to B. H. S. pupils. Great difficulty was found in running the foot races. In spite of one-way traffic, the line of cars would double and triple up, losing to sight the contestants waiting to run. The faculty had to act as traffic cops before even a foot path was cleared.

The pupils' interest in the games was cumulative and it was with some regret that the last number was run off. The spectators were greatly interested in the running high jumps, especially among the boys. Hill was an easy winner in this event. Nothing bothered him short of five feet, and he finally conquered that. His agility in clearing the string was quite marked. The results were as follows:

100 yd. dash, boys—1st, Piper; 2nd, Barry; 3rd, Stuart.

75 yd. dash, girls—1st, Joan Rowland; 2nd, Agnes Lego; 3rd, Evelyn Archambault.

Running broad jump, boys—1st, Barry; 2nd, Stuart; 3rd, Hill.

Running broad jump, girls—1st, Edna Howard; 2nd, Scribiski; 3rd, Doerpholz.

Standing broad jump, boys—1st, Hill; 2nd, Piper; 3rd, Barry.

Standing broad jump, girls—1st, Edna Howard; 2nd, Agnes Lego; 3rd, Doerpholz.

Three legged race, girls—1st, Evelyn Archambault and Althea Dodge; 2nd, Joan Rowland and Miss Scribiski; 3rd, Jane Shumway and Miss Gilpin.

Handicap race, boys—1st, Piper; 2nd, Barry; 3rd, Stuart.

Running high jump, boys—1st, Hill; 2nd, Piper; 3rd, tied by Stuart and Barry.

Running high jump, girls—1st, Miss Gilpin; 2nd, Edna Howard; 3rd, Joan Rowland.

EXHIBITS AT HALL

The town hall contained the usual showing of fruits, vegetables, flowers, quilts, fancy work, etc. The domestic Science department of B. H. S. had on display about 75 jars of vegetables, jellies, preserves, etc., besides fancy work.

A novel display at the hall this year were radio outfits, shown by E. C. Howard, who also had his usual fine display of apples. He had 50 varieties on the tables. C. H. Eggleston had a good exhibit of farm produce.

Among other things attracting attention in the hall were a clustered potato weighing 3½ lbs., exhibited by W. A. Sauer, and 9 big bouncing spuds weighing 16 lbs., raised without fertilizer by E. R. Peeso.

There was a sprinkling of bread, butter, etc., a fine showing of flowers including a pitcher plant shown by Mrs. D. C. Nutting of Dwight, bird houses, ship, book rack, etc. in the boys' handicraft section and bewitching fancy work on the tables at the south side of the hall, besides a fine showing of quilts and quilt covers, overhead.

The Grange exhibit was unique. A child's auto truck was heavily laden with farm products and titled "The Farmer Feeds Them All."

THE MIDWAY

Time was when there was a midway, but people pushing and jostling one another this year, may have stepped on it, but few saw it. Concession men lined both sides of the common with their blankets and baggage, barking their bargains to a biting multitude.

At the Park View hotel there was dancing all day, the crowd surging over the spacious piazzas. The weight proved too much in one spot and commenced to give way, but no one was hurt, and business went on as usual. It was here that the fair really ended. Shortly after 7 in the evening, the orchestra struck up "Home, Sweet Home", and all was over.

Town Items

Many citizens and local organizations made the most of Fair day. The M. E. church did the biggest business, as far as organizations went, clearing $147.00 on their self-service dinner, while the Ladies Social Union took in about $125.00 at their annual sale conducted in the vestibule of the church. The Junior class of the High school had a booth on the common and made $50.00 or more. The Christian Endeavor society made $18.00 selling sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee at the chapel. In connection with their other work, the Y. P. B. and L. T. L. unexpectedly took in a dollar or so, finding there was a demand for checking extra wraps. They conducted literature tables in the vestibule of the Congregational church. The W. C. T. U. were similarly engaged at the chapel. Many owners of property around the common and on the side streets turned their door-yards into auto parks and cashed in nicely.

During the summer a fire alarm, meeting the requirements of the state police inspection department, was installed at the High school building. At the fire drill on Wednesday, the building was cleared in 50 seconds.

The local Girl Scout council will entertain the western Massachusetts division at the home of Mrs. Geo. E. McPherson next Tuesday afternoon. William Chamberlain of Bridge-water Normal and a classmate, Mr. Churchill, spent the week-end and holiday in town.

Albert Sheets and family of West Granville have been guests of Mrs. Sheets's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Gould and son spent the week-end at Fitchburg.

State auditors Beckers and Masters have completed their audit of the town books.

gees living in Miss McConkey's garage apartment whose house was blown down about them, their oldest son killed and everything in the house blown to pieces or smashed. They have absolutely nothing. That's only one case. The Red Cross is trying to help, but there has been no disaster like this since the San Francisco earthquake and the Red Cross needs millions and millions of dollars to help people who have no possible way of helping themselves.

All houses suffered alike, rich and poor, and sometimes the little wooden houses stood better than the big concrete mansions, but of course those who lived in mansions have something to work with. But no one, rich or poor, can ever replace the trees and shrubs. Miami is practically stripped of all its trees. Coconut Grove, which was called the most beautiful suburb in America, because of its wonderful estates so marvelously planted with trees and vines and flowers, is now a mass of splintered dry trunks and mountains of rubbish. It is simply impossible to describe the devastation of the trees.

The big coconut palms at the school were snapped off about eight feet above the ground as though chopped with an axe. Out of nineteen we now have six and those are so nearly stripped of branches that it is doubtful if they will live. The pine hedge escaped and the vines, although stripped even of bark, they say will grow again. No coconut trees however, for it takes more than one person's lifetime to grow one of these. The men, three of them, worked at the school for two whole days just clearing away the debris of trees and boards and rubbish, and now we are stripped like a picked chicken. No more shade until four or five years from now when perhaps rubber trees can be grown to give some.

The sea wall was entirely gone, with it some twenty feet of the land, and in the school itself two feet of sea water had stood where the bay came in. However, the buildings stood—we all think because the trees took the force of the wind—and although the roofs were stripped of paper and though the deep overhangs were partly blown off, letting in oceans of water, I have nothing to say because other people suffered so much more.

By the way, the carpenter did get my telegram and had temporary repairs done on the roofs by the time we got here Monday morning. (Ours was a fast train.) Both roofs eventually will have to be entirely rebuilt—miles of screening has to be replaced, awnings worth $150.00 have been ordered, many windows are entirely gone, and the upstairs balcony was smashed to bits. It sounds like a good deal, but when you see houses with whole sides peeled off or roof entirely smashed in, it seems like very little.

The biggest loss at the school is in the trees—it was one of the most beautiful places in Miami—and in the books, many of which were ruined from standing in the water for days. There was no one to open up the place and dry it out. I have had a colored woman there this week and on one floor we have removed the seaweed and oil, and clay, and then scrubbed until two rooms are ready for school. The rest of the buildings are not so bad.

Miss McConkey's house stood the wind well, but the windows were blown out and the paper off the roof, so that everything was drenched and soaked in water. The neighbors did not get in until Wednesday to try to dry out and by that time most of the furniture was badly damaged, some of it so that it can never be brought back. It's a sad, sad mess everywhere still, plaster is falling, the floors are ruined, curtains and draperies are utterly gone, 21 panes of glass are still out, yet they try not to say much because things are still here and the house stands.

The steel sky scrapers and hotels stood well. Miami is wonderful, the way it is getting cleaned up. On some of the outside roads you wonder how they ever did get rid of the fallen trees to make a way through. There are so many more trees here than in the north that it makes indescribable confusion when they go down or smash off as they did everywhere in this storm.

The city has 500 trucks at work clearing away rubbish. I wish I could give you a picture of the way the boats were brought up into the streets. Huge barges up on banks half a mile now from the water, yachts, motor boats, and even one five-masted schooner high and dry on the land. They are now all out of the streets and will be in the water, I suppose, before long, but now you wonder how they ever got between the houses without knocking them down.

People are working day and night to get cleared up and repaired, and the city ready for winter people. It is wonderful what they are doing. But if you read in the papers that it was exaggerated, don't believe it. Nothing can picture the terrible destruction and the great suffering by people who have lost everything. I don't suppose the school can be repaired for less than $2,000.00, and the damage there is very slight in comparison with buildings that are utterly gone.

Life goes on much the same as ever. There is no shortage of food, stores run as usual, many of them with chicken wire in place of glass, buses and trolley cars and automobiles fill the streets. The only thing we haven't is electricity and they are getting out this way with that now.

School is to open October 25th, and we are bending every energy to get ready. The carpenters are supposed to go to work on it tomorrow. (The foreman had his roof taken completely off and he had to fix that before he could settle down at the school.) I keep the colored woman busy there and dry and dry and dry papers, books, boxes, everything.

Just at present we have a mountain of sea-weed, black with oil, ship's timbers, furniture, and even a boat deck, heaped up on the land left nearest the sea-wall. The city has been clearing the bay of all the rubbish—the oil came from 400,000 gallons which was dumped into the bay to save a ship from sinking. Now we have to have the stuff there

NOW DRIVE THE CAR!

Only those who have driven a Dodge Brothers Special Sedan—or any Dodge Brothers car BUILT RECENTLY—can fully appreciate all that Dodge Brothers have accomplished during the past few months.

So swiftly has improvement followed improvement, that today the car, to all intents and purposes, is a different and incomparably finer vehicle.

The announcement of smart new body lines and attractive color combinations first attracted general favor. But since then, improvements even more fundamental have been accomplished mechanically.

Drive the car NOW! Observe its impressive new silence, smoothness and elasticity of performance, and you will then begin to realize just how vital and varied these and other later improvements actually are.

Girl Scout Week

Next week is Girl Scout week everywhere. In Belchertown it will be ushered in by a rally at Memorial hall tonight at 7.30 when Miss Ida M. Smith of Springfield will be present and award merit badges and other honors. She will also invest several tenderfoot scouts and three second class scouts.

The program will include a first-aid demonstration by troop 1 and a short pageant, "Every Girl," by troop 2. There will also be several games conducted by Miss Smith.

The public is cordially invited to attend the rally (there is no admission fee) and it is hoped that a large number will show by their presence their interest in what the girls are doing.

Sunday will be observed as Girl Scout Sunday. By invitation of Rev. D. L. Hilliard, the Scouts and council members will attend the Congregational church in a body. Members of the council and of both troops are asked to meet at the chapel at 10.30 Sunday morning.

A special day next week will be observed as Mother's day when each Scout will prepare a meal in her own home, or do some special task to lighten her mother's work.

"Cookie" day will be of wide interest, for on that day, Thursday, Girl Scout cookies will be sold. Headquarters will be maintained at the entrance to the store formerly occupied by D. D. Hazen. The proceeds will be divided equally among the treasuries of troop 1, troop 2 and

Meeting of Girl Scout Leaders

In October, 1919, the first Girl Scout troop in Belchertown was organized. Just seven years later the Western Division Massachusetts Council of Girl Scouts met in Belchertown for the first time. About 60 gathered at the home of Mrs. G. E. McPherson Tuesday afternoon, the first time that the meeting has ever been held so far from Springfield.

Miss Clara H. Phillips, commissioner, presided. Reports of Girl Scout activities were given by council members from Easthampton, Chicopee, Holyoke, Northampton, Springfield, Westfield and from a number of smaller places. Miss Ida M. Smith, director of the Western Division, reported that Scouting was being carried on in 33 cities and towns in this vicinity, all but five of whom were represented at Camp Bonnie Brae this summer.

The program consisted of an interesting paper by Mrs. Mariner of Easthampton on the gathering of Scout leaders from all over the world at Camp Edith Macy, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., last spring. Mrs. Mariner was one of three who represented western Massachusetts at the camp. A rollicking sketch of the "Trouble Family", with a moral, closed the program.

Refreshments were served the guests who seemed very appreciative of the hospitality extended them by the local council and were most cordial in their comments on the view from Mrs. McPherson's home and the perfect autumn beauty of the day.

The next meeting will be held December 14 in Springfield.

Presents Near East Work

Rev. John Theodore of Boston presented the work of the Near East Relief at the morning service of the M. E. church last Sunday, and also gave a talk to the children of the Sunday school. He spoke with feeling of the sufferings of his own race and said that no part of the Christian world had been the victim of such unspeakable inhumanity as the Christians of Asia Minor. Driven from their homes, (only three or four thousand remain in Tarsus where once there were a half million) al-

Exhibit at State School

The first exhibit of the Belchertown State school was staged in the assembly hall of the institution Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening. On fifteen tables and on the spacious stage were displayed in a most attractive manner school and industrial work, representing the day-by-day activities of some two-thirds of the 750 pupils of the institution.

The stage was given over entirely to farm produce. At the sides and rear were shocks of corn, evergreen trees, and autumn leaves, making an appropriate setting for the baskets of vegetables, the immense array of canned meat, vegetables and fruit, both in tin and glass, while along the front of the stage red and green peppers placed on a layer of sand spelled the words, "From Farm to Can." A cider press with the hopper crammed with apples was also on the stage, while a long line of celery was just beneath the footlights.

At the left of this scene on a large sheet of paper was a tabulated list of 32 kinds of products grown on the farm that have been harvested to date. Some of the larger figures in this list were: Potatoes 175,245 lbs.; ensilage corn, 250 tons; apples, 13,608 lbs. At the right of the stage was a similar bulletin showing the products canned at the institution. Of the 33 different products listed, 30 were raised or grown at the State school. The biggest items on this list were tomatoes 10,156 qts., and spinach (salted) 14,082 qts. The school has a sealing machine with which to put up products in tin.

The exhibits on the various tables in the hall were very interesting. The work of the sense training classes with a mental age from two years, two months, to four years, eight months, first attracted attention. Work in this department had to do with the simple arranging of different colored beads and pegs, the braiding of different colored material and the coloring of outlines on paper.

On the next table was shown the work of the kindergarten department and that of the first grade. Here were paper ships on a sea of blue paper. Simple examples in arithmetic formed the display of first grade work.

The fourth and fifth grades had compositions on letter-size sheets and beside them portfolio covers with colored borders and the initials of the owners in the center of the folder. There was also on display on the walls, arithmetic papers, composition papers, crayon drawings, etc., all set off with apples, pump-lowed to die on the way, as "tons of skeletons" testify, thousands of them massacred, all this, and the war with its resultant horrors, from which "hundreds of thousands of people now suffer," was part of the picture he painted of a people that today know no country.

The speaker said that 250,000 of the Armenians volunteered for service in the war, and in view of this contribution were promised freedom by the allies at the close of the war. They were also told that ammunition and a supporting army from Bagdad would be forth coming, but by reason of the reverses at the Dardanelles and the revolution in Russia neither of the two latter promises were fulfilled. Neither were they granted freedom, for although the Turkish power was crushed by the British and every opportunity afforded for the granting of freedom from Turkish rule to the Armenians, the Turk was allowed to come back. Not only this, but not even was protection given this unfortunate people.

The speaker said that at both Paris and Lausanne, more interest was evident in mines, oil, railroads and concessions than in the just claims of this oppressed nation. Since the war the Turks have kept up the slaughter of the Armenians because the allies did not hold together.

When Dr. James L. Barton headed a commission to investigate the conditions in the Near East, he found that there were 400,000 children whose parents or relatives had either been killed or driven away. In one year 160,000 perished. Children craved even dishwater at the soup kitchens.

Mr. Theodore paid great tribute to the Washington government for sending the Red Cross to the rescue, and when it was found that that interfered with the Crescent, organizing the Near East Relief by a special act of Congress. Ninety million dollars has been contributed by the people of this country, and if commodities were added, the total would reach 100 million. In consequence 1,600,000 men, women and children have been saved.

Mr. Theodore said that this country had sent as relief workers splendid specimens of American manhood and womanhood, who served at nominal wages and at the risk of their lives. Three were killed and 23 died from disease.

He told of the motherly care given children at the Near East orphanages and visualized the life story of 35,000 who still remain to be cared for two or three years more, by giving the sad history of one of them.

The children learn to be self-supporting at these institutions, 40 different occupations being taught, so that at 15 or 16 they are able to shift for themselves. Those in charge make an effort to imbue them with American ideals and Christian principles—not denominationalism, but the spirit of Christ.

The children appreciate what this country has done, for Mr. Theodore said that they call America their home, although they are 5,000 miles away.

The offering taken at the close of the service amounted to $41.00.

Unseen Sources of Long Life

The basic sources of automobile value are not always apparent to the eye.

A motor car, like a house, may LOOK a great deal more substantial than it really is.

Because of this difficulty, more and more thousands are turning to Dodge Brothers product for insurance against disappointment.

The years have proved, and each year proves anew, that Dodge Brothers are as deeply concerned with the UNSEEN goodness of their motor car as with the seen.

The mileage it will deliver, the safety it will provide, the expense and trouble it will save the owner over a period of years, are quite as important to Dodge Brothers as the more obvious details of equipment and style.

kins and black cats cut out of paper and colored.

As one went higher in the mental age (although 10 was the highest noticed) more intricate work was in evidence. The drawn-in rugs made from designs drawn free hand, the braided rugs, the crocheted and cross-stitched and wagon-wheel rugs, the knitted sweaters and caps, the elaborate and intricate patterns of embroidery, crocheting and tatting, all exquisitely done, brought forth exclamations of surprise from the visitors. Four sweaters made by a blind boy of the school called forth considerable comment. Socks made by a knitting machine were shown.

Much of the embroidery work was done on hand woven cloth made by the boys. A large roll of this cloth, wonderfully smooth weaving, was on display. Yards and yards of it, it seems, are used as toweling in the various buildings.

The boys' handicraft exhibit was an interesting spot. Besides the weaving, brooms and brushes were on exhibition, also samples of shoes they had tapped, showing how useful is the work done. In fact all the material shown in the exhibit is used at the school.

Not only was there quantity and quality at the exhibit, but it was uniquely presented. At one corner of the room was a maple tree, all fitted with sap spout and receptacle. Nearby in glass cans was syrup, a sample of the 208 quarts made at the school in 1926. An electric bulb at the rear set off the exhibit.

The opposite corner lured the gentler sex. Here was curtained off a room with its bed and bureau displaying covers beautifully decorated with embroidery and crocheted lace. The portiere to this room was of paper beads strung alternately with glass ones. The paper beads were

Besides features already mentioned were samples of dresses, shirts, overalls, etc., made in the sewing room, also a showing of hand laundry work.

At each of the tables and exhibits were attendants ready and anxious to explain to visitors the human interest element. In most cases those extending this courtesy were teachers and supervisors responsible for the degree of excellence attained by the pupils in their charge.

Dr. McPherson, superintendent of the State school, hopes to make the exhibit an annual affair. Each year sees the land at the institution giving greater yields in farm produce as the soil is treated scientifically and is more thoroughly fertilized, while inside with augmented equipment, more is being accomplished.

Paquette-Bernier Wedding

The wedding of Miss Constance Paquette and Louis Bernier, both of Lake Vale district, took place Tuesday morning at 9 at St. Francis's church, Rev. J. A. Dunphy, officiating. The best man was John Bernier, brother of the groom, and the bridemaid was Miss Avida Cartier. The ushers were Mr. Bernier, brother of the groom and Mr. Cartier, brother of the bridemaid. Mrs. Thomas Hanifin was organist and Mrs. Aubrey Lapolice sang.

The bride wore blue georgette with a blue hat, and the bridemaid wore canton crepe with a black hat. About 50 out-of-town guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Bernier left on a wedding trip to Vermont and Quebec and on their return will make their home in the Lake Vale district.

C. E. Halloween Party

An elaborate Halloween party was staged at the chapel by the Christian Endeavor society Wednesday evening, to which the Epworth League was invited. About 35 were present. Three ghosts kept the doors, while within, jack-o-lanterns put in relief corn shocks and the profuse Halloween decorations. Features of the evening were games, bobbing for apples, a trip through the attic, piloted by the ghosts, and eats in the chapel parlors of cider, doughnuts, and candy, to the music of a graphophone.

Girl Scout Rally

One looking down from the balcony of Memorial hall last Friday night at the Girl Scout rally could hardly fail to be impressed with the quality of citizenship developing among these forward-looking girls of the community. Not only were the Scout laws displayed on the sides of the hall, but there was ample evidence on the faces of the twenty-odd youth associated with this movement that they were making progress in enshrining them in practise.

It was an appealing sight, anyway, to see the girls go through so unassumingly and reverently their regular opening and closing exercises and render an attractive program in between. The free life of the camp suggestively depicted, the first-aid ability displayed by the members of Troop 1 in bandaging and stretcher-making and bearing, the proficiency in signalling, etc., were very entertaining to the audience of about 50, who wouldn't have minded at all if they were a bit younger.

A pageant, "Every Girl," by Troop 2, with its stress on worthwhile qualities, was a special contribution by that body to the evening's program. Scout Ruth Spencer also gave a recitation.

But there was evidence that the girls were not just good on display. They had a record of useful service behind them. Mrs. L. G. Warren, Scout Commissioner, gave the following report of some of the worthwhile things the girls have done

DURING THE YEAR

"Girl Scout work is teaching the girls not only to be patriotic but how to be helpful at home and in their community. Home nursing, canning, sewing, cooking and numerous other like activities are included in their schedule. During the year a course has been given here in home nursing, first aid and folk dancing. An exhibition of folk dancing was given in June at which $65 was realized. The girls have marched in the parade on Memorial Day and on Cattle Show day, collected and sold old papers, assisted in serving refreshments on July 4th, gave out baskets of fruit and flowers to shut-ins at Christmas, made dolls in the doll contest, which were later given to poor children.

"We have 12 members on the council, which has paid the expenses of one girl at Bonnie Brae for two weeks, sent two girls to Boston to the State Review, and two others to the Girls' Conference in Springfield. We feel that great credit is due our two captains and two lieutenants and to the girls themselves for their faithful work during the year."

Historical Association Meeting

The semi-annual meeting of the Belchertown Historical association Wednesday evening was one of the most worth-while meetings it has held. The subjects treated were diverse and many a speaker dropped a gem of philosophy that will linger in memory.

Extracts from the Hampshire Sentinel of 1827 were read by L. H. Blackmer, following which Mrs. L. G. Warren gave as a piano selection, "Long, Long Ago," on the instrument originally owned by Miss Jennie Cowles. The music book used was one belonging to Mrs. Clara Dwight Adams Duncan, and used by her when she lived at the Stone House.

President J. W. Jackson entertained the company with an "inside view" of the feelings of a true sportsman. "Not all the pleasure is in the kill," he said. "If that was all, I wouldn't follow it. There are so many branches of natural history that interest me, that taunts of poor luck by fellow sportsmen don't bother me." Mr. Jackson proceeded to tell how he "shoots" with camera and field glass as well as with a gun, and gets an equal thrill.

Of especial interest were the various unique specimens of wood Mr. Jackson has gathered on his trips through the woods. Incident to each there was an interesting story.

As far as real hunting was concerned, Mr. Jackson gave a close-up picture of fox hunting and in connection therewith paid considerable of a tribute to Str Reynard.

Mrs. Rosabelle Putnam read a paper depicting wild life at Orient Springs as she came in contact with it for three months last summer. She spoke of ferns and flowers there, as well as the sadder side of the picture—tin cans and rubbish that thoughtless visitors toss hither and yon.

The trip some Belcherites took to the Wayside Inn, August 28, was described in some detail by Miss Marian Bardwell, who not only told of the furnishings and arrangement of rooms at the Inn by the aid of original floor plan drawings done by her sister, Miss Lucy Bardwell, but gave illuminating glimpses into the history of towns passed through a long the way.

R. E. Bond briefly but interestingly described his trip to New Brunswick, mentioning in particular the thrill of seeing the tidal waves come in from St. John, 89.3 miles away, bringing to the minds of his hearers the latest project of harnessing this tremendous force by a series of dams and gates.

Going Forward

The successful man is the one who sets for himself a great objective and then uses all his faculties to gain it. When that goal is attained, he sets for himself another high objective. And so on. He is always going forward to something. It is remarkable what one can accomplish in a life time by continually attaining new objectives. One poor lad by so doing secured a university education, won for his wife the daughter of a most excellent family, worked out several large community projects for the good of the village he lived in, made a conspicuous success in business and is now working on a new objective for his town. History abounds with illustrations of such individuals. All the great movements in history have had some great objective.

All hail to the men and organizations who have set for themselves some noteworthy objective, like building up a reverence for law, creating a sober world, bringing the nations of the world together as one great family, eradicating race hatred and bringing in a warless world!

If we do not have an objective, we are already decaying. Physicians tell us that when a man gives up, he quickly breaks. People shrivel up in their minds and souls if they stop making objectives for themselves. We are literally kept alive by our enthusiasms for great enterprises.

If we do not have an objective, life becomes stale and gray and empty. Our joy is always found in going forward. Joyful people are not retreating. The man who sits down and folds his hands, accepts things as they are, and has no longings, cannot have even a good time.

The only way to keep alive and to be happy is to keep going forward.

MISS SMITH'S ADDRESS

Miss Ida M. Smith of Springfield, director western division, was guest of honor at the evening's exercises and distributed merit badges. Introductory to this happy duty, however, she gave a friendly talk on the progress of Scouting here and elsewhere, founding what she had to say on the query the wife made to her husband after he had indulged his hobby of riding on the merry-go-round: "You've paid your money and had your ride. Now where have you been?"

Miss Smith said that Belchertown Scouts had been somewhere; in fact, they had been a long ways, not only as indicated by the large number who had won badges by weeks and months of effort, but in their service to others. They could be depended upon.

Miss Smith traced the rapid growth of Scouting in this state, where in the spring there were 15,000 Scouts and 1,008 captains, as compared with 800 Scouts and 34 captains ten years ago. She told of the three large state camps, besides numerous others.

In the wider field of the country at large, mention was made of the National convention at St. Louis, which she attended; also a picture of the way camps are conducted in the west was presented. She also told of the week which she spent at the world camp in New York state, where representatives of 30 nations worked, played, and cooked together and enjoyed it. In her patrol were young ladies from several nations.

In conclusion Miss Smith said that the way we get somewhere is by each doing her share.

Then came the investment of three Tenderfoot Scouts, three Second Class Scouts and the presentation of merit badges—over 100 of them. These were not honorary bestowals; every badge was earned and represented painstaking effort. Miss Smith stressed the point that the girls had not only secured the knowledge, but were willing to use it.

Miss Edna Howard was presented with a first class badge, the first to be awarded in Belchertown.

After the distribution, Miss Smith supervised some games, following which were the closing exercises and a parting cheer to the guest of the evening.

The Girl Scouts and their leaders and members of the council sat in a body at the Congregational church last Sunday, it being Girl Scout Sunday. Rev. Dow L. The selectmen have received the report of the state auditors who were in town recently going over the books of town-officials. They made only two recommendations, viz., a different type of bond for the treasurer, and the bonding of the clerk, as required by Section 13, Chap. 41 of the Revised laws. The auditors found the books in order and appreciated the great courtesy extended them. A statement of the standing of the town, Sept. 15, is given in detail.

There were ten tables at the Mill-tary Whist party given by Union Grange Tuesday evening. The high scorers were Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Shumway, Mrs. Fred Lincoln and A. S. Brown. The low scorers were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glynn of Amherst. The high score was 95 and the low 37. Dancing was enjoyed afterward.

The concluding travel story of the evening was by W. M. Goodell, of Dwight, who responded to the assignment, "North, South, East, West, Home's Best." He verily believed it, and he has traveled extensively. No matter where you go, he said, there are drawbacks, either of poor water, sands or wind. He spoke of interesting spots in California, which he had visited, and recalled the days of '49 with intimate allusions. He also glimpsed life in Florida, although he was very partial in his feeling for the great state on the Pacific.

Mr. Goodell sensed the feeling of all present when he said that "the whole earth is a book. We can read it if we only know it." He wished for himself (and the others desired it equally as keenly), a broader knowledge in the realm of nature, that would turn rocks into friendly stones whose story he could read and would transform other things in like manner. The feeling was expressed, and with confidence, that Scouting is rendering a distinct contribution to this generation along this line.

"Auld Lang Syne," played by Mrs. Warren and sung by the members, concluded the evening's program.

Articles exhibited included an Indian bead belt and stone mortar from the Crow reservation, recently presented to the Historical association by R. Austin White, formerly a well-known resident of this town, now of Sauk Centre, Minn., also a spoon made in a mold which was brought from England by Gov. Winslow in 1636. This mold has always been in the Winslow family. The spoon was made by W. B. Eddy of Ware and by him presented to the Belchertown Historical association.

After the Gypsy Moth

Pests in Belchertown are certainly being given a run for their money. Blister rust men were trailing the town all last summer, and now for the past month the Federal gypsy moth detail has been out for nests. It was expected last year that no Federal work would be done here this year, but it seems that this town is too good a place, by reason of its location and open country, as a training ground for workers, not to pay us their annual visit.

The heavily infested gypsy moth area is confined to New England, and the federal authorities are battling at the "western front" which extends almost in a vertical line at a point around Westfield, and are gaining from one to three towns eastward each year. So Belchertown is not yet on the firing line, but it is certainly profiting by the work being done by those in training.

W. G. Harding, who has conducted the detail here for the last three years, reports that the colonies are small and scattered, and further says that we are the least infested town for miles around. So far, work has been going on at the south part of the town, so that with winter weather closing down, the work will be reared the center. Probably the men will be here two months more, when the town will have been covered. There are, on the average, about twenty men here all the time.

Not only does the town profit in getting the egg clusters cleaned up, but a sizeable portion of the pay roll is left here at the boarding houses and stores. One week last season the pay roll amounted to about $800.

Mr. Harding supervises the arrangements for the housing of the help and the carrying on of the work. He has built up a wide acquaintance here, and as to the roads, he would be perfectly able to pilot the natives home any dark night.

State Election

The state election comes next Tuesday. Polls will be open from 12 to 5 p. m. Whether one is a Republican or Democrat or what not, it is a safe and sane policy, to say nothing of a duty, for all, both men and women, to record their preferences, so that the wishes of the majority may prevail. We print below the names of the candidates of the two leading parties, where there are contests, also a summary of the two questions on the ballot.

Governor: Fuller, Rep.; Gaston, Dem.

Lieutenant Governor: Allen, Rep.; Talbot, Dem.

Secretary: Cook, Rep.; Cavanaugh, Dem.

Treasurer: Youngman, Rep.; England, Dem.

Auditor: Cook, Rep.; Claggett, Dem.

Attorney General: Reading, Rep.; Swift, Dem.

Senator in Congress: Butler, Rep.; Walsh, Dem.

Congressman: Foss, Rep.; Casey, Dem.

Senator, Franklin and Hampshire District: Pond, Rep.; Croft, Dem.

Representative in General Court: Provost, Rep.; Sawyer, Dem.

District Attorney: Fairhurst, Rep.; McLaughlin, Dem.

Substance of Question 1:

Shall the General Court be authorized to establish in any corporate town containing more than 6,000 inhabitants a form of town government?

Substance of Question 2:

Shall preference for veterans in the civil service be lessened?

H. C. Dodge sustained two cuts on the head and a hemorrhage of the right ear last week Thursday afternoon as the result of being run into by a car driven by a Boston party, as he stepped from his wagon near the home of his brother, A. E. Dodge, where he was taken and remained confined to his bed until Sunday when he went to his own home.

H. B. Ketchen's garage was broken into early Friday morning and goods, mostly tires and tubes, valued at $400 were taken. Entrance was gained by breaking the lock on one of the doors. There seems to be no hope of recovering the property.

Supper and Sale

The Social Guild held its annual supper and sale in the chapel Wednesday afternoon and evening. The supper was served at 6.30, while the sale began at 5. Instead of the usual custom of trimming the separate booths, the ladies this year festooned the audience room with crepe paper of green and gold, which created a very dainty effect. The same colors were used on the walls and over the electric light globes in the dining room.

Not only did the ladies do the aerial work necessary to the festooning, etc., but their hands fashioned the large assortment of aprons, fancy work, etc., that was on sale at the tables. They also made several dollars worth of candy and pop corn balls, of which there was not a trace left.

The miscellaneous table was all that the name implied. Here one could obtain anything from the most delicate fancy work to prosaic turnips.

There was no bargain sale jam of buyers at the booths, but there was a steady stream of customers from 5 o'clock, on.

About 100 were served at the bean and salad supper at 6.30, where Social Guild traditions were again upheld. Bewitching pie pumpkins with sprays of red berries adorned the tables.

Following is a list of committees of the Guild. Mrs. Duncan, president, had the supper and sale in charge.

Miscellaneous: Mrs. D. C. Randall, Mrs. Nora Fuller, Mrs. Fred Lincoln, Mrs. Hattie Taylor.

Apron: Mrs. G. E. Scott, Mrs. E. W. Beach, Mrs. Frank Rhodes, Miss Marion Bartlett.

Candy: Mrs. Herbert Duncan, Miss Esther Jackson, Miss Irene M. Jackson, Mrs. Frank Gold, Mrs. J. Raymond Gould.

