Holoomb-Fraser Wedding

Miss Mae E. Holoomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Holoomb of Blue Meadow road, and Robert H. Fraser, Jr., of Boston were married Sunday by Rev. John A. Hawley, pastor of the First Congregational church at Amherst. Mrs. Fraser is a 1927 graduate of the local high school, and afterward took the training course for nurses at the Flower hospital, New York city. Mr. Fraser is a graduate of Medfield High school and M. I. T., and as an architect, is associated with his father at Boston. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser will live at Everett.

O. E. S. Easter Ball

The annual O. E. S. Easter concert and ball was given in Lawrence Memorial hall Monday evening. The concert by Jacobs' orchestra of Springfield was very meritorious and much appreciated by those present. Music for the dancing was more classical than that usually presented. W. A. Kimball was promoter for the quadrilles. Ice cream was served by the order during the evening. The dance was well attended and proved to be the usual elite social occasion of the season.

The siren will be operated by a switch at the telephone office. When the installation is complete there will probably be considerable testing, of which the citizens perhaps need to be warned.

The company securing the contract, sent here for temporary use a small outfit that is connected up at the Engine house and has screeched with considerable volume for its size, the last few days.

Girl Scout Rally

The local Girls Scouts have not had a rally for two years, and have never had one with so many attractive numbers on the program as that scheduled for Friday, April 12th, at Memorial hall at 7.30 p. m. Twenty-five girls of the Holyoke Drum and Bugle corps will be here that night and demonstrate several times. Miss Kimball, Western Division director, is to be here also and give a ten-minute talk. This will be Miss Kimball's first visit in Belchertown.

Besides these out of town attractions, the local troop is rehearsing for a short play written by Dr. A. E. Westwell for the Girl Scouts. The girls are also practising camp songs for the rally and there will be in addition a reading and presentation of badges.

Altogether the rally would seem to be an attraction which anyone interested in young people could not afford to miss, especially at the price asked for admission, 25 cents. Tickets are being sold by the committee members, but they can also be purchased at the hall the night of the rally.

Church Supper

The Methodist church has definitely set for itself a program of community service. It believes that the church has a responsibility to the community at large as well as to its particular constituency. It desires to make religion available to the community and to make its contribution to the cultural life of the people. Such a program of broad service demands a larger financial outlay than an ordinary church program.

The end of our fiscal year is at hand and in order to finish a successful financial year, we appeal to the community at large to attend a chicken pie supper in the church vestry Friday evening. The proceeds of this supper go directly into the church treasury. Mr. Grindle is chairman of the supper committee and promises nothing short of a feast. After the supper an entertainment is to be put on. The committee promises you a rare treat in the food that you will eat and the fun that you will share.

If you have enjoyed the Food, Faith and Friendship nights in the past and wish us to include them in our future policy, come out and give us your support Friday evening.

Park Association Meeting

The annual meeting of the Park association was held in the selectmen's room at Memorial building Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Guy C. Allen, president, presided. After the reports, the election of officers took place, resulting as follows:

President Guy C. Allen
Vice President M. C. Baggs
Secretary and Treasurer

L. H. Blackmer
Executive committee, E. C. Howard, J. L. Collard, L. G. Warren, H. F. Peck, J. J. Kempkes.

The association voted to contribute $25 toward the improvement of the park the coming year, this money to be used in conjunction with sums which it was thought other organizations would be glad to contribute.

It was the opinion of those present that the ultimate solution in the matter of keeping the common mowed lay in paid help rather than in spasmodic volunteer efforts. If a sizeable fund can be raised, the

The first and second degrees were worked on a class of three candidates at the regular meeting Tuesday evening. Mrs. Clarinda Shaw contributed a vocal solo to the program of the evening.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred at a special meeting next Tuesday evening.

There will be a rehearsal of the fourth degree in Grange hall Monday evening at 7.30 p. m. and all regular officers are requested to be present.

The order was invited to Enfield last night to hear Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter.

Tomorrow night there will be an exemplification meeting at the old drill hall at M. A. C. at 2.30 p. m. Supper will be served at 6.30, followed by a literary program in the evening.

Another of the popular grange dances will be given at grange hall this evening.

Easter Observance

The weather and the attractive presentations at the several churches in Belchertown Easter Sunday con- spired to bring out fully as large a number as usual. Nearly forty were present at the sunrise service in the chapel, held under the auspices of the young people's societies of the Congregational and Methodist churches. William French was the leader, while the singing was conducted by Rev. Rockwell Smith.

High mass was celebrated at St. Francis church at 9.30 and there was special music by the choir.

At the morning service of the Congregational church a choir of 14 voices rendered several anthems under the direction of Miss M. L. Allen, organist. Easter lilies and other flowers were provided by the young people of the church and were distributed to the sick and shut-ins following the evening service. At the Sunday school hour a special program was rendered, consisting of a song by the girls' class, a reading by James Collard, a recitation by Miss Myrtle Greene, and a two-minute talk by a representative of the men's class. Communion was observed at the evening worship and there was a service for the reception of new members.

The Methodist church was decorated with Easter lilies, roses and tulips, the sick and shut-ins of the parish being remembered with flowers after the services. There was special music by the choir and a class of probationers was taken into the church. At the Epworth League meeting there was special music by a girls' chorus.

Killed in Bridgeport

Miss Mary E. Witt, 77 sister of E. C. Witt of this town, and a visitor well known here, was instantly killed last Friday evening when struck by an automobile as she was alighting from a bus following attendance at a Good Friday service. She suffered a badly fractured skull and numerous cuts. The body was carried about 25 feet.

Miss Witt was born in Granby. She taught for many years in the grade schools of Bridgeport, where she specialized in mathematics. She also taught that subject in the High school where for 21 years she was head of the mathematics department. Since resigning 17 years ago, she has served as a substitute and done private tutoring. Miss Witt also leaves another brother, Joseph, in California.

Dies in Springfield

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth (Whitney) Sadler, wife of Warren Sadler of Springfield, died at her home in that city last week Saturday after a long illness. In May of last year she had the misfortune to break her hip and complications developed later.

Mrs. Sadler was born in this town August 4, 1850, and in 1868 married Warren Sadler. For some years they owned and carried on farms on North Washington street. Nearly 30 years ago they moved to Northampton where they conducted a rooming house. From there the family moved to Springfield, conducting a similar business in that city. They have been located there for 22 years. Last April Mr. and Mrs. Sadler celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Sadler leaves besides her husband, who is ill, several children, Mrs. Joseph Damon of Springfield, Mrs. Harry Chapin of Greenfield, Mrs. Charles Stoodley of Malden, Mrs. Vincent J. Ling and Clarence W. Sadler of Springfield. There are also several grandchildren.

The body was brought here for burial at Mount Hope cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Rev. F. C. Rolls conducted the committal service.

Rock officiated and burial was at Notre Dame cemetery at South Hadley. Mrs. Marion came to Dwight with her husband and family a year ago last fall. A sudden attack of indigestion last Thursday afternoon and the subsequent breaking of a blood vessel caused her death within an hour.

Miss Mary Bevins is at her home in town for a month's vacation.

E. R. Peeso had the misfortune to lose the thumb of his right hand, while sawing at his mill last week Friday. The mitten he was wearing was caught in the saw. The thumb was cut off at the first joint.

We may not speak of our dear Lord In terms of other days; But we before his glory bow, And seek to walk his ways.

We do not see all things alike In earth, or air, or sea; For then on dogma and on creed Shall all our thoughts agree.

Let the ages held so true Less true may seem today. As lamps that formerly shone bright Shine now with lessened ray.

The beaten paths that others trod Our feet would falter in; But we, like them, must follow on Our goal of truth to win.