Dies in West Springfield

The body of Frank Joseph Morse, who died Oct. 27 at the home of his son, W. D. E. Morse, in West Springfield, was brought to town last Friday for burial in Mount Hope cemetery. Mr. Morse had been in ill health for a number of years, though his last illness was of only a few weeks' duration.

Mr. Morse was 84 years of age, having been born in Belchertown September 28, 1842, the son of Silas and Sarah (Sykes) Morse. He was a school teacher of ability, teaching in this town, both before and after his marriage. At one time he worked in a store in Worcester. In 1869 he married Miss Orinda Ellis of that city. She died a little over a year ago.

After his marriage, Mr. Morse managed a store in Natick, but shortly returned to town where he lived until about three years ago. The greater part of the last three years has been spent with his son, W. D. E. Morse of West Springfield.

He leaves three children, Cora Morse Percy of Saco, Me.; Walter D. E. Morse of West Springfield, and Eva Morse Oleson of Springfield. He is also survived by his brother, Ex-Senator M. A. Morse of this town.

The funeral was held last Friday at the home in West Springfield, Rev. W. H. Snape officiating. Burial was in Mount Hope cemetery.

Peeso-Miller Wedding

Miss Edith Ruthella Peeso, daughter of Edward R. Peeso, and Ralph Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Willimansett, were married at 10 Tuesday morning by Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby, at the parsonage. The single ring service was used. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Rho Pelland, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride wore jungle green satin crepe, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left in the afternoon for New York, and on their return will make their home in Willimansett, in the same house with Mr. and Mrs. Bunyan. Mr. Miller has a position with the Standard Oil company of that place. The bride has always lived in Belchertown and for the last three years has been telephone operator at the central office.

Dunbar-Bunyan Wedding

Miss Olive May Dunbar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dunbar of this town, and Albert Bunyan of Willimansett were married Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, in Willimansett. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis St. Germain. The bride's traveling gown was channel red satin crepe with hat to match. Her coat was blue velour trimmed with black fur.

The bride was an operator in the local telephone exchange and was active in the social affairs of the town. Mr. Bunyan is an ex-service man and for several years has been a foreman in the Dean Pump Works of Holyoke. He also is a member of the Elks and is affiliated with several other fraternal organizations.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and vicinity, the couple will make their home in Willimansett.

501 Votes Cast

501 votes out of a possible 738 were cast at the State election Tuesday afternoon. This means a percentage of 67.8, distributed as follows:

Precinct	Registered	Voted
Precinct A	349	223
Males	240	168
Females	86	64
Precinct B	63	46
Males	86	64
Females	63	46

738 501
As to the results, party lines held fairly tight. For representative, Roland D. Sawyer of Ware ran considerably ahead of the ticket, as did David I. Walsh in a lesser degree for senator. Five Belchertown citizens voted by mail.

Survival of the Fittest

Evolution teaches us that the fittest survive. From the beginning all forms of organisms have had to fight to exist. Nature sends her storms and winds, her intense heat and frigid cold, and the weaklings perish. The animals have to fight for their existence. Each animal has its own enemies seeking its life. This is why certain species of animals which once roamed the earth are now extinct. It is not different with man.
The weak races gradually die out in the presence of the strong races. So the American Indian is fast decreas-ing. Sickness, disease, and weakness take away the feeble. The fittest survive. The terrible thing about this is that it is true.

And our own experience teaches us that life is continually a struggle.
The school eleven battles with an opposing team, the debater battles with his fellow debaters. And again the fittest survive.

Business is continually a struggle.
The plain facts are that a storekeeper does all within his power that his conscience will permit him, to succeed, even though a competitor has to go to the wall. A desirable position becomes available. A dozen men are struggling to get it. Politics is always a struggle.

All of us find life a struggle, a struggle with poverty or disease, a struggle with our enemies, and above all a struggle with our own lower natures.

A struggle is good for us. It toughens us. It keeps us from getting flabby. It makes us stronger and better and nobler. No one ever amounts to much who knows nothing of struggle.

Let us put up a clean fight, an honorable fight and a hard fight. He who would keep alive must overcome.
—R.

Mr. Editor:

Should children of abnormal minds be allowed to attend our public schools, or should they be placed in schools that are designed to nourish and build up the undeveloped and weak places in their little minds? We have been surfeited with pleas for leniency in murder trials during the year past because of abnormal minds in childhood. I ask this question because of a crime recently committed by a scholar in one of Belchertown's schools.

A boy came into my store and asked for a watch. While examining one he said, "The bus is going; I'll come again," and hurried away. He came again and selected a watch and said, "I'll bring the money tomorrow and get it." He appeared the next day and said he wanted a smaller one. I showed him a smaller watch.
He took the watch in his hand and said, "Some one is waiting for me outside and I would like to show it to her," and went out, and, I am sorry to say, has not returned.

B. H. S. Halloween Party

A Halloween party of pretentious proportions was given by the Sophomore class of B. H. S. at Memorial hall last Thursday evening. The pupils came masked as did Principal Allen, the ticket taker, and others of the faculty. The hall was profusely trimmed with autumn leaves and Halloween decorations.

The grand march was first on the program. Then came presentations by the various classes. The Senior number was a reading, "Little Or-phant Annie," by Miss Ruth Shuttleworth, then there was an electric shock stunt in the laboratory where Mr. Cox, the ghost, had a gripping touch; the Sophomores gave a pantomime, "The King's Breakfast," with Miss Goodnow as reader and Miss Hagstrom pianist, while the Freshmen gave a play, "The Ghost Story."

A side show was fortune telling by the witch, Miss Roberta Lisk.
Refreshments consisted of cake,
sandwiches and cider.

The plan was to don again the masks which had been discarded for the regular dancing, for a grand march at the close, but the crowd began to dwindle owing to initiation stunts being staged on the common by students from Amherst. (Shades of the past! Our fathers would not even have allowed Amherst the colleges, if they had had any idea that the village green would be the scene of such pranks in later years.)

A committee of three from the Sophomore class awarded prizes for costuming as follows: 1st, Miss Ruth Shuttleworth; 2nd, Bartlett Green;
3rd, Agnes Lego; consolation, Miss Higgins.

Grange Notes

Hadley and Prescott granges neighbored with Union grange last Tuesday evening and furnished a most interesting entertainment. The contribution of Golden Rule grange of Prescott was as follows: Reading,
Mrs. Fred Chamberlain; violin duet,
Miss Alice Bolter and Miss Ruth Wendemuth; pantomime, "What Happens to Some Men."

Hadley grange presented a solo, a reading, and a short play in charge of Mrs. Clifton Johnson. This last was a unique feature. People were called from the audience to represent trees, benches, foot lights, etc., as well as to take the part of the various characters. Charles Sanford made a very workable pump, Leon Williams a fine family cat, C. R. Green a gobbling turkey, Henry Witt a stately tree, Mrs. Witt a full moon, Charles Austin, one side of a spooning bench, etc., etc. It was remarkable how the amateurs fitted into the impromptu parts.

Union grange neighbored with Ludlow grange Monday night, a delegation of 20 going from this town. Sixteen attended the Pomona meeting in Amherst yesterday.

Union grange will hold another card party Tuesday evening, the committee in charge being Miss Gertrude Riley, Fred Lincoln and Edwin Shumway.

Badly Injured in Accident

Mrs. Mable Stebbins and Mrs.
George Davis are badly injured as a result of an automobile accident Monday night about 6.30. Coming home from Springfield in their new Buick sedan driven by Ralph Bruce, they saw at Bear Curve, opposite Clarence Boyce's residence, a Moon car approaching, wobbling from one side of the road to the other. Although Mr. Bruce drove to the extreme right of the road, the car was sideswiped, although not overturned.

Mrs. Stebbins and Mrs. Davis were badly cut and bruised, Mrs.
Stebbins suffering the more injury of the two. Both are at their home on North Main street and are attended by a nurse. The men in the other car were in an intoxicated condition. They were badly cut and were taken to the Ludlow hospital.
Their car was completely demolished. The Stebbins car was taken away by a wrecker, although it stood the shock well.

Prize Speaking Contest

The silver medal prize speaking contest conducted by the Y. P. B. & L. T. L., was held in the Methodist church last Sunday evening at 7.
Bartlett Green, president, presided.
The devotional service was led by Rev. Cato Dick. Following is a list of the recitations given:

"The Message of a White Ribbon," Miss Minnie Squires

"It Couldn't Be Done,"
George Roode

"The Burglar,"
Miss Montiel Roode

"Why the Beer Went Back,"

Miss Esther Squires
Francis Quinn

The judges, consisting of Dr. E.
G. Rowland and Miss Wood of the State school and Mrs. Stevens of Enfield, awarded first prize to Miss Esther Squires and honorable mention to Miss Montiel Roode.

While the judges were deciding,
Miss Dorothy Blackmer repeated the recitation she gave at the contest in Easthampton.

At the close of the service Bartlett
Green, in a most original manner, gave a review of the work for the year of the young people's organizations, calling attention among other things to the pasting of post cards, the making of Sunshine bags,

At the close of the prayer meeting at the M. E. church last evening, the pastor, Rev. Cato Dick, was the surprised recipient of a combined birthday and donation party. Farm produce, canned goods, a chicken ready for the oven, and numerous packages, with a birthday cake at the center of all, testified to the loyalty of the parishioners to pastor and wife.

Issuing School Manuals

Supt. of Schools Herman C. Knight is issuing this week an edition of school manuals which contains the names of the school committee, their term of office, the officers of the board, time of meeting, school superintendent and office hours, together with a list of the teaching staff, name of the school and grades taught. Names of janitors, attendance officer, school nurse, school physician are also given.

On the back is the school calendar, with a list of holidays, the legal ones with no school session being so designated.

The manual is a pocket folder of four pages and is intended for distribution to the teachers, out-of-town officials desiring this information, and to the various families in town having children in school. It is hoped to make the issuing of this little directory an annual event.

Closing Out Business

Caswell and Wilder, who have operated the Beauty Shoppe since the middle of May, 1925, first on North Main street and then at their present location, are closing out their stock this week, preparatory to discontinuing their business. Mrs. Caswell will return to Leominster to assist in carrying on the main store which the same partnership has conducted for some time in that city.

W. C. T. U. Activities

Mrs. William R. Roberts, county treasurer of the W. C. T. U., spoke at the meeting of the local organization Tuesday afternoon, giving a report of the state convention held in Melrose.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President Mrs. Etta Randolph
1st Vice Pres. Mrs. J. V. Cook
2nd Vice Pres. Miss Edith Towne
Secretary Mrs. George Hussey
Treasurer Mrs. Thomas Allen

The W. C. T. U. will hold a food sale in the Domestic Science room of B. H. S. next Friday afternoon from 3 to 5, the proceeds to go to defray the expenses of a representative from the Young People's Branch to the School of Methods to be held in Boston November 20.

Next Friday the W. C. T. U. will bring together fruit, canned goods and evergreen which will be packed and sent to headquarters in Boston, where the state flower committee will make the contributions into boxes and send them to hospitals for Thanksgiving.

Return from Florida

Emory Thibodeau, Leodore Coure and Patrick Menard returned Wednesday morning from Florida where they went October 20. They came back sooner than they expected and report that there is a trend northward on the part of many, due to a lack of work. The party report a fine automobile trip. They went via the Capitol highway and the Woodpecker highway from Augusta, and on their return came via the Cottonbelt highway. They made the trip down in six days, and returned in seven.

Vernon Lodge Officers

At the annual meeting of Vernon Lodge, F. and A. M., Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:

Winfred F. Forward W. M.
William E. Bridgman S. W.
Everett A. Geer J. W.
Earl M. Ingham Treasurer
William E. Shaw Secretary
Eli W. Beach Trustee for 3 years
F. Dudley Walker, Proxy to Grand Lodge and associate member of Board of Masonic Relief

This is the first time in years that the name of H. A. Hopkins has not appeared in the list of officers. For 27 consecutive years Mr. Hopkins has served as secretary, taking the office at the time of his joining. Only ill health prevents him from holding the office further.

Attending National Grange Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Green and Charles Sanford, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore and Mrs. A. H. Cole of Ludlow left yesterday morning by motor for Portland, Me., to attend the National Grange convention. Mr. Sanford, Master of Union grange, and others of the party will take the National degree today.

Enjoy Coon Supper

The Pautaupaug Hunting club enjoyed a coon supper at Hubbard's cottage at Lake Arcadia Saturday night. The two coons were furnished by Harold Kimball, as usual. About 20 were present, including wives of the members.

L. S. U. Supper

The Ladies' Social Union will serve a New England boiled dinner in the vestry next Wednesday evening at 6.30. Corned beef, cabbage and vegetables, squash and pumpkin pie, rolls and coffee are on the menu. The price is 35 cents.

An "Inside" Job

A New Yorker, whose summer home is not far from the Belchertown hilltop, spent a week-end here recently and had occasion to drive to Amherst. All the ten miles going and coming, he had trouble with his horn. The blamed thing wouldn't work right. At home again, he began tinkering with the pesky horn, when out jumped a full-grown rat! Further investigation revealed torn bits of paper around the engine. Pretty good choice of winter quarters! But we wonder what the poor animal thought of his 20-mile ride. Unexpected, to say the least.

One of the forbears in this family, who lived on these same ancestral acres, was something of an inventor, so we are told, and really practical in his ideas. It might look as though a new device was being thrust upon today's representative of this old family.

Town Items

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodell have rented the tenement soon to be vacated by Caswell and Wilder.

An automobile collision occurred Saturday afternoon on Maple street, when George M. Kelley, coming up the hill behind another car, started to cross the street into his own yard, and a Ford truck driven by a Springfield party came down the hill and crashed into his runabout. No harm was done except to the cars, the radiator of Mr. Kelley's Overland being crushed, while a wheel on the Ford truck was smashed and the mud guard bent.

The Social Guild will meet in the chapel next Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. A large attendance is desired as there are two quilts to tie.

Don't forget the old-fashioned dance in Memorial hall tonight. This is the second dance of a series to be given every other Friday. Those present at the first dance two weeks ago state that they had a very good time and the committee in charge trusts that all those who have received invitations will not hesitate to invite their friends to come. Mr. Connelly will be on the job with the same orchestra.

Mrs. Mable Stebbins and Mrs. George Davis are slowing recovering from the injuries they received in their automobile accident. Mrs. Davis has begun to sit up, but Mrs. Stebbins is still confined to her bed.

The trustees of the Congregational church met Monday evening and made plans for the annual meeting and roll call. This will be held December 1, and will be preceded by a supper. The trustees plan to redecorate the interior of the church next year. The annual offering will go for this purpose.

Mrs. W. D. Randolph has been designated by the school committee to take the school census. She has practically completed the work.

Mrs. Doris Squires returned home Sunday after spending a few days with relatives in Worcester.

Mrs. Edna Jackson and daughter, Louise, and Miss Esther Jackson spent the week-end in Athol.

Mrs. Marie Olds of Granby is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse.

The teachers and adult members of the Congregational Sunday school met at the parsonage Wednesday evening. Miss Irene M. Jackson and Miss Dorothy Blackmer gave reports of the Religious Education conference held in Amherst October 27. It was decided to subscribe to a religious education magazine and purchase a book giving stories of hymns for use in the opening exercises. Quaterlies for another year were also decided upon.

The Girl Scouts of troop 2 enjoyed a hike over the hills Saturday afternoon, with lunch out of doors. Eighteen were in the party, including the leaders.

Miss Margaret McPherson of Northfield Seminary spent the week-end with her parents in celebration of her sixteenth and her father's fiftieth birthday. Three friends, the Misses Jean Philips, Jane Voorhees and Aurelia Proctor, from the Seminary, were her guests.

Dr. F. C. Wilder has made arrangements with the school committee and superintendent, to examine the children of the public schools as to their dental requirements.

The flowers at the Congregational church on Sunday were contributed by Mrs. Dora Bardwell in memory of her husband, who for 23 years was deacon of the church. On the Sunday previous, Mrs. Duncan brought flowers in memory of her mother.

Turkey Hill Items

Mrs. Arthur North returned to her home in Winchester Thursday after spending the week with her brother, J. R. Newman, at the Orchards.

Although there are many who do not approve of the custom of pulling matches for horses, we are proud of the results of the contest at M. A. C., Amherst, October 30, when teams from many towns were tried on the dynamometer. The team taking first prize of $50 from the state and an added prize of $10 for the driver, was entered by M. E. Olds of Granby, a native of Turkey Hill, and driven by his son, Leslie Olds; and Jason Hurlburt's team, driven by Charles Cook, took second prize of $30 and two halters.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roach of Westfield announce the birth of a son, Clifton Leland, Jr., November 7, the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Roach of Hubbardton, Vt., and great grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Olds of Turkey Hill.

At Home After Six Years' Absence

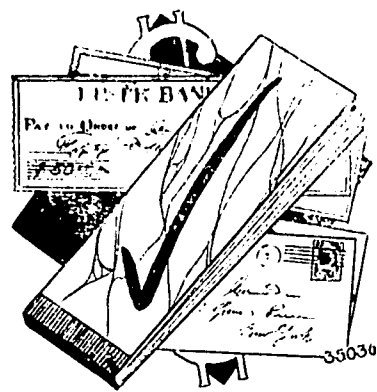

Fred Wood arrived at his home in town Tuesday, fresh from the Texas Panhandle, after an absence of over six years. When he was here last, he was in the service, but in May of this year he severed his connection

He was last stationed at Kelley field, San Antonio, Texas, where he was a mechanic on airplanes. Although he never became a pilot, he nevertheless has several hours' flying to his credit and knows what it is to sail the blue.

After completing his work for the government he went to Raton, New Mexico, where he became a ranchman, roaming over the country in true cowboy style, although not as wild as pictured in the movies. After a few weeks at this, he went to Borger, (60 miles from Amarilla) on the Texas Panhandle, where he worked in the oil fields as a mechanic, making steam connections, etc.

Mr. Wood expects to stay east for a while, but the lure of the great west with its fine climate, simple living and companionable folks is in his veins and no doubt will draw him hither at no distant date.

2400 Feet Instead of 1800 Feet of Road

Work begun late in August on the Three Rivers road has just been completed. Instead of 1800 feet of construction as called for in the contract, 2400 feet has been built with the $5500 available, $2500 of which was raised by the town, $2500 by the state, and $500 by the county.

This stretch of new road reaches from the Three Rivers line past the driveway of the Green place, and has a stone base 18 feet wide (in contrast with the Turkey Hill and Enfield roads with a width of 15 feet) and one foot in depth.

The contract for the road was signed by the selectmen, and E. A. Fuller, chairman, has been in personal charge of the work.

School Census Completed

Mrs. W. D. Randolph has completed the school census. The following figures are taken from her report:

Pupils from Greenwich	13
Pupils from Enfield	41
Pupils from town	487

Total 541

Mrs. Randolph reports a less number than usual this year (in June, 1925, there were 601) due to fewer state children, families moving away and the last of large families having been enrolled.

Red Cross Roll-Call On

The annual Red Cross drive for members began Monday, and while the plans are to make an every-house canvass before Thanksgiving, the last day for solicitation, plans may not wholly materialize, and so those who are not called upon are asked to send dues to Mrs. C. F. Aspengren, who has the matter in charge, or to her assistants, Miss Esther Hagstrom and Miss Dorothy Higgins. It would seem that with the publicity given the relief work in connection with the recent great disasters, an extended appeal for this organization would not be necessary.

Needless to say, the wooden hinges creaked, and the electrons in the andirons, crane and kettle became frantically vibrant and the chairs almost started for the door with the thought of their new debut in society, while the accoutrements of the great fireplace can hardly wait to become acquainted with the modern automatic oil-burning furnace and hear the gentle purr of the Rolls Royce.

Not only has the above antique material been saved to posterity by this man of means, but to its former owner, who was in straightened circumstances, the transaction has, from his own view point, at least, brought him a satisfying measure of financial independence.

Pays His Respects, Anyway

The town clerks of the 4th Hampshire district met at the office of Town Clerk George H. B. Green last Friday at noon to certify to the election of representative. Due to the recent redistricting, Granby is not now in this district, but the habit of attending these local gatherings of this district had become so fixed that Mr. Fastman, the Granby clerk, could not refrain from calling on Mr. Green shortly before noon and paying his respects.

Buys Town's Oldest House

Other property transactions have involved larger sums of money, but few are of greater interest than the purchase by Frank D. Fuller of the Alec Masse house on Great Hill. This is known as the Sam Ward house (five generations of Wards lived there) and is considered the oldest house in town.

This little, old, low-eaved structure, with its small window panes, hand-hewn beams and board partitions mahoganied with age, its fireplaces and stone hearths that could tell many tales, had almost lapsed into a state of coma from the monotony of the years, and had apparently turned its face away from civilization, (its back is toward the road) when the alert eye of the new owner grasped the antique value of the appointments of the old house and called them from their age-long setting to fit out two rooms on the upper floor of his modern mansion at the junction of South Main street and Mill Valley road.

Needless to say, the wooden hinges creaked, and the electrons in the andirons, crane and kettle became frantically vibrant and the chairs almost started for the door with the thought of their new debut in society, while the accoutrements of the great fireplace can hardly wait to become acquainted with the modern automatic oil-burning furnace and hear the gentle purr of the Rolls Royce.

Inspiration from the Past

There is inspiration in looking backward. By looking backward, it becomes possible for us to go forward. By drinking at the fountain of yesterday we receive strength for today and tomorrow.

What American is there who does not find inspiration for today's duties by letting the mind dwell on George Washington or Abraham Lincoln or some other great hero of American history? By thinking of what they were and what they did and how they endured, we are braced for the tasks we have to do. It is a good thing to set apart one day in the year to meditate on George Washington and another day to reflect on Abraham Lincoln. By thinking of them, we become braver and stronger.

The best of us have days when everything looks black. We do not seem to see one ray of light on the horizon. We see a bad man elected to office, or read about some rascal in the newspapers, or learn about some new lynching or some new strike or some new dishonesty. We hear about lawlessness and drinking and extravagance. We are defeated in our plans and thwarted in our endeavors. And everything looks black to us.

But it is quite possible that if we could lift up our eyes from the present which looks so black, and fix our gaze upon some hero in days that are gone and see how he wavered not in days even which were darker than these days, we would receive that enheartenment which would enable us to carry on till the sun came out again.

Three cottages at Lake Arcadia, two of them belonging to A. F. Bardwell and the other to George Hubbard of Springfield, and George Kelley's stand at Holland Glen Pavilion were all entered recently, it was discovered Monday. Mr. Bardwell lost some small tools, Mr. Hubbard a gun, clock and considerable clothing, and Mr. Kelley some small tools and canned milk. Entrance was made by forcing windows and locks.

Roderick Weston and son, George Weston figured in an auto accident at Ludlow at 1 a. m. on Sunday, when the truck they were driving, overturned, pinning the father beneath it. Help was secured and the older man extricated. Both were taken to the hospital but it was found that only minor injuries were sustained.

Accident at Underwood's Corner

A Jordan touring car containing workmen from the Roy Company of Holyoke, on their way home to that city, was badly damaged and two of the men hurt at Underwood's corner at about dusk Wednesday night. The party was obliged to turn out for a Hudson sedan travelling in the middle of the road, and in consequence struck a large rock a few feet from the edge of the highway, causing the crushing of the right side of the car. The two men who were injured were taken to the hospital, but were allowed to go home yesterday. The car was taken from the scene of the accident late yesterday afternoon. The Hudson sedan did not stop and the numbers were not taken.

It seems that more than half a dozen accidents and other near-such, have occurred at this point on the Holyoke road. The corner is a sharp one and the road is so crowned that it is hard to get back onto it, once one gets well outside. With the rock to obstruct such a movement, there is small chance of avoiding an accident. People who know the spot hope something will be done before a really serious accident happens there.

American Legion Notes

Seven reasons why every ex-service man should join the American Legion:

1. To perpetuate and honor the memory of the comrades who made the supreme sacrifice.
2. To carry on their ideals and aims.
3. To see that the disabled veterans get their just dues.
4. To strive through legislation and education to make future wars impossible.
5. To inculcate the spirit of Americanism in every boy and girl.
6. For comradeship.
7. Duty.

It makes no difference whether the ex-service man won the war or not, he should join the American Legion, not for the benefit he may derive, but for the good he can do others. There may be some ex-service men who, because they did not have a war record a yard long, feel sensitive about joining the legion. If there are such, now is the time to join to make up for what they didn't do.

Navy Recruiting News

In August orders were received to stop enlistments of young men 17 years of age, this being the first time in many years. The reason was that so many took the advantage of what the navy had to offer them, such as learning trades, travel and education that there were more applicants for enlistments than there were vacancies, so 17 year enlistment was stopped.

Dies in Holyoke

Michael McKillop, of Holyoke, who spent his boyhood days in Belchertown and who had been a frequent visitor here in these later years, died in Holyoke last Friday morning. From this town Mr. McKillop first went to South Hadley Falls, where he did teaming for a man by the name of Bardwell. Later he went into business in Holyoke from which he retired a few years ago.

Mr. McKillop leaves a son, Edward, two daughters, Cora and Alice, a brother, Henry McKillop of this town, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Reardon of Holyoke. The funeral was held at the home on Fairfield avenue on Monday. The bearers were nephews, Philip, Francis and James Reardon, and Michael, Walter, and Robert McKillop of this town. Honorary bearers were members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Burial was in Calvary cemetery.

Water Tax Coming

The tax bills of the Belchertown Water district will be issued December 1, Tax Collector D. F. Shumway having received the warrant last week Thursday. Interest from Dec. 15 will be charged on all bills unpaid after Jan. 1, 1927. The rate is $7.40 per $1,000, or 10 cents less than last year.

Because so many people have had the idea that the water district tax could be entered on the regular tax bill, and thus save the expense of extra bills, postage, collection, etc., Mr. Shumway has definitely ascertained from Mr. St. Martin, supervisor of taxation, that such a procedure would not be allowable, as the water district and the town are two distinct bodies.

Local Poultrymen Win High Places

Names of Belchertown poultrymen are always to be found in the poultry summaries printed in the Farmers' Monthly of Hampshire County.

In the last number, Harold Booth stands 4th highest in the state, in flocks of 1,000 or more, with a production of 163.1 per bird for an 11-month period. In flocks of 500 to 1,000, H. H. Witt is 5th with a production of 158.6. Fifth in the list of small flock owners is the name of Herbert F. Duncan, with a record of 177.0.

Annual Meeting and Roll Call

The annual meeting and roll call of the Congregational church will be held in the chapel next week Wednesday evening. Supper, in charge of the Social Guild, will be served at 6.30. The business meeting will be at 7.30. The matter of redecorating the interior of the church edifice will be considered at this time. All those who call the Congregational church their church home are cordially invited to be present on this occasion.

Visitors at Stone House

Those who have never been to the Stone House to see the collection of antiques, and probably many who have, do not realize the wide appeal the exhibit has. A perusal of names on the register of those who have visited the house this past season is rather revealing in this respect. Not only have they come from far and near, but in many cases quite noted people have thought it worth their while to see what the Historical association of Belchertown has to offer.

Among those who might thus be characterized are: Mrs. George Walter Vincent Smith, a name which is perpetuated in these parts by the munificent gifts to Springfield; Miss Eleanor A. Wade, curator of the Art Museum at Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Johnson of Johnson's Bookstore; Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Wright of Springfield, (this is the Mr. Wright who is a writer of some note); Miss S. E. Dwight, Miss Barbara Dwight and Elmer E. Dwight, all of New Hampton, N. H., and descendants of the original Dwight family of Belchertown.

Others no doubt equally interested have come from widely scattered places. Just to bring out this point, we list below some of the towns and cities that stand out as one turns the pages of the registration book: Bel- lows Falls, Vt.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Detroit, Mich.; Salem, Oregon; Keene, N. H.; Oberlin, Ohio; Eliot, Me.; Oswego, N. Y.; Hampton Falls, N. H.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Marion, Indiana; Montrose, N. Y.; Hartford, Ct.; Dayton, Ohio; Providence, R. I.; Putney, Vt.; Greenwich, Ct.; New York City; Baltimore, Md.; Atlanta, Ga.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Bellaire, L. I., N. Y.; Bangor, Me.; Bathurst, N. B., Canada; Ft. Dodge, Ia.; Oakland, Calif.; Honolulu, Hawaii.

49 Members Reported

Grange Notes

There were nine tables at the military whist party held Tuesday evening under the auspices of Union Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glynn of Amherst came through with the big score this time, their total being 93. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Shumway and A. S. Brown and Mrs. Fred Lincoln were the low scorers of the evening, 48 being the unlucky number. As at previous parties, refreshments and dancing completed the evening's festivities.

Members of the Grange are rehearsing for a minstrel show to be given in the not distant future. Watch for the date!

A Warless World

Men have always had a vision of a warless world. 2,600 years ago war was the favorite pastime of kings and countries. Kings won their honors by their victories in war. The more victories they could win, the greater their renown. Egypt was a military nation and so was Assyria and these were two of the great nations in that day. But in that day there arose a man who declared that the time would come when they would "beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks." He said this even though his own king, who was acknowledged to be good and great, was a great warrior.

That vision of a warless world has been kept alive in the world from that day to this.

And this in spite of the fact that war has been growing fiercer and more bloody and more barbaric and more cruel and more hellish. Each generation has devised new ways of killing men. The World war is conceded to have been the most horrible one of all, and yet the vision abides.

Isn't it wonderful, that we cannot run away from the idea; it pursues us, it haunts us; we still find ourselves saying, "The nations will sometime learn war no more."

Here is an indestructible idea planted in the heart of man. Even though we may not see the end of war in our own day, we can work with enthusiasm, knowing that such a dream will some day come true.

- A new five-bearing crankshaft (replacing the three-bearing type).
- A new two-unit starting and lighting system (replacing the single-unit type).
- Air cleaner of improved design.
- Spark and throttle levers placed above the wheel for greater convenience.
- Rumble seat for Sport Roadster.
- Stylish new body lines.
- Rich and attractive new colors.
- Improved all-steel body construction.
- Increased driving vision.
- Indirect dial lighting for De Luxe and Sport types.
- Far greater riding comfort.
- Impressive new smoothness and silence of engine operation.

Greater beauty, greater convenience and remarkable new silence and smoothness of engine operation have followed these vital betterments.

Fourth Quarterly Conference

Dr. L. A. Nies of Springfield conducted the Fourth Quarterly conference following the evening service last Sunday at which he was preacher. Miss Edith Towne reported for the Sunday School, Mrs. A. R. Ketchen for the Foreign Missionary Society, Mrs. Dick for the Junior League, Mrs. Conkey for the Ladies' Social Union. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. R. A. French, showed a balance of $76.

The pastor, Rev. Cato Dick, in his report gave a birds-eye view of the activities in all departments. He called attention to the good attendance at morning and evening services. The average attendance at the midweek service has been 17. The Junior League has a membership of 40 with an average attendance of 34. Average attendance at the Epworth League has been 12.

The pastor commented on the untiring work of the Ladies' Social Union which had cleared $100 on its sale, and $100 on calendars, as well as being the mainstay in serving the dinner on Fair day.

As to benevolences, the church had contributed to regular sources and also to the White Cross and the Near East.

Rev. Mr. Dick complimented others who had aided in the work, particularly mentioning the name of E. C. Witt, who has very generously served the church as janitor without pay.

The officers elected for the conference year of 1927-28 are as follows: Trustees: R. A. French, E. E. Gay, Frank Lincoln, W. E. Killmer, Henry Witt, Harold Peck.

Auditing Committee: Louis Lincoln.

Music Committee: E. E. Gay, Mrs. Collis, A. R. Ketchen.

Flower Committee: Mrs. Ella Hunt, Miss Lucy Bardwell.

Parsonage Committee: E. E. Gay, Roy Aldrich, Mrs. Conkey, Mrs.

Annual Meeting and Roll Call

The chapel at the Congregational church saw another annual meeting and roll call Wednesday evening. Reports of the several organizations showed that those responsible for their present welfare are keeping faith with those who have carried on in other days.

The tables were well filled for the meat and salad supper served by the Social Guild at 6.30. The repast over, the annual meeting followed in banquet style. Thomas Allen was moderator.

The clerk, Miss Marion E. Bartlett, reported a membership of 175, besides seven associate members. Nine have joined this past year (seven on confession and two by letter). There have been five deaths. The clerk also reported a legacy of $1500 from the Alice Montague Kendall estate, interest on $1,000 to go to the support of the gospel and $500 to be used for the upkeep of the parsonage.

The treasurer, Miss Ella A. Stebbins, reported on regular receipts and expenditures, as well as on benevolences, which amounted to $250.

Miss Dorothy Blackmer, secretary and treasurer of the Sunday School, reported a balance in the treasury and an average attendance of 65 during the year. Two delegates were sent to the Summer School of Religious Education at Northfield and a number of worthy objects have been contributed to.

Bridge Being Rebuilt

The bridge over Jabish on the Enfield road is being rebuilt. The abutments, which were disintegrating, are being repaired. About a third of one of them is being rebuilt. They are both being lengthened to permit of two more stringers, making the bridge four feet wider than it has been, thus permitting two cars to meet on the structure. Owing to little bridge work being needed this year the cost of this piece of work will mean no added assessment. It is expected that the work will be completed this week.

Win First Game

The Belchertown Independents won the first game of the season in the town hall, Wednesday evening, defeating the Orange All-Stars by a score of 22-14.

It was an all-town team that met the visitors, Piper, Lynch, Bridgman, Dodge and Fairchild, being in the line-up. Manager Parent states that there will be another game with a good team next Wednesday night.

Chamber of Commerce Week

English students at B. H. S. are busy writing essays on "What a Chamber of Commerce Means to the Community." Some of them will be sent today to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which is offering five prizes, totaling $200, to high school students in New England who send in the best manuscripts on this subject. They can also compete in the contest for adults where prizes total $800.

It has been a long time since Belchertown has had a Board of Trade, so the students will have to treat the matter theoretically. Only this week a prominent member of the old-time board called up and wished something might be done to revive the former organization. The way Boston is coming to the aid of Ware in its dilemma makes it evident that help would often be available if there was some definite organization to get in touch with. As it is now, each man for himself is quite largely the program.

Chamber of Commerce Week, coming next week, may put the question of the advisability of building again, before the citizens. Undoubtedly a Board of Trade in a community like this would be broader in its scope than in a city, but it is becoming increasingly evident that the more that business views matters in the large, the more fundamental will be its success. Perhaps some one in town will catch a vision of possibilities and be willing to lead off in making our business life more cooperative.

The old Board of Trade certainly did some worth while things. It helped to get the State School here, it was on the alert to get new roads, and it afforded a clearing house for community affairs.

South End Items

The Community League will conduct the semi-monthly dance at the State Road hall Saturday evening. Modern and square numbers are on the program. A good-sized, enthusiastic crowd was present two weeks ago. An invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. D. L. Hilliard, in charge of the Primary Sunday School, stated that five had graduated into the older school, leaving a membership of 35 at the present time. Mrs. H. F. Curtis reported that the Home Department has a constituency of 25.

Mrs. Dora Bardwell gave a review of what of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society had done during the past year. $62.00 was contributed to the Woman's Board.

Mrs. Thomas Allen stated that there had been five Social Guild suppers during the year, that there had been an average attendance of ten at the regular meetings, and mentioned gifts tendered by Mrs. M. D. S. Longley, previous to her departure. The Guild reported a sizeable bank balance.

Miss Esther Squires, secretary of the Christian Endeavor, mentioned the fact that two delegates had been sent to Northfield and a number of enterprises carried out. The report of Miss Maxine Fuller, treasurer, showed the financial returns of some of these.

After the reports, the matter of redecorating the interior of the church was presented by G. E. Scott of the trustees. The church voted that the trustees be instructed to investigate the cost, and if feasible, to proceed with raising the money and doing the work.

Officers for the ensuing year were then elected. This was followed by the roll call to which 95 responded, 12 of the number being in the form of letters from those out of town. There were many who remembered the church in a financial way.

Mrs. H. F. Curtis read from In Memoriam, wherein was recorded in a most fitting way the obituaries of Miss Elsie E. Shattuck, Enoch B.

Sanford, Wilbur F. Nichols, Dea. Addison H. Bartlett, and Mrs. Alice Shaw.

The concluding feature of the family gathering was the offering for the work of redecoration. This amounted to $111.56.

The committee in charge of the supper were Mrs. E. A. Randall, Mrs. E. A. Fuller, Mrs. W. A. Sauer, Miss Maggie Hales, Mrs. Louise Sherman, Mrs. G. E. Scott, Mrs. Carl Aspengren.

The officers elected at the meeting were:

Clerk, Miss Marion E. Bartlett. Treasurer, Miss Ella A. Stebbins. Auditor, Dr. Geo. E. McPherson. Trustees, Carl F. Aspengren, Edward A. Fuller, Edward A. Randall, A. R. Lewis, George E. Scott, Lewis H. Blackmer.

Pastoral committee, Rev. C. G. Burnham, Mrs. Louise Sherman. Nominating committee, J. V. Cook, Mrs. H. A. Hopkins, Mrs. Harold Ketchen.

Benevolence committee, Mrs. Dora Bardwell, Mrs. J. V. Cook, Mrs. Sarah Randall. Welcoming committee, Board of Deacons.

Neighborhood committee, Mrs. C. G. Burnham, Mrs. John D. Shuttleworth, Mrs. W. S. Piper, Mrs. L. H. Blackmer, Miss Irene M. Jackson, Mrs. W. A. Sauer.

Ushers, Lewis H. Blackmer, William E. Shaw, John D. Shuttleworth, Dr. F. C. Wilder.

Sunday School Officers—Superintendent, Miss Irene M. Jackson.

Asst. Superintendent, Mrs. H. F. Curtis.

Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Dorothy Blackmer.

Directors, Mrs. E. A. Randall, Mrs. W. E. Shaw, Mrs. H. F. Duncan. Superintendent Home Department, Mrs. Hattie Taylor.

Superintendent Cradle Roll, Mrs. D. P. Spencer.

Y. P. B. Contribution

The following is taken from the official organ of the Massachusetts state Y. P. B. It is one of the monthly letters of the state Y. P. B. president, Angelo Bertocci, who is in his last year in a law school in Boston.

Dear Y. P. B.s
It is the Christmas season and our hearts are full of the joy of life and of giving. We are thanking God for His Unspeakable Gift; we are giving each other in appreciation of Eternal Goodness. But few of us are aware that giving has a meaning more significant than we have ever realized at Yuletide.

It is one of the conditions of life that it be a giving. Loss and stagnation always follow retention; freedom and power always result from service. That which is valuable for us in life is that which we use; that which degenerates into nothingness is that which we hold for self.

We have a self which is a mighty reservoir of power. It is inexhaustible and is constantly being fed by clean, sweet waters from the eternal reservoir. By preventing an outward flow, are we to block the life of living current? Or shall we give drink to the thirsty from the well of enriched self and thus make possible not only a new influx of power for ourselves, but be able to see other lives renewed by what we have been ourselves unable to give out? The way in which we answer these questions will decide the fullness of our lives.

Can we not put this life-giving principle of our service into our Y. P. B. work? Only thus shall we be given fresh power; only thus will Y. P. B. become vital and significant! Yours for "giving,"

Angelo P. Bertocci

Town Items

Union grange will hold a military whist party next Wednesday evening. The committee is Miss Gertrude Riley and Miss Darca Dodge.

Mrs. Sarah Dunbar returned Sunday after spending Thanksgiving in Holyoke.

The Congregational Sunday School voted a Christmas contribution to the International college at Springfield. Edward Shuttleworth entered this institution last fall.

F. Brainerd Lyman, president of the Hampshire County C. E. Union, led the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening and spoke at length on projects that the movement-at-large is interested in. He mentioned particularly the Bible reading contest. George Pushee of North Amherst came with Mr. Lyman and spoke of the influence exerted by Endeavorers.

Miss Ida L. Shaw, who has been in town for some weeks, has gone to Pittsfield.

The Girl Scouts of troop 2 gave their captain, Miss Ella A. Stebbins, a surprise birthday party at the Scout rooms Monday evening, following the regular meeting. 21 sat down to a supper largely planned and carried out by the girls themselves under the supervision of the lieutenant, Miss Irene M. Jackson.

Mrs. E. A. Fuller and Mrs. Roy G. Shaw were called to Providence last Saturday by the death of their aunt, Mrs. Ella Johnson, who was Mrs. Emma Dillon's twin sister.

A. R. Lewis, who has been confined to his bed for more than two weeks, is improving.

The next meeting of the Amherst Local Union will be held with the society, here, Dec. 13.

The Metacomet Fox, Rod and Gun club will hold its regular meeting next Monday evening. At the annual meeting the following officers were chosen: President, William F. Kimball; vice president, Fred Croner; secretary, Thomas Allen; treasurer, Guy Allen; executive committee, J. W. Jackson, Guy Allen, R. G. Shaw.

Mrs. George E. McPherson entertained the Girl Scouts of Troop 1 and the Council members at her home Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. E. G. Rowland, who is lieutenant of the troop and also a member of the council. Scout Edna Howard, in behalf of the girls and their captain, presented Mrs. Rowland with a necklace in token of their appreciation of her interest in them and their work. The day was also the birthday of the commissioner, Mrs. L. G. Warren, as a birthday cake testified.

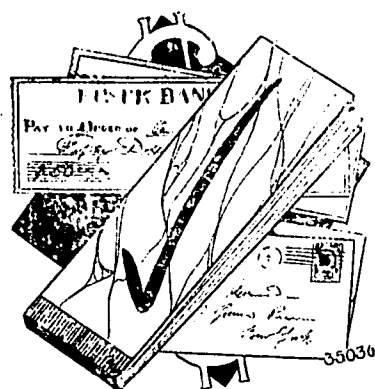

The Girl Scout council at its regular meeting Tuesday evening voted to pay at least a part of the state quota. In order to raise funds, it was voted to try to obtain orders for paper napkins and doilies, a special variety with an embossed initial.

A set of four sizes of doilies or a set of napkins costs $1.00 and makes a distinctive Christmas gift. Orders are being taken now to insure delivery in time for Christmas.

WANTED—Some one who has wood and is interested enough in Girl Scouts to give them a small load delivered at their Scout home on Cottage street.

FOR SALE—Large size Glenwood wood parlor stove in good condition.

Grange Poverty Party

About half of those present at the Grange Poverty party Tuesday evening were good sports and came "togged out" in greater or less degree, as was evident in the grand march which was the first number on the program. Attics had evidently been rummaged, and apparently only one article of a kind could be found. The judges, Mrs. D. P. Spencer, Mrs. H. F. Curtis and Mrs. L. H. Blackmer decreed that Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt in her quaint attire, deserved first prize among the ladies, and awarded Wilfred Noel, the man with the false nose and "poor farm" attire, first prize among the men. Awards were of the jim crack variety.

Following the march, games were played. Refreshments of coffee, doughnuts and apples were served. The committee in charge were: Mrs. F. L. Gold, Mrs. H. F. Duncan and Miss Dorothy Blackmer.

At the business meeting, Mrs. F. E. Austin was chosen secretary, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. E. G. Rowland. Mrs. Austin's place on the executive committee was filled by the election of E. F. Shumway for a term of

Several Secure Deer

Belchertown sportsmen have been out for deer this week and at least four of them have been successful. Peter Dubuque secured a fine doe, George Booth a 200 pound, eight point buck, John Fletcher a 175 pound trophy, and Wm. Bridgman a 135 pound doe. With each capture, there is probably a tale. Fletcher, no doubt, thinks meat is worth more delivered. Anyway he took no chances with fellow bipeds and tugged his burden home through the snow, a distance of three miles.

Bill Bridgman had tramped his legs off the first of the week and was going to rest up for the final days of the hunt, but couldn't resist going out when relatives called up that there was a hot trail. His cyclometer registered some nine miles, however, before he brought down his game.

Out of town people also secured trophies here. It is reported that Jucket Hill road has been turned into a veritable slaughter house, with trails of blood everywhere.

Double Header Next Week

Edward Parent, manager of the Belchertown Independents, was sorry to disappoint the crowd last Wednesday night by reason of the Sacred Heart team of Holyoke not showing up. The money was returned, however, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance at a big double header next week Thursday evening.

The Diamond Match Athletic Association team of Springfield will compete with the local aggregation at that time. Besides, there will be a preliminary game, in which the girls' team of the above organization, which won the New England championship last year, will play the girls' team of B. H. S., which is being coached by Miss Goodnow, the girls' physical director. The first game will begin at 8, and the price will be 50 cents for the two games—a bargain for the money.

Delivers Ambulance Today

Harold B. Ketchen of the Dodge Brothers agency will deliver to the Mary Lane hospital at Ware today an ambulance which is the gift to that institution of Charles D. Sherman of Greenwich and Hartford, who has given away cars in most generous fashion in this section. Country ministers have come in for a large share of his benefactions, but this time a worthy country hospital profits.

About six weeks ago, Dr. Segur, chief of staff at the hospital. Mr. Ketchen and Mr. Sherman had a consultation in regard to the matter, which resulted in an order being placed with Mr. Ketchen for a Graham Brothers panel body car, fitted out with extra equipment, so as to make it a well appointed ambulance.

Mr. Sherman was in town last week Thursday and expressed entire satisfaction with the completed car. He turned over a check for $1,750 in full settlement, and incidentally paid for another Graham Brothers truck, then on the floor, which is a gift to an ex-service man near Northampton, to whom he wants to give a lift.

The gift of the ambulance is, however, very dear to his heart, as the hospital has had no such convenience. In one extreme case a hearse was used. Needless to say, also, Mr. Ketchen has been greatly interested in this special piece of work and contributed some of his own ingenuity in developing the specifications which had been arrived at.

Starting with a Graham Brothers panel body truck, adjustable windows were put in the side, windows in the doors at the back were enlarged, a folding step was put on the rear, dome lights were put inside, curtains placed at the windows, the inside painted white, sliding windows fitted back of the driver's seat, a heating outfit installed, special heavy shock absorbers put on, a horn that would open up traffic attached, and all cushioned with balloon tires. Inside there is an adjustable chair cot of latest design, on wheels, which can be securely locked in place, a seat for the attendant, and place for first aid equipment.

Between Ourselves

Did you read that yellow little folder that came with your (December) telephone bill? I did, and found it interesting. The publicity department had something to say to its patrons and said it in semi-confidence—between ourselves—under four captions: Keep Count. Suppose. For You, and Girls. There was something instructive or suggestive under each of these topics.

It came to me as I read "Keep Count", that I should take time to cool off a bit when the next bill comes which I think is not correct as to the number of extra calls for which I am asked to pay. I did not know they had so many ways of keeping tab on me as is stated in the folder. Can I pit my unretentive memory against the systematic and automatic records of the telephone company? What think you, will it not be better to do my sputtering about it at home, quietly pay the bill, and in the future keep a reliable record of my long distance calls.

I have done some supposing at times, especially during thunder storms, when the electricity was crackling about the receiver, or when ice was weighing down the wires and a gale was raging. If the electric lights fail us, as sometimes happens, we can hunt up the smelly lamps or light a candle and get about the house in semi-darkness without serious consequences. But what can we do if a fire breaks out or the doctor is unexpectedly and urgently needed? Then a serious situation develops and we are glad that the telephone is so dependable.

I will pass "For You" as I am writing about how the folder appeals to myself.

These Improvements are Important

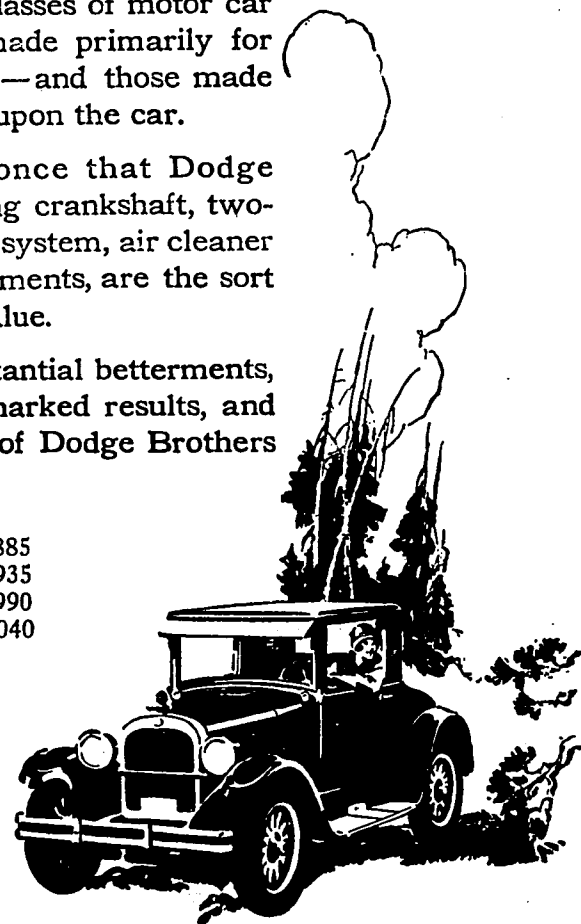

There are two general classes of motor car improvements. Those made primarily for their effect on the public—and those made primarily for their effect upon the car.

You will perceive at once that Dodge Brothers new five-bearing crankshaft, two-unit starting and lighting system, air cleaner and other recent improvements, are the sort that represent genuine value.

They are sound and substantial betterments, producing definite and marked results, and as such they are typical of Dodge Brothers methods and product.

But I must have a few words about "Girls". I go to the telephone, turn the crank, put the receiver to my ear. No response—that girl—where is she—asleep! Another angry whirling of the crank! You may know how it is. We get excited and scold if Central does not respond "immediately if not sooner". I reckon "Girls" have some troubles of their own with us, and for myself I say, Excuse me, and resolve to try to be more patient in the future and send my voice over the wire in as pleasant tones as possible, for I prefer to be regarded as an agreeable person rather than a grouch; and it is only fair to the "Girls" to send our calls to their listening ears as pleasantly toned as, in general, their responses come to us.

It was heartening to read the appreciative words their employers wrote about the "Girls": "When there is a storm, the telephone girl somehow—anyhow—gets on her job"; in the heat of summer she "carries on"; when disaster strikes, she "sticks". You and I have read of the noble deeds of telephone girls who in times of disaster and peril did not forsake their post.

There is a deal of depreciation of girls and young womanhood these days—altogether too much of it. To hear the careless croakers croak and the caustic critics criticize and thoughtless tongues call them flappers, one might too quickly conclude that there is no worth in them. So it is with pleasure that I read the appreciative words of the employers of so many "Girls." And remember, gentle reader, that there are "daughters of industry" in other lines of labor who deserve appreciation for what they are, who might be taken also as a fair cross-section of America's young womanhood, they too are faithful and dependable. By no means is America's young womanhood more decadent in this generation than in other generations. Do not imitate the psalmist who said in his haste, "all men are liars," and say all girls are flappers. It is not true. Remember these "Girls" who so cheerily respond: "Number, please" when centrals of this great land are called.

Belcher Towne

Win State Honors

Two Belchertown poultrymen's flocks are listed among the leaders in the state in the annual Home Egg laying contest which ended November 1, 1926. Harold C. Booth was fourth in the group having over 1,000 birds in the flock with an average production of 169.1 eggs per bird. Herbert F. Duncan was seventh in the group with less than 500 birds in the flock with an average production of 180.6 eggs per bird.

Seven flocks were named in the groups having over 1000 birds, 500 to 1,000 and less than 500 birds. Hampshire county placed seven flocks in this list of twenty-one for the state. Among the small flocks in this list, F. D. Steele of Cummington stood first with 210.1 eggs per bird; P. L. Wheelock of Amherst second with 206.4 eggs per bird; Mrs. A. G. Eldridge, Amherst, sixth, 181.1; Herbert Duncan, Belchertown, seventh, 180.6 eggs per bird. In the medium sized flocks, John Bloom of Ware stood first with 179.9 eggs per bird, while Frank Rood of Southampton stood fourth with 171.2. In large flocks H. C. Booth of Belchertown stood 4th with 169.1 eggs per bird. Twenty-one flocks in the county averaged 164.1 eggs per bird, which is 18.4 eggs per bird above the state average of the flocks reporting.

Report blanks for the year starting November 1, 1926, may be obtained from County Agent R. A. Payne, Northampton. Belchertown has the largest number of chickens of any town in Hampshire county. The average production of eggs per bird for the town is 78 eggs per bird, according to the 1925 census. Mr. Payne feels that he can raise this average materially if more poultrymen would send in these reports and use the information gained from them.

In Memoriam

TO OUR DEAR LEADER

Just one year ago the 12th of December, was the death of our beloved Y. P. B. leader and organizer. We did not understand the "good" that she was doing; we did not feel that "her life" was as valuable to us as the blood is to the heart; we did not understand "her" and "her wonderful acts of kindness"; we did not appreciate "all her good" until she was gone, which was too late.

Even though we were not acquainted with the "good deeds" of our beloved leader, we can at least carry on her good work, with the same view she had, "to make the world a better and happier place to live in."

This one thought is one of the great "corner stones" that help to hold up our Y. P. B. If it had not been for this great woman, Belchertown's young people would not have known of the Y. P. B. and its good work and workers.

We are thankful that such a woman as Miss Elsie E. Shattuck once lived; we are sorrowful to think that she was called away from us, but as we all know, when the Master calls, we must go, even though we are loved and worshipped.

R. B. Green,
Pres. Y. P. B.

Belchertown friends of Rev. M. H. Fishburn, pastor of the Congregational church from 1909-1911 have received word that Mr. and Mrs. Fishburn celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George Weston of Westfield, N. J., Oct. 24. The five children and 12 grandchildren were present.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Beach received word Monday that their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Morris of Holyoke, had sustained a compound fracture about six inches above the ankle. She is still at Dr. Clark's surgical hospital.

The fire department was called to a chimney fire at C. R. Rhodes's last Saturday night.

A funeral mass for Mrs. Margaret Clapgood was held at St. Francis church at 9.30 last Saturday morning. Mrs. Clapgood was taken to the House of Providence hospital at Holyoke Thursday night, where she died soon afterward. She leaves her husband, Amie Clapgood. Mr. and Mrs. Clapgood had lived in town for several years, coming to the Melvin Bardwell place on State Street soon after Mr. Bardwell's death.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred U. Lamoureux and family and their brother, Louis C. Lamoureux, who have made their home on Federal St., have moved to Chicopee Falls.

The Boy Scout council meets tonight to elect a scoutmaster.

The Boy Scout troop committee goes to Northampton, Monday evening to meet with other troop committees of the county.

The following names have been submitted as those whose essays on "What a Chamber of Commerce Means to a Community" were sent to the Boston Chamber of Commerce last week: McPherson, Jane Shumway, Gertrude Knight, Barbara Sears, Shea, Alice Lyons, W. Barry, Couture, Dunbar, Hussey, Ola Campbell, Madeline Sears, Joan Rowland, Rohan, Esther Squires, Avis Hussey, Ruth Shuttleworth, Walker, Minnie Squires, Beatrice Zitka, Nelly Rochester, Marjorie Lyon, Marjorie Stracharz.

Grange Whist Party

Interest still persists in the Grange card parties. There were eight tables—in fact one person more would have made nine. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spencer, H. F. Curtis and Mrs. Charles Trainor were high scorers with a score of 92. The low scorers were M. G. Ward, Miss Casey, John Pranaitis and Miss Burge with a score of 43.

Doughnuts and coffee were served as refreshments. The committee were Miss Gertrude Riley and Miss Darca Dodge.

The car is lettered with the name of the hospital on the sides and the word "Ambulance" is painted above the windshield in front.

The gift is of triple interest to Belchertown. Each year a number of our people avail themselves of the equipment of the Mary Lane hospital, so that possibly some local people will profit by this gift. Second in point of appeal is that a local firm was able to execute the order. But most interesting of all, perhaps, is this contact with Mr. Sherman in his work of beneficence. He desires to give away his money while he can see people get the benefit of it, and as one talks with him concerning specific instances of his generosity, his point of view is most humanly presented when he says, "How could he get on his feet unless somebody helped him?"

Addresses Girl Scouts

"Have a hobby. Ride it. Get some fun out of it. Learn something interesting in the time that otherwise would go to waste." This was the advice of J. W. Jackson to the Girl Scouts—some twenty-five of them—and older ones, in a talk he gave in Prin. Allen's room at Memorial hall, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Jackson brought to the meeting many interesting trophies of his trips through the woods and fields, a piece of the rather rare red cedar, with delicate and regular carvings wrought by tiny grubs in their home beneath the bark; a cane with almost perfect spirals formed by the bitter-sweet vine as it twined around a maple sapling; a beautifully carved piece of wood of the bamboo family, from the Philippines, nature's work again; a shillelagh, the natural result of a diseased growth in a small sugar maple; a four-branched bird cherry stick, a possible model for a candelabra or a hat rack; an illustration of natural surgery, a tree broken at the tip and the new growth starting immediately upward again at a sharp angle. A further illustration of nature's surgery was exhibited in a chicken bone, which showed the break in the chicken's leg and the bone as repaired by nature.

Another curious bone growth cherished by Mr. Jackson, was almost unbelievable except for the evidence of one's own eyes. The skull of a woodchuck showed one of the long incisors curving over and growing back toward the roof of the mouth, piercing through the bones of the head and extending back into the mouth almost the normal length of a tooth.

Amherst C. E. Union Meeting

The Amherst Christian Endeavor Union blew in from the northwest Monday evening, and an invigorating breeze it was. Fires at the chapel almost seemed superfluous, so cordial and fraternal were the incoming group of young people and the older ones who accompanied them. The program shortly got under way, and it was full of the sparkle and enthusiasm of youth from start to finish. The singing was rendered with a will and the speakers lost themselves in their subjects. Clarence Parsons of North Amherst, president, presided.

The praise service was led by Elmer Barber, inter-church secretary of M. A. C. Preceding each song, he gave the story incident to its writing.

The program consisted of two debates. The first was, "Resolved that every boy and girl in our parishes between the ages of 15 and 18 ought to be an active member of a C. E. society." The affirmative was taken by Mrs. Lyman of the South Amherst society and the negative by Ross MacKimmie of the North Amherst society.

Mrs. Lyman spoke of Christian Endeavor being a time tested organization with a balanced program, which helped to build character and strengthen will power. It also produces executive ability.

Mr. MacKimmie, for the negative, brought down the house with his arguments. He said you wouldn't want every Tom, Dick and Harry in the society; they would soon ruin it. "They come for 'a whale of a time'. Everything would soon pass as 'conscientious' reasons for not keeping the pledge. They are taught to make promises all too easily. When he had 'won' his argument, for the judges gave him the decision, he said, "I don't believe a word I've said."

The judges were Raymond Arthur, Miss Betty Marshall and Miss Florence Holden of Cushman.

The second debate was: "Resolved, That every Christian Endeavorer ought to be a pacifist." The affirmative was taken by Mr. Ward of the First Church, Amherst, and the negative by Raymond Spooner of the Second Church, Amherst.

Mr. Ward did not stand for simon pure pacifism, but he believed in ex-

Christmas Party at Grange

Union grange will hold its annual Christmas tree party in Grange hall Tuesday evening. All who come are requested to bring a present. The program of the evening will consist of Christmas carols and games, also a hidden present in the hall which will be awarded the lucky finder. Refreshments will be served. The committee in charge is Mrs. Harry Conkey, Mrs. Robert Chamberlain and Mrs. Wilfrid Noel.

Christmas at State School

The State School, in accordance with the custom inaugurated last year, is sending to parents and guardians of pupils at the school a program of holiday events that will take place at the institution. The folder is printed in red and green. First there is a Christmas message from Governor Fuller, than the schedule of events, together with a menu for the Christmas dinner, followed by a list of articles that would prove acceptable to the children at the school.

Following is a list of events. Friends of the school are being invited to attend the presentation, "The Student Prince," to be given Wednesday evening.

Prize Winners

Although Belchertown did not figure among the prize winners in the recent contest conducted by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, yet the following news letter in regard to the winners may be of interest.

Kaye Mackinnon, 16 years, 7 months, of Belmont, Mass., was declared the winner of the first prize of $500 in the $1000 Prize Essay Contest conducted by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, at the Seventeenth Inaugural Dinner of the Chamber last Friday night.

Miss MacKinnon is a senior of the Belmont High School. The five judges were unanimous in selecting Miss MacKinnon's essay as the best from more than 500 submitted in the Chamber's contest. Although Miss MacKinnon is a high school student, her essay was considered the best of both the adult and high school groups.

Other winners were as follows: In the adult class, second prize, $200, Vernon E. Blagbrough of Boston; third, $100, Frederick B. Cole of Warren, R. I. The first high school prize, $100, went to A. Graham Brunnick of Gloucester. The four other prize winners in this class were: $50, John N. Higgins of Lowell; $25, Vera A. Waldie of Shrewsbury; $15, Jeremiah Maloney of Newport, R. I.; and $10, Elizabeth Cunningham of Waltham.

Prizes in the contest were donated by W. S. Quinby, head of the W. S. Quinby Company of Boston, New York and Chicago, who is known particularly for his sponsoring of the Symphony Concert broadcasts.

Approximately 50 per cent of the essays received by the Chamber were written by women.

More Value than the Price Suggests

In the year just drawing to a close the price of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars was materially lowered.

Yet during this period more important improvements were incorporated than in any year in Dodge Brothers history. Advances were made in engineering and body designs. The cars possess a greater degree of smoothness, silence and ease. They are more comfortable, more beautiful.

Current prices - made possible, of course, by constantly mounting sales - are therefore not an obvious measure of value. Prices, in fact, have never told the full story of Dodge Brothers dependability and basic worth.

But now, more than ever before, there is far more value than the price suggests.

pecting and preparing for peace. He pointed out the incongruity of both sides praying for victory in war. Nations get involved in war, he said, when they get arrogant, boastful, play selfish, and expect war. He said, "Pacifism is feasible." From a selfish standpoint alone, arbitration will bring greater results than a war. He said, "Our first duty is as men, rather than as Americans."

Mr. Spooner said, "He's willing to have peace at any price. I'm not. As long as human nature is as it is, we've got to figure on it." If everyone was like those present, it would be all right. Mr. Ward rebutted that here was the "boastful" spirit he spoke of.

The decision was given to Mr. Ward. The judges in this instance were G. Stockwell, Miss Mary Smith and Roger Cobb of the Baptist church, Amherst.

Following the program there was a sing of college and other songs. Then came refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and cocoa served by the local society. Games were in charge of the social committee of the Union. Songs broke out spontaneously, and when "God be with you," was rendered, the party left, but they couldn't help but leave the local society much of inspiration.

Fireframe at Stone House

A recent addition to the furnishings at the Stone House is a Franklin fireframe, the gift of Willard A. Stebbins, former president of the association. It has been set in the fireplace of the large front room on the first floor, a fireplace which was added when the building was remodelled a few years ago and which to the initiated was glaringly modern. The installation of this genuine old fireframe covers up the modern brickwork and the fireplace is now in keeping with its setting.

This old relic was parted with by George Davis of North Main street, who owns the house in which it was originally placed, probably in 1800, the year when the house was built. It was set at first in the parlor, the south front room, where it lent its gracious presence for a half century. When stoves came into more general use, this fireplace, like many others, was bricked up. At the same time, the huge fireplace in what was once the kitchen, later the dining room, was partially closed, leaving a smaller fireplace at one end into which was fitted this fireframe. Here grandpa and grandma sat, one on either side and enjoyed the open fire to which they were accustomed.

The fireframe, antedating the Franklin stove, is no longer made. But the few preserved to this generation are carefully treasured. This piece of polished black and gleaming brass, which has seen all the changes from tallow dips and whale oil lamps to Rochester burners and electric lights, is once more at home, although the great square chimney which was its first abode, is forever gone. Yet from its black depths the firelight shines on familiar presences, even on the silhouette of one who once sat by this forerunner of the almost extinct "airtight", the latest copy of the weekly Hampshire Gazette in one hand and a dripping candle in the other.

Turkey Hill Items

George H. Chapman of Defroit is in the hospital for an operation. He is reported as getting along as well as could be expected.

Miss Alice Booth is spending the week with her brother, Rev. Newell Booth, in Bryantville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Putnam, Louise and Edith Putnam, enjoyed a venison dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe in Willimansett, Sunday. Mr. Wolfe, who was reported lost on Holyoke range the first day of the deer season, stalked three deer for several hours. The youngest he succeeded in bringing home after a long, cold tramp.

The stores will be open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings next week, also Wednesday afternoon.

Juniors Win

The girls' basketball team of the Junior class of B. H. S. won over the Sophomore team in the first of a series of interclass games, Wednesday afternoon by the score of 8 to 6. The line-up was as follows:

Juniors: Thelma Dickinson, c; Nannie Howard, g; Jean Bain, g; Alice Pratt, lf; *E. Gustafson, g. Sophomores: S. Skribiski, c; Anna Lego, g; E. Archambault, f; Anna Shuttleworth, f; Marie Baggs, f; *Maxine Fuller, sub.

The girls also have a varsity team to meet outsiders. The boys have organized for basketball but have not played any games as yet.

Christmas at B. H. S.

Christmas exercises of the B. H. S. will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. As usual, graduates have a standing invitation, but admission for others will be by ticket. After the 'tree', Gould's orchestra will furnish music.

Town Items

There will be special music at both the Methodist and Congregational churches Sunday morning.

Twelve bags of old clothing were sent to Morgan Memorial last week by the Congregational church.

The Boy Scout council met last week Friday evening and elected William Bridgman, scoutmaster, in place of Roland Shaw, who has left town. Dr. F. C. Wilder was re-elected first assistant scoutmaster. The council voted to use the rooms on the third floor of the Dillon block, over the drug store, as a meeting place for the Scouts. Steps will be taken at once to put them in condition.

The committee on the Fourth of July celebration has voted to use the surplus funds remaining from that event toward a community Christmas tree. The tree has been cut and will be set up in front of Memorial hall.