The way in which our fathers walked

Was not their fathers' way; God led them on in broader paths, And He leads on today.

Were they true seekers after God? We humbly seek Him, too; We search with longing eyes for light, And must to light be true.

The changing thought, the viewpoint new

Are not disloyalty, For faith and love to Christ abide And seal our fealty.

O lead us all, dear Son of God, Thy way of truth to find, Thy will to do, thy cause to serve With undivided mind.

plan is, not only to care for this item, but also to put in and care for a flower bed at the south end of the park.

It was felt that at this point most motorists gained their first impressions of the town, and that it is well to prink up a bit.

The carrying out of this project would necessitate transferring all baseball activities to the north end of the common, but in any case it was the opinion that two diamonds on the village green were not exactly necessary or slightly, although convenient.

No antipathy was felt towards baseball in general, as the plan of transferring the sand and loam bordering the skating rink to the depressions in the north end diamond, was favorably considered.

In carrying out these projects the president of the Board of Trade, who was present, anticipated that there would be the usual cooperation between the two bodies.

It was voted to have the grand clean-up of the common and church properties April 19, when anyone with any public spirit can have a chance to vent it. The following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the day's activities: E. A. Fuller, H. B. Ketchen, M. C. Baggs, H. F. Peck.

State School Appropriations

Chapter 146 of the Acts of 1929 was signed by the governor March 22, appropriating to the Department of Mental Diseases for special purposes the following amounts for the Belchertown State school:

Hospital building	$105,000
Renovation of town farm buildings	25,000
Hillside school buildings	500
Additional walks	2,000
Two sewer beds	23,000
Dairy furnishings	2,190
School furnishings	2,800
Cottage furnishings	2,500
Total	$162,990

Besides this amount for new work $377,170 has been appropriated for the maintenance of the institution for the coming year.

The hospital building will have three stories. On the first floor will be the dental and X-ray departments; the ear, eye, nose and throat and general examination rooms; a laboratory and pharmacy; and a large waiting room for use in connection with two surgical dressing stations for minor surgical cases.

The second floor will be devoted entirely to medical cases among the patients of the institution, the easterly wing for the girls and the westerly wing for the boys. At the south center there will be a temporary nursery opening on to a long veranda, and a dozen single rooms.

The third floor will contain the operating suite. One-half of the floor will be given over to sick employees, including both the medical and surgical cases. There will also be six beds for surgical cases among the patients.

At present the medical cases are cared for in the cottages and wards, while the surgical cases and a few medical ones are taken to the hospital at Holyoke. When the new building is ready for occupancy, there will be developed by invitation a consulting staff of specialists from nearby cities.

Plans have been prepared for remodeling the town farm buildings and when completed the house will accommodate 55 boys and six employees. So far the buildings have been used only for storage purposes. The renovation will be done by the school mechanics, and contemplates the installation of water and sewer connections, electrical lighting, plumbing and heating. The building will be furnished in accordance with the custom obtaining in the other wards.

The buildings at the Hillside school at Greenwich which the $500

item is to pay for, consist chiefly of a barn. This will be torn down and erected again at the school here.

The $2,000 item will provide for additional walks around the administration building, employees' cottages number four and five, the girls' dormitory and the school house.

Two new sewer beds will be built with the $23,000 item, which will also include the extension of water and sewer connections in the three last named buildings.

The $2,190 for furnishing and equipping a dairy will include the removal of the Pasteurizing plant, which is now located in the bake shop to the new building.

The new school house, which was built last year, is expected to be furnished and ready for opening the day after Labor day. It contains four class rooms, the principal's office, a library for the whole institution, manual training and domestic science rooms.

The last item is for furnishing employees' cottage number five.

The school, in spite of the new dormitory which was opened in February, 1928, and in spite of the further accommodations which will be available about September, has and will still have a waiting list. The demand for bed space will not let up for several years and probably not until the institution carries 2,000 beds.

By this fall the pupil population of the school will be 1,025. Already the serious results are beginning to be seen of a large number of children with insufficient facilities for their employment and care. A drive will be made another year for an industrial building. This work is now carried on in two rooms, which is a very limited space for the whole institution.

About fifty per cent of the buildings in the completed plan are already provided.

Life on Blue Heaven

Miami, Fort Myers and Sarasota, Florida March 30, 1929

Dear Lewis:

When going through the Everglades, saw a lot of canals and rivers loaded with all kinds of water life. Saw three large water snakes at one time at another place, and got a snapshot of two of them. There was a big disturbance - fluttering and splashing, by birds and fowl of all kinds, and some feathers on the water. Something evidently had hold of a duck's foot, trying to pull it down into the water. Several seemed to be fighting for it. Could not see just what they were. They had black and brown skins and were rolling around. Could have been snakes or some kind of fish. It was all over in a minute. The duck fluttered down the other side of the canal, exhausted. It looked as if one foot was missing.

At Miami, we went out in the Gulf stream with some fishing boats - about 75 of them. It was so rough we did not fish much. It was all we could do to stand up, but they were catching fish all around us from one to three feet long, and every little while a shark six to seven feet long. The boats kept going slowly, but it sure did look as if they would bump each other. King fish sold for 50c each at the dock every night.

In the Everglades, about 50 miles from anyone, was a 300 acre tomato farm. They were shipping green tomatoes up north, while they dumped large quantities of ripe ones. They sold a few to tourists that stopped.

We saw a lot of birds. Some turkey buzzards were making a big fuss, so we went over and found a rattle snake had, by the looks of the feathers, eaten some kind of a bird. We got a snapshot of him and did not care to go any further in that place.

We met some real redskin Indians. We park on the beach nearly every night. Time goes fast, bathing, fishing and keeping house on Blue Heaven.

Last night we bought a pampino dinner. We enquired from the good looking waitress if she could get us some moonshine. "No, not here," she said, but went on to say that she could get us in touch with someone at the Spanish cafe, a few doors below. I enquired if moonshine was all they had. She said she could meet us at 10 o'clock, when through work, and have plenty of time to show us some real life in a real place. Well, we did not meet her and we did not lie to her, either.

At one place in Florida, on a long, wide, level road, we kept up with a passenger train for about 100 miles. We would pass them while they were stopped at towns, and they would pass us between towns. At one time the rear car was across our road and some of the passengers took snapshots of our outfit. One woman said, "Just you two men?" We informed her of our loud speaker in place of a woman, and said we knew how to shut it off. She thought we did not show enough respect for the weaker sex. I tried to apologize by saying that we respected age, anyway. At that she said, "If you mean me, I don't think I am any older than you are."

Just then there was a "toot-toot" for all aboard, and we were glad of it, as we seemed to be losing out. The next time the train passed us, someone shook their fist at us.

We met a Mr. Russell Thompson at Sarasota. When he was fishing tarpon, he had one hooked and alongside of the boat, ready to pull it over the side, when a large shark grabbed the tarpon and went under the boat for a feed, and nearly upset the boat. They did not dare to shoot him for fear he would tip them out. After he had eaten the tarpon, he started off with the same hook in him the tarpon had, and so towed them around the bay for over six hours. When he finally became exhausted, they had a shark longer than a common row boat.

There have been more people in Florida than usual this winter, but even at that, one can get plenty of nice little furnished bungalows for $20 per month.

It's getting plenty hot-90 for the last week, and unless it cools off some, we will turn old Blue Heaven's nose in the direction of the north star.

I have some trouble to read this letter, but you are in the business, so probably can make it out. We really need a small sized stenographer, without much overhead.

We saw lots of wreckage left by the storm on the East coast, not yet cleaned up. Many people have not money enough to get away from Florida. Business seems to be bad. The tourists help some, but a lot of them start out with one shirt and a $10 bill, and don't change either.