The next invitation dance will be held in Memorial hall next Thursday evening.

Vernon Lodge will hold its installation of officers tonight. Masons, members of the Eastern Star and their families are invited. Edwin L. Davis of Chicopee will be the installing officer.

Mrs. Ellen Bridgman is moving into the Gardner Blackmer house on Cottage street.

Christmas will be observed by the Center Grade schools on Thursday. In the morning the pupils of each room will have their gifts of Christmas boxes by themselves. At 1 p. m. all the grades, including the seventh and eighth, will gather in the auditorium for the program which will consist of a short play, a few Christmas carols and a cantata. The public is invited.

This very unusual specimen has been eagerly sought by Amherst college.

Not only were the exhibits interesting in themselves, but the story incident to the "capture" of each made them doubly so.

Mr. Jackson also brought 33 cuttings of native trees and shrubs. Commenting on this exhibit he said that it was interesting to know trees by their leaves, but as they are not always on, it is well to know how to recognize them by the bark. Mr. Jackson started to make this collection only about two weeks ago, so it was necessarily incomplete, yet few present could guess a very large percentage of those he did have. Incidentally he stated that he was going to present the Scouts with the collection which they might keep at the Scout rooms, and challenged the girls to help him complete it.

The burden of Mr. Jackson's message was to make a scientific study of nature. What he had obtained, he said, came largely from observation and from information handed down by word of mouth. He wanted them to get names scientifically correct.

But in spite of this advice of the local naturalist, the Scouts feel that Mr. Jackson is a good man to tie up to for information, as was evidenced by the fact that he received an invitation after the meeting to go with them sometime on a tramp in nature's garden and get a more intimate introduction to his "friends."

The following, taken from Wednesday evening's Union, is along the line of Mr. Jackson's talk.

"When nature guiding comes into its own and the public begins to understand the wonders that are now passing before their eyes unnoticed, I doubt whether the popularity of the elephant will be greater than that of the trees, the grasses, the rocks, the waters, the insects and the small

The Christmas Gloria

In one of those beautiful stories that developed about the infancy of him whose birth the Christmas time celebrates we find a brilliant gem, the ideal of peace and good-will. The story runs: There were shepherds keeping watch in the night over their flocks. They saw an angel who told them about a new-born babe in Bethlehem, and another wonder, they heard music in the air, a heavenly host singing a new, sweet song,

"Glory to God in the highest

And on earth peace and good-will to men."

What a wonderful ideal to center about a little babe! But more wonderful than any stories in which oriental people revealed, is the fact that this ideal has lived through ages of war and carnage and is still bound up with the name of Jesus, and increases its hold upon our imagination and sways the minds of men because he sways so many hearts today!

Have you considered how the few words of this song are weighted with rich meaning, peace and good-will? May I interpret its meaning to you as I wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Play at State School

The quality of entertainments at the State school still continues to impress those who attend them, especially those who see them for the first time. The presentation of the musical play, "The Student Prince," Wednesday evening afforded the latest illustration.

The "Room of State in the Royal Palace at Karlsburg" with its draperies and royal insignia, the lords and ladies of the court in gorgeous attire was the scene that drew forth the spontaneous applause of the audience, and showed the production at its height.

Dr. McPherson, superintendent of the institution, in his preliminary remarks, said that all the scenery, costumes, etc., with the exception of the military dress, rented for the occasion, bore the "union label of home manufacture, at a price that would make you envious." He spoke of the training incident to the production, stressing the point that the willing doing of definite tasks was an accomplishment all in itself.

Tribute was paid to Dr. Westwell and the corps of teachers who had worked early and late drilling the pupils.

Dr. McPherson also said that of the forty or fifty taking part in the presentation; several were candidates for graduation—in opposition to the idea that once a pupil, always one. While the special scenery and costuming were appealing, the actual production revealed a number of parts taken with considerable individuality. Dr. Westwell ably conducted the music. Mr. Kidder, treasurer of Amherst college, assisted the school orchestra.

Vernon Lodge Installation

Vernon Lodge of Masons held its annual installation in Masonic hall, last Friday evening. The installing officer was Grand Lecturer, Edwin L. Davis of Chicopee Falls, assisted by his grand marshal, Roy Percy Myles, and grand chaplain, Frank P. Beardsell, both of Chicopee Falls. Following the ceremonies, supper was served by the women of the Eastern Star, with Mrs. E. A. Randall, matron, in charge.

The list of officers for 1927 is: Worshipful Master, Winfred F. Forward of Granby; senior warden, William E. Bridgman; junior warden, Everett A. Geer; treasurer, Earl M. Ingham of Granby; secretary, William E. Shaw; chaplain, Earl Thomas Allen; senior deacon, Earl Prentiss of Granby; junior deacon, William J. Dummelow; senior steward, Roy G. Shaw; junior steward, Lafayette W. Ayers; marshal, Dr. J. L. Collard; tyler, George B. Jackson.

About 125 were present, guests coming from Springfield, Ware, Palmer and other nearby towns, and including several past and present officers of the district.

B. H. S. Christmas Entertainment

B. H. S. held its Christmas festivities in Memorial hall Wednesday evening. The usual large number of guests were in the balcony to witness the "tree" and the program which preceded.

Two plays of real proportions were presented, one, "Santa's Predicament," being given by the Sophomore class, while the other, "The Enchanted Christmas Tree," was presented by the Senior class and others.

Musical numbers included carols at the opening; a violin solo, "Star of the East," by Helen Shea; a selection by the orchestra, "N. C. 4," and a saxophone solo by Paige Piper. Novelty features in this line were, "Shepherds, Leave your Flocks Behind," in French, by classes No. 3 and 4, and Adeste Fidelis by the Latin class.

A poem, "Holy Night," was given by George McPherson.

"The Highland Fling," was one of the most taking features of the evening. This was given by a dozen or more girls in costume—girls who were especially proficient in this art in gymnasium work.

Credit for the presentation of the plays goes to Miss Goodnow, physical instructor, while the musical features were in charge of the Misses Goodnow and Hagstrom. Principal Thomas Allen was generalissimo and presided over the occasion.

O. E. S. Elects Officers

Mt. Vernon chapter at its meeting Wednesday evening elected the following officers: Worthy matron, Mrs. E. A. Randall; worthy patron, Roy O. Baggs; associate matron, Mrs. Emma Shaw; secretary, Mrs. Louise Sherman; treasurer, Mrs. Geraldine Howard; conductress, Miss Irene Orlando; assistant conductress, Miss Mary Howard.

Christmas at the Center Grade Schools

"Santa and the Givers," a Christmas cantata emphasizing the spirit of giving, was presented before a large audience at the grade school building yesterday afternoon, and was considered by those present to be one of the best productions ever staged in the auditorium. The cast of characters follows: Mrs. West, the mother, Madeline Lincoln; Dinah, the colored "mammy", Albert Schmidt; Mildred and Helen West, Mrs. West's young daughters, Marjorie Shaw and Nellie Rhodes; Dorothy and Peggy, Mrs. West's little girls, Ruth Chamberlain and June Sanford; Jane, their cousin, Barbara Sessions; Edna and Lillian, friends of Helen and Mildred, Betty Ketchen and Myrtle Baggs; Mrs. Jones, a poor widow, Ruth Spencer; Grace and Ethel, her children, Rachel Fuller and Virginia Shaw; Roy, Tom and Ned, Harold Cook, Stanley Dunbar and Raymond Dana; Santa Claus, James Collard; Jack Frost, Austin Warren. Other children took the part of brownies, fairies and carolers.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades gave the following program: song, Silent Night; play, "The One True Gift of Christmas is Love"; song, Christmas Time is a Merry Time.

The song means in the spiritual life of man, peace with God, in international relations that war shall be no more to devastate the world and imperil our civilization, in social life that there shall be no strife between the races and classes of men but the recognition of the common fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of men; in business, and industry it means a reign of good-will and cooperation in place of the bitterness and competition and conflicts that are working such waste and harm; and in religion it means a new era of brotherly love that shall heal the deep wounds the persecutions and frictions and rivalries have caused, and are still causing among the different Christian faiths, and hasten the followers of Christ to that unity for which he prayed.

There are found in the New Testament specimens of early Christian hymns in the form of a brief quotation here and there. I like to think of this song attributed to a heavenly host as, perhaps, the first Christian Gloria. And I wish it might be heard filling the air with its music as a great earthly host, the church of Jesus, takes it up anew. It is the song the whole church should unite in singing with new fervor and joy as we move forward in faith to carry this ideal to its glorious fruition. For the triumph of this ideal will come. The world is longing for its triumph with greater intensity than ever. War is pagan, pagan. It is a state of darkness and cruelty and destruction. It is altogether out of harmony with our age of enlightenment and civilization. Let us forget the war ideals and the war songs and sing this song and serve the cause of peace and good-will under the banner of the Prince of Peace.

Diamond Match Five Wins Easily

By Noel

The Diamond Match quintet of Springfield, contenders for the championship of the Triple A League of that city, defeated the Belchertown Independents, their first defeat of the season last Thursday night on the town hall floor, by a score of 48 to 12. The game was fast from start to finish and was played before a crowd of about 150. "Butch" Hickey, former Interstate League player and the visitors' right forward, scored enough points alone to tie the local team's score, dropping six baskets for a total of 12 points. The Home City quintet had a powerful defense and their passwork and shooting was some of the best seen here.

The Independents could not seem to get started. Everything seemed to go wrong. Passes were dropped and shots were off form. Em Grayson, star center of the home team, caged a floor basket in the early part of the game, but was held scoreless for the remainder of the game, for "Flo" McCarthy, rangy center of

Union Grange held its usual Christmas tree frolic Tuesday evening. Besides the distribution of gifts, there was on the program games, singing of Christmas carols, the finding of the hidden gift—a pack of playing cards, by Miss Darcia Dodge, and refreshments of sandwiches, cocoa and cookies. At the business meeting, Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt was chosen chaplain in place of Mrs. L. H. Blackmer, resigned. Installation of officers will be held at the next meeting, January 4.

James Lemon sustained three broken ribs when the automobile he was driving, overturned on Jabish hill, Saturday afternoon. The others in the car with him were uninjured. The accident was due to ruts in the snow and ice. The car, which was practically new, was not scratched a particle. Lester Allen has been substituting on the Holyoke bus line.

Harry C. Dodge has been drawn to serve as juror for the next sitting of superior court.

Mrs. Sarah Dunbar has gone to Holyoke to spend Christmas with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Randall will spend Saturday in the home of C. E. Snow of Holden.

The community Christmas tree was lighted for the first time Tuesday evening and has shown up against the walls of Memorial hall each evening since. Tonight the choirs of the three churches will gather at the tree for the old Christmas carols. The public is invited. Afterward the singers will visit the homes of the shut-ins.

The Boy Scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster William E. Bridgman, gathered about 20 Christmas trees the first of the week, which the Girl Scouts of troop 1 decorated at their meeting on Wednesday. Later the boys, assisted by two or three of the girls, carried these bits of Christmas cheer to the sick and shut-ins around town.

Bertram E. Shaw, who for the last two years has been employed at Coolbeth's garage in Enfield, will open a blacksmith shop in the building at the rear of Ketchen's garage the first of the year.

South End Items

The community house on Alden St. burned last Saturday evening at the time of the dance. The fire that broke out around the chimney in the hall proper was soon put out, but it was discovered that there was a blaze overhead which had gotten beyond any hope of control. The loss is keenly felt as it had been a struggle to pay for the building and secure furnishings. A few hundred dollars still remained to be paid. Insurance was reported as $1,200.

S. S. and Junior League Entertainment

Between 85 and 90 were present at the Christmas exercises at the M. E. church Wednesday evening. The Sunday School gave a full program of exercises, following which the Junior League gave a three-act play, "Worship the King." Then Santa Claus appeared and presented all with gifts and candy.

Drives Intelligent Car

H. E. Sessions, manager of the local telephone office, has acquired the reputation of driving a very intelligent flivver. Lately he had trouble with one of his telephone lines and was unable to locate it. Presently as he was driving along the road, his car swished to one side and brought him to an abrupt halt. Thinking there must be a reason for his "horse's" action, he glanced at the pole in front of him, and sure enough, there was the trouble. But Harry, with one of those imperceptible twinkles, says, "It takes a long time to 'train' 'em."

Christmas Parties

About 40—twenty-nine of them children—were present at the party given by the Primary department of the Congregational Sunday School, last Saturday afternoon. Exercises, games, boxes of candy, gifts, and refreshments of ice cream and wafers, combined to make an enjoyable two hours. The superintendent and teachers of the department were in charge.

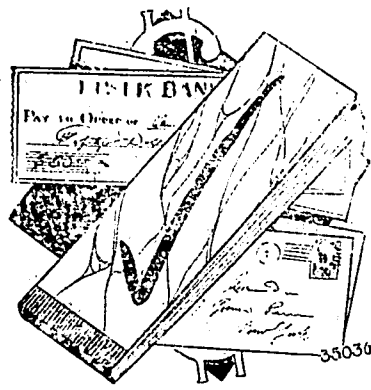

Over 50 attended the party for the older ones in the evening for whom an interesting entertainment had been arranged.

After the program came the "tree" with distribution of candy and gifts. Games were then played, and refreshments of ice cream and wafers were sandwiched in between. The program and entertainment committee were Miss Marion Bartlett, Miss Frances Sauer and Francis Allen. The tree and refreshment committee were Miss Nora Connors, Mrs. Louise Sherman, Miss Jessie Orlando and John D. Shuttleworth.

Dispenses with Greasing

Friends of H. B. Ketchen are jollying him about going into the water without the customary greasing. Trying to pry a boat out at Lake Metacomet on Wednesday, the ice gave way and he went in and got pretty well immersed. We understand he dodged home in a hurry and has got a fresh idea on how to construct an ambulance.

the visitors', kept a watchful eye upon him.

The visitors started the scoring with baskets by Hickey and Connery in succession. Then Grayson came through with his only basket of the game. Connery, McCarthy and Hickey again scored for the visitors, followed with a floor basket by Paige Piper, star right forward of the Independents. After 20 minutes of play, the Diamond Match quintet led by a score of 24 to 7.

Both teams shifted their lineups in the second half. Manager Parent of the Independents substituted Connie Lynch for Fairchild, and Hodgdon, former Arms Academy player, for Dodge. The visitors sent in Stanley for Garvoni, Pinder for Hickey, and Fournier for Connery.

Lynch opened the half with a free try, followed with a basket by Piper. The Diamond Match team then got going again and went on another scoring spree, defeating the home team by a wide margin.

For the Independents, Paige Piper was the high scorer with three floor baskets for a total of six points. "Butch" Hickey and Tom Connery excelled for the visitors, the former with six floor goals and the latter with five.

In the preliminary game, the Belchertown girls team, coached by Miss Goodnow, defeated the Diamond Match girls team of Springfield by a score of 11 to 10. This game was very close and interesting, for the score of the two teams was never more than two points apart during the entire game. At half time, the score was four all. With just a few minutes to play and the score ten all, Miss Skribiski, center of the home team, scored the free try that won the

Employees' Entertainment

The assembly hall at the State school reverberated with constantly recurring applause, Wednesday afternoon and evening in appreciation of the efforts of the Kelly and Doyle Amusement company who, through the generosity of the employees under the leadership of Mr. Cronin, furnished two 2-hour entertainments. The afternoon performance was given before the younger pupils, while the older ones took their places in the evening. The hall was packed in both instances, every person in the institution, not in the hospital, seeing the show.

There were 35 in the troupe, which put on a well balanced program. Paul Noffke, the magician, who was here a year ago at a similar entertainment furnished by the same company, again mystified and delighted the audience with his many ring, card and thimble tricks, etc.

As for music, there was an abundance. Besides the 5-piece dance orchestra, there were several selections by a band composed of J. Ruthstrom and his seven sons (two others were unable to be present). This presentation was very appealing. All were dressed in band uniform and one of the smallest of the boys wielded the baton and did the courtesying.

Another special feature was Philip Quinn with his xylophone, who appeared alone and with the orchestra. Clever toe dancing was done by Miss Blossom Jager, while Ed Vasseur just tickled the audience with his banjo selections. Gene Little, the colored comedian, won the house with his southern accents, as did also Ruth Goldstein with her sweet violin selections.

Douglas and Rogers were the show comedians and furnished the usual combination of wit and song. Miss Florence Winters and Miss Mercedes Fleury each rendered a

Doherty-Ardill Wedding

The following interesting account of the Doherty-Ardill wedding on December 15, was taken from last Sunday's Union-Republican under the date line of December 25.

The mystery regarding the romantic wedding of a Massachusetts couple last week in a parked automobile near town headquarters in Thompsonville, Ct., comment on which was widely published throughout New England, was dispelled today with the departure of Mr. and Mrs. George J. D. Ardill on a long honeymoon trip by motor through the Middle West. Announcement of the secret wedding caused great surprise among the younger set here, of which both the bride and groom were active and popular members.

Mrs. Ardill was Miss Martha N. Doherty, formerly of Dedham, who has been for the past year an efficient member of the staff of the state hospital here. She is a graduate of the National Institute of Nursing, Boston, and was active in the Girl Scout movement, being captain of troop 5 in Westfield for the past five years. Mr. Ardill is widely known through his connection for the past eight years with the Belchertown motor coach line running to Springfield.

The secret of the twilight marriage in Thompsonville was well kept by all the principals, including Deputy Judge William J. Hyland of the Thompsonville court and other witnesses friendly to the bride's romantic idea of a wedding in their automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Ardill's trip, covering some months, will include Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago and Detroit. On their return they expect to make their permanent home in Boston.

Grange Notes

Installation of officers will take place at the regular meeting of Union Grange Tuesday evening at Grange hall. Winfred F. Forward of Granby, Worthy Deputy of the Massachusetts State grange, will install the officers for the coming year. Music for the evening will be in charge of Mrs. Bertram Shaw. Refreshments will be served by the following committee: Mrs. Jason Hurlburt and the Misses Gertrude Riley and Helen Camp.

Story of the Year

This being the last day of the old year, it is especially appropriate that we recount some of the things that came to pass in 1926. Nothing so very startling has occurred, but our community life has flowed merrily on, with many an interesting event.

In town affairs, permanent repair work was done on the Three Rivers and Bondsville roads, and the Enfield road was hard surfaced. The surface of a part of the Springfield road also received attention. For the first time in the town's history, a street list was printed last fall.

By far the biggest affair of the year was the Independence Day celebration, when the town did itself proud, furnishing the most pleasing illustration of community spirit. The community Christmas tree, the first one the town has ever had, has been beaming brightly during the holiday season.

The schools have been turning out their usual fine product. Twenty-four graduated from B. H. S. last June. The first annual exhibit of the Domestic Science department June 16 was a noteworthy event. The customary field day was held and all the schools have observed the special days. A. R. Lewis retired from the superintendency this year and was succeeded by H. C. Knight.

As to Extension work, a Farm Bureau meeting was held Feb. 18, a largely attended poultry school took place Mar. 12, while the annual exhibit of Junior Extension clubs was held May 17.

Several business changes have taken place during the past year. Geo. M. Kelley erected and opened a large dance pavilion on the Amherst road, the Longley block was sold to Michael McKillop, Caswell and Wilder closed their Beauty Shoppe in October, Vernon L. Bardwell took over E. O. Lofland's garage November 1, while H. B. Ketchen is bringing to a completion a new garage for his school and city busses. October 4, R. M. Shaw sold his business to

 The churches have been busy with many things during the past year, their treasurers' accounts showing many items of benevolence.
 The Catholics have held special services on special weeks and days, and also held a two-night carnival. The Methodists held a series of church nights early in the year, and observed Holy Week. A thriving Junior League was formed last summer. Congregational organizations have given to many causes and have sent delegates to conventions at Northfield.

Aside from the social life furnished by the churches, the various organizations have furnished social events galore. Vernon Lodge, the O. E. S. and the American Legion, all gave their annual dances. Several conventions were held here, among them the W. C. T. U. meeting, the American Legion Hampshire and Franklin County council, the C. E. Amherst Local Union meeting, besides the Pomona grange gathering. The American Legion also had a two night carnival.

The Grange has run a series of card parties, and invitation dances have been held.

The Historical association, which deals in history, has added materially to its collection this year. A picket fence was placed on the east line of its property during the year. The fall meeting of the association was one long to be remembered.

Scouting still occupies the place of importance in the news of the day. The girls' organization held a rally Oct. 22, at which time over 100 merit badges were awarded. Both the boys and girls have rendered community service.

The Y. P. B. & L. T. L., young in years, has put on a very ambitious program this last year.

Nevertheless, in the final analysis, men and women make the town. A perusal of the obituaries we have been called upon to write in 1926 reveals the fact that we have lost men of character and ability. While we will not call the roll of those who have passed on, we would hardly feel justified in closing this account without once more paying tribute to the memory of one of our first citizens, W. F. Nichols, and to another, Dea. A. H. Bartlett, types of men that any town can ill afford to lose.

THE STATE SCHOOL

The history of Belchertown can no longer be written without allusion to the State school. The Independence day celebration would not have been what it was, had it not been for the cooperation and incentive which the school furnished.

Aside from the celebration of the festal days, the outstanding event of the year was the exhibit of Oct. 20, that showed what is really being accomplished at the institution.

As the old year goes out, the latest thing on the program is the artificial pond for skating being made ready to the north of the assembly hall building.

Independents Win Close Game

By Noel

The Belchertown Independents won their second game of the season, when they defeated the St. Bridget's quintet of Amherst last Thursday night on the Town hall floor by a score of 31 to 27. The game was very interesting, and the visitors, 1925-26 champions of the Amherst Town league, although handicapped by playing professional rules in the second half, had one great thing in mind, and that was to guard Em Grayson, star player of the home team, who also hails from Amherst. Em managed to score 16 points for the locals and was ably assisted by Piper, Hodgdon and the two guards. Great credit must be given the visiting quintet, for, led by Capt. Gene O'Neil, they played a hard game and tied the score twice, only to come out on the short end of the score by four points.

Hodgdon, local center, started the scoring after a few minutes of play by dropping in a basket. Fairchild and Grayson also caged a basket each for the home team, before E. Dowd broke the ice for the visitors with a twin counter. A. Dowd added another basket for Amherst on a pretty play, followed with a free try by his team mate, O'Neil. Hodgdon again scored for the locals. Then Grayson received a pass from Piper and made his shot good, sending the Independents in the lead. The playing of the former Interstate League player was the feature of the first 20 minutes of playing, his shooting and floor work being some of the best he has ever displayed here. The score at half-time was 16 to 14 in favor of the locals.

The visitors tried hard to overcome the home team's lead in the last half, but the best they could do was to tie the score at 24 all. With eight minutes to play, the Independents scored seven points to Amherst's three, Grayson scoring five of the seven points for the locals.

Piper played his usual steady game, and Jack Fairchild, veteran guard, appeared to be better than ever and was ably assisted by Hogan, a new player recently signed up by manager Eddie Parent. Hodgdon played a good game at center. The playing and shooting of Capt. O'Neil was the feature of the Amherst quintet. A. Dowd also played well.

After reading J. W. Jackson's very interesting and instructive work with the Girl Scouts regarding trees, shrubs, etc., it brought to mind corollary Sunday-school. The Girl Scouts of troop 1 also delivered baskets of good things to the sick and aged, besides assisting the Boy Scouts in decorating and delivering 20 Christmas trees to homes which would otherwise be without this festivity.

—R. E. Fairchild

I think that I shall never see
 A poem lovely as a tree.
 A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
 A tree that looks at God all day
 And lifts her leafy arms to pray.
 A tree that may in summer wear
 A nest of robins in her hair;
 Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
 Who intimately lives with rain.
 Poems are made by fools like me,
 But only God can make a tree.

—Joyce Kilmer

This short poem Joyce Kilmer made Puts my silly rhymes in the shade.
 The tree, the snow, the rain, all show
 How Nature answers here below.
 The "nest of robins," such a lovely thought,
 As though from the sky the theme was caught.

'Tis strange, seventy-eight years or more,
 I never thought of this before.
 Quite often poets we all see,
 But whoever saw man make a tree.

Independents Defeat Bondsville A. A.

By Noel

The Belchertown Independents won their third game of the season on the town hall floor last Thursday night, when they handed their old rivals, the Bondsville A. A., a good beating to the tune of 22 to 7. Despite the fact that the Independents' star player, Em Grayson, was out of the lineup, the team was strengthened by the addition of George Williams, Amherst High coach, and "Yacho" Bobovitz of Enfield.

The Bondsville team, which has several Belchertown "boys" in its lineup, was able to score only twice from the floor, these baskets being by the two forwards, Mega and Galanski. The local team, displaying a good brand of basket ball, had no trouble in guarding the visitors and held the lead throughout the entire game.

The feature of the game was the playing of Paige Piper, local forward, against Mike Keyes, former Belchertown High school player, the latter having his hands full in watching the elusive Piper. Bobovitz, appearing in his first game with the

Social Guild Supper and Entertainment

The walking Wednesday evening was not conducive to a large attendance at the Social Guild supper and entertainment, but there were many who thought it worth while to brave the slippery walks as was evidenced by the fact that 67 people were served. The supper featured scalloped potato and baked beans. The committee in charge was Mrs. J. V. Cook, Mrs. H. R. Gould, Mrs. F. M. Fuller, Miss Maggie Hales, Mrs. J. Raymond Gould, Mrs. Harold B. Ketchen, Mrs. Frank Rhodes, Miss Irene M. Jackson, Miss Helen Camp and Miss Marie Baggs.

The entertainment following the supper was decidedly worth while. By the aid of the reflectoscope, Miss Marion E. Bartlett shared with those present her trip taken last summer to Washington, the Sesquicentennial exposition at Philadelphia, historic Virginia and other points of interest.

One hundred fifteen post card views were thrown upon the screen, while Miss Bartlett gave a fund of interesting information of great educational value in connection with each one. Scenes along the Hudson, engineering feats in bridge making and tunneling, exhibits at the Sesqui, the great government buildings, memorials and legislative halls at Washington, and historic houses in old Virginia connected with the early history of the Republic will henceforth take on new meaning by reason of the intimate word sketches drawn by Miss Bartlett.

The travelogue was interspersed with the singing of patriotic songs. This is the fourth illustrated talk Miss Bartlett has given of trips which she has taken.

The selectmen state that all articles for the town meeting warrant must be in their hands Jan. 21.

There are many methods but only one agent by which a community may progress. There are organizations in abundance but only through an enthusiastic, personal leadership can a thing be accomplished. Many villages have gone to seed because of this lack. They are dull places where work is sordid, homes and streets dingy, and the whole community drab and uninteresting. Its young people are not interested in it and, if ambitious, generally leave it. This condition presents a problem and the Young People's Branch offers a solution in its training of leaders for public-spirited progress.

Its aim is to spread more than pretty platitudes about clean living, therefore it lays down a concrete platform of opposition to alcohol, tobacco and social impurity. It believes that a fight for a definite standard of high personal ideals will develop in young men and women a healthier notion of what community ideals ought to be and how to secure them.

The liquor question is now a matter of law enforcement but through the Young People's Branch it becomes something more than compelling other people to obey the law. By study its members come to see the evils of alcohol and learn that an alcoholic town, like an alcoholic individual, is a "dead" one. Law enforcement, once the results of the drink habit are understood, becomes a matter of loyalty to the community and the nation.

A good cold weather starter now more dependable than ever

Probably no single feature of Dodge Brothers Motor Car has been more widely talked about and commended than the power and promptness of the starter.

The new two-unit starting and lighting system now advances Dodge Brothers leadership in this important respect still further.

There are now no moving starter parts when the car is in motion—no starter chain—no noise—no wear. The new starter is even more DEPENDABLE than the old, and far simpler and more compact in construction.

Many other major improvements have been added during the past twelve months, all vitally affecting performance and increasing value far beyond the apparent measure of current Dodge Brothers prices.

Two Games This Week

By Noel

Manager Eddie Parent of the Belchertown Independents is keeping his team busy this week, having two games on the schedule. Last night the local tossers traveled to Bondsville for a return game with the Bondsville A. A.

Tomorrow night the Independents will meet the fast Brightwood quintet of Springfield on the town hall floor at 8.15 o'clock. The Brightwoods are members of the Union league of that city, a circuit composed of six teams. Some of the players who appeared here a few weeks ago with the Diamond Match quintet of the Home City are included amongst the teams of this circuit, so that the players who come here tomorrow night will, no doubt, be a big attraction for local fans.

In the forward court will be Capt. Sullivan, who is the leading player of the team, and Kilb. Harvey or Nelligan will jump center, while Rattman and Hourihan will be in the back court.

The management of the local team has strengthened its lineup with the addition of Charlie Austin, veteran player, who has decided to don a suit for another season. Austin, hero of many hard fought games and who has been one of the most dependable players on a local team, should add great strength to the local quintet. With the return of Bill Bridgman to the lineup, Manager Parent announces that he will pick his team for the game from the following players, Em Grayson, George Williams, "Yacho" Bobovitz, Charlie Austin, Bill Bridgman, Paige Piper, Jack Fairchild, Connie Lynch, Hodgdon and Hogan.

home team, played well, scoring seven points on two floor goals and three free tries and was the leading scorer of the night. Williams, who has played many a game on the local floor, held his man scoreless and found time to drop in two baskets and two free tries.

Galanski was the leading player for the losers, M. Smith, better known to local basketball fans as "Red", played his usual hard game.

To Play Falcons of Holyoke

By Noel

Manager Eddie Parent of the Belchertown Independents announces that he has booked the Polish Falcons of Holyoke to play here next Wednesday night. This team is composed entirely of Polish players and is one of the best quintets playing basket ball in the Paper City. The team has such players as A. Skypeck, G. Skypeck, J. Perlowski, E. Perlowski, Cusak, Kuta and Kedzior.

The local team is holding several practise sessions in preparation for the game and hopes to return to the "win" column in this game. As this is expected to be the best game of the season, the management is preparing for a large crowd.

Oxford Club Wins

By Noel

The Belchertown Independents lost their third game of the season Wednesday night, when the fast Oxford Club of Northampton defeated the home team on the town hall floor by a score of 41 to 23. The game was played under amateur rules, which proved to be a big handicap for the losers. The Independents could not seem to get started and the visitors had scored ten points, when George Williams tossed in a basket for the home team. Another basket by Jack Fairchild and free tries by Charlie Austin and Williams brought the score 10 to 6 in favor of the visitors. Then "Zunk" Bissal-liou, one of 'Hamp's best players, dropped in a floor goal, followed with similar shots by Malinoski, Faulkner and Carlow, former North Adams star. Austin came through with his only twin-counter of the game and with free tries by Connie Lynch, Williams and Hodgdon, brought the score within five points

Grange Notes

Seven tables were in play at the card party at Grange hall Tuesday night. The high score, 96, was made by Charles Austin, Mrs. Stein of Enfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Cook. The low score, 34, went to William Young, Mrs. Herbert Paine, Mrs. Uracius and Mrs. Raf-

Dies in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Sarah Porter Smith, who celebrated her 103rd birthday October 29, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., this week. Mrs. Smith was born in Belchertown in 1823, and had lived in Brooklyn for the last 30 years. She was long active in temperance work in that city. She was a member of the Sixth Avenue Baptist church and of the Home department of the Baptist Temple Bible school. For years she made her home with her 96 years old sister, Mrs. Mary T. Mitchell.

M. E. Church Notes

The Methodist church will hold a supper and social, January 26. An entertainment will follow.

On Saturday, the 22nd, the Epworth League will entertain the Epworth League of Bondsville.

A social for the Junior League was held yesterday afternoon. One for the older ones will be held tonight.

Town Items

Floyd N. Shumway and Miss Gladys M. Leigh of Amherst were married Wednesday evening at the Congregational parsonage by Rev. D. L. Hilliard.

H. B. Ketchen attended the Dodge Brothers annual convention at Detroit last week.

Robert Warner of the United States Navy was the week-end guest of Paige Piper.

The Independents were defeated 53 to 31 at Bondsville last week Thursday night.

The invitation dance will be held Thursday night, next week, instead of Friday, owing to the entertainment of the M. A. C. Musical clubs.

"Bulletin Board"

By Managing Editors

BASKETBALL

Basketball is considerably different this year than last. The teams seem to be more evenly matched and there is more competition, while last year the Seniors just ran away with the games. Even though we lost our "Star Players", we managed to get together a pretty fair team to play outside games, a thing that was never done before by the B. H. S. girls.

We also have more time to practise, and instead of having a game every day, we have them about every two weeks. This is a much better plan as a game every day soon grows monotonous. The B. H. S. girls' varsity team still remains undefeated. The boys as yet have not played any games.

NEW BULLETIN BOARDS

The janitor, Mr. Jackson, has devoted his spare time lately to putting up the new bulletin boards in the various school rooms.

FIRE DRILL

A "Fire Bell" having been installed in B. H. S., frequent fire drills have been held, the building being emptied in sixty seconds and less.

B. H. S.'s PRIMA DONNA

Miss Edna Howard proved to the High school last Thursday in music period, that her lungs were strong and that she was capable of singing the song entitled, "Noah's Ark", without the help of the music instructor. Although she had hard work to get the word, "hippopotamus," to jibe with the notes, she sang nicely. No doubt she will be in the opera soon.

of the visitors, who led at half-time, 18 to 13.

In the third period, the Independents struck their stride and with a little clever passing and teamwork came within two points of tying the score. Fairchild threw a pretty basket and Austin, Lynch and Williams each contributed to the local score by throwing in free tries. Baskets by Bisallion, Malinoski and Carlow brought the score, 23 to 21 in favor of the Oxfords. The visitors then called time out and after the resumption of play and with eight minutes to go, the stride of the Independents "faded" away and the Hamp boys scored heavily, winning by a wide margin.

George Williams, besides holding his opponent scoreless, did most of the scoring for the home team with two baskets and seven free tries for a total of 11 points. Charlie Austin, playing his second game of the season, had a tough proposition in guarding the clever Bisallion and played a fine defensive game. In fact the entire team played well considering the rules that were played.

For the Oxfords, "Zunk" Bisallion proved to be the leading player. He scored 14 points on four baskets and six free tries and, also, has the trick of being easily fouled, which attracted the attention of the crowd. Malinoski also played a good game and was high scorer with 16 points.

The dance held in Grange hall, under the management of both teams after the game was well attended.

Independents Lose by Two Points

By Noel

The Brightwoods of Springfield, strengthened with the addition of Buckets Harrington, former Cathedral High star and now a member of the Milton Bradley quintet of that city, and Archie Jefferson, Georgetown University star, surprised local basket ball fans by overcoming the lead of the Belchertown Independents and winning the game in the last five minutes by the small margin of two points, the score being 33 to 31. The game, played at the town hall last Saturday night, was fast and interesting and, with the exception of the first ten minutes of play, had the crowd guessing as to what team would win the game.

Harrington started the scoring by dropping in two free throws for the visitors. Em Grayson then came through for the home team with two similar shots, followed by a pretty basket by Jack Fairchild. Harrington and Jefferson each caged a floor goal for the visitors, but baskets by Bridgman, Grayson and Fairchild sent the Independents in the lead.

The Brightwood coach then called time out to shift his lineup, G. Halloran going in at right forward, and Nelligan at center, D. Halloran being benched. This combination worked a little smoother, but at half-time the home team led, 19 to 13.

In the second half, Manager Parent substituted Lynch for Fairchild. Here is where the Brightwoods started a spurt, and before their rally was checked, they had overcome the local team's lead and were on their way to victory. The playing of Nelligan, Jefferson and Harrington in the closing minutes, is no doubt, what won the game for the visitors.

The feature of the game was the passing and teamwork of the visitors, both on the offence and defense. Harrington and Jefferson played best for the winners. Em Grayson of the Independents was the star performer of the game. Besides playing his usual hard game, he contributed the best shot seen here for some time. Em, who was fouled time after time, had a dead eye for the hoop from the 15 foot mark, dropping in ten free tries, and with three floor goals scored a total of sixteen points. Jack Fairchild, although playing only half of the game, received many a cheer by dropping in three pretty baskets. The veteran, Charlie Austin, marked his return to basket ball by throwing in three free tries. Summary:

A STATEMENT

By the President of Dodge Brothers, Inc.

Within a few months, Dodge Brothers, Inc., will introduce a new line of motor cars, in no way conflicting with the market for Dodge Brothers present types, but occupying a considerably higher price field and produced in limited quantities.

Combining Dodge Brothers well known dependability with exceptional performance and striking beauty of appointment and design, these distinguished vehicles, we believe, will instantly set a new and higher standard in fine car practice.

Dodge Brothers will continue to produce their present line in maximum quantities to meet a demand which, during the year just ended, was very much the largest in their history, reaching the record total of 330,000 cars.

Fire Tuesday Afternoon

Mrs. Carrie Davis of Jabish St. found the beginning of a small conflagration in her living room on her return from feeding the hens Tuesday afternoon. She had left a chair near the stove with some clothing on it, and when she came back she found the chair ablaze, the clothing completely burned and the fire spreading to the walls and floor.

She administered first aid herself, but feeling it might get beyond her control, she called for help. Harold, the young son of the fire chief, heard her cries and telephoned for the fire truck. Mrs. Davis had succeeded in her efforts before the arrival of the fire department and her loss consists principally of smoke damage to paint and paper, besides the loss of the chair and clothing on it.

Another Game Wednesday

Manager Eddie Parent of the Belchertown Independents announces that he will have a game in the town hall, Wednesday night. The visiting team cannot be announced at this time, as several teams are desirous of coming here that night. The management is booking some of the best teams in this vicinity and therefore, should receive the best of support. Local fans who attended the games last Wednesday night were treated to a fine exhibition of good, clean basketball.

Supper and Entertainment

The Public is invited to the supper and entertainment in the M. E. vestry next Wednesday evening. The menu will include baked beans, hash, cabbage salad, pies, pickles, rolls and coffee. Supper will be at 6.30. An entertainment will follow. Mrs. Witt will give a reading, and a play entitled, "Hans von Smash," will be presented by the Epworth League.

Junior League Parties

16 attended the Junior League party for the small children in the M. E. vestry last week Thursday afternoon. Games were enjoyed, and sandwiches, cake and chocolate served. At the postponed party for the older ones, held this week Wednesday, 15 were present. Games and refreshments of sandwiches, cake and punch was the program. The entertainment committee for both events were, Mrs. Cato Dick, Mrs. Robert Chamberlain and Mrs. Charles Sanford.

Falcons Triumph by Eight Points

By Noel

The Falcons of Holyoke traveled to this town Wednesday night and added the Belchertown Independents to its list of victims, when they defeated the local team on the town hall floor in a well played game by the close score of 38 to 30. Considering the other attractions in town this week, the game was witnessed by a good-sized crowd. The visiting quintet, composed entirely of Polish players, proved that they are one of the Paper City's best teams this season by displaying a clean and smooth-working brand of basketball.

The Falcons took the lead right at the start and were never headed, although the Independents gave them quite a scare in the final period. Cuislek, the midget player of the visitors, was the main reason for the Falcon victory. This young forward, ably assisted by G. Skyeck, the left forward, was all over the floor, dribbling through his larger opponents and managed to tally five times from the floor and twice from the free try line; a total of 12 points, while G. Skyeck also tossed in five baskets and three free tries for a total of 13 points.

The visitors started off with a rush; baskets by G. Skyeck, Cuislek and Kuta making the score 10 to 0 in favor of the visitors. Then the reliable Charlie Austin came through with a nice long shot for the home team. Hackett, a player recently signed by Manager Eddie

Doors That We May Keep Open

As we advance in years we find that many doors close against us. We awake some morning to find that the door of youth is closed. Sometimes we discover that the door of abounding good health is closed. The physician intimates that we shall never be perfectly whole again. As age creeps on, we find it may be that the door of advancement in position has closed. All of our best positions are behind us. Sometimes it seems as though we were more confined and limited and imprisoned and we wait for death to come to close the final door.

But while it is true that the mere passage of time closes doors for us, and circumstances and accidents close other doors, and our enemies close some doors, and we out of our ignorance and folly close certain other doors, yet it does not follow that as life goes on we need to be more and more imprisoned. To the contrary, we may become more and more free.

The door of good will may open wider and wider with the years. We may keep that door open if we will. No one can shut that door but ourselves. Others may have ill will for us, we may live in an atmosphere of faultfinding and backbiting, we may meet with reverses and insults and failures and abuses, yet our good will may grow.

The door of noble thoughts may swing wider and wider. They may shut up John Bunyan in prison but they cannot prevent him from thinking high thoughts. They may confine us to a little hamlet, but they cannot prevent us from having thoughts as high as the heavens and as broad as the expanse of the sea.

There are many other doors we may keep open. Life may become richer and fuller every year instead of more limited and confined. The best may yet be. —R.

BASKETBALL GAME

Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 12, Mr. Allen dismissed school to let the pupils go over to the town hall and see the basketball game between the Sophomore and Freshmen boys. This was the first boys' game of the season, and proved to be exciting, with the line-up as follows:

Sophomores	Freshmen
Madison, c	Rhodes, c
Couture, rf	McClean, rf
Dorey, lf	Lebida, lf
Stuart, rg	McPherson, rg
Barry, lg	Fairchild, lg

For the Freshmen, Rhodes made three baskets which counted two points each, and one basket which counted one point. Lebida also made two baskets on free tries, which scored one point each.

For the Sophomores, Dorey and Madison made two baskets each, which counted two points apiece. This brought the score 9 to 8 at the end of the game, in favor of the Freshies.

Snow kept score and Piper kept time, while Mr. Cox "did his stuff" as referee.

Falcons Triumph by Eight Points

Parent, caged a basket on a pass from Em Grayson. But the Falcons kept up their smooth passing game and at half time were enjoying a big lead, the score being 24 to 10.

In the third period, there was less scoring as both teams played a great defensive game, but the final period proved to be the feature of the game. The Independents, after receiving many "boos" from the fans, showed that they were not to be outdone and, led by Em Grayson, opened up as good an exhibition of passing and teamwork, that any visiting team has displayed here this season. Both Austin and Grayson caged long shots from difficult angles, which delighted the crowd and Jack Fairchild missed some "close" ones. Although the home team outscored the visitors in this period, it was too late to overcome the Falcons' lead.

For the Independents, Em Grayson was the leading player, scoring almost half of the home team's points on three baskets and eleven free tries for a total of 17 points. Austin and Fairchild both played a fine defensive game. The entire Falcon team worked smoothly with Cuislek and G. Skyeck as the leading scorers.

In the preliminary game, the B. H. S. girls' team won their second straight game of the season, when they defeated the Ellis Mill No. 3 maidens of Monson by one point, 9 to 8. This game pleased some of the fans as much as the big game, for it was close playing from start to finish, the score at half-time being 7 all.

Both teams played a fine defensive game, the home girls scoring three times from the floor on baskets by Edna Howard and Evelyn Archambault, while the Misses Dubie and Johnson, the visiting forwards, scored the floor baskets for their team.

Much credit goes to Miss Goodnow, coach of the local girls' team, for their success and, although they have won both of their games by one point margins, they are, no doubt, able to hold their own against most of the girl teams in this vicinity.

Death of Louise M. Putnam

TURKEY HILL NEWS

Louise Minerva Putnam, daughter of Harry F. and Rosabelle M. Putnam, died Saturday morning after an illness of less than two days. She was born March 8, 1918, in this town and had attended the schools up to the third grade.

She leaves besides her father and mother, two sisters, Florence and Alice of Rutland, Vt., and a brother, Alfred, and a sister, Edith, at home.

The funeral was held in the M. E. vestry Tuesday at 2 with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery. Rev. Cato Dick officiated. The bearers were Herman C. Paine of Ludlow, Clifton L. Roach of Westfield, Leland R. Olds of Palmer, and Leslie M. Olds of Granby, all cousins. Many flowers were sent from friends and relatives in this vicinity and those in other states unable to attend.

Grange Notes

There were 9 tables in play at this week's military whist party in Grange hall. The high score was 96, the winners being Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt, Mrs. Charles Austin, Mrs. Melvin Ayers and Howell Cook.

The following attained the low score of 34: Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Shumway and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ketchen.

Refreshments were served, consisting of doughnuts, sandwiches and coffee.

Gentlemen's night will be observed at the next meeting on Tuesday night. Charles H. Sanford,

Supper and Entertainment

All signs evidently fail in a cold time as well as a dry time, for although the temperature was below zero, the people flocked to the M. E. church supper, Wednesday evening. Around a hundred sat down to the menu of baked beans, hash, cabbage salad, etc., served by the committee who were undaunted by the number of guests. Large candles and red berries on the tables lent an inviting atmosphere.

The play, "Hans von Smash," was a side splitting comedy that highly amused the audience. Even the actors had hard work to keep from breaking down. The cast of characters were:

Table listing actors and roles for the play 'Hans von Smash'.

Democratic Caucus

As Democratic caucuses go, the caucus of Tuesday evening was largely attended, over 60 voting. There was only one contest, that for selectmen, and the final chapter has not yet been written regarding that.

The town committee brought in the names of the old board, but Francis M. Austin, Peter Hanifin and Joseph Bothwell were nominated. The latter was tied with Frank L. Gold for third place, creating a vacancy which the town committee filled in favor of Bothwell. As a number of ballots were thrown out at the caucus by reason of wrong initials, most of them for Gold it is reported, a petition for a recount was filed. This will take place this evening at 7 by the registrars.

Other nominees were:

Moderator Alvan R. Lewis Town Clerk George H. B. Green Town Treasurer Courtland G. Bartlett Assessor, 3 yrs. Joseph J. Kempkes Tax Collector Dwight F. Shumway Cemetery Commissioner, 3 yrs. Edward A. Randall Tree Warden George M. Kelley School Com., 3 yrs. Everett A. Geer School Com., 2 yrs. Mrs. Ella Garvey

Constables Guy C. Allen, Sr. Bertram E. Shaw Thomas E. Hanifin John A. Gould Clarence Bisnette

The caucus officials were: moderator, Daniel O'Connor; clerk, Cornelius Lynch; tellers, Walter McKillop, John Keyes, Fred Dewey, Miss Gertrude Riley.

Republican Caucus

There was a big turn-out at the Republican caucus, Wednesday afternoon, at 1.30, more than 125 voting. There were only two contests, viz: selectmen and constables. The town committee submitted 7 names as candidates for selectmen, but that of W. S. Piper was withdrawn at his request. The vote was as follows:

Glee Club Entertainment

The crowd at the M. A. C. Glee Club entertainment given under the auspices of B. H. S., last Friday night was a bit distant, most everyone resorting to the gallery, which was well filled. A good audience on the floor would have lent "atmosphere" to the occasion, but the entertainers gave a good program nevertheless. The offering was varied, the specialty features being by far the most popular.

Don Savage and his "whatsit" got the folks interested, while Romeo and Juliet were decidedly taking. The fancy dancing of Dutch Ansell was admirably executed. The Glee club was directed by Clarence Parsons of North Amherst.

There was a good patronage at the dance which followed, music for which was furnished by the 8-piece Glee club orchestra. The proceeds were about $20.

Dies in Amherst

Mrs. Eliza Root Dwight French, 86, died at her home in Amherst, Jan. 19. She was born in Belchertown May 16, 1841, the daughter of Harrison Dunbar Dwight and Sophia Almira Cook, and lived on the family homestead of some 400 acres at Dwight. July 17, 1862, she married James Paulus French, son of Rev. James French of New York, a graduate of Amherst college at the age of 19 at the head of his class. He was a superior linguist, a teacher of Greek and Latin for six years, and in 1865 was made professor of elocution at the University of St. Louis, Mo. He died at the age of 26, "rejoicing in Christ." Mrs. French then returned to Belchertown to live.

It was a few years later that the old homestead burned down. The family were all away spending the day at Mt. Holyoke. On their return they found their home in ashes and all the little keepsakes of the husband and lover gone, not even a picture of him remaining to the young widow. The father, Harrison Dwight, then built the house now standing, owned today by W. M. Goodell of Dwight.

After Mr. Dwight's death, Mrs. French and her daughter, Dora Dwight French, with her mother and sister, Miss Clara Lamb Dwight, moved to Amherst where Miss Dwight is still living. Besides her sister she leaves a grand-daughter, Miss Marion Dwight Page of Manchester, N. H.

The funeral was held in Amherst Friday afternoon at 2 with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery, Belchertown.

BASKETBALL

Tuesday, Jan. 18, there was a basketball game between Junior and Freshmen boys. There had been rumors around the school that the Freshmen would lick the Juniors all to stuffins. Their belief was founded on the fact that they put it all over the Sophies last week, but this rumor did not hold true, it turned out, as the game ended with the score 51-6 in favor of the juniors. The Freshies have not said much about the game since.

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN

Mr. Allen has announced that he will give prizes to the winning basketball teams at the end of the season, for both boys' and girls' teams—nothing expensive but something worth while.

LUNCH SERVED

On Wednesday, Jan. 19, a luncheon was served to Supt. and Mrs. Knight by the Sophomore class of the Domestic Science Department. The menu was as follows: Tomato Bisque, Hot Rolls, Salmon Mold Salad, Whipped Cream Cake, Cocoa.

B. H. S.'s HERCULES

A Freshie boy while testing his strength on the main room pencil sharpener, cranked so fast that it snapped off and fell to the floor. Oh well! what can be expected of a Freshie, anyway.

GREEN TIES WORN

The girls' varsity team voted to wear green ties at all official games. At this meeting Stella Skribiski was elected captain of the team.

"COLD CURER"

Mr. Cox tried to cure the biology class of their colds with chlorine gas. It was all right while the class stayed in the room with the gas, but when they returned to their rooms, the colds seemed to return also.

A double header high school game has been announced for Wednesday, Feb. 2, the girls playing the Northampton Commercial college and the boys are negotiating for a game with St. Bridgets at Amherst. The high school games will probably be played first, starting at 7.30. Admission for the three games will be fifty cents.

To see if the Town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $1,000.00 to be used in conjunction with such sums as may be allotted by the State and County for permanent construction work on the Three Rivers road beginning at point where construction work ended in 1926 to connect with the now improved portion and continuing in a northerly direction.

Art. 14. To see if the Town will vote to lease to the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc. a right of way over land of the town, situate near the garage building now occupied by said Incorporation; or take any action relative thereto.

Art. 15. To see if the Town will vote to extend the street lighting system down on Springfield road and install one more light on said road; and raise and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 16. To see if the Town will vote to install an electric light on Federal street near the residence of H. W. Conkey; and raise and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 17. To see if the Town will vote to purchase a power lawn mower; and raise and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 18. To see if the Town will vote to extend the sidewalk on West Walnut street to the Giguere houses; and raise and appropriate money for the same.

Art. 19. To see if the Town will vote to grant to Mrs. D. Louise Bridgman permission to set apart such portions of her land north of Mt. Hope cemetery for cemetery lots as the occasion may require, lots to be one rod square with an avenue between each row of double lots; and that no lot be sold for more than thirty-five dollars.

Art. 20. To see if the Town will authorize the selectmen to sell and convey its Turkey Hill wood lot; or take any action relative thereto.

Art. 21. To see if the town will rescind the vote passed at the annual meeting under Article 10 contained in the warrant for said meeting and which meeting was held on February 7th, 1921.

Art. 22. To see if the Town will vote to sell to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts the Poor Farm property, so called, including the land, with the buildings thereon, and the furniture, fixtures and other equipment thereof; or take any action relative thereto.

Art. 23. To see if the Town will, in the event of the sale of the Poor Farm property, so-called, establish a permanent fund from the proceeds of such sale, and such permanent fund to be invested by the treasurer of the town with the approval of the selectmen; the income from this fund to be annually added to the appropriation for the Poor department; or take any action relative thereto.

Indian Orchard A. C. Trims Independents

By Noel

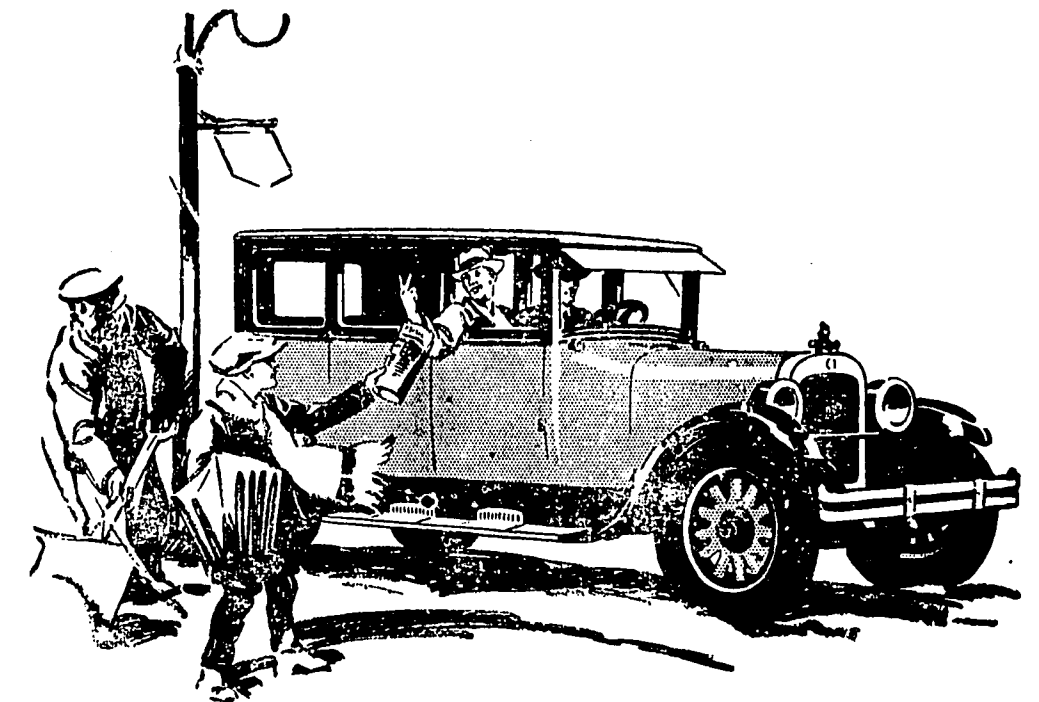

The fast Indian Orchard A. C. buried the Belchertown Independents under a shower of baskets by a score of 62 to 30 on the town hall floor Wednesday night, before the smallest crowd of the season. The game was a one-sided affair and at half-time, the Orchardites left the floor on the long end of the score, 36 to 11.

Mayo, the Indian Orchard right forward, no doubt, set up a record for points scored in a single game on the local floor. This young player is fast on his feet and has the ability of being a high scorer, tallying 26 points on thirteen scrimmage counts. He was ably assisted by his teammate, Lavoie, who scored seven floor goals for a total of 14 points.

The first half opened with baskets by the visiting forwards, Mayo and Lavoie, giving them the lead which they held through the entire game. Jack Fairchild was the first scorer for the home team with a two-pointer and was followed with a similar shot by Charlie Austin. Although the home boys were playing a good game, they could not seem to check the speedy teamwork of the visiting quintet and at half-time were trailing by a wide margin.

Paige Piper, local star, was sent into the lineup for the last half, and this proved to be a big help for the Independents, who displayed a much better brand of basketball and managed to hold their own with the Indian Orchards, being outscored by only seven points, 26 to 19.

The Independents, composed entirely of local players, played well considering the fast aggregation they were up against. Jack Fairchild, Paige Piper and Hodgdon, former Arms Academy star, alternated at the forward court, the latter also playing center. Fairchild is enjoying one of the best seasons of his basketball career and is well able to play the position that he is assigned to, either forward or guard. He was high scorer for the home team with six baskets for a total of 12 points. Piper played his usual steady game and scored seven points on three baskets and a free try. Although outweighed by all his opposing players, he is developing to be a fine basketball player and is playing a good game for the Independents. Wells Stacy, who jumped center in the first half, also played well. It must be remembered that Stacy was one of the best young players here a few years back, when the Grammar school was represented by a team. Charlie Austin was paired up in the back court with the veteran, "Beef" Spencer, who still enjoys donning a uniform. Austin, besides playing a fine defensive game, dropped in three long shots, all of the difficult variety. Spencer played a good game, also, and brought many cheers from the crowd, his weight proving to be a stumbling block for the visitors. Mayo and Lavoie featured for the Indian Orchard A. C.

In the preliminary, the Belchertown second team was handed a setback by the Bonds-ville A. A. second team, 30 to 19. The local boys held the lead for a time, but the visitors rallied and led at half time, 22 to 6.

Malcolm Dorey starred for Belchertown, while Marsan featured for Bonds-ville. Summaries:

Rev. Cato Dick went to Leyden yesterday to officiate at the funeral of George Black, one of the young people burned to death on the Bernardston road, Monday night, when the car overturned and the gasoline tank exploded. Both of the occupants who were killed were taken into the church by Mr. Dick during his Leyden pastorate.

Miss Frances Sauer entered the training class for nurses at the Springfield City hospital yesterday. The Misses Alice and Rachel Randall attended the dairy club meeting in Northampton last Saturday.

There will be moving pictures in the town hall tomorrow night.

ciding the winner, and the home team hopes to repeat again. The Independents have not yet recovered from their slump, but Manager Eddie Parent states that he will have the strongest lineup of the season to represent Belchertown next week. In the Independents' lineup will be Em Grayson, Bill Williams, Charlie Austin, Jack Fairchild, Paige Piper and Hodgdon. It will be the first time this season that the Grayson-Williams combination will appear here and, as these two famous players are well known to local basketball fans, they, with the local talent, should draw one of the banner crowds of the season.

A preliminary, which will also be a good attraction, has been arranged by the local management. The B. H. S. Girls' team, with two straight wins to their credit, will play the Northampton Commercial College Maidens at 7.45 o'clock. Basketball fans, don't miss the big attraction of the season!

Grange Notes

A most interesting program was provided by the men, C. H. Sanford, chairman, at the Grange meeting, Tuesday evening. Thos. Allen gave a very instructive talk on IQ's (Intelligence Quotients), basing his remarks on the special course which he took at M. A. C., last summer.

In lighter vein were the farce, "Two Kinds of Greenhorns," by Paul Aldrich and Charles Sanford, and the discussion, "Is a woman more of a nuisance in the field than a man is in the house?" led by E. F. Shumway and Leon Williams against Miss Gertrude Riley and Mrs. C. H. Sanford. There was also impromptu singing by the men and jokes and story telling. "Sing a song or tell a story or pay a fine," was part of the program of the evening.

Mrs. H. F. Duncan was installed as Flora at this meeting. It was voted to hold a military whist party next Tuesday evening.

Death of

Michael Fitzgerald

Michael Fitzgerald, 54, of the Cold Spring district, died late last week Wednesday night at his home, after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was born at Bondsville and had lived in this section all his life. Mr. Fitzgerald was well known as a carpenter and a contractor, having done considerable construction work on dwellings in this vicinity. He leaves two sisters, Bridget C. and Josie; two brothers, Patrick J. and James F., all at home. The funeral was held Saturday morning at the home at 8.30, followed by a high mass of requiem at St. Bartholomew's church at Bondsville at 9. Burial was in St. Thomas's cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Melvina Lemon

Mrs. Melvina Lemon died of pneumonia Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Baggs, where she had been staying for several months. She leaves eight children, Mrs. Baggs, Benjamin Hubbard, Mrs. Eugene Eaton, Mrs. Charles Dunakin and Clarence and Leon Hubbard of this town, and Herbert Hubbard of Holyoke and Mrs. Harry Melberg of Ludlow. There are 26 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren, also two sisters, Mrs. Martha Woodbury of Brockton and Mrs. Nettie Nichols of Granby.

She was born 76 years ago in Tolland, Ct., but had spent most of her life in Belchertown, Granby and Ludlow. Her maiden name was Burns. She was first married to Lyman Hubbard of this town. After his death she married Ellery Crafts of Granby, and later Mr. Lemon, father of Frank and James Lemon of this town, who died several years ago.

The funeral took place from the Baggs' home Thursday at 2 p. m., Rev. Cato Dick officiating, with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery. The bearers were three grandsons, Lyman and Garfield Hubbard and Donald Eaton, and a son-in-law, Harry Melberg.

Social Guild Supper and Entertainment

The Social Guild ladies surely did themselves proud at the "hostess" supper served Wednesday evening at the chapel, and the public was not unresponsive, more than a hundred coming out to partake of the meat pie and salad supper. Dainty pink and white favors (containing salted peanuts) made by members of the committee, brightened the tables most decidedly, and large candles supplemented the electric lighting. There were special tables reserved in the main room for the Boy Scouts and the Scout council who entertained the boys.

After the supper there were games in charge of Miss Mary Howard. The supper committee for the evening were: Mrs. G. E. Scott, Mrs. Fred Lincoln, Mrs. C. F. Aspengren, Mrs. E. W. Beach, Mrs. H. F. Duncan and Mrs. Dwight Randall.

Already plans are shaping for the supper March 2 that will be served by the men. This is usually an unusual event.

Relative to the Warrant

In our list of "new" articles in the warrant last week, we might well have included Art. 8, which reads: "To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $500.00 for the use of Clapp Memorial library for the ensuing year, and act thereon."

Art. 21 seeks to rescind the vote passed at the annual town meeting, Feb. 7, 1921, whereby a committee was entrusted with the sale of the town farm. Some of the committee have removed from town and it was thought that the state might not accept the title as legal under that vote. The minutes of that particular town meeting, as printed in the succeeding town report, records action as follows under the article in question:

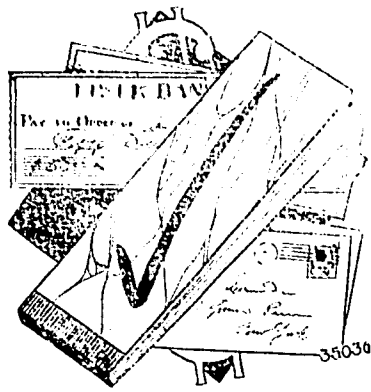

"Art. 10. (Relative to sale of Town Farm.)

"Voted, that a Committee of three be named by the Chair, to serve without pay until discharged by vote of the Town. It shall be the duty of this Committee to seek an opportunity to advantageously dispose of the property, both real and personal, connected with our Town Farm. When in the opinion of a majority of this Committee such an opportunity is found, they shall confer with the then Board of Selectmen regarding the proposed sale; and if the proposition meets the approval of a majority of the said Selectmen, this Committee as agents of the Town, is empowered and authorized to dispose of and convey the said property.

"In the event of the said property being sold, the proceeds of such sale shall be invested as a permanent fund by a trustee or trustees chosen by the Town. The income from this fund to be added annually to the appropriation for the Pauper Department. Until the election of said trustees the Selectmen to act as such trustees.

"The Committee named by the chair and confirmed by vote of the meeting: M. A. Morse, Roswell Allen and Edgar E. Sargent."

Authorities at the State school have not as yet been informed as to whether a part of the $205,000.00 recommended by the governor in his budget for the local institution includes a sum for the purchase of the town farm property.

Grange Notes

A most interesting program was provided by the men, C. H. Sanford, chairman, at the Grange meeting, Tuesday evening. Thos. Allen gave a very instructive talk on IQ's (Intelligence Quotients), basing his remarks on the special course which he took at M. A. C., last summer.

In lighter vein were the farce, "Two Kinds of Greenhorns," by Paul Aldrich and Charles Sanford, and the discussion, "Is a woman more of a nuisance in the field than a man is in the house?" led by E. F. Shumway and Leon Williams against Miss Gertrude Riley and Mrs. C. H. Sanford. There was also impromptu singing by the men and jokes and story telling. "Sing a song or tell a story or pay a fine," was part of the program of the evening.

Mrs. H. F. Duncan was installed as Flora at this meeting. It was voted to hold a military whist party next Tuesday evening.

Death of

Michael Fitzgerald

Michael Fitzgerald, 54, of the Cold Spring district, died late last week Wednesday night at his home, after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was born at Bondsville and had lived in this section all his life. Mr. Fitzgerald was well known as a carpenter and a contractor, having done considerable construction work on dwellings in this vicinity. He leaves two sisters, Bridget C. and

St. Francis church whist party in Park View hall.

Appropriations meeting in Memorial hall at 7.30 p. m.

Feb. 16
Ladies' Social Union supper.

Feb. 21
Annual Masonic Ball.

Mar. 2
Men's supper at chapel.

Josie; two brothers, Patrick J. and James F., all at home. The funeral was held Saturday morning at the home at 8.30, followed by a high mass of requiem at St. Bartholomew's church at Bondsville at 9. Burial was in St. Thomas's cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Melvina Lemon

Mrs. Melvina Lemon died of pneumonia Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Baggs, where she had been staying for several months. She leaves eight children, Mrs. Baggs, Benjamin Hubbard, Mrs. Eugene Eaton, Mrs. Charles Dunakin and Clarence and Leon Hubbard of this town, and Herbert Hubbard of Holyoke and Mrs. Harry Melberg of Ludlow. There are 26 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren, also two sisters, Mrs. Martha Woodbury of Brockton and Mrs. Nettie Nichols of Granby.

She was born 76 years ago in Tolland, Ct., but had spent most of her life in Belchertown, Granby and Ludlow. Her maiden name was Burns. She was first married to Lyman Hubbard of this town. After his death she married Ellery Crafts of Granby, and later Mr. Lemon, father of Frank and James Lemon of this town, who died several years ago.

The funeral took place from the Baggs' home Thursday at 2 p. m., Rev. Cato Dick officiating, with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery. The bearers were three grandsons, Lyman and Garfield Hubbard and Donald Eaton, and a son-in-law, Harry Melberg.