Cordially yours, A. D. Moore

Having been told of the old familiar tune which has been sung in a house to house campaign by a local order man during the past two weeks: "Keep Your Money in Town", we wish to call your attention to the fact that we are paying one of your citizens who is a real estate owner, who helps to support your schools, town affairs and fraternal organizations a far higher wage than we receive in profits from Belchertown.

Take into consideration also the fact that up until the past two weeks this local order man apparently cared not whether you were being properly accommodated.

Another Chain Grocery Store

Belchertown will shortly have its second chain grocery store. A. H. Phillips has been here for some years, and now the First National has invaded the territory, leasing space in the store formerly occupied by R. O. Baggs. It is expected that the branch will open May 1. As the room is larger than required by the organization, a partition running east and west is being put in, thus making a second store available to the south of the grange hall entrance, into which M. C. Baggs will move his plumbing and tinning business, leaving his former store vacant.

In accordance with the contract with the First National Stores, the lessees are stripping the walls bare in the section to be used, whereupon the carpenters regularly employed by the firm will come on and fit up the interior to meet their requirements.

Workmen from the F. A. Champlin concern at East Longmeadow are drilling an artesian well on the Holland farm, a few rods from the swimming pool. The object is to secure a sufficient amount of water so that the water in the pool can be quickly changed. The pool is 100 by 60 and ten feet deep at one end.

The work of drilling started Apr. 1st. Yesterday they had reached a 35-foot level. The last 12 feet has necessitated boring through solid rock. Some four or five feet of rock can be bored in a day. Mr. Holland is determined to get a good flow of water if it requires going down 200

Death of John A. Gould

John A. Gould, 58, died at 10.30 last Thursday night at his home on Franklin St. The day before he rode to his work as usual but was stricken with apoplexy before he could leave the car, and was taken home.

Mr. Gould was born in Ware, but had lived in Belchertown for nine years. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Elizabeth E. (Thrasher) Gould, and a daughter, Alma Gould, in the High school, also two sisters and a brother.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 2, at the Methodist vestry, Rev. Richard Broug, pastor of the Methodist church at Bondsville, officiating, assisted by Rev. Rockwell Smith of the local M. E. church. The bearers were Edgar C. Witt, Henry Thrasher of Ware, Harry Randall of Bondsville and Wilfred Pickett of Springfield. Burial was in Aspen Grove cemetery at Ware.

Chicken Pie Supper

The tables were well filled at the M. E. vestry last Friday evening, the occasion being the public chicken pie supper. There were sumptuous servings and more if you wanted it, and still more after supper if you wanted to buy it.

Rev. Rockwell Smith accepted the role of auctioneer to sell off the pies remaining, chicken and otherwise, and lacked neither in words or wit. His audience was full to the brim and cared little about next day's dinner, but by passing around exhibits "A" and "B," etc, some

"Spring" Supper

When the air was thick with snow Wednesday afternoon and a thick mantle covered the earth at night, one wondered if the laugh wasn't on the Home Department "Spring" supper, but when the tables loomed nearer and "daffodils" smilingly looked up from each place in appropriately folded napkins, then the "laugh" was off. And the people blossomed out with spring, too, for the tables were practically all filled. Some of the Williams Motor Sales group of Springfield came again for another "feed".

The program was as good as the supper, which is saying some. Children and adults vied for honors. The readings by Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Moore were especially taking, and the quartette in costume, singing, "We'll Have to Mortgage the Farm," made a hit. Thomas Allen

Presents Poultry Statistics

Poultry statistics were presented from every conceivable angle by Prof. F. H. Branch of M. A. C. at the poultry meeting held under the auspices of the Extension Service in Grange hall, Monday evening. County agent Leland presented the speaker, who explained about a dozen charts in a most interesting fashion.

For some time Prof. Branch has summarized statistics sent him by poultrymen of the state and put his findings on charts for convenience in getting his message across. The ones he had with him Monday night revealed the records of 1926 and 1927. One hundred sixty-five poultrymen reported in the former year and 152 in the latter. The records were of 70,000 birds each year. Sixty per cent were Rhode Island Reds, 10 per cent Barred and White Rocks and White Wyandottes, and the balance White Leghorns. The average number of birds in the flock was 420, and the labor return per bird $2.95.

Before this latter figure was arrived at, deductions of five per cent on the previous year's inventory was made, and ten per cent for equipment, also a five per cent interest charge. The average investment per bird was shown to be $7.01 in 1926 and $7.02 in 1927. The return per hour of labor was shown to be .821 in 1926 and .615 in 1927.

The labor returns per bird for Leghorns for the two years were

Talk on Scouting by Miss Margaret Kimball, Western Division director

Awarding of badges Camp Songs and closing Drum and bugle corps

The drum and bugle corps of Holyoke, 34 of whom are expected to be present, will be the big attraction, although nothing can quite take the place of our own girls in the interest of the townspeople. The local troop will march in and give the opening exercises which are a part of their meeting each week. There will also be songs and a short play not only put on by the local troop, but also written by local talent, Dr. A. E. Westwell being the author. Those taking part in the play are Barbara Baggs, Alice Hussey, Gertrude Knight, Myrtle Greene, Evelyn Sessions and Betty Ketchen.

Besides all this, there is the talk by Miss Margaret Kimball, Western Division Director, who is to visit Belchertown for the first time. Miss Kimball will also present the badges which the girls have earned.

Home made candy will be on sale during the evening. Admission tickets, which may be procured at the door, are 25 cents.

Visiting Boyhood Home

Dr. Morris B. Landers and son, Morris, Jr., of Detroit, Mich., are visiting Dr. Landers's mother at her home on Franklin street. Morris, Jr., is a student at Ann Arbor University, Mich. Dr. Landers will be remembered as a Belchertown student who attended the Franklin school and B. H. S., driving back and forth with a horse and buggy from the Bondsville line to the high school during all of the four years' course. Dr. Landers's name appears in "Who's Who" this year and Belchertown is justly proud of this son of hers who has written his name large.

My auto isn't so very much As far as autos may go. It hasn't the looks and it hasn't the speed.

It's ugly and it's slow. The folks with the shiny cars they laugh,

$2.67 and $2.19, while American breeds figured out $3.07 and $2.88. The labor return on a per-hour basis was .821 and .625 for Leghorns and .818 and .605 for American breeds. Equalizing the two breeds, it was estimated that 825 Leghorns was the equivalent of 655 of the American. The estimated hours of labor per bird were indicated as 3 1/4 in 1926 and 3 1/2 in 1927 for Leghorns, and 3 3/4 and 4 1/4 for the others in the same years.

The relation of flock size to labor return and egg production showed no distinct trend and the average dozen price was approximately the same.

One chart vividly brought out the fact that flocks containing 25, 50 and 75 per cent old hens had a corresponding decrease in egg production. Early laying pullets helped to increase the annual egg production and profits most materially.

Prof. Branch did not drone off monotonously the reading matter on the charts but explained them in a very informal way with many an aside thrown in. He gave probable reasons for apparent irregularities.

Two charts, a bit different, were shown at the close, one showing top and bottom prices for eggs in each year over quite a term of years, revealing the fact that top prices have gradually lessened, while bottom prices are rather fixed. The other chart showed the relative scale difference between grain prices and egg prices over a term of years. Immediately following the war, grain prices were shown to be lower in comparison to egg prices, a margin which has not since obtained.

General poultry problems were considered at the conclusion of Prof. Branch's talk. The visitors had no sure cure for cannibalism, and admitted it. It was stated that at the college this condition is very well controlled by immediately picking out those that start the practice. Antican was mentioned as a remedy, but nothing was recommended as a sure cure. One of the visitors laughingly told of a man who had fashioned small sheet iron plates as sort of rear end protectors for his birds, so probably it will not be long before those who make our auto plates will be turning out hen bumpers as well, so that at least these pick and run drivers can be put out of business.

Prof. Branch invited local poultrymen to keep records and send them in, beginning with the fiscal year that starts in the fall, as he stated that the tabulations deduced from them and sent out have been very much appreciated. He said that about 70 per cent of those who start making returns complete the year. If poultrymen have hard luck, they hate to keep sending in records, but a general yearly average is desired, not spectacular records.

All the visitors, including Prof. Bann, also of the college, were anxious to be of assistance to the local poultrymen.

L. W. Ayers, forest fire warden, reports a grass and brush fire at Leach's crossing on Monday, when 16 acres were burned over; also a small one on the Three Rivers road, probably caused by tourists; while Wednesday night the new dump caught fire. Yesterday the warden received official word that no fire permits are to be granted this month except on rainy days.

Wednesday was Clean-up Day at the M. E. church. A group of ladies, who "fathered" the enterprise, went to the church at about 10 and had a merry time of it sweeping and cleaning, and repairing the carpet and cushions up stairs, and scrubbing the floors and cleaning the kitchen downstairs. At noon they had a picnic lunch, each having brought a contribution for the repast. One lone man sat down with the ladies, although others showed up during the day to help repair seats, windows, etc. But the ladies ruled the roost, and neither lock nor labor kept them from their clean-up crusade, which lasted till around 4.

As this is Conference week, there will be no Food, Faith and Fellowship service at the M. E. church to-night, or any services at the church on Sunday.

The Home Department of the Congregational Sunday School will meet with Mrs. W. S. Piper next Friday afternoon at 2.30.

The pastor then put on a few comic numbers—recitations, readings and jokes, some of them with a local application, and all highly amusing.

The usual program of devotional service and games was omitted, although some of the youngsters hated to go home so early. The supper was in charge of H. C. Grindle. About 75 were present.

Activity at Spencer Farm

F. D. Fuller, proprietor of "Belchertown Farms," took possession of the Spencer farm April 1 and has since been renovating the house. This farm will be the scene of considerable activity this summer. In fact, summer shelters are commencing to blossom out all over the place. Similar in type and all painted white, a veritable miniature city is in the making. Twenty-five already appear on the landscape and fifteen more are yet to be constructed. The whole will be sprinkled over an area of seven acres.

A 250 ft. poultry house is to be constructed on the farm. W. D. Dunbar has been employed as head carpenter at the "Farms" since last fall and has a full season's work ahead to bring the plant to completion.

Pomona Grange Meeting

About 150 attended the Pomona Grange meeting held here last week Thursday. The rollcall at the morning session was well responded to, the men giving their favorite kind of pie, and the women their favorite recipe. Dinner was served at noon at the chapel, the committee in charge being Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Cook, Mrs. Cora Newman and Mrs. Alice Hubbard.

Wilfrid Noel gave the address of welcome at the afternoon session, which was responded to by Mrs. Sumner R. Parker of South Amherst. A vocal solo by Mrs. Dora Duncan was followed by a clever play by the home economics committee of Leverett grange and a talk by Rev. Lynn P. Townsend of Ludlow on "The New England Farmer." Prizes for the best exhibit of 10 handy household articles were awarded as follows: South Amherst, first; Hadley, second; Leverett, third.

Dies in Conway

Mrs. Hattie J. Pratt, widow of the late Homer S. Pratt, died Sunday morning at her home in Conway, of heart disease and complications. She was born at Shutesbury, Mass., December 27, 1860, the daughter of Henry N. and Harriett Ward Kimball. She was educated and taught in the public schools of that town. On Thanksgiving day, 1882, she married Eugene R. Hanks of Pelham and lived many years in Springfield and Feeding Hills.

On March 13, 1899, she married Homer S. Pratt of this town, who died September 30, 1925. Since the death of Mr. Pratt, she has made her home in Conway where her daughter, Miss Maud E. Hanks, is employed as bookkeeper for the Conant and Donelson company of that town.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock at the home, with burial in Shutesbury.

Men's and Boys' Night

The Men's and Boys' night put on by the men's club of the Congregational church at the chapel on Monday night provided a variation in the program of the club. First came the business meeting presided over by H. F. Peck, president. The treasurer's report showed a sum of about $23 which had been turned over to the Social Guild, representing the proceeds of the men's supper.

The meeting accepted the recommendation of the committee on a name for the organization, adopting the title, "Congregational Men's Club of Belchertown". It is planned to have a regular supper in connection with the next monthly meeting, the committee to be appointed by the president.

Business over, Prof. George Farley, state 4-H club leader, addressed the gathering on "What I would do if I was a boy again." It was of especial interest to the boys present, but the men got a "kick" out of it, too.

He said, "First of all I'd learn, having been given a task to do, I'd do it, no matter what it cost." He said that once he sent a boy to deliver a book at a certain school. He was gone longer than expected, but the door being locked, he had gotten through the transom to complete his task, rather than come back with a dozen excuses. In contrast with this, he told of some boys delegated to

Senior Class Play

Cupid's darts shot in every direction on the stage of Lawrence Memorial hall Wednesday evening at the Senior class play, "What About Betty?" It began with a climax close-up and it ended with a cupid, and there was a lot in between.

William Grayson (Edward Schmidt) was the millionaire broker with a sensible side to his make-up. Margaret, his wife, (Anna Shuttleworth) craved high society and was chagrined that their son, Richard, (Kenneth Damon) was in love with Betty, the maid (Marie Baggs) and equally so that her daughter, Millie, (Roberta Lisk) had a leaning away from Lord Gilford Bentley (George McPherson) towards Charles Clifford, (William Barry) the son of the seamstress, Lillian Clifford (Alice Dressel). Lenora Blackstone, a medium with clammy hand seances, (Sylvia Damon) was determined that her daughter, Marie (Anna Lego) should marry the millionaire's son, and Marie wasn't bashful about playing her own cards.

Joshua Bing, (James Garvey) an uncle of the Graysons, had a fondness for reality, for a good chew of tobacco and a place to spit it. David Stoddard, (Stanley Rhodes) a bank president, disclosed Lord Bentley as no lord at all but an imposter; James, the butler, (Louis Fuller) evolved as a detective; the maid was cleared from a frame-up of robbery and was found to be a reporter, while Charles Clifford turned out to be the real Lord Bentley's son.

Between acts one and two Mrs. Grace Beaumont of Amherst, instructor of music in the local schools, rendered vocal solos, Miss Hawley accompanying her, while at the next intermission Miss Anna Wallace of Bondsville, a member of the Junior class, contributed violin solos with Miss Mary Strycharz as accompanist.

Credit for bringing the production of the play to its commendable conclusion belongs to Miss Inman of the faculty.

Girl Scout Rally

Lawrence Memorial hall resounded with the roll of stirring drums and the bugle that sings of fame last Friday evening at the Girl Scout rally, when the Holyoke drum and bugle corps put on several numbers. But the "fame" was not of the so-called militaristic type. Rather was the emphasis of the evening on the patriotism of peace, the fitness of youth and the quest for beauty.

Following selections by the drum and bugle corps, whose renderings were most commendable, opening exercises were presented by the Belchertown Girl Scouts, after which a recitation was given by Miss Madeline Lincoln.