Social Guild Supper and Entertainment

The Social Guild ladies surely did themselves proud at the "hostess" supper served Wednesday evening at the chapel, and the public was not unresponsive, more than a hundred coming out to partake of the meat pie and salad supper. Dainty pink and white favors (containing salted peanuts) made by members of the committee, brightened the tables most decidedly, and large candles supplemented the electric lighting. There were special tables reserved in the main room for the Boy Scouts and the Scout council who entertained the boys.

After the supper there were games in charge of Miss Mary Howard. The supper committee for the evening were: Mrs. G. E. Scott, Mrs. Fred Lincoln, Mrs. C. F. Aspengren, Mrs. E. W. Beach, Mrs. H. F. Duncan and Mrs. Dwight Randall.

Already plans are shaping for the supper March 2 that will be served by the men. This is usually an unusual event.

Relative to the Warrant

In our list of "new" articles in the warrant last week, we might well have included Art. 8, which reads: "To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $500.00 for the use of Clapp Memorial library for the ensuing year, and act thereon."

Art. 21 seeks to rescind the vote passed at the annual town meeting, Feb. 7, 1921, whereby a committee was entrusted with the sale of the town farm. Some of the committee have removed from town and it was thought that the state might not accept the title as legal under that vote. The minutes of that particular town meeting, as printed in the succeeding town report, records action as follows under the article in question:

"Art. 10. (Relative to sale of Town Farm.)

"Voted, that a Committee of three be named by the Chair, to serve without pay until discharged by vote of the Town. It shall be the duty of this Committee to seek an opportunity to advantageously dispose of the property, both real and personal, connected with our Town Farm. When in the opinion of a majority of this Committee such an opportunity is found, they shall confer with the then Board of Selectmen regarding the proposed sale; and if the proposition meets the approval of a majority of the said Selectmen, this Committee as agents of the Town, is empowered and authorized to dispose of and convey the said property."

"In the event of the said property being sold, the proceeds of such sale shall be invested as a permanent fund by a trustee or trustees chosen by the Town. The income from this fund to be added annually to the appropriation for the Pauper Department. Until the election of said trustees the Selectmen to act as such trustees.

"The Committee named by the chair and confirmed by vote of the meeting: M. A. Morse, Roswell Allen and Edgar E. Sargent."

Authorities at the State school have not as yet been informed as to whether a part of the $205,000.00 recommended by the governor in his budget for the local institution includes a sum for the purchase of the town farm property.

"LAST CHAPTER TO BE WRITTEN ON THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Edited by Frank L. Gold

To enlighten the thinking citizens of Belchertown the following facts are written.

At the Democratic town caucus held Jan. 25th in the town hall, Joseph C. Bothwell was accredited 22 votes and Frank L. Gold was accredited with the same number. Frank R. Gold was given 16 votes as a result of a clerical error on the part of Wm. Sullivan who inadvertently dictated to a stenographer Frank R. Gold instead of Frank L. Gold the ticket he was sponsoring for the writer. There was no question in the minds of any of the voters when they voted for Frank R. Gold as to who the individual was for whom they were voting. There is but one Gold in town who is a voter and his first name is Frank. Although his middle initial is L there could be no question in the minds of any sane person who was counting the votes, or in the mind of any registrar who might be called upon to recount the votes, as to who the candidate was. As above stated 16 votes were cast for Frank R. Gold. At the recount of the registrars on Friday night, Jan. 28th, only 10 of the 16 votes were found. The question being asked on the street corners of Belchertown today is, what became of the 6 lost votes?

A petition for a recount signed by 10 voters was promptly filed requesting a recount of the votes cast for Frank L. Gold and Frank R. Gold. This recount was held as stated above on Friday night, Jan. 28th, and at this recount Frank L. Gold was represented by his attorney, John Ross, of Holyoke, who was prepared to give citations from the Superior court records, all of these citations being actual decisions in similar cases at elections in this state.

The law governing counters at an election, or a board of registrars, has been laid down time and again as indicated in the citations mentioned, that, "Wherever by the appearance of a ballot the possible intention of the voter can be determined, the candidate running for office must be given the benefit of the doubt and accredited with the vote cast." Nevertheless the very intelligent board of registrars of Belchertown voted that Frank L. Gold could not possibly be given the votes cast for Frank R. Gold because it did not stand to reason that the two names meant the same candidate.

The individuals composing the board of registrars are M. J. McKillop, Roy G. Shaw, Joe Kempkes and G. H. B. Green. As a result of the recount, 22 votes were found for Joseph C. Bothwell, three votes for Joe Bothwell, 22 votes for Frank L. Gold, 10 votes for Frank R. Gold and five ballots on which Joseph C. Bothwell's name appeared, although no check marks had been placed opposite the names of any of the candidates on these five blank ballots. The marvelously acute minded registrars unanimously agreed that these five blank ballots should be given to Joseph C. Bothwell although no mark had been placed opposite his name. Therefore the final figures given out by the board of registrars indicates that Joseph C. Bothwell should be given 27 votes and Frank L. Gold should be given 22.

The facts set forth above should have a deep significance and seem of sufficient importance to the thinking voters of Belchertown to warrant their publication."

Town Items

In a recent issue we recorded the death of Mrs. Sarah Porter Smith, a native of Belchertown, who died in Brooklyn, N. Y. It seems that she lived in the house that once stood east of that of Fred Underwood. She was related to the Underwood family, but her residence here dates so far back that most citizens remember only the barn that remained long after the house, and even that was removed some 30 or 40 years ago.

Ramsey Macdonald of the State school has returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in New York.

M. Watson Bardwell of M. I. T. is visiting relatives in town.

Harold Booth has been drawn to serve as traverse juror and Walter Dunbar as grand juror.

Independents Return to "Win" Column

By Noel

The Belchertown Independents jumped back into the winning column Wednesday night by handing a sound beating to the Big Five of Ludlow by a score of 47 to 22 on the town hall floor before one of the largest crowds of the season. The local team, strengthened by the addition of Smith, Amherst star, was represented by one of the strongest quintets that has ever played here. Although the visitors led during the first five minutes of play, the crowd was determined that the home team was on its way to a decisive victory.

When the Independents came on to the floor for a short practice session, many a cheer was given them by the basketball fans, for this is the order that they marched in: Hodgdon, Hogan, Smith, Jack Fairchild, Connie Lynch, Charlie Austin, Bill Williams and Em Grayson. With such a galaxy of stars ready to perform, it was a hard proposition to pick out the starting lineup, the management finally deciding to let every player take part in the game.

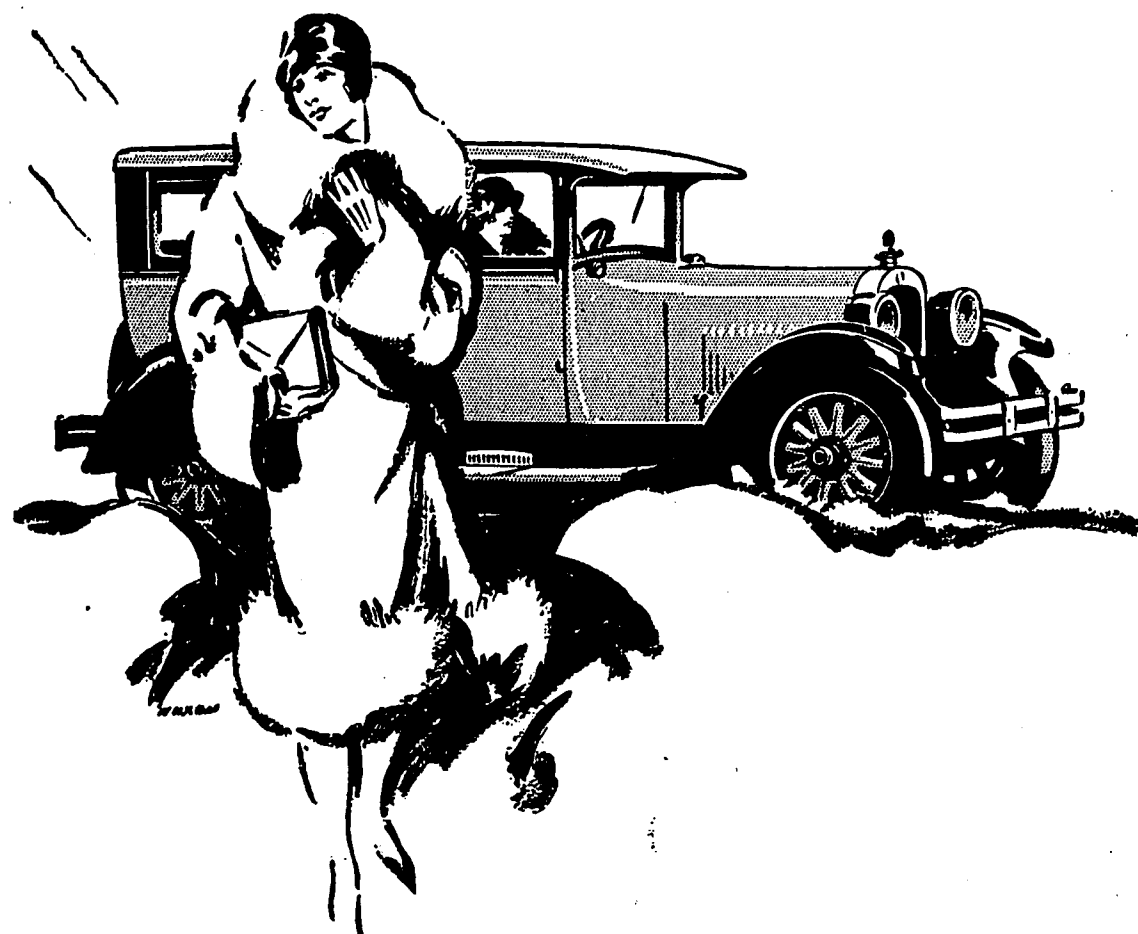

Smith, local left forward, opened the scoring with a basket from under the hoop. B. Gregoire of the visitors was fouled by Smith and made good on his free toss. Mayo dropped in a floor goal, giving the visitors the lead 3 to 2. The home team was not to be outdone and, led by Em Grayson, with that little familiar smile, soon took possession of the ball after some fine defensive teamwork and started popping the basket from all directions, the scoring being done by Smith, Williams and Grayson. The visitors were playing their best and soon found out that they had a hard proposition ahead of them, trailing at half time, 20 to 7.

Substitutions were in order and both teams shifted their lineups for the final period. Soon after play began, Lavoie and Mayo each scored from the floor, bringing the Ludlow score up to 11. But this is as close as the visitors ever came to the home team's score, for, from then on, the Independents scored two baskets from the floor to the visitors' one.

Not enough can be said of the fine teamwork, both on the offense and defense, of the Independents. Em Grayson played one of the best games of his career. Besides holding his opponent to one floor basket, he was all over the floor and scored 19 points on nine baskets and one free try. Three of his baskets were of the long shot variety, dropping them in from three-fourths of the length of the hall. Williams played his usual clean game and with Grayson makes a combination that is a big favorite with local fans. Smith, recently signed up by Manager Parent, played his first game and strengthens the team considerably in teamwork and has a keen eye for the hoop. The home boys, Austin, Fairchild, Lynch, Hodgdon and Hogan also deserve great credit in the victory, for they made up the defense of the Independents, breaking up many of the visitors' formations. The three former players each found time to drop in a floor goal. Fair-child's one-handed side shot was the feature of the game and brought many a cheer from the crowd. Hodgdon and Hogan went scoreless. For the Big Five, Mayo and Lavoie did the best work, and are none other than the forward combination which played here with the Indian Orchard A. C. previously.

Preceding the big game was the battle between the B. H. S. Girls' team and the West Springfield Girls' club, the latter substituting for the Northampton Commercial College maidens, who had been previously announced to play here. This game was very interesting and was won by the West Side girls, 13 to 7. It also marked the first loss of

Preceding the big game was the battle between the B. H. S. This game was very interesting and was won by the West Side girls, 13 to 7. It also marked the first loss of the season for the B. H. S. girls. It was a hard fought game from start to finish and the local girls certainly played well, for they were up against the fastest girls' team in the vicinity of Springfield. Led by Sis Mahoney, the best girl player in this state, the visitors took the lead at the start and were never headed.

The scoring opened with a basket and two free tries by the Misses Mahoney and Duffy, respectively. Evelyn Archambault then broke the ice for the home team with a pretty shot, this being the high school girls' only floor basket of the game. At half time, the West Siders led, 11 to 5. The final period proved to be the feature of the game, the defense of both teams breaking up play after play which resulted in each team scoring only two points. The entire home team played well, with Evelyn Archambault the leading scorer with one basket and two free tries. The Misses Mahoney, Duffy and Scharmer starred for the West Side girls.

In the preliminary, the B. H. S. boys' team lost their opening game of the season to the St. Bridget Midgets of Amherst in a fast game, 32 to 13.

B. H. S. played better basketball in the first half and managed to hold their own with the college town boys, who led at half time, 10 to 6.

B. H. S. "Bulletin Board"

By Managing Editors

Last Thursday, Mrs. Clough, the music instructor, arranged a very interesting program. The performers consisted of Mr. Allen, who sang a solo, and six children from the Junior High school sang a very beautiful and very difficult negro spiritual.

"SMARTIES"

A short time ago the second division of the General Science class (Freshmen) had a lesson on the making of soap. The following conversation was carried on between Mr. Allen and a Freshman girl in the class.

Mr. A.—"How are soaps made?"
Freshman—"From boiled fats."
Mr. A.—"Is that all?"
Freshman—"Yes."
After several other questions had been asked, Mr. Allen gave this one. "What do you do when you don't tell the truth?"
Freshman—"Fib."
Mr. Allen—"What do you say, class?"
Class—"Lie."
Mr. Allen—"Then what do you put in together with boiled fats to make soap?"
Freshman—"Lye."

HAS LEFT B. H. S.

Miss Jean Bain, one of the substitutes on the varsity team, and a Junior, has left the High school and has moved to South Hadley Falls where she is making her home with her mother. She will be greatly missed by her classmates.

NEW BUS

The pupils of the Holyoke bus had the pleasure of riding to school on Tuesday morning in Mr. Peeso's cattle truck. Everybody enjoyed the ride immensely and were loath to leave the bus when they arrived at school.

GAMES

A basketball game was played Friday, January 28, 1927, between the Junior and Freshmen teams. Both teams played well but, of course, the Freshmen were working under disadvantages, as this is the first year they have ever played. The score was 32 to 6 in favor of the Juniors. Lineup:

A VALUE?

Mr. Cox, while asking questions in the Botany class, inquired the use of the hairs on the roots of a seedling. Edward Madison said they were to keep its head warm.

A VISITOR

The Domestic Science department sponsored a very interesting lecture on Tuesday, February 1, 1927. It was on bread making and biscuit making and was given by Miss Chabin of the Hampshire County Extension Service. Over fifty girls were present. Miss Conklin has announced that it is likely a second lecture of similar nature will be given some afternoon for the mothers.

DEBATES

Debates will take place in Miss Goodnow's room, Feb. 9, 1927, between the members of the Sophomore English class. It is expected that either Mr. Allen or Supt. Knight will be present. The topics to be debated upon deal with current events. Four debating teams with three members on each side have been appointed.

The Ballot

We print below the list of candidates as they will appear on the ballot for the town election next Monday. In last week's list of Democratic nominees, Fred F. Dewey should have been listed as candidate for cemetery commissioner, in place of Edward A. Randall, the Republican nominee. Ellen J. Garvey of Cold Spring St. is the Democratic candidate for school committee for two years instead of Ella Garvey of the center. Joseph Kempkes has withdrawn as a candidate for assessor, leaving the field clear to Henry H. Witt, a former member of the board.

In the recount of votes polled at the Democratic caucus last week, the registrars, acting under the advice of counsel regarding votes in question, certified the name of Joseph C. Bothwell as candidate for selectman, and announced the vote as follows:

A QUESTION

After reading a few of Machiavelli's essays on chicanery, one wonders how long he would last as a modern used car dealer. It would give him a great laugh, we know, to see how conscientiously we recondition our Used Cars before offering them for sale. But the proof of a principle is in its success—and the laugh would be on him, after all.

the local team in the second half, which was played at a fast pace. The scoring of the Amherst team was well divided, every player scoring at least two points. Foley and Kelly were the star players. Paige Piper played best for B. H. S. and scored nine points on three baskets and three free tries. In fact, the entire team played well for its first game. Summaries:	Longtime, rb	1	1	3

Miss Lillian S. Chabin, a representative of the Russell Milling Co., gave a two-hour demonstration at the Domestic Science room yesterday afternoon on yeast bread, which was attended by fifty of the High school girls. Miss Chabin, who comes through the courtesy of the Extension Service of the Hampshire County Farm Bureau, will return March 8 and give a demonstration to the mothers on German coffee cake made with yeast bread. The Domestic Science department hopes for a large attendance at that time.

A whist party under the auspices of St. Francis church will be held in the Park View hall tonight. Tickets are 50 cents.

An invitation dance will be held at Memorial hall tonight. Hamilton's orchestra of Amherst will furnish music.

Boy Scout Activities

Wednesday was Boy Scout day in town—at least the boys had considerable on the program. There was a hike in the afternoon (nine went), and at 6.30 they were entertained at the meat pie supper in the chapel by the Scout council, each member of the council providing for at least one boy.

At the meeting in the new Scout rooms after supper, games in charge of H. F. Peck were played. Dr. G. E. McPherson gave a few remarks, sounding the changes on being good scouts and supporting the organization.

Plans were made to go to Northampton next week Wednesday to attend the celebration at the Smith School. About 25 were present at the evening's doings.

Mrs. B. E. Shaw is at the Holyoke hospital where she was operated on Tuesday for appendicitis.

The fire department was called to a chimney fire at H. F. Duncan's Tuesday.

George Rood has been ill with the grip this past week.

Dies in Springfield

Mrs. Adella M. Sanford of Springfield, widow of George E. Sanford, died suddenly early Sunday morning of heart trouble at her home at 516 White street. Mrs. Sanford was born March 30, 1856, the daughter of Asahel H. and Ann Maria Dorman, and lived here all her life until her removal to Springfield in 1900. She retained her membership in the Congregational church of this place until her death, always sending a word of greeting to be given in response to her name at the roll call.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Warner, at home, and four sons, Harry D. of Springfield, George L. of Hartford, Fred W. and Earle L. of Ludlow; also six grandchildren, Mrs. Henry W. Kreiner, Harry D. Sanford, Jr., Helen G. Sanford, Marjorie L. Warner, all of Springfield, and Mildred E. and George M. Sanford, of Ludlow. A daughter, Florence, died in 1896, and a son, Estes, in 1906. Her husband's death occurred in 1916.

The funeral was held at the home in Springfield Wednesday afternoon at 1.30, Rev. Earl H. Thayer

Town Election

Monday brought real Republican weather to Belchertown as was evidenced by the election returns following the casting of 590 ballots, 460 in precinct A and 130 in precinct B. Cars took people to and from the polls all day long. Distance made no difference. The contest was a very close one, as the detailed returns given elsewhere, show.

Peter Hanifin ran only three votes behind Edward A. Fuller in the selectmen's race. A recount of the votes of these two persons was petitioned in consequence. This took place last night.

Extension Service Meeting

The Hampshire County Extension Service will hold a meeting in Grange hall next Wednesday at 1.30 p. m., to which the public is invited.

Miss Mildred Boice will speak on the use of milk in the home, and County Agent, Roland D. Paine on the dairy cow and milk question. Both the talks will be illustrated by slides.

Grange Notes

Nine tables were in play at the military whist party in Grange hall, Tuesday evening. The high score was 89 and was taken by E. F. Shumway, Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanford. The low score was 29 and was won by Mr. and Mrs. Fiske and Messrs. Johnston and Kennedy. Refreshments of doughnuts, cheese and coffee were served.

Union grange meets Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Washington and Lincoln evening will be observed with papers by Mrs. H. F. Curtis and Mrs. Harry Putnam.

The Town Report

The annual town report is approaching completion.

First in the book is the list of town officers for 1926, then follows the minutes of the town meetings of Feb. 1 and 8 of last year. Then comes the jury list with names of those drawn to serve. Precinct officers are given on page 11. Vital statistics are next in the book. These occupy eight pages. The assessors' report is to be found on pages 20 and 21. The number of cows assessed was 1,128, or 102 less than in the previous year. 11,925 fowls are tabulated and 7,400 chicks.

Pages 22 to 66 contain the "Itemized Report of Receipts and Expenditures." If one hunts long enough he will likely find his name in this report. The treasurer's report follows. Herein is recorded receipts of $172,373.86 and expenditures of 179,210.99. On the next six pages is to be found the report of the town accountant, with the standing of all departments. On page 74 is the report of the cemetery commissioners, who have a balance on hand of 56 cents.

The next report is that of the collector, who gives as the amount of uncollected 1926 taxes as of Jan. 1, 1927, $15,298.70.

The school report occupies pages 77 to 99. First comes organization, school calendar, present corps of teachers, which is followed by the report of the school committee, who speak of the retirement of Supt. Lewis and the election of Herman C. Knight as his successor. The committee urges the keeping open of the highways for the school buses, tell of repairs made on school houses, outstanding among which has been the refinishing of two more rooms at Franklin to prevent the moisture which has long been a troublesome feature at that school. The committee advocates making minor repairs as needed, rather than more expensive ones at a later date.

Next in order is the report of Supt. Knight. He speaks of "the magnitude of the task that my predecessor has accomplished in centralization." Mention is made of the changes in teachers and of the three teachers' meetings held since

BASKETBALL GAMES

A game was played between the Sophomore girls and the Freshmen girls on Friday, Feb. 4, in the town hall. The Sophomores won, having the score of 15 to 1. In spite of the low score made by the Freshmen, the game was exciting and showed that they have improved.

On Feb. 8, 1927, the varsity boys' team played a scrub team. The score was 24 to 9 in favor of the varsity team. Some excellent playing was staged. The lineup was as follows:

Varsity	Scrub
Piper	Landers
Hill (center)	Austin (center)
Segur	Ferez
Galvin	Couture
Weston	Rhodes

Substitutes Dorey Lebeda (in one Camp period)

SHOES!

Mr. George Jackson has gone into the shoe-collecting business. He has a soap box filled with girls' and boys' sneakers. We're wondering if he is going to play the role of Prince Charming for each young lady.

GOES SHOPPING

The Domestic Science department is rejoicing over the addition of new silver in the Tudor design, a dozen linen napkins and tablecloth, and the start of a dinner service. Mrs. Scott as a member of the Advisory Board, and Miss Conklin, the Domestic Science teacher, made a special trip to Springfield to select them.

SOMETHING NEW

Mrs. Doris Squires, Librarian, has very kindly consented to give a short lecture on "The Benefit and Use of the Library." This is to be given to each class in the order of their standing in the school. The first will be given Friday, Feb. 11, 1927, to the Seniors.

MOTHERS' KINDNESS

Mrs. Archambault has been very considerate to open her home to the girls who play in the B. H. S. varsity basketball teams. It is impossible for the out-of-town girls to get home and consequently they are dependent upon the townspeople's kindness. The girls and their coach feel very grateful to both Mrs. Archambault and Mrs. Hussey who also offered shelter to the girls on the occasion of their last game.

SICK LIST

Miss Evelyn Gustafson is ill with appendicitis in the Mary Lane hospital in Ware. We're hoping that she will soon recover.

Miss Esther Hagstrom was at home ill with a hard cold for two days this week. She is back at her desk now.

Books Northampton Y. M. C. A.

Eddie Parent, manager of the Belchertown Independents, states that he has booked the fast Northampton Y. M. C. A. quintet to play his team here Thursday night at 8.15 o'clock at the town hall. The 'Hamp quintet boasts of a fast team and is made up of such players as Schueler, former Milton Bradley player of Springfield, Tarshis, August, Davis, Miller and Sullivan, all former 'Hamp High stars.

Manager Parent also wishes to thank all who are patronizing the games, for he has to depend upon the crowd for support of the team. Belchertown is now represented by one of the best basketball teams in this vicinity and the management is planning for a large crowd at next week's game.

The probable lineup of the big game is as follows:
Belchertown North. Y. M. C. A.
Smith, lf rb, Lucier
Grayson, rf lb, Tarshis
Williams, c c, Schueler
Austin, lf rf, August
Fairchild, rb lf, Davis school opened in September. Regarding school attendance, Mr. Knight has some very serious words of counsel to parents and guardians.

The superintendent tells of new text books purchased for the High school and new reading books. "The Bolenius System," secured for the first grade pupils of all the schools.

Speaking of the one-teacher schools of which five remain, he recommends that the 7th and 8th grade pupils be transported to the Franklin and Center schools. Attention is called to the favorable reimbursements that the state is willing to give by reason of normal trained teachers. Here, as in respect to school costs in general, the net cost is pointed out rather than the gross cost. In conclusion the superintendent expresses words of appreciation for his office in Memorial hall.

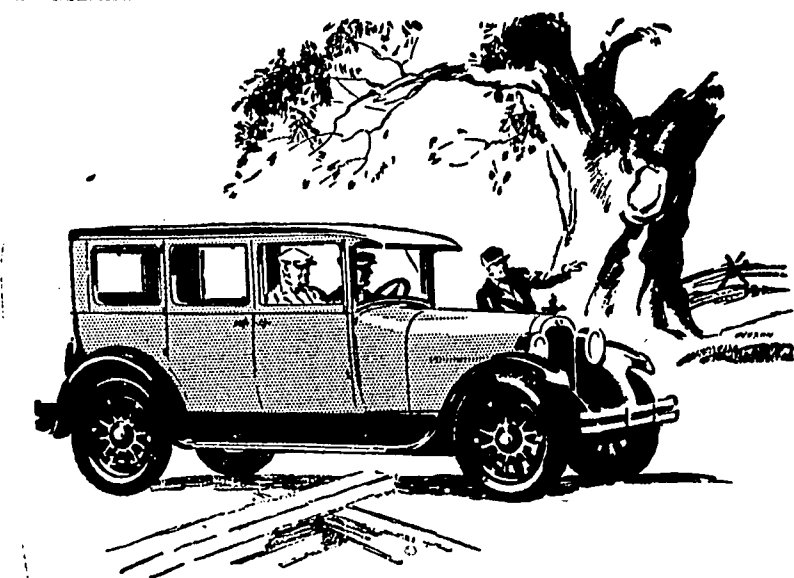

Prin. Thos. Allen, in his report, speaks of B. H. S. being certified for three-year periods by the College Entrance Board, which might "just as well be four or five." Mr. Allen calls attention to the physical training "well directed by Miss Goodnow for the girls and Mr. Cox for the boys," and the health work in charge of Mrs. Hoag. Shorthand and typewriter awards are given in detail.

In concluding, the principal says: "For the first time in the history of the school, the Terman Intelligence tests, A and B, were given in September and December, respectively. It is too much to discuss in this report. Sufficient to say that those with high IQ's and GQ's (gumption quotients) ought to be pushed to the limit of their abilities, and not be permitted to saunter along through school, mental laggards, because required to do only the amount of work that can be compassed by those far less capable than they."

D. F. Shumway reports receiving 18 summonses to investigate absences from school.

Miss Conklin, the domestic science teacher, reports a third-year course added in that department, mentions the exhibit last June when products valued at approximately $800 were shown, speaks of home visits and school lunches "successfully carried out on a paying basis."

In the report of the school nurse, Mrs. Hoag tells of the purchase of new scales, comments on the little sickness among the pupils during the year, and notes interest in the tooth brushing contests. She regrets that no effort has been made to serve cocoa or soup at the Center Grade building, and thinks there is urgent need of a Children's Protective association in town.

How to read Percentages

Were Dodge Brothers to sell 100 motor cars one year and 200 motor cars the next, they could truthfully announce that their sales had increased 100% in a single year. Yet they would only have sold 300 motor cars in all.

In other words, PERCENTAGE of annual gain is not conclusive. The NUMBER of cars sold is the true test.

That Dodge Brothers sales in 1926 showed an increase of 27.6% over 1925 is not the MAJOR fact to consider—striking as it is.

But that Dodge Brothers sold 259,967 cars in 1925, and then in 1926 sold 331,764—a gain of 71,797 sales in twelve months—tells a story of growth that stands out like a tower on the skyline of the industry.

Three hundred and thirty-one thousand buyers LAST year! Many more vital improvements added THIS year! No increase in price! Three powerful arguments for earnestly investigating this smart and sturdy product before deciding what to buy!

Mrs. Clough speaks of the larger chorus than usual at the High school, the organization of the orchestra, and the glee club in contemplation, the Christmas pageant at Franklin, and the monthly general assemblies to review songs at the Center Grade school building.

The school physician, Dr. J. L. Collard, reminds parents that they should receive the "notification of enlarged tonsils and adenoids in a friendly spirit, as 60 per cent. of ear troubles are caused by bad throats". One case of bone disease, which was treated at the Shriners' hospital in Springfield, was discharged as cured.

School finances are given pages 95 and 96 and show a net cost to the town of $23,582.65. The summary of school attendance is found on the page following, while the next two contain the graduation program and list of 1926 graduates.

The Overseers of Poor report aid furnished to six persons in their homes, one permanent and five temporary, also four inmates at the town farm. The Board of Health states that there have been 266 cases of contagious diseases, 259 of them being reported by the State school.

The town farm inventory occupies pages 101, 102, 103. The selectmen, in their report, tell of the hard surfacing of the Enfield road, the building of 2,400 feet of permanent construction on the Three Rivers road, and the gravelling of Fitzgerald flat. They recommend, at the request of state and county officials, the macadamizing of the Turkey Hill road by raising $2,000 each year for three years. The board looks with favor on the taking over of the town farm by the Common-

Independents Win Thrilling Game

By Noel

The Belchertown Independents with a last-half rally, won a thrilling game from the Agawam town team Wednesday night on the town hall floor by the close score of 38 to 31. It was one of the fastest and cleanest games played here and kept the crowd on its feet from start to finish. The visiting team, although composed of well-known individual players, certainly played a wonderful game and treated local fans to a fine exhibition of basketball. "Fat" Visnaw of the visitors was assigned to play against the great Em Grayson. Visnaw is a veteran of many hard fought games and is now playing with the Gilbert and Barker Five of West Springfield. Local fans will probably remember that he played here several years ago with the Irish-Americans of Springfield. "Sheik" Consolati was one of the fastest players on the floor and plays with the Italian Catholic club of Springfield, also with the Gilbert and Barker Five. Trincerri, manager and captain of the Agawam quintet, is another I. C. C. player. Hansberry plays with the Mass. Mutuals of Springfield and the West Side A. A., while Reed past-times with the West Side A. A. There is no doubt that such a combination of players can hold their own against any teams in this vicinity.

teams battled on even terms during the first quarter. Bill Williams opened the scoring with a free try for the Independents. Visnaw tied the score with a similar shot for the visitors. Smith hooped a floor goal for the home team, but Trincerri's field goal tied the score at three all. Free tries by Em Grayson and Jack Fairchild and the latter's floor goal sent the home team in the lead, 7 to 3. But the baskets by Hansberry and Consolati and Reed's free try gave Agawam the lead, 8 to 7. Williams' basket and free try again sent the Independents in the lead, 10 to 8, but Visnaw tied the score at 10 all with a pretty heave. This ended the exciting first quarter. The lead see-sawed in the same manner in the second quarter, but Agawam scored four baskets and one free try, while the home team scored three floor goals and two free tries, the visitors leading at half-time by one point, 19 to 18. The opening of the second half saw both teams still playing on even terms and with the score at 22 all, a basket by Jack Fairchild gave the Independents the lead, which they held for the remainder of the game. In fact, Fairchild's shooting was a big factor in the victory and local rooters can thank the veteran player for the pretty shots that he made. Fairchild scored 10 points on four baskets, and two free tries and was tied for high scoring honors by Smith, local left forward, who dropped in five floor goals. Smith, a college star, proves to be a great addition to the Independents and is already a big favorite for local supporters. The reliable Em Grayson scored nine points on three baskets and three free tries and played a wonderful floor game. Bill Williams was also in great form and played a fine game. He, like his teammate, Grayson, tried several times to dribble through the Agawam defense, but was fouled on every attempt. Charlie Austin was not in the scoring limelight, but made up for this by playing a fine floor game. Consolati and Visnaw featured for the losers. In the preliminary, the B. H. S. girls' team swamped the Bondsville A. A. maidens in a one-sided game, 29 to 1. The visitors, who are accustomed to playing professional rules, were all upset in playing amateur rules and made a very poor showing, committing many personal fouls. The B. H. S. girls played their usual steady game, held the visitors scoreless from the floor and fattened their scoring averages at the expense of the B. A. A. girls. At half-time, the local girls led, 17 to 0. The home team made several substitutions for the final period, giving all the players a chance to take part in the game. The only point scored by the B. A. A. maidens was a free try by Miss Sullivan. Miss Skribiski, local center, was high scorer with nine points on three baskets and three free tries. The entire B. H. S. girls' team played well, while the Misses Sullivan played best for the losers. Summaries:

Sidelights on the Big Game

By Noel

The Independents, with their strongest lineup of the season, are out to trim all comers. Basketball fans, watch them from now on! There was a good-sized crowd at Wednesday's game. All of Jack Fairchild's baskets drew great applause from the crowd. The veteran is playing better than ever.