No. 4 on the program was a playlet, "I Told You So," written by Dr. A. E. Westwell of the state school, and given by the local scouts. Those taking part were Gertrude Knight, Myrtle Greene, Barbara Baggs, Alice Hussey, Betty Ketchen and Evelyn Sessions. Instead of Girl Scout rules being a bore, as the play started out, they were found to be a blessing, and when it came to real emergencies, the girls in khaki and green were found to come in mighty handy. Of course it all came out as

Mr. Editor: In your issue of March 1st you printed those fine lines that make "America, the Beautiful," a hymn of pure patriotism and high idealism. Its gifted author, Katharine Lee Bates, for 40 years a teacher of English literature at Wellesley college, has died recently.

It is interesting to know that the inspiration for this hymn came to its author as she stood with friends upon Pike's Peak and beheld the "purple mountain majesties" and other grand scenery of that region.

The poem was first printed in the Congregationalist, July 4, 1895, in the following form:

O beautiful for halcyon skies, For amber waves of grain, For purple mountain majesties Above the enameled plain! America! America! God shed his grace on thee Till souls wax fair as earth and air And music-hearted sea!

O beautiful for pilgrim feet, Whose stern, impassioned stress A thoroughfare for freedom beat Across the wilderness! America! America! God shed his grace on thee Till paths be wrought through wilds of thought By pilgrim foot and knee!

O beautiful for glory-tale Of liberating strife, When once and twice, for man's avail, Men lavished precious life! America! America! God shed his grace on thee Till selfish gain no longer stain The banner of the free!

O beautiful for patriot dream That sees beyond the years Thine alabaster cities gleam Undimmed by human tears! America! America! God shed his grace on thee Till nobler men keep once again Thy whiter jubilee!

It was a precious stone in its original form. We are glad it was touched and polished to be the gem it is in hymnal setting. -C. G. B.

The bride was educated at Warren High school and Brown University. Mr. Fleming is assistant editor of a Boston textile journal and is a graduate of Lafayette University. The wedding comes in the season of the 25th anniversary of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Putnam and daughter, Edith, attended church at Ludlow Center Sunday.

We wouldn't say that Turkey Hill is back to the good old days of pre-war time, but still there is some stirring round here yet. Most of the poultrymen are receiving baby chicks by the thousand; there is a new industry of rabbit raising, one young man having hundreds of Flemish Giants and Chinchilla rabbits for which he receives big prices; there is a new wayside store on the triangle south of the Laymore Poultry farm; and Herbert Hubbard, a native of the town but now of Holyoke, has built a new house not far from his boyhood home, on the left side of the Turkey Hill road, about one-fourth mile from the Holyoke road. This is nearly completed. Wilfrid Noel is building a bungalow on the site of the late Rufus Lane home. And the Olds farm, bordering on the Granby line, which up to seven years ago had been owned by three generations of the first settlers of the farm, the late Charles Underwood, has passed to its fifth or sixth owners since July, 1922. There was a large, although not widely advertised auction on the old Thompson farm last week. Edgar Shumway, who was formerly employed on the Upham farm, has taken a position in Connecticut, and Mr. and Mrs. James Clain have moved to the vacated tenement. Three are also rumors of a wedding on the Hill and—Herbert Durant of Granby is still supplying the residents with meat and groceries.

Girl Scout Rally

"I told you so." The drum and bugle corps then gave selections, following which Miss Margaret Kimball, director of the western Massachusetts division, gave a talk on What Scouting Means. She said that there are 3,705 Scouts in western Massachusetts, representing only a tiny bit of those in the United States and all over the world, but the burden of her message was not the stressing of figures, but rather the eternal quest for beauty, one of the chief aims in Scouting, and in fact an essential to successful living.

Miss Kimball pictured the chemist in his laboratory, the dressmaker fashioning a garment, the homemaker trying to make the home more attractive and a neater place in which to live, and the cook at her baking as fundamentally seeking for a sense of proportion and beauty. As to nature study, she said that if all one gets is simply names, one is not worthy of the nature badge. The same was said to be true of the study of birds and the stars. Only as one's ear is in tune to know what the bird's song is, only as one senses the music of the stars, does life take on its true meaning.

Miss Kimball's talk was a winsome appeal to young—and old, to enter on this "eternal quest for beauty." In closing she visualized one's higher self and the commendable resolve, "We will be that."

Following the talk, Miss Kimball awarded second class badges to Scouts Barbara Baggs, Myrtle Greene, Ruth Spencer and Marion Shaw; the five-year stripe to Scout Alice Hussey; and 23 merit badges.

Mrs. Marion K. Shaw, secretary of the Girl Scout committee, then spoke a few words concerning Scouting in Belchertown, calling attention to the fact that the 10th anniversary comes this fall, and then launched into the recital of a rather dazzling array of alleged kindnesses done the scouts by the editor of the local paper, concluding with the presentation to him of the thanks badge, for which he is sincerely grateful and humbly proud.

But the recipient, on calm reflection, is of the opinion that if any deserve thanks, they are the Girl Scout leaders themselves who have unreservedly through the years given themselves to the high task of helping the girlhood of this town to experience a more abundant life. To those, and to those who uphold their hands, Belchertown owes a debt which it can never pay.

The rally concluded with a selection by the drum and bugle corps. The local committee served refreshments to the visitors after the exercises.

THE CHRISTIAN MILKING STOOL

A certain Christian friend of mine

Does farming for a trade.

One day I watched him as he milked

And offered Christian aid.

Just as the creamy liquid

Was almost to the brim,

The gentle cow raised up her hoof

And kicked it over him.

The farmer toppled backward;

He grasped his milking stool

And gave the cow a solid whack;

He said: "You durned old fool."

I watched him as he kicked about,

He wasn't very cool.

I said: "John, be a Christian

With your milking stool."

The other day John said to me:

"I reckon, sir, you're right.

I'm looking at my farming

In a far more Christian light.

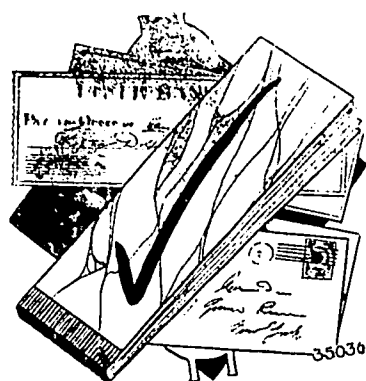

I'm more patient, and that stool

there

Ain't a weapon, but a tool.

I'm a-bringing in the Kingdom

With my milking stool."

Here again he told of two girls ranking highest in a state canning contest. It was about impossible to choose between them, for the award.

The one who finally lost wrote a letter of congratulation to the winner. He called that being a sport. She tried next year and won. So did the boy in South Hadley who lost his potato crop. He came back. The speaker said that at some of the big expositions, men of means were sadly lacking in good sportsmanship. Goals can be won, he said. He spoke of the girl in Orange who had earned $1,000 so as to enter Normal school. Mr. Farley said, "I'd set

Clean-Up Day

In the midst of an almost continuous rainy and snowy spell, Clean-up day dawned bright and fair last Friday morning, enabling the plans for the day to be carried out. The road help, who gave of their services along with the rest, started the fun at an early hour and their activity enticed the rakers out soon after. A small army of men and boys stood shoulder to shoulder the width of the common till the job was done. There were those present used to such work and there were those who weren't, there were enthusiastic youngsters with an eye out for Cattle Show nickels, there were older ones who'd refused invitations to go fishing in order to stay on the job, and there were greyhaired veterans, prominent among whom was E. A. R. Fairchild who simply couldn't be kept at home when there was such a frolic on. There was a big demand for rakes. One captain of industry groomed four for the occasion, and all appeared in the line-up.

Rainbow Party

The sun shone Wednesday, and while there was no rain for it to shine through, there were rainbows a-plenty at the Davis home on North Main street on the occasion of the Rainbow party of the Ladies Social Union. There was a big rainbow the length of the living room besides others at the windows, and over doors and windows in the parlor. In fact rainbow colors were diffused everywhere.

After a short business meeting, in which it was decided to have Wednesdays the regular meeting day, the following program was rendered:

Chorus, "There's a Rainbow Round My Shoulder"
Reading, "The Twins"

Mrs. Amy Witt Song, "A Rainbow on the Cloud,"
Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Conkey Song, "Rainbow Fairies" Louise and Hilda Greene. Fairies in rainbow costume, June Sanford, Ruth Chamberlain, Ruthella Con-

St. Francis Church Supper and Entertainment

A crowd estimated as approaching 300 patronized the supper given by the ladies of St. Francis church in Grange hall Wednesday evening. While advertised to start at 6, a special party of 18 from Holyoke were taken care of at 5.30. From then on, the crowd kept coming. The six tables were filled and refilled till all had been served. The menu consisted of baked beans, salads, meats, scalloped potato, etc.

The entertainment was largely by "a flock of three entertainers" from South Hadley Falls, procured through the efforts of Michael McKillop of that place. The readings by Dr. Joseph Lynch were especially vivid, the stories by Timothy J. Moriarty truly tickled the audience, while Stephen P. O'Donnell, the announcer for the group, did special stunts and filled in the odd chinks of time. The program follows:

Food, Faith and Friendship Night

Unless it's raining when this is printed and you read it, spring is here. The sun is shining, birds are singing, flowers are blooming, the sun is full, and Friday evening in the Methodist church vestry we will have another Food, Faith and Friendship Night. We were sorry when conference interfered and made it impossible for us to get together, but now that is all over. Friday evening at 6.30 come and join that fine, fat family of folks who find their finest fun at the Food, Faith, and Friendship Night.

The ladies will be on hand with the supper at 6.30 and you'll get there early if you don't want to wait for a second table. If you're late, however, don't worry. There's always food and room for one more, but get there on time anyway.

After the supper we have our prayer service. The pastor will talk about "Salt and Seasoning." You'll want to be there to sing with us, and pray with us, and say your say about "Salt".

The committee in charge has engaged for the evening Belchertown's premier orator and exponent of the art of elocution. He is a local son whose fame has spread even to Ludlow, Amherst, and such foreign parts. He promises to recite in his best manner. Come one and all. Get into the games afterward.

"Blue Heaven" Returns

While "Blue Heaven" has been far removed from the majority of Belchertown people for the last ten weeks, if wafled back to its former environs last Saturday when "Ad" Moore and Edmund Boucier of Ludlow returned from their trip south.

True to the implications of its name, the car provided happiness and comfort from the first mile to the 4,800th of the trip, and many pleasant memories will be forever associated with it. Here meals were cooked, limbs relaxed, scenery seen and concerts pulled from the air. Painstakingly constructed, "Ad" reports that he would make few changes in the car, were he to go again.

Perhaps it's doubtful if he'd even tip that last N in BLUE HEAVEN right side up. He was cautioned by a former school teacher here before he left, not to leave town with the precious word in such condition, but away he went, regardless. "Ad" says that they probably showed a thousand people through the car on the trip and that practically all of them called his attention to that "N".

He didn't mind that particularly, but showing people through the car did get to be a bore, so they finally hung up clothes in front of the windows, giving strong indications that there was a converting process going on within, while the occupants inhaled deeply through the ventilators under the "leaves".

But one day the "converting" process was really going on. "Ad" says it started with an argument as to what day it was. One maintained it was Saturday and the other Sunday. If it was Sunday, "Ad's" companion wanted to go to mass; otherwise not. They hated to admit to anyone that they didn't know what day it was, but they finally spunked up courage and asked, and sure enough it was Sunday. There was nothing to do then but beat it for a Catholic church some 15 miles away, and while "Ad" grabbed the wheel and opened the throttle, his companion dizzily danced one foot into his best trousers and finally the other, so that when they arrived, the prinking was all done—and they were only a half hour late.

"Ad" says it's a wonder there weren't a dozen accidents by reason of the distinctiveness of "Blue Heaven". Cars would meet them, their drivers would gawp back and finally come to their senses away over to the left side of the road.

Going down the pair followed the coast line for the most part, while re-

Some boots are soft and pliable, And others caked and hard, Some boots are torn and tattered, Some boots are new and whole; But you bet your boots the strength of the boot Depends on the blooming sole.

Dr. Kline of the Department of Mental Diseases visited the local institution last Friday. Arrangements were made for a conference this week of superintendents of the feeble minded institutions of the state. There is some ground for believing that by reason of the number of feeble minded in the state, the school here will be built up to capacity sooner than expected, and there is a possibility even that another institution of the kind will have to be provided by the state.

Red Cross Certificates

The high school assembled Tuesday afternoon to witness the presentation of certificates to seven girls of the sophomore class who had completed the American National Red Cross modified course in home hygiene and care of the sick. In the absence of a representative of the Red Cross, who was expected to make the presentation, Superintendent H. C. Knight, who is the director of the Household Arts department under which this course is included, presented the certificates to the girls. He spoke of the course as being of value not only when it came to caring for the sick, but in maintaining the health of the individual, the home and the community, besides introducing one to nursing as a possible vocation. Principal Allen, who introduced Mr. Knight, also spoke a few words regarding the importance of the course as a preparation for meeting emergencies successfully. Miss Mansfield, school nurse, who taught the course, added a few words at the close.

Those receiving certificates were: Miss Katherine Czabon of Enfield, Miss Mildred Vera Rafter of Enfield, Miss Agnes H. Kulig of South Belchertown, Miss Agnes I. Dusza of South Belchertown, Miss Agnes L. Menard of the center, Miss Eleanor Louise Griswold of Prescott and Miss Ruth E. Downing of Enfield.

The schools in town closed Wednesday morning and will re-open next Wednesday.

Daylight saving time goes into effect Sunday morning. The new train schedule, in terms of the new time, is printed in this issue. The evening church services revert to 7.30 for the summer.

The holiday brought out a good crowd for the grange dance last week Friday night, the hall being well filled. The next and probably the final dance, will be held May 3.

The Epworth League was the guest of the Young People's society of the Ludlow Center church last week Friday night, and almost the entire membership responded to the invitation to supper. The local society furnished the program following, which included the play, "A Disturbance in the Brown Family," and a tale of the Wild West enacted by Rev. Rockwell Smith and William French in costume.

The Girl Scout Community committee met Monday evening at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George E. McPherson. Reports were read and plans made for the future. It is hoped to be able to send some girls to camp this summer. Mrs. F. E. Farrington reported a membership in the troop of 19 registered Scouts, seven of whom have been invested recently, besides three more who are working on the tenderfoot requirements.

Before noon the common was raked, something unheard of before at that hour. The church grounds took it next, and it was in the midst of this part of the work that the noon whistle blew, which was a signal to "beat it" to grange hall for the dandy dinner furnished by the Community Service committee of Union grange. There were 27 who sat down to the repast.

As the idea was to have the afternoon off, there is still work to be done by the cemetery and around the chapel and St. Francis church, which it is expected will be taken care of at a later date.

The skating rink barrier was carted to the north end of the common where it was used to fill in depressions in the ball field.

The response to the invitation to turn out was very heartening to those who had raked almost alone in some previous years.

"Blue Heaven" Returns

turning they took a route some 150 miles inland. Going south they saw peas well up, while returning on the inland route ten weeks later, this variety of garden product was about the same height.