The Independents are getting the habit of "pulling a big last-half rally".

That Grayson-Williams combination has turned the Independents into a winning team.

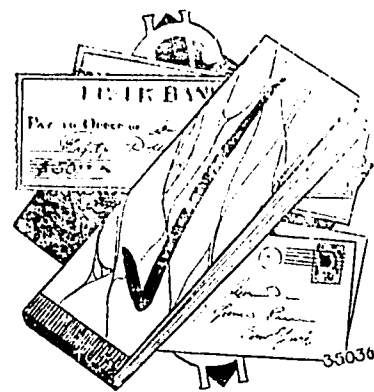

People came from Palmer, Bondsville, Enfield and Granby to witness the big game.

When the visitors shot at the hoop for a basket and missed, Em was right there to recover the ball for the Independents. Sheik Consolati did likewise when the home boys tried and missed.

Didn't Visnaw wave a lot at Em, though, when the latter was trying to dribble through for a counter!

One of our star players says that he can't play basketball before a small crowd. But with a large crowd and lots of cheering, that's when he can do his stuff. Wonder who it is?

Manager Parent changed the game from Wednesday to Thursday in view of the fact that our old friend, Em Grayson, could not be with us on Wednesday.

wealth, and thinks that the town should be represented at all hearings of the Metropolitan Water Supply Commission's water bills.

Charles Austin, sealer of weights and measures, gives the number of scales sealed. It seems that there are 22 gas pumps in town. Pages 108 to 112 contain the warrant, excerpts from which we have already printed.

Following this is the report of the trustees of Clapp Memorial library, the first in our remembrance. The secretary of the board, W. E. Shaw, states that $750 was expended on repairs last year. The immediate need is to refill with cement the joints in the stonework on the coping and chimneys, and a new heating plant. This with minor repairs will put things in good condition again, it is thought. Considering the fact that 8,501 books were taken out by townspeople in the last fiscal year, the trustees feel justified in asking for the $500 mentioned in the warrant.

Since writing the above paragraph we have received the town warden's report and the finance committee's report which will conclude the document.

Masonic Reception

Alvan R. Lewis was given a reception Wednesday evening by Vernon Lodge of Masons in honor of his election as Senior Grand Warden, an office to be filled for the first time by a member of the 19th district and perhaps as high an office as anyone in this part of the state has ever received.

Among the notables present were Roy P. Miles of Chicopee Falls, grand lecturer; Alexander A. MacKimmie of Amherst, district deputy grand master of the 17th district; Edwin L. Davis of Chicopee, district deputy grand master of the 18th district; H. Morgan Ryther of Enfield, district deputy grand master of the 19th district. Masters of the lodges of Palmer, Ware, Enfield and Warren were present, also a good delegation from Amherst.

Supper was served by members of Mount Vernon chapter, O. E. S., Mrs. Gertrude Randall being chairman of the committee.

Social Union Supper

About 75 people patronized the supper served by the Ladies' Social Union in the M. E. church, Wednesday evening. The white table covering was criss-crossed with bands of red crepe paper, and candles and red berries set off the bounteous repast of scalloped potato, hamburger roast, baked beans, etc., served by the committee, who very much appreciated the patronage of the people on such a stormy night.

The entertainment which followed consisted of: Violin solos, A. R. Ketchen; reading, "Her First Ride in an Automobile," Mrs. Henry Witt; demonstration of driving a Ford, Dr. F. C. Wilder and five boys; "Johnnie's Recitation" and "Where," Preston Atwood; reading, "Little Christel," Mrs. H. F. Put-

Death of Mrs. Eliza Ballou

Mrs. Eliza J. Ballou, 89, widow of Thomas H. Ballou, died Sunday night at the home on West Walnut street after a few days' illness with pneumonia. She was born at Enfield but spent most of her life at Belchertown, her home being in the West Ware district until a year ago, when she moved to the center, where she made her home with her daughter, Miss Elizabeth J. Ballou, and her son, William B. Her husband, a Civil war veteran, died 18 years ago. Mrs. Ballou would have been 90 in May.

She leaves eight children: Lorenzo of Suffield, Ct., Miss Elizabeth J. and William B. at home, Nora M. (Mrs. F. M.) Fuller, Angle (Mrs. W. D.) Dunbar, Hattie (Mrs. W. J.) Holcomb, all of this town; Mrs. Carrie Pierce of Amherst, and Emma (Mrs. Harold) Moore of Ware; also 24 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the home at 2, and was private. Rev. Cato Dick officiated.

Extension Service Meeting

About 35 interested folks, two-thirds of them women, attended the meeting of the Hampshire County Extension Service in Grange hall, Wednesday afternoon.

"All I have to say is, I think it's high time someone started a Scout movement for us grown-ups," a character in a recent short story is made to say. If that person had been present at Grange hall Wednesday afternoon and listened to Miss Boice's talk on posture and diet and their relation to one's health, he would have thought his idea had materialized, for he would have heard Miss Boice giving many of the Scout health laws, beginning with, "Stand tall."

Miss Boice stressed posture in its relation to health and showed the improvement possible in a child in only six months time with corrective work, part of which is proper rest.

Appropriations Meeting

Call it evolution or what you will, town meeting procedure does change as the years go by, at least in Belchertown. It will not be long before it will be a bit hard to remember the days when people voted for town officers and discussed the articles in the warrant at the same time in the old town hall. What with the roads and the schools and what not to be discussed, item by item, it took some strong driving power on the part of the moderator to get through before dusk. Recesses for lunch served by the ladies in the selectmen's room were short and oftentimes the town clerk had his nose in a cup of coffee, while he was putting down action under the articles.

Now, with the establishment of the precincts there are two meetings, the appropriation meeting being called at 7.30, time when our fathers would have been in bed, and in spite of the limited time allowance the business somehow gets done. And how quickly the regular appropriations were run through Monday evening. Instead of its being a day's job to worry through the long list of items, Dr. McPherson moved that the amounts recommended by the finance committee be raised and appropriated, someone seconded the motion, it was put to vote and the job was done. Over $75,000.00 had been voted without a word of argument in a moment of time. It gradually dawned on the folks what they had done, but they swallowed once or twice and were ready for another thrill.

The manner of voting was different too—on the controversial articles. Instead of "those voting in the affirmative (or negative) will please arise, stand uncovered and be counted," "Yes" and "No" ballots were distributed and the voters marched by the check lists and deposited their preferences in the moderator's hat.

This method of procedure was championed by J. V. Cook who claimed that he once lost four milk customers as a result of open voting. He insisted that the will of the people could more accurately be determined by the secret ballot. William Sullivan argued for the open vote.

It was finally decided to vote on articles 4, 10, 11, 12 and 13 by the secret ballot.

The vote on the Turkey Hill road resulted as follows: yes 103, no 59. On the Bondsville road article the result was: yes 21, no 122. It was stated regarding the latter article that the work could be done cheaper under Chapter 81.

As to the Turkey Hill road, the SCHOOL PAPER

B. H. S. is planning to start a school paper. Miss Goodnow called a meeting at which the following officers were elected:
Business Manager Paige Piper
Managing Editors
Madeline Sears, Thelma Dickinson

Reporters

Girls' Athletics Edna Howard Boys' Athletics Edward Landers
Alumni Eleanor Gay
Sophomore Stories Edward Madison
Seniors Jason Hill
Juniors William Segur, Jr.
Sophomores Bartlett Green
Freshmen Ola Campbell

These officers will try to revive the paper started in 1910. They plan to start with a one-sheet affair and gradually work up to that of 1910.

It is hoped that the business men of this and other towns will become interested and advertise in the paper.

VALENTINE LUNCHEON

Wednesday noon, a Valentine luncheon was served by the Junior class in domestic science to the school committees and superintendent of the Belchertown and Enfield schools. The table was decorated with hearts appropriate to Valentine's day. Miss Conklin acted as hostess and Miss Serwatka and Miss Parsons were waitresses. The menu was as follows: Apple cups, fried chicken, corn cakes, mashed potatoes, bacon, cream sauce, peas, clover leaf rolls, cream cheese salad, crackers, vanilla ice cream with strawberry sauce, cakes, nuts, mints.

B. H. S. FARMER

Howard Hill of the Freshmen class is a member of the Hampshire County Dairy Calf Club. Mr. Hill wrote a very interesting article in one of the magazines, relative to his experience in the calf club.

This is the week for monthly exams. It is no unusual thing to be run into by a student with an open book in his hand, mumbling to himself.

THE GAME

"When a writer starts to write about That game you played today,
He writes, not how you won or lost,
But how you played the game.

"He writes about the praise you won
And the points you scored that day,
He writes, not how you won or lost,
But how you won the game."

This poem was composed by Stanley Rhodes of the Freshmen class.

A whist party under the auspices of St. Francis church will be held in Park View hall Tuesday evening.

Supt. and Mrs. Herman C. Knight and daughter, Gertrude, attended the funeral of Mrs. Knight's niece, Mrs. Helena Doubleday Tandy in Athol last Sunday.

Bryant's singing orchestra will furnish music for the annual Masonic ball next Monday evening. The concert begins at 8 and dancing at 9. Price for couples is $1.50.

Next Wednesday night, Manager Parent will put the Independents up against the pick of Springfield's best A. A. teams, on the town hall surface.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. M. A. Morse on Monday evening at 7.30.

The selectmen met Friday evening and organized with J. V. Cook, chairman, and Edward A. Fuller, clerk.

R. A. French was taken to the Holyoke City hospital last Friday for an operation for appendicitis.

About 25 young people attended the Valentine party under the auspices of the Epworth League, Friday evening. Games were played under the direction of Misses Eleanor Gay and Mae Holcomb, and refreshments were served in charge of Miss Carrie Atwood. The vestry was festooned with red and white streamers, and hearts cut out of red cardboard, adorned the walls.

Twelve Years OF DEPENDABILITY

It was Dodge Brothers distinction, twelve years ago, to create a more dependable car in its price class than previously had been known.

This enviable leadership Dodge Brothers rigidly maintained.

Wherever difficult conditions try the souls of men and the stamina of motor cars, you will find Dodge Brothers product foremost in favor.

You will find also that six, eight and even ten years of service are not exceptional for the car; that frequently it delivers mileage running well into six figures; and that maintenance cost is remarkably low throughout its long and useful life.

These facts powerfully witness Dodge Brother success in constantly bettering a product that was exceptional even at the start.

Appropriations Meeting

town took advantage of the offer of the county to contribute $1,000, the state $3,000, and $4,000 under chapter 81, to help macadamize the road, beginning at the Ludlow line. This is the beginning of what is expected to be a three years' program.

After the Three Rivers road and Bondsville road had been disposed of, enthusiasm for the line of march waned, and there being little interest and no objection, the last three of the articles specified (relating to sewers and Three Rivers road), were indefinitely postponed by a voice vote. As in previous years, sometimes the voices were hardly perceptible, but with the moderator's "wake up!", the full chorus tuned in on the next number.

For the second time in its over 40 years of history, money was voted to Clapp Memorial library, which is in need of further repairs. $500 was raised and appropriated for this purpose.

C. R. Green was elected town representative for the Trustees for County Aid to Agriculture and the usual amount was raised for the organization. Mrs. Mary E. Spencer and Mrs. Carrie P. Ketchen were elected almoners of the Whiting Street and Mrs. Susan M. D. Bridgman funds, each for one year, and Edgar C. Witt trustee of the Calvin Bridgman fund for three years.

The school committee were authorized under article 14 to lease in the name of the town a right of way to the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc. at a sum of not less than $10 per year, said lease to be for five years and to be renewable.

Two new street lights were provided for, one on the Springfield road and one near H. W. Conkey's.

The article relative to the purchase of a power lawn mower as also the one regarding the extension of the sidewalk on West Walnut street, were indefinitely postponed.

Permission was granted Mrs. D. Louise Bridgman "to set apart such portions of her land north of Mount Hope cemetery for cemetery lots as the occasion may require."

The town voted to sell its Turkey

Hill wood lot at auction.

Articles 21, 22 and 23, relative to the sale of the town farm, drew forth the most lively discussion of the evening and branded it a real town meeting. G. H. B. Green argued for indefinite postponement, stating that to rescind the vote whereby the matter of selling the town farm was placed in the hands of a special committee was a distinct slap in the face to that honorable board, which he then proceeded to eulogize. He maintained that contrary to all talk on the street the committee had actively fulfilled its duties and had brought the transactions up to the present moment. He read the vote passed at the meeting at which they were elected and insisted that they had full power to act until discharged in accordance with the wording of the vote.

Joseph C. Bothwell, of the 1926 board of selectmen, replied that there had been not the slightest intention of giving affront to anyone. The selectmen had consulted town counsel, who had stated it as his opinion that in order to give a clear title, the action of the previous meeting would have to be rescinded and other action taken.

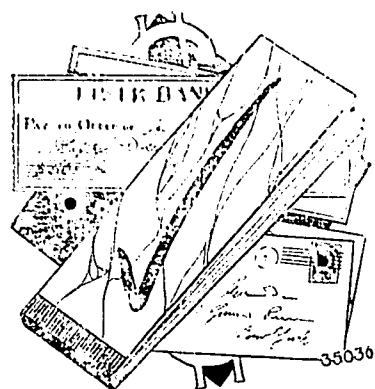

M. A. Morse, the storm center of the discussion by reason of the fact that he is the only member of the original committee now residing in town, (other members are E. E. Sargent and Roswell Allen) stated that he had been given to understand by the selectmen that he was "dead" as far as his legal status as a member of the committee was concerned, and he very much resented it. He stated that he had a letter from a lawyer in Northampton and another from one in Boston to the effect that he was very much "alive" and that the original committee had full power to act.

Dr. McPherson, head of the State school, seeing the pass to which things were headed, arose and boyishly said that probably he was at the bottom of the whole mixup, inasmuch as he had come to town in the interim and had not known of the original committee. He said that he thought that body still had power, but that probably before the state closed the deal they would require another definite vote.

Anyway, both sides agreed that indefinite postponement was the proper action at present, and so voted. In the course of his remarks Dr. McPherson stated that contrary to some talk, the state would not go so far as to take the town farm by right of eminent domain. He quoted Dr. Kline as saying that if the town did not care to sell the property, they would not press the matter.

The meeting had its moments of heat, but it also had its moments of humor. There was the teller, who in counting the sea of upraised hands said he was taking as his section those about half way; there was the man who persisted in "doubting" the vote which, contrary to his understanding, had resulted as he had wished; and there were the rest of us, who, if we had spoken, would probably have brought down the house.

A. R. Lewis was moderator of the meeting and George H. B. Green, clerk.

The speaker gave most of her time to the subject of foods, the unintelligent use of which might account for a variety of human ills, including "that tired feeling", backache, headache, colds, baldness, loss of teeth, to say nothing of other physical defects which render unfit one in every three, defects which, many of them, might have been avoided by proper nutrition.

Miss Boice said that the fact that a family had a quarter of beef and half a hog gave no assurance of their living well. The number of jars of spinach and dandelion and tomatoes in the cellar was a better test. She explained that the protein foods, such as meat, fish and eggs, form acids in the body which must be balanced by fruits and vegetables which neutralize that acid.

The importance of milk in the diet was brought out, both for adults and children. It need not be taken simply as a drink, but used in puddings, custards, cream soups, etc. Miss Boice urged mothers not to cut down on the milk supply as a measure of economy, for milk was really cheaper than meat.

Following Miss Boice, County Agent Paine gave a pithy talk on the dairy question. He said that there is more to it than simply dicker with the price of milk. If milk goes up, the farmer tries to make more, but the consumer uses less, so nothing is gained. Co-operative buying of grain has not solved the problem, neither has co-operative selling of milk. The only solution as he saw it was cutting the cost of production a cent a quart. This can be done, for it has been done. He advocated sweet clover to supplement pastures in the dry season—a half acre per cow would make a lot of difference. He said one might just as well feed bran and brown sugar as some of the grass and pasturage cows get, that make long, lanky bodies that "reach from here to the middle west and fold up like an accordion."

Mr. Paine recommended the growing of alfalfa, but not to attempt it unless four tons of lime are used to the acre. He said that by raising these substantial crops, the grain bill can be cut in half.

He also said that unless a cow gives more than 8,500 lbs. of milk, the owner simply works for wages.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts Hampshire SS: February 16, A. D. 1927.

By virtue of an execution issued upon a judgment in favor of Daniel D. Hazen of Belchertown, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, recorded against John W. Merrill of Belchertown, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, at District Court of Hampshire on the seventeenth day of December A. D. 1926, I have taken all the right, title and interest that John W. Merrill had on the fourteenth day of February A. D. 1927, the day when the same was levied by an execution in and to the following described real estate to wit:

Real estate situated on Westerly side of Federal Street in Belchertown, Massachusetts, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the northwest corner of the described premises, thence westerly by land of, or formerly, Amos Clark, to land of E. V. Blackmer's heirs, (E. R. Blackmer is meant), thence southerly on land of said Blackmer's heirs to corner; thence Easterly on line of land of said heirs and West line of Federal St. School lot to highway; thence on said highway to first mentioned bound, containing twelve (12) acres more or less with buildings thereon standing.

Being the premises described in deed from Roswell Allen to John W. Merrill, dated January 1, 1913 and recorded in Hampshire County Registry of Deeds, Book 687, page 19.

And on the twenty-sixth day of March A. D. 1927 at 11 o'clock in the forenoon at the front steps of the Court House in Northampton, Hampshire County, Massachusetts, I shall offer for sale to the highest bidder at public auction the aforesaid right, title and interest in said real estate to satisfy said execution and all fees and charges of sale.

Town Officers Must Qualify

To the Town Officers Elect: General Laws, Chapter 41, Section 15, provides that the town clerk shall immediately after every annual election of town officers transmit to the secretary of state a complete list of town officers elected and qualified. The clerk is unable to do this until he has proof that the officers elected have taken their oath of office.

Please qualify at once.

Eleven members of the Boy Scout council, nine Scouts and their two leaders, attended the service at the Congregational church on Sunday morning, by special invitation. Rev. Mr. Hilliard, in his sermon on "A One Hundred Per Cent. American," said that to be such one must be a one hundred per cent. man. He emphasized the fact that the best way to honor the scout uniform and the flag is to exalt the ideals for which they stand.

Five from the Christian Endeavor society attended the Amherst Local Union meeting in Amherst, Wednesday evening.

The Social Guild will serve a supper this evening to a party of Christian Endeavorers from the Grace Congregational church of Holyoke. 37 are expected. The supper is in charge of Mrs. Rhodes. Eddie Parent is getting to be the Tex Rickard of Belchertown. Now he announces that he will promote some wrestling matches, the first of which will come off in two or three weeks. He states that he will put on the mat, local sparrers tipping the scales at 195 pounds.

The invitation dance scheduled for tonight has been postponed by reason of the Masonic ball next Monday evening.

Mrs. B. E. Shaw returned home Tuesday from the Holyoke hospital.

Miss Rachel Randall attended the Worcester Tech. - M. A. C. basket ball game at Amherst, Wednesday.

St. Francis Church Whist Party

There was a large attendance at the whist party under the auspices of St. Francis church in Park View hall Tuesday evening.

In whist, first prize for women went to Mrs. Wm. Clune of Ludlow; second prize to Mrs. Patrick Menard of this town. Mr. Bernier won first prize for men. Consolation prizes went to Miss Gertrude Riley and Thomas Ferriter.

In "45", first prizes went to Thos. Riley and Joseph Bothwell, and consolation to Thomas Ferriter.

The entertainment consisted of songs by Joseph Austin of Bondsville and Mrs. Clune of Ludlow. Miss Corinne Giguere and Mrs. Joseph Bothwell presided at the piano. Refreshments of fruit punch and cake were served.

The evening's program was in charge of the Ladies' Sodality, Mrs. James R. Garvey, president. She was assisted by Mrs. T. F. Flaherty, Mrs. Thomas Hanfin, Miss Gertrude Riley, Miss Priscilla Bisette and others. Mrs. J. J. Garvey was in charge of ice cream which was on sale.

Men's Supper

The men will reign supreme at the supper in the chapel next Wednesday night. A member of the committee vouches for the fact that it is going to be a "real" supper and announces the high spots of the menu as follows: baked ham, mashed potatoes, turnips, ice cream. Considering the "honest-to-goodness" make-up of the committee, Geo. E. Scott, Dr. G. E. McPherson, C. F. Aspengren, Dr. J. L. Collard, R. G. Shaw,

Death of

Mrs. Harriet E. Atkins

Harriet E. Atkins, 82, widow of the late Alexander Atkins, a veteran of the Civil war, died at her home on Maple street Saturday evening after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Atkins was a member of Union grange and was well liked by all in the community, to a great many of whom she was "Aunt Hattie".

She leaves two sons, Albert, at home, and Edward, of Lynn, also ten grandchildren and five great grandchildren, besides several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Cato Dick at the Methodist vestry Tuesday afternoon at 2. The bearers were a grandson, Albert Atkins, of Albany, N. Y., three nephews, Dana and Leroy Bardwell of this town, William Bardwell of Granby and Frank Collins of Cambridge. Burial was in Mount Hope cemetery.

Grange Notes

Union Grange meets in Grange hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Ladies' Night will be observed and the committee in charge is Mrs. Bertha Conkey and Mrs. Amy Witt. Current events will be in charge of Mrs. D. P. Spencer.

Union grange was represented at the regional meeting at Northampton Tuesday by 19 members. The afternoon session consisted of the exemplification of the third and fourth degrees, the former being given by a ladies' degree team and the latter by a picked team. The local grange had three members on the fourth degree team, Wilfrid Noel, Mrs. E. F. Shumway and Charles Sanford, Mrs. Shumway being one to receive a perfect score in the work.

Supper was served by the Northampton grange, and during the intermission the party visited the "Made in Northampton" exposition. The evening session included reading of the unwritten work of the order and an entertainment by Granby grange.

Snow- and Wind-Storm

Apparently Belchertown received the full force of the storm and wind that raged in this section last Saturday and Sunday. The sidewalks were plowed out Saturday afternoon, following the fall of snow, and all seemed set for the Sabbath, but a hurricane wind developed shortly, causing most folks to sleep with one eye open, so hilariously were beds rolling around and houses shaking.

The morning found drifts insolently occupying roads and walks where paths had been, and a biting wind of considerable velocity. Church-goers found traffic light.

Only four showed up at the Methodist church, while at the Congregational church, the audience that finally numbered a dozen, resolved itself into a Sunday School class. On Monday no school sessions were held, this being the first shut-down of the season, by reason of snowstorms. Community life started back to normal Monday night with the Masonic ball, which drew a good patronage. Anyway, it will be safe to sit in the shade of most any apple tree next summer, as far as danger from falling limbs is concerned.

Game Next Wednesday Night

Next week Wednesday night the Independents will meet the pick of the Springfield A. A. teams. Manager Parent is also training his wrestlers for the forthcoming bouts, previously alluded to.

Town Items

Attendance at the Masonic ball, Monday night, suffered to some extent by reason of road conditions following the snow-storm and wind, but it was still a profitable occasion, both by reason of the box office and maintained prestige incident to this annual event sponsored by Mt. Vernon Lodge. Bryant's Singing Orchestra who officiated last year, furnished music for the 1927 concert and dance.

Thirty-three Christian Endeavorers from Grace Congregational church of Holyoke were served by the Ladies' Social Guild at the chapel Friday evening. Supper was at 6.30 and was enlivened by songs. Games were also enjoyed by the party.

Flowers at the Congregational church on Sunday were in memory of Dea. A. H. Bartlett, whose death occurred one year ago. On the Sunday previous, flowers were brought in memory of Mrs. Alice L. Kendall.

Miss Mary Bevins of Dedham spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Melvin Ayers of Jabish Street.

An invitation dance will be held in Memorial hall next week Friday night.

Independents Beaten in Close Contest

By Noel

The Independents went down to defeat at the hands of the fast Northampton Y. M. C. A. last Thursday night at the town hall in a hard fought game by the score of 46 to 39. Although not witnessed by as large a crowd as was expected, the game was one that was well worth seeing, for the visitors played faster basketball than any other visiting team here this season. The steady eye of Schuler, visiting center, for the basket, was the big factor in winning the game for the 'Hamp quintet.

The home team, led by Em Grayson, certainly played a fine game but could not overcome the visitors' lead. Bill Williams and Grayson exchanged positions and Connie Lynch was sent into the game in the last half, but these changes did not check the fast and clever passwork of the 'Hamp boys to any extent.

The visitors got off to a good start and led throughout the entire game. But the local boys were not far behind and at half-time were trailing by only five points, the score reading: Y. M. C. A. 21, Independents 16. Both teams played on even terms at the beginning of the last half and the Independents more than held their own, being outscored by only two points, that being a basket by the elusive Schuler.

Em Grayson, as usual, was the best scorer for the home team with seven baskets and two free tries for 16 points, while Smith was second with 9 points, his share being three twin-counters and three fouls. Bill Williams ably assisted with 6 points on two goals and two gift tosses. The guards, Charlie Austin, Jack Fairchild and Connie Lynch had plenty to do in guarding the forwards and all assisted in the scoring.

For the Y. M. C. A., Schuler featured, hooping six baskets and two fouls for a total of 14 points. The forwards also played well and scored 27 points between them. The summary:

A Finer DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

New in Beauty, Comfort and Performance — Still more Dependable

Now ready for your inspection and personal test—a finer Dodge Brothers Motor Car than ever before, due to many new and vitally important improvements. So important, in fact, that only a personal inspection will give you an adequate idea of what further engineering advances and greater production have accomplished in extra values. Read this partial list of the latest improvements and then investigate:

- A New Clutch—Simple, Prompt, Sure and Silent.
- Softer Pedal Action
- Easier Gear Shifting
- New Body Lines—as smart and graceful as any on the boulevards
- New Color Combinations of Striking Beauty
- Still Sturdier Bodies
- Seats Re-designed for greater comfort
- New Silent-Type Muffler
- Improved Universal Joint, Propeller Shaft, Differential and Axle Shaft—creating greater sturdiness and resistance to wear
- And Many Other Smart New Refinements of Detail.

Remember, too, that all these are in addition to many important improvements recently announced, including the five-bearing crank shaft and the two-unit starting, lighting and ignition system that inspired owners to new expressions of enthusiasm and satisfaction.

Look at these big roomy cars and you will realize that it is not possible to invest more wisely in dependable transportation.

Again twice within ten days I have been told by two women, one on Jabish St. or Creamery hill, "Don't get any supper, for I am bringing one down for you," the other a mile off on South Main St.

I feel that Belchertown should know these facts and agree with me that Ella Wheeler Wilcox was pessimistic when she said:

Three Sugges- tions for Lent

Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of Broadway Tabernacle, New York, one of the most thought-provoking preachers in America, has given the three suggestions below for the profitable observance of Lent.

"There are three things which everyone can do during Lent: first of all he can think more about God. He can make a specialty of thinking of Him. He can allow his mind to rest upon it. He can ponder it day after day in his heart. To think of God is the path to power and peace and gladness. Every Christian can think of God five minutes a day on every day in Lent. He ought to do it.

"In the second place, one can give up unworthy things which one has been doing—things which handicap and mar one's life. One can for forty days make an earnest effort to break the habit of carping criticism, or of faultfinding, or of hateful speaking, or of foolish repining, or of talking about one's ills, or of making others uncomfortable by one's inconsiderate words and acts.

"In the third place, we can take up things which we have been neglecting. We can strengthen a weakened virtue, add to the number of our graces, cultivate some corner of the heart which has gone to weeds. Neglected duties can be performed. Through forty days some fine things can be accomplished which hitherto we have left undone. If we have been neglectful of our obligations to the church we can do better—at least for forty days. The new habit may continue after Lent is over. If we have been heedless of the calls of the sick, and the poor, and the despairing, we can for forty days honestly try to love our neighbor as ourself.

"Lent should be glad and not doleful, not despondent but jubilant. In every season of the year we should be radiant because we are followers of One who has overcome."

The Men's Supper

If the patrons of the men's supper in the chapel Wednesday evening got one-half as much enjoyment out of it as the men did who planned, prepared and served it, then they received their money's worth and more. Early in the afternoon, cars around the chapel indicated that the wheels had begun to turn and that the turnips, taters and tables were having to take it.

But the mechanism moved to a charm, and at six o'clock the committee cast their eyes over the tables for a last look and proclaimed everything there but the crowd. But the crowd came! One hundred fourteen folks submitted themselves to the mercy of twenty-seven men in white caps and frocks (the late comers fared ludicrously as to sizes) who either perspired in the kitchen or ran up a tremendous mileage delivering the individual servings or chasing back and forth for as little as a half a glass of water.

The ladies were not unappreciative of the efforts of the men and were no doubt glad that that sex had

Independents Lose to Holyoke Reds

By Noel

The Holyoke Reds travelled to this town last week Wednesday night and handed the crippled Belchertown Independent quintet a good beating on the town hall floor to the tune of 51 to 28. The game was attended by a small crowd and this, no doubt, had something to do with the weak showing of the home team, for, generally, the cheering of the crowd will urge the home boys on to victory.

The Paper City team started off with a rush and built up a lead which they held for the remainder of the game. The passwork of the visitors was a feature of the game and their shooting was some of the best seen here this season. At half time, the Reds were enjoying a big lead, 25 to 11.

The last half was more interesting, for the home team played better basketball, being outscored by only

Optimism

Some people are optimistic because they have shut their eyes and deafened their ears to anything which is unpleasant. They see only the sunbeams, they hear only the harmonies and are blind and deaf to the discords and tragedies. Others are optimistic because they have good health and abounding vitality. The world looks good to them because they are well. Still others are optimistic because they have not grown up. They are still children, and are not acquainted with the hard facts of life. The optimism of such people is likely to make us more pessimistic.

If we can find an individual, however, whose eyes are wide open to the evil as well as to the good, who sees suffering and sorrow and agony, and whose heart-strings are deeply affected by them and yet discover that he does not become discouraged or despondent, then we take notice. That kind of optimism takes hold of us.

The fact of the case is that there have been and there are today many individuals who have kept optimistic in the face of opposition and failure and evil, in the face of anything and everything.

And one reason why they have kept optimistic is because they have believed in the supremacy of truth. That was what kept Washington Gladden optimistic in those days when it looked as though he had lost a battle, so he could write:

"And fierce though the fiends may fight,
And long though the angels bide,
I know that truth and right
Have the universe on their side."

This is what has kept many optimistic in drear days. Let a man believe in the ultimate triumph of righteousness and he is confident that if truth is "crushed to earth," it will "rise again." —R.

Footprints

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our own sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

George Washington left footprints on the plastic sands of the early period of our national life. Near the close of his second term of office, he was urged to accept a nomination for another term. He put his foot down. There were suggestions that relations with foreign governments might be entered into which he thought would be prejudicial to the new republic and he put his foot down on them. You may find these footprints in that historical document known as The Farewell Address. He affirmed in it: "The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations, is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible." Today certain commercial interests are involving us in troublesome political relations especially with Mexico and Nicaragua. May it not be well to recall his warning on this point?

Washington had something to say about "the danger of parties in the state". He regarded it "as matter of serious concern that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discriminations — Northern and Southern—Atlantic and Western". "Geographical discriminations", antagonisms between different sections of the country are not a dead issue. The cardinal points of the political compass are the same now as formerly, but the veering weather vane shows that the high winds of partizanship do not always blow from the same quarter.

Our first president recognized that "the basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and alter their constitution of government." "But," he adds, "the constitution that at any time exists, till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all." Would he regard those as loyal citizens who today are discrediting the constitution and seeking to break down its authority by the methods of the bootlegger?

It has been a mistake to have interpreted so literally and to have followed so closely what Washington said about our relations with other nations. Advice that was pertinent for the nation in its infancy, just beginning to walk, may be less applicable to conditions than when it was first given. Washington loved his country, he was devoted to its interests and jealous for its honor and prestige. He had, as President Coolidge said in his anniversary address, "the national mind". He had something more. In his farewell address he exhorted: "Observe good faith and justice towards all nations and cultivate peace and harmony with all; religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence."

From such sentiments as these we may infer that Washington had something of the international mind. The two types of mind are not antagonistic. They may be present in the same person. They are the expression of a broad and generous spirit which is the real American spirit.

It is unfortunate in these critical times for our prestige and leadership as a great nation that the people did not catch something more of this larger spirit which was in Washington. We shall give him greater honor in the future if we follow this advice to give the world the magnanimous example of a great nation guided by exalted "justice and benevolence." The nations are looking to the United States for such an example and never before in our history has there been more imperative need of it.

Mrs. Leroy M. Blackmer received yesterday a letter from her husband in Nokomis, Fla., in which is given a vivid portrayal of an exceptional fish capture made by their son, Herbert, last week. Strange to relate, the young man never had much luck with the fish in Massachusetts.