But the men had a glorious time in the sunny south. They visited Crystal Springs, taking a trip in one of the glass bottomed boats through which one could see 80 feet. "Ad" inwardly groans when he recalls that on a previous trip, when the place was undeveloped, he could probably have bought the whole section for $100. And now a half-million wouldn't raise a ripple.

Of course there were thrills and narrow escapes. When a school of porpoise came unexpectedly upon Boucier while he was in bathing, "Ad" said his friend lost all his tan, and a picture of a rattlesnake which they brought home showed that they got a little too close for comfort. They saw the big motor boat race and the try-outs for the auto classic.

The pair certainly imbibed orange juice for fair. "Ad" states on his word of honor that they consumed exactly 12 bushels—65 oranges in a day was the record number. In fact business got so brisk that they invested in an orange squeezing machine.

Of course they did drink water on occasions. In fact they brought home a container of a healing variety taken from "The Fountain of Youth" at St. Petersburg. This "Ad" is dispensing to those of his friends who show signs of beginning to look peaked.

They had an interesting time coming back. They started two weeks ago Monday during our heat wave. Three times they had to stop because of high water. At one place it stood eight feet above the cement road and they had to wait half a day for it to go down sufficiently for them to pass. Another experience was that of being towed through high water. "Ad" says that some young fellows with Fords poked fun at them as they went by in the bold assurance that they'd make it under their own power, but they were found stalled further up the line, trying to separate their gas, oil and water.

Going over a mountainous section "Ad" says that they passed through apple orchards in full bloom, while on the ground there was six inches of snow.

They visited Shenandoah Caverns in Virginia and marveled at the wonders of subterranean nature.

Pictures and snapshots that the adventurers brought back vouch for the accuracy of some of their tales. Possibly the one hardest to understand—at least from his wife's standpoint—is that of "Ad" smilingly bending over a wash tub, struggling with the week's wash.

Other souvenirs brought home were pine boughs, shells of extraordinary shapes, pecans, etc. One shell hadn't quite fossilized and the odor was such that it had to be taken to the cider mill to repose.

But the one outstanding disappointment of the trip was the futile search for that school teacher "Ad" met on his trip last year. It seemed anything like heaven to find that she'd gone to Detroit.

From the financial point of view the trip was a great success. "Ad" says the cost ($180 apiece) includes gas, oil, a tire, a fan, feed and souvenirs, and he's tanked up with stories that will bulge the eyes of old and young for a long time to come, and that ought to be worth something.

Bowling Notes

Although no sporting news has been reported during the last few weeks, bowling activities in the Red Men's Social League in South Hadley Falls are still progressing as usual. Last Friday's match was one of the feature contests of the season, the Belchertown bowling team taking all three points from the Williamansett Five. Only one local bowler was on hand to represent the Belchertown five at the alleys, that being Andrew Sears. Manager John J. Fairchild was absent for the second time since the opening of the league. Young Bozo and Ernie Hoffman, two well known So. Hadley bowlers, filled the vacant places in the local line-up and their fine rolling was mainly responsible for the showing made by the winning team. Sampson, anchor roller for the Williamansetts, was high man of the night with a total of 301. Line-up:

	Belchertown 3
Reynolds	104	75	84 263
Bozo	108	100	82 290
Hoffman	78	96	101 275
Sears	84	97	107 288
Orcutt	92	102	91 285
Totals	466	470	465 1401
	Williamansett
Dunleavy	93	76	100 269
Leverault	86	91	81 258
Lynch	89	96	97 282
Sullivan	82	87	95 264
Sampson	112	99	90 301
Totals	462	449	463 1334

Tonight the Belchertown bowlers will cross alleys with the Legrand Ice Company, and hope to keep up the fine work of the past week.

Turkey Hill Items

We are informed of other achievements in this section of the town not reported last week. Thomas Brown, residing on the Nelson Barrett farm, is building a house to replace the one burned down last year, and ex-selectman Austin and bride are living in a new bungalow at the four corners west of his old home. Two new Essex cars appeared on our road this week and still the little old Fords chug right away. And that reminds us of one thing we've noticed about Fords, whether it be the common garden variety or those bright shiny ones they are using these days, they stall not for race or creed and never seem to mind if children are crowded in between the grown-ups.

Annual Meeting of the Historical Association

The annual meeting of the Belchertown Historical association was held at the Stone House Monday evening. Thirteen were present, but nothing particularly untoward happened.
The meeting was largely concerned with reports of officers, election of officers for the ensuing year and the matter of safeguarding the future by the adoption of such business practice as would encourage gifts and bequests. President J. W. Jackson presided. Miss M. E. Bartlett, recording clerk; L. H. Blackmer, treasurer; and Mrs. H. F. Curtis, custodian, gave their annual reports, the latter being appended herewith. Mrs. Curtis's report is of especial interest as it indicates the degree of usefulness the association and its collection has been to the people of the town and the world outside.
President Jackson, in the course of informal remarks, spoke of being particularly pleased at the interest taken in the collection by children whose parents were of foreign birth.

"Turkey Hill" Supper

The M. E. vestry was a popular spot Wednesday evening. What was it which drew the crowd? Was it the supper of ham, mashed potato, spinach, rolls, pie, coffee, and "et ceteras"? Or was it because it was May Day, tokens of which were seen in the miniature May poles with their pink and green streamers, which graced the tables. Or did the varied and interesting program prove the drawing card? Or perhaps it was the committee in charge. Ah, now you have it. The one word, which by its magic brought out the people, was "the Turkey Hill ladies"! They provided the supper, arranged the decorations, which included an abundance of daffodils,

Opening at Pansy Park Tavern

While Pansy Park Tavern, which was opened last year, did not close for the winter months, a spring opening of rather pretentious proportions, was featured last Monday night. Some 50 guests, including not only people from Belchertown center, but also from Amherst, Holyoke and Northampton, were agreeably entertained from 8 to 12. A buffet lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Tracey, and music was furnished by Hamilton's orchestra.
An added attraction at the Tavern this year is the new tea room which has been fitted out in the ell. Partitions, and the floor to the upper half-story were taken out, leaving a spacious story-and-a-half room. 200 from Co. D of Holyoke were entertained there last Friday and Saturday and the capacity was not taxed.
The walls are grey with mahogany finish trimmings, while the figured curtains are of variegated color. Altogether the room presents a very inviting appearance. As was the case with the renovation of the main part of the house last year, the tea room was evolved solely through the labors of Mr. Tracey and his father and brother.

On Sundays, dinner is served from 1 to 3, while lunches are served at other hours. As previously stated, the Tavern was formerly owned by the Goodell family and stood in the midst of the widely known Pansy Park.

Fire Alarm Signals

At the Firemen's association meeting Monday evening the following fire alarm signals were decided on:

- House fire 3
- Forest fire 4
- (repeat in 30 seconds)
- Danger over 2
- Test or drill 1

Two hundred fifty feet of small hose has arrived for the use of the department, so that in case of small blazes, a stream may easily be carried to upper stories where chemicals will not suffice.

The department held a drill at the Grade school grounds last night.

Entertainment at State School

The monthly entertainment at the State school Wednesday evening was quite an auspicious occasion. Part I consisted of a short play entitled, "Food," supposed to portray conditions 50 years hence, with an egg worth $100,000 and matrimonial happiness upset by the lack of one.

Part II, a musical playlet, "The Pinafore Sails for China," an adaptation of "Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan, was a presentation quite pretentious. Twenty-five or thirty jolly tars, in neat uniforms, sang lustily upon the deck, with life preservers, ropes, and the pilot room in evidence. The exercises they went through spoke for considerable training.

The second scene, the silk shop of Chong Ling in China, was decidedly distinctive. The dragon bulked large in the background, while in the forefront was incense burning. The costumes of the Orient were in evidence, while the tong men in black were a contrast in the scene.