I told you how Herbert went fishing and lost a good one. Well, he and I went the next day and he got one, but he had quite a time getting it. The fish flopped around so that Herbert broke the spear handle, which threw him down, but he jumped up again and grabbed the pole and finally got the fish on land. It was 33½ inches long and weighed 12½ pounds.

Now I want to tell you, things were pretty lively there for a minute. Flora took a picture of the fish and if it comes out good he is going to send it to you.

Yesterday afternoon while Ray, Laura and I went to Sarasota, Herbert went fishing again and got one that was 37 inches long and weighed 15 pounds. He had both fish weighed at the store so there is no guesswork about it.

Now you can tell the world Herbert felt pretty proud and pretty excited for him; you know he is usually pretty calm. He came near losing the first one he got and he said if he had lost it he would have had fourteen fits and they would have all been bad ones.

The people here say that the 15 pound fish that Herbert got was the next to the largest of that kind ever caught around here. One was caught once that weighed 17 pounds.

The whole neighborhood turned out to see the catch and they kept Herbert pretty busy answering questions. I don't know the name of the fish, but it sounds like this (La vale ya). It is a salt water fish.

All of us have certainly had all the fish we could eat and Herbert has given away some to the neighbors.

It seems strange to have you say it is so cold up there and such a lot of snow, when I am sleeping on the porch with only a sheet over me. Along towards morning I pull a quilt over me.

The Independents had a new player in their lineup, who was none other than Link Cook, better known as the "Butcher". Link, although small in size, played well, for not having appeared on the local floor for several years, and received more cheers from the crowd than any other player. He played at guard and showed that he had not lost his eye for the hoop by dropping in a pretty shot in the last half.

Em Grayson of the home team was tied for high individual scoring honors of 18 points by George Skypeck of the Reds. Em made his points on six baskets and six fouls, while the Holyoke player scored eight times from the floor and twice from the free try line. Summary:

The Men's Supper

figured in their ancestral line. They were quick to notice the silverware deftly arched over the red applesauce, they admired the dainty colored napkins, specially printed with the menu thereon, folded in most novel fashion, and they put on an entertainment in keeping with the occasion.

The audience room was literally packed for the presentation in pantomime of "Reveries of a Bachelor." Mrs. Howell Cook was the bachelor, and a long list of "prospectives", in costume, passed in review, while Miss Irene M. Jackson gave the synchronized reading and Mrs. William Bridgman and Mrs. H. F. Duncan took the solo parts. Mrs. C. F. Aspengren was accompanist. The scenes were staged by candle light and were very effective. Mrs. Bridgman was the one who won the bachelor.

Just as the entertainment was getting under way in the main room, E. A. Fuller, chairman of the supper committee, staged a nifty little side show in the dining room. As the men were sitting down to eat, he informed them about what the expenses for the supper would be and remarked that as none of them were buying tickets, he was going to pass the hat and see if they wouldn't come across and pay the bill. "How much is that apiece?" came from all quarters, with as many answers, but following true town meeting procedure, the highest amount took precedence and all in a twinkling the air grew dark with greenbacks, but the chairman's face lighted up when he found that his informal speech had yielded close to $40, very near the required amount.

So the men planned the supper, prepared it, served it and paid for it—unless some patron has had to call the doctor since.

GIFT OF $400 ANNOUNCED

One of the biggest surprises of the evening came just as the people were being seated at the supper. Miss Marion E. Bartlett, clerk of the church, announced that Mrs. Abbie S. Williams of Pasadena, California, had made a gift to the church of $400, to be used where most needed. Mrs. Williams is a sister of Mrs. M. D. S. Longley and daughter of the late Lyman Sabin, who was active deacon of the local church for 27 years and deacon emeritus for seven years. While Mrs. Williams has resided in Ohio and California for nearly 60 years, this gift indicates a continued interest in the church of her youth. The letter from Mrs. Williams was read, in which she alluded to a number of our townspeople who had lived in her memory. She herself is held in memory as a beloved teacher of the East Hill district school, as one of her former pupils gladly testifies.

Cooking Demonstration

Extra chairs had to be brought from the auditorium several times to accommodate the matrons and prospective matrons who came to the domestic science room Tuesday afternoon for the demonstration by Miss Lillian Shaben, representative of the Russell-Miller Milling Co. Miss Shaben, who had to go to Packardville that day, was unfortunate enough to get stuck in the mud some where in the wilds on her return trip and was a half hour late for her appointment in Belchertown. But within five minutes of her arrival, she was ready for business.

She had mixed a loaf of entire wheat bread that morning and began her demonstration by shaping a variety of biscuits from the raised dough, clover leaf biscuits, Parker House rolls, surprise biscuits, cinnamon rolls and lovers' knots, explaining the process carefully in each case and giving recipes as she went along. These fancy biscuits, Miss Shaben explained, cost no more for materials than ordinary bread in some cases, yet were just what tea rooms around here get fancy prices for, and what housewives pay exorbitant rates for at the bake shop, in one case 35 cents for only seven. She also stated that the delicious breads she was demonstrating could

Death of Mrs. Frank Wilson

Mrs. Frank Wilson, 95, died at her home near lake Metacomet, Wednesday at 5.30 p. m. Mrs. Wilson formerly lived in Granby, but came to Belchertown at the time of her marriage to Mr. Wilson. The funeral will be held at the home this afternoon at 2.

First Flood Victim to Buy Here

L. C. Graves of Greenwich, a resident of the Swift River valley which is to be flooded, has bought the old Rhodes place on Jabish St., of Clinton R. Rhodes. This is thought to be the first resident of the ill fated valley to buy here. Mr. Graves is allowed by the state to stay on his present place this summer, so he will not locate here until fall. He plans to make repairs on his newly purchased property.

At least five Belchertown properties have been placarded in the Swift River valley and others are available to any who care to share the town's modern conveniences, educational advantages—and tax rate which, considering the low valuation, doesn't figure out so badly after all.

Grange Notes

By Noel

There were nine tables at play at the military whist party in Grange hall, Tuesday evening.

High scorers with 99 points were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baggs and Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Ayers. Low scorers with 49 points were Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher and Mr. and Mrs. John Shean. (Not on the voters' list.—Ed.)

The committee in charge was Mrs. Robert Chamberlain, Charles Sanford and Edwin Shumway. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, doughnuts, coffee and apples were served.

The next regular meeting of Union grange will take place Tuesday evening at Grange hall at 8 p. m. It will be St. Patrick's night and a fine program has been arranged by the following committee: Miss Gertrude Riley, Miss Margaret Moriarty and Mrs. Wilfrid Noel.

Ladies' Social Union Officers

There were sixteen present at the annual business meeting of the Ladies' Social Union in the vestry, Wednesday afternoon. Reports for the year were given and the following officers elected:

President Mrs. Bertha Conkey
Vice-President Mrs. Rose Putnam
2nd Vice-Pres. Mrs. Clara French
Secretary Mrs. Ora Davis
Treasurer Mrs. Mabel Stebbins Work Committee, Mrs. Ora Davis, chairman; Mrs. Rose Putnam, Mrs. Lillian Kelley, Mrs. Julia
Shumway, Mrs. Iva Peeso, Mrs.
Clara French.

Flower Committee Mrs. Amy Witt
Entertainment Committee, Mrs. A.
R. Ketchen, Miss Ruby Knight.

Old Folks' Concert Coming

An Old Folks' concert looms big on the local entertainment horizon. Twenty-five folks gathered at the chapel Wednesday evening for a rehearsal, which "started off with a bang". Another rehearsal will take place next Wednesday evening.

Anyone with musical ability will be welcome in the "company", which is being gathered together by Carl F. Aspengren. Dr. Westwell is serving as director and Mrs. Aspengren as accompanist. The enterprise is sponsored by the Social Guild. The entertainment will probably be given in April or May.

Moving Pictures Sunday

A good-sized audience was present at the moving picture, "From Red Blanket to Civilization," shown by Rev. James D. Taylor, D. D., of Amherst, in the Congregational church, Sunday evening. Dr. Taylor made some preliminary remarks and also supplemented the pictures with interesting side-lights upon them, which made for a better understanding of the natives of South Africa who, due largely to industrial and economic conditions are being caught in the onward march of civilization.

The reels showed that missionary work among this backward race has taken on the modern method of sublimating crude and harmful practices, both in religion and recreation, rather than a total severance from the old-time life.

Dr. Taylor will return to Durban this summer after a year's furlough. The evening service at the M. E. church was omitted Sunday evening, to allow all who desired to attend the pictures.

It used to be that the only fellow who could safely buy used cars was the expert who could tell what he was getting and the junk dealer who didn't care. Personally, we have found it profitable to make the world safe for used car buyers—amateurs as well as experts.

Shaben said, nice enough for teas, Bridge parties, Sunday night suppers, wedding breakfasts, and some of them could be used for deserts.

And always the emphasis was placed on the fact that the work was not difficult. Miss Shaben said that experience was not necessary in making good bread. Any young person with absolutely no experience could be told how to make bread and could be sure of good results. Again and again she emphasized that it was not a long process nor a hard one. She said that she had gone home at 4 p. m. and, wanting biscuits for supper, had started her yeast bread and had her biscuits ready at 6 or 6.15.

Many old-fashioned theories were exploded during the demonstration and the most up-to-date ideas substituted. Short cuts were advocated where the results to be obtained were the same. For instance, why put the yeast in a cup to soften in a little water? Why not put it into the mixing bowl with the milk or other liquid? Does it matter to the yeast whether it is in a cup or in the bowl?

Miss Shaben also advocated the use of less flour in bread making, demonstrating that it was possible to handle very sticky dough after it had been kneaded sufficiently to develop the gluten in the wheat.

Irish Stew Supper

People still patronize public suppers. The tables at the M. E. vestry were filled to capacity Wednesday evening by those anxious for servings of Irish stew and baking powder biscuits, etc., and many came back for more.

The entertainment was a bad one for a nervous person—at least parts of it. The stunt by the men was especially cold blooded. E. E. Gay, of the board of selectmen, was brought in on a narrow wooden table, borne by H. H. Witt, Herbert Peeso, E. F. Shumway and Andrew Ketchen. A. R. Ketchen, the surgeon, followed with an axe over his shoulder. The patient was quickly removed to the operating table, where a large funnel was inverted over his nose, down which H. F. Peck, the assistant physician, appeared to pour at frequent intervals the contents of a gallon kerosene can. Sleep being induced, the protruding bunch in the patient's abdomen was opened with a bread knife, sharp strokes of an axe completing the task. The obstruction in the "appendix" was found to be a can of condensed milk which the patient had swallowed, can and all. With the removal of other foreign substance by the aid of a tablespoon, and the sewing up of the incision, the patient was carried away "cured" and was able to lead off lustily in the community sing. The Misses Atwood and Gay were assisting nurses.

Lo!

In an old Love Song of the Hebrew people occur two jubilant lines that appeal especially to us at this season:

"For lo, the winter is past."

"The time of the singing of birds is come."

Other signs of winter's passing and spring's coming in the Holy Land and the Old Bay State are not the same, but the thrill with which we welcome the singing of the birds shows that human nature is akin in the two lands.

The birds are singing in Belchertown. The bluebird, the robin, the song sparrow form with the obligato notes of the meadow lark the first spring quartette. Other birds are on their way and will be in their places as though keeping schedule time to add their notes to the chorus. Jubilate!

Rejoice that you hear them. Point them out to the children. Teach them to know the birds, to value the birds, to love the birds and to protect the birds.

"The time of the singing of birds has come." Jubilate!

Sugar Eat

A novelty in the way of an entertainment will be given at the Methodist church vestry on Friday evening, March 25, when a "Sugar Eat" will be the feature. Hot maple syrup on snow will be served with pickles, doughnuts and coffee. A short program consisting of musical numbers and readings will be presented before the "eat" and will start at 7.30. It is thought that the price will be 35 cents. The committee in charge is Mrs. Dora Wesley, Mrs. G. H. B. Green and Miss Marian Bardwell.

At the end of the first period, Ludlow led 8 to 1, and at half-time were still leading, 13 to 5. The home team made its best showing in the third period, although trailing 20 to 14.

Eisold, visiting center, opened the scoring with two baskets in succession. Pratt followed up with a pretty shot and then Weston broke the ice for B. H. S. with a free try.

Ludlow High School Teams Win Both Games

The town hall was the scene of the big event of the past week, when the high school boys' and girls' varsity teams entertained the similar quintets of Ludlow High school at basket ball last Friday night. The girls' game was a thriller from start to finish, with the Ludlow girls nosing out the home maidens by one point, 7 to 6. The boys' game developed to be a real battle, and, although the home boys improved in their playing as the game went on, the final score found them to be on the short end, 26 to 16. The games were played before a large crowd.

In the boys' game, the rivals fought hard all the way, but the basket shooting of the Ludlow players was too much for the home players to overcome, the former dropping in nine floor baskets, while the elusive Paige Piper connected with the hoop for all of the home team's baskets with five floor goals. Both teams were even on foul shooting, each scoring six times from the 15-foot mark.

The players of both quintets certainly played a fast game, but missed many easy shots. In the first period, Ludlow players were popping at the hoop from all directions, which should have been easy shots, but the ball would roll around the rim and seldom drop in. The home boys also had a chance to make things merry in the last period, when Piper, Weston and M. Dorey were near the basket and tried shot after shot, but luck was against them.

Paige Piper directed the floor work of B. H. S. and certainly deserves great credit for the showing made by the home team. The hall was drowned out with cheers each time Paige dropped in a basket.

Admitting Our Mistakes

Everyone of us makes mistakes. We make mistakes because we are human. We will continue to make mistakes so long as we continue to be human. We make mistakes in our thinking because we have only a few of the facts when we think we have them all. We make mistakes in our conclusions because we do not reason accurately, and we think our reasoning is sound. We make mistakes in our judgments because we are prejudiced and we are not conscious of it. We make mistakes every day. We rarely get 100 per cent in school, we never do in real life.

Whenever we find that we have made a mistake, we ought to admit it. There is nothing unmanly about that. In fact, it is the only gentlemanly thing to do. It may be hard, particularly if we have stoutly maintained that we were right. We have known those who have never come out frankly and admitted that they were wrong. They always find some loophole by which to escape. They may be clever but they lack an important grace.

Now a nation makes mistakes because a nation is made up of individuals. Our statesmen make mistakes because they are human. One wonders why statesmen are so loath to admit that they have been in error. Just as it hurts a man's dignity to fall upon his knees and confess, so it hurts a nation's dignity to apologize. But we can well afford to lay aside our dignity at times.

We honor an individual who, having been convinced that he was in the wrong, freely and heartily admits it. We would honor a nation also for like action.

We show of what stuff we are made by what we think when we are by ourselves alone, whether we meditate on the mistakes of others or on our own mistakes. So does a nation. Happy is the man or the people who is big enough to admit an error. He is a blessing to society, a promotor of peace, and a builder of brotherhood.

Timely Topics

No one can say but what the local clergy are as timely in their presentations as are the big city pastors. Rev. Cato Dick spoke last Sunday morning on Sabbath observance, which was a theme appropriate to the consideration of the Sunday sports bill by the state legislature, and the fact that Simmons college girls had in their recent re-arrangement of the ten commandments in the order of their importance, placed last, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." Mr. Dick ventured the opinion that student suicides, the crime wave and the above mentioned attitude were due to a lack of reverence which Sunday observance inculcates.

Rev. Mr. Hilliard at the Congregational church, spoke of persons being perfectly willing to rob the town or state, who would not think of robbing their neighbors. He said they had divorced their spiritual conceptions and their ethical thinking and said that the next reformation would be a reformation in ethical standards.

Again and in such a short space of time must I trespass on your patience, but—. The English language, though rich, is often lacking when one feels deeply, futile. So, my friends from Mill Valley to the banks of the Jabish, Girl Scouts included, the words of the Master best express my gratitude for your remembrances on my birth anniversary: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, you have done it unto me."

Must Secure Fire Permits

Attention is called to the fact that fire permits are now necessary, the season extending from March 1 to December 1. The law is for the people's own benefit, for in case one gets out of control, the fire warden knows exactly where to go. The statute says that "Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or both."

Ludlow High School Teams Win Both Games

Free tries by Eisold and Fuller brought the first period to a close.

The second period saw plenty of action with Piper doing the heavy scoring.

Fast play featured the last two periods, with some fine shooting by Kane, Pratt and Piper.

The passwork of Ludlow High was a feature of the game with Kane, Rooney and Eisold starring. Piper and Weston excelled for B. H. S.

The girls' game was one that will not be forgotten by local fans for some time. After three minutes of play, Miss Jensen, the visitors' star forward, was fouled and made good on her attempt from the free try line. She soon followed this up with another gift toss, giving the Ludlow girls the lead, 2 to 0. Then, with a few minutes of play remaining in the second period, the visitors left the floor, claiming they were not satisfied with the officiating. The game was then announced as forfeited to B. H. S., 2 to 0., that being the score in a forfeit game. Officials of both schools then got together and after considerable discussion announced that the game would continue. This brought many a cheer from the crowd, which was anxious to see who would win the game as both teams were pretty evenly matched. With the resuming of play, the period ended with the score 4 all, Edna Howard scoring two baskets for B. H. S., while Miss Jensen caged a floor goal for the visitors.

The defense of both teams tightened up in the final periods and play after play was broken up by members of each team. It looked as though an extra period would have to be played to decide the winner, but with two minutes to play and the score 6 all, Miss Jensen was again fouled and made good on her try from the free try line, this point winning the game for the Ludlow girls.

The local girls would have won the game easily as far as floor baskets were concerned, for they outscored their opponents, 3 to 1. But it was Miss Jensen's eye from the foul line that won the game for Ludlow.

The feature of the game was the splendid teamwork of the B. H. S. girls, who at times completely outplayed the visitors. The Misses Jensen and McNiven starred for the winners.

The B. H. S. girls are enjoying a wonderful season on the court and are able to give any of the girls' teams in this vicinity a good battle. The forward court is well taken care of by Edna Howard and Evelyn Archambault. At center is Stella Skribiski who is, no doubt, one of the best centers ever turned out at B. H. S. Nannie Howard and Thelma Dickinson are the regular guards and form the defense of the team. Gladys King and Anna Lego make up the rest of the team and these two players are capable of filling in any of the positions at any time. Summaries:

It was a happy, cheering crowd that attended the games. Half the crowd came from Ludlow.

Paige Piper scored 11 of the 16 points made by B. H. S. on five floor goals and one free try.

Eisold, lanky Ludlow High center, scored his three baskets in the first half. The home boys guarded him closely in the last half, holding him scoreless from the floor.

Albert "Bud" Dorey, former B. H. S. player and referee of the boys' game, thought it would be a pretty fast game. "Bud" proved it when he removed his jacket before the last half.

It crippled the home team when Jason Hill, center, was forced out of the game on fouls.

The only other player who committed four personal fouls was Pratt, Ludlow forward.

In the final period, Coach Demers of Ludlow High sent substitutes into the game at the rate of one per minute.

The B. H. S. boys' team may play one more game before winding up the season.

Among the Ludlow supporters were the superintendent of schools and several teachers. One of the teachers was a member of Gould's 1926 orchestra.

The B. H. S. boys' team is made up of three home boys and five from Enfield. The latter are, namely: Hill, Weston, Segur, Galvin and Ferenz.

Ludlow High also brought along their "cheer leader". He was on deck between the periods of both games and at the close of the girls' game. Of course, "L-u-d-l-o-w" was first and "B-e-l-c-h-e-r-t-o-w-n" last.

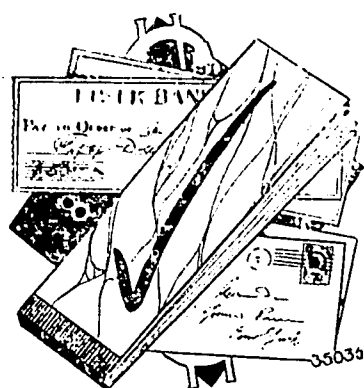

In the absence of the coach, Miss Goodnow, the team play of the local girls' team was directed by Capt. Stella Skribiski, star player of the team.

Miss Ferrier, Ludlow right guard, was forced out of the game in the last half with an injured ankle.

The girls' game was officiated by three referees: Miss Marjorie Peeso, Miss Sanders of Ludlow High school and Eddie Parent, local sports promoter.

Rumors are that Frank Durant of Amherst, popular referee of local basketball games and a member of Coach George Williams's Amherst High quintet, would like to play with the Independents for the remainder of the season.

Eddie Parent, manager of the Belchertown Independents, states that the basketball season is not over yet and is now making arrangements for the biggest attraction of the season to take place shortly. Watch the papers for further announcements.

Parents' Day

The Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. held its first Parents' day in the chapel Tuesday afternoon. The president of the organization had secured C. W. Johnston of Springfield, interested unofficially along temperance lines, to give an address. This was most illuminating.

By the use of posters he made the fact stand out that "Warships Make Enemies" and "Friendships Make Friends." He said "Send friendships wherever there is an opportunity. By the use of chemicals representing Hate, Love and the Earth, he showed that love would conquer hate.

Speaking of the temperance situation, he said that he had travelled widely and had noted a great decrease in drunkenness. He mentioned particularly impressions received in New York and South Dakota.

Mr. Johnston said that propaganda in the papers does much to make young people appear stylish who drink and smoke, but said that the profiting interests are at the bottom of the fallacy. He said that as a rule any man who has smoked for ten years don't want his boy to smoke.

Minstrel Show at State School

The annual minstrel show at the State school was the big event at the local institution this week. That all the students might witness it, the show was given both Tuesday and Wednesday with afternoon and evening performances. Nearly fifty of the pupils had a part in the cast, appearing in true negro make-ups of startling combinations of colors.

Part I consisted of an opening chorus and about a dozen popular songs.

Part II was especially unique, consisting of:

1. Selections on Metalophone
2. (a) Spring Styles
(b) Charleston Four
3. Prof. Zero and his Trained Birds
4. The Gypsy Camp
5. In Barcelona
(a) Song by the Arena Choir
Espaniole Nazionale
(b) Dance, Senorita Mousquita
(c) The Bull Fight
6. Finale
"Song of the Volga Boatmen"
"Yankee Rose"

The Charleston Four was executed by four little girls in red blouses and white trousers with red stripes.

The trained birds in No. 3 were dancing girls dressed respectively as a bluebird, a black bird and a robin. Masks represented the beaks and "wings" were attached to the sleeves.

A sheaf of songs was sung at the "Gypsy Camp" with its potential camp fire, by nine girls, one attired as a sheik.

The Spanish scenes were colorful. Girls whose faces showed in apertures in the back curtain, waved protruding hands of contortionate proportions. The bull in the bull fight was dressed in brown with vicious looking horns.

Dr. A. E. Westwell directed the performance. Music was by the school orchestra. Programs by the "B. S. S. Press" were manifold in color, each bearing a hand-drawn minstrelite in red, purple and yellow.

Men's Supper at M. E. Church

The men of the M. E. church are all on call for the men's supper to be held in the vestry next Wednesday night. They announce it as a sausage and pancake offering—with real maple syrup—and all for 35 cents. The men will reign supreme in the kitchen, and have a permit from Howell Cook to raise as much of a smudge as they wish.

Grange Notes

Thirty-two members of Union grange went to Granby Tuesday night, where they were the guests of Granby grange. It was "Neighbors' Night" and Ludlow grangers were the other guests.

The visitors furnished the entertainment for the evening and the following program in charge of the Worthy Lecturer, Mrs. Julia Shumway, was presented by the local grange:

Solo Carl Aspengren
Readings Mrs. Amy Witt
Piano solo Mrs. F. C. Wilder Farce, "The Two Greenhorns," Charles Sanford and Paul Aldrich
Solo Thomas Allen
Refreshments were served by Granby grange.

It was omitted in last week's Sentinel that Mrs. Rosabelle Putnam has been elected lady assistant steward of Union grange for the ensuing year.

There will be a military whist party in Grange hall Tuesday evening. The committee in charge is Mrs. Charles Trainor, Charles Austin and Wilfrid Noel.

Maple Sugar "Eat"

Although it has been a very difficult matter to secure both snow and syrup for the "Sugar Eat", which is to be held in the Methodist vestry Friday evening, with the combined efforts of the pastor, Harold Fitts and snow will be ready for use. The program will consist of a playlet and a musical romance, and will begin at 7.30 p. m. Tickets are 35 cents, and a good time is anticipated.

Keeping One's Word

Stability in society depends upon keeping one's word. One reason for business failure is neglect to keep one's word. Merchants go under because many people, some of whom are so-called respectable members of society, do not pay their bills when they agree to. One reason for divorce is failure to keep one's word. Marriage vows are not taken seriously. One reason for unhappiness in homes is failure to do as one has promised. Brother fails to keep his appointment with sister. Sister fails to do as she agreed by brother. One reason for wars is failure on the part of nations to keep their word. A nation regards her treaties as mere scraps of paper. Society literally falls to pieces the moment we cannot depend on the word of another.

There are multitudes of people whose word is as good as their bond. Honesty also compels us to say that many people do not make any pretense of keeping their word unless it is convenient. They are not willing to sacrifice much for the sake of keeping their word. Why is it? Is it because of sheer laziness? Is it because of utter forgetfulness? Is it because the sense of duty is weak? Some one has declared that the word "duty" is fading out. Is this true? Is "duty" a new word to the youth of today? Is the reason why thousands of youth stand before the criminal courts because the fathers and mothers failed to put the word "duty" into their vocabulary? Is failure to keep one's word due to some lack in character? Is there lack of a strong will? Is it that we fall an easy prey to luxury and pleasure? Whatever the cause, we should remedy it, if we wish to build a civilization that shall stand.

—R.

The first edition of 100 copies of the new High school paper will be issued Monday. Its make-up is intended to be of interest to both students and alumni.

A larger crowd than usual attended the invitation dance at Memorial last week Thursday evening. Green hats for the orchestra and committee, decorations of the same color about the hall, and green even on the ice cream gave evidence that it was St. Patrick's night. Hamilton's orchestra furnished music. The next in the series will be held next week Friday night and will be an April 1st dance.

Mrs. Bertram E. Shaw and daughter, Eleanor, have been spending the week in Agawam.

Superintendent H. C. Knight and family spent the week-end at Littleton.

BEN HUR

About 29 B. H. S. students attended the photo-play, Ben Hur, at the new Amherst theater on Monday. Miss Mildred Goodnow, the "starter" of the trip, accompanied the students as did also Miss Conklin, Mrs. Hill and Mr. Thomas Allen. Two Freshmen showed the ability of artistry by drawing Ben Hur and his chariot, with Messala and his chariot.

BEETHOVEN

The Sophomore class wrote essays on the Life of Beethoven Tuesday, as it was the anniversary of his 100th birthday. It was the wish of Mrs. Clough, music instructor.

RETURNED

Miss Evelyn Gustafson has returned to school after an operation for appendicitis. She seems to be in the best of health.

BASKETBALL NEWS

The Senior girls defeated the Freshmen girls on the town hall floor last Friday by the score of 20 to 2. The B. H. S. girls' varsity basketball team defeated the Bondsville girls pickup team March 17th, the score being 10 to 7. Miss Thelma Dickinson, a Junior, scored for B. H. S.

AT LAST

Spring is surely here. Baseball is being played every night by B. H. S. pupils who wait for the train. They use the south end of the common for their sport.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR Facts that Draw Crowds and Sway Buyers

Little wonder Dodge Brothers Motor Cars today are accorded such widespread and enthusiastic commendation—

Smart new body lines and attractive color combinations—

A new seating arrangement that provides still more roominess and comfort—

A new clutch, simple, sure, silent—

Softer pedal action, easier gear shifting—

Quicker acceleration, still greater steering ease—

More rigid engine support—and smoother performance—

New, silent-type muffler—

Sturdiness and dependability made still more pronounced by vital betterments in body construction and in the propeller shaft, differential and axle shafts.

Add to these the new five-bearing chrome vanadium crankshaft, with its remarkable improvement in engine performance, the excellent new starting and lighting system and many other recent betterments, and you understand why owners proclaim today's car—

"The finest Dodge ever built!"

Smith-Ward Nuptials

Cards were received in town yesterday announcing the marriage of Myron G. Ward of this town and Miss Julia B. Smith of Lowell at the parsonage of the Congregational church of that city at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The bride is a former resident here, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Smith of North Main street. For a number of years she has been a successful teacher in the public schools of the state. Mr. Ward was long prominent in the agricultural and business life of the town where he was for many years the moving spirit in the Belchertown Creamery Co. Mr. and Mrs. Ward expect to return today from a short wedding trip to

New York.

Games Cancelled

By Noel

Eddie Parent, local sports promoter, announces that the basketball game which he had arranged to be played in the town hall next Thursday night between the B. H. S. girls team and the St. Bridget's girls quintet of Amherst has been called off. It is reported that the main reason for cancelling the game is that one of the players of the local team has accused the promoter of "butting in".

During the winter Parent managed the Belchertown Independents and staged many games here. When the High school varsity teams were organized, he offered to help arrange the games for them, for he had received letters from many teams who wanted to play here in preliminary games. This he did, and on several occasions did not meet expenses. He cannot understand what the cause of the trouble is, for he has done all he could to create a large interest in the hoop game in this town.

Parent had also planned to put on several wrestling matches, featuring local wrestlers, but as he is unable to secure a mat, all these bouts have been cancelled.

Meeting Tonight

There will be a meeting tonight in the Commercial room at Memorial Building at 8 o'clock of all those interested in going at the matter in an organized way of "selling" Belchertown to residents of the Swift River valley who must locate elsewhere by reason of the oncoming flood. It is felt that not only should appeals be made to individuals to locate here, but there are schools and industries in the valley that might be tempted to come this way.

In the old days the Board of Trade would have automatically functioned in this matter, but after the big deal of getting the State school here had been put over, it lapsed into a state of coma which has about faded into death.

Possibly the meeting tonight will be a means of resuscitating the organization or forming something similar in character.

As to the Swift River project, other towns have gotten the jump on us in the matter of activity, but possibly we will strike in at the psychological moment. Boring people of the valley would be very unkind, but if we've really got something to sell, there's no reason why we shouldn't advertise it.

Women as well as men are urged to be present at this meeting.

Special Town Meeting

A special town meeting will be held in Memorial hall next Wednesday evening at 7.30 to take action on the selling of the town farm. The articles to be acted upon are given elsewhere.

It was noted in last week's paper that the state had appropriated $8,500 for the town farm property. It seems that $8,000 of this was for the purchase of the property while the $500 was to take care of surveys, deeds, lawyers' fees and all other expenses involved.

There is some talk that the state's offer is a low one, while others maintain that the layout of buildings at the farm is not such as to attract the usual buyer.

The "Sugar Eat"

At the "sugar eat" at the M. E. vestry last Friday evening, the familiar, "Please pass the salt" and "Please pass the sugar" was changed to, "Please hand me the syrup" and "Please pass the snow." And then—there was not the vigorous shaking and sprinkling that usually follows, rather was there a sort of gentle crooning over something pretty nice yet not quite understandable. The impasse of those in this dilemma was shortly relieved by a little maneuvering on the part of the official demonstrator, Mr. Stowe, and then the syrup began to run.

Snow, which is out of season in these parts was brought in by the barrelful. This was motored to the church from a point high up on the scenic Mohawk trail and was requisitioned by the pastor and Mr. Hoggden. Doughnuts, pickles and coffee were auxiliary attractions.

The "Eat" was the main feature of the evening. Preliminary to it was a musical romance in which those who had an ear for music had the opportunity of guessing familiar strains, while following it was a playlet in charge of Mrs. Dick, which was given by the young people of the church and was a combination of acting and a play upon words.

As a result of the evening's entertainment the sum of $20.00 was given Rev. and Mrs. Dick toward their expense at the annual conference.

The Men's Supper

Considering the heavy volleys of griddlecakes fired by the men at the men's supper at the M. E. church Wednesday night, the barrage of smoke laid down was not out of proportion. Once in a while a woman opened the outside door, but that was all. For the most part the men manipulated. Occasionally one of the gentler sex ventured into the kitchen, but not for long.

Shortly after 6.30 the battery opened up and it was amazing what that company of nearly a hundred folks could hold. Occasionally the sweating chefs would appear at the doorway to see where the waiters were lugging their products.

Evidently there was an assortment of departments in the kitchen. There were the sausage men, the griddlecake men, and the supply men. (A report on the late arrival of butter was that the men were "still a-churning".)

When the public was fed, the cast came out, some in white frocks and

Improving Grounds at Stone House

"An incubator for tent caterpillars" is what J. W. Jackson, president of the Historical association, termed the incipient jungle back of the Stone House and Ford Annex. But the "incubator" has had a time of rough handling the past week. Pruning, cutting down, raking up, burning, tearing up by the roots even to the extent of using horse power, all this has given the place an enlarged, open look and an air of having been washed and shaved.

"Well," said Mr. Jackson, "I've made a beginning. If they don't like it, they can put me out at the annual meeting. (It comes this month.) But the way I look at it, Mr. Ford has given us several thousand dollars in that building and what have we done to show our appreciation?"

With the place empty, swept and