As is always the case at the School, the actors came through nicely and seemed to enjoy it as well as did the audience. Dr. A. E. Westwell directed the presentation and led the "community" sing between the acts, assisted by the informal aides of the superintendent, Dr. G. E. McPherson.

Christmas Trees Set Out

A Board of Trade project came to fruition this week with the setting out of two white spruce trees in front of the Lawrence Memorial building. At the spring meeting, the matter of setting out a Christmas tree was discussed and it was decided to seek competent advice concerning the matter.

As a result the president, H. B. Ketchen, interviewed F. A. Bartlett of Stamford, Ct., a son of Belchertown, who is a tree expert, on one of his visits here. Mr. Bartlett advocated two trees instead of one, in order to make a symmetrical appearance, and not only advised the kind of trees to get and where to get them, but requested that the bill be sent to him.

A tree specialist doing work for F. D. Fuller supervised their setting out.

He also made suggestions as to the further improvement of the Stone House grounds, stating that gifts of shrubs and bulbs would be very acceptable, and might well replace poison ivy and black cherries that still inhabit the premises.

Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, trustee of the Longley estate, reported on the improvements made on the Maple street property and the probable annual income of the organization.

W. A. Stebbins, termed the "patron saint" of the association, was tendered hearty thanks for the improvements made by him at the Ford Annex, while appreciation was also expressed of the faithful and exceptionally accommodating service rendered guests by the custodian, Mrs. H. F. Curtis. When the matter of the work at the Ford Annex was mentioned, Mr. Stebbins took particular pains to commend the workmanship and business methods of the contractors, the Caspar Ranger company.

The meeting closed with a discussion of how best the society could conserve its resources and perpetuate its influence so that to posterity may be preserved the riches of the past.

The following officers were elected: Trustees, Mrs. Maria D. S. Longley, Miss Marion E. Bartlett, Mrs. Leila S. Curtis, Miss Ella A. Stebbins, Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, Willard A. Stebbins, Everett C. Howard, Mrs. Louise A. Sherman, John W. Jackson, Lewis H. Blackmer, Myron G. Ward, Miss Lucy Bardwell, Herbert F. Curtis, Miss Marion E. Bardwell, Wesley M. Goodell; president, John W. Jackson; first vice-president, Miss Ella A. Stebbins; second vice-president, Mrs. Louise Sherman; recording clerk, Miss Marion E. Bartlett; corresponding clerk, Mrs. Leila S. Curtis; treasurer, Lewis H. Blackmer; auditor, Miss Ella A. Stebbins; custodian, Mrs. Leila S. Curtis; janitor, Herbert F. Curtis.

REPORT OF CUSTODIAN

Mrs. H. F. Curtis

In this, our fifth annual report, we can not announce quite so large a number of visitors at the "Stone House" during the past year as in some former years although the same interest and enjoyment has been expressed by those who have come.

One cause which may have contributed to a smaller number may be the cold, rainy weather of the spring and early summer.

During the year the William Pynchon Memorial building has been opened to the public and this beautiful building with its wealth of content has naturally claimed the attention of lovers of the historical and antique to a large degree. Then the camps Quabbin and Pomeroy from Greenwich, which for three years have brought a large number, this year did not pay the usual visit.

We were glad to receive the History class of the sixth grade. Mrs. Shaw has brought her class for the past two years. It is a joy to observe the intelligent interest shown by these young people. May we not hope that in future years our ranks may be increased by some of those who have in this way become interested in the Stone House and the Historical Association and so help to carry on the work so dear to our heart when we are gone.

247 visitors registered between Apr. 1st, 1928 and Apr. 1st, 1929 (I find that since we have occupied this house there has been a registration of 2,622). Most of our visitors the past season came after July 1st. As usual they have come from many different states with one from Prince Edward's Island.

We received a visit from the great grand-daughter of Jonathan Dwight, the builder of the Stone House, who, with her son paid their first visit to Belchertown, the former home of their ancestors. They were enthusiastic over the place and assured us this would not be their last visit to the Stone House.

A descendant of the Phelps family, prominent in the early history of the town, also paid us a visit. She was also an enthusiastic first-timer, and left promising to come again.

Among the list of additions, gifts and loans we would place first the new loft in the Ford building. This came through the generosity of Mr. W. A. Stebbins, our good patron saint. This new floor practically doubled our exhibition space in that building and provided a well lighted and attractive room. That building already houses an interesting collection which is much enjoyed by our visitors. Perhaps sometime one of Belchertown's distinguished sons or daughters may see our need and find it in his heart to provide even more room which we sorely need. Mr. Stebbins has also added three Rogers groups besides numerous other articles. Mrs. Bathie and Miss Ella Stebbins have added to their collection in the library.

We have received articles from Mrs. Marguerite Medbury Winchell of Worcester, given in memory of her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Hunt Med-bury, also gifts from Mrs. Iva Green Peeso Gay, Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Thomas Allen, Henry O'Seep, Miss Nellie Moore, Mrs. Melvina Cutting, Mr. H. Newton Sedgwick and others.

I would again call attention to the magazine, Antiques, which we have taken for several years, and the various books of reference on antique furniture, china and glass, all of which are for the use of our members. This year we have added the History of Ware to our list of town histories. We are glad to receive genealogies, town histories, etc.

At our semi-annual meeting in the fall we enjoyed a luncheon served on old fashioned china and linen belonging to our collection.

Our grounds have presented their usual attractive appearance and more than one visitor has been heard to say, "What a delightful spot! I would like to live here."

So the year has sped quickly by, and as we enter upon the new year of our Association, may it be with renewed interest and loyalty.

Dies in Springfield

David A. Hoag, 50, a native of this town, died at his home in Springfield Sunday after a long illness. He was the son of Henry and Eliza (Dickinson) Hoag and was educated in the local schools. He is survived by his widow, Ethel Sibley Hoag; two sons, Harold D. and Philip A. Hoag; two daughters, Mildred S. and Phyllis Hoag, all of Springfield; and a brother, Henry Hoag, of this town. The funeral was held at Graham's chapel Tuesday with interment at Mount Hope cemetery. Rev. F. C. Rolls having charge of the committal service.

At a meeting of the school board Wednesday evening, it was voted that hereafter teachers who marry while holding positions here, will by so doing, automatically terminate their period of service.

Rev. and Mrs. Harold Curtis and sons, Robert and Wallis, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis, returned to their home at Waltham Wednesday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary E. Spencer who will visit her brother in Waltham.

Master George Randall, son of Ashley Randall of Granby, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Randall.

Mrs. Nettie M. Chamberlain, who has spent some months in Whately, returned to her home in town Wednesday.

Mrs. A. R. Ketchen, who spent the winter in Florida, has returned to her home on Federal street.

the gift of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gay, and arranged for the program following.

And it was the Turkey Hill ladies who found after the guests had all been satisfied, that there was a piece of pie for one and a dry roll for another, while it is doubtful whether the others stopped long enough to get even that much to eat.

The program opened with a reading, "An Old Woman's Complaint," by Mrs. De Graff of Amsterdam, N. Y., who was introduced by Mrs. H. H. Witt. In response to the demand for an encore, Mrs. De Graff, who is a W. C. T. U. worker and organizer, told a bit of the beginning of the Woman's Crusade of 1873 and the organization in 1874 of the W. C. T. U. She related incidents in the life of Frances Willard, Neal Dow and Woodrow Wilson, besides taking her hearers to Japan and India, where the work of the white ribboners was also introduced.

Mrs. L. E. Williams, who had the program in charge, then announced the numbers which followed, beginning with a rainbow dance by eight little girls in rainbow colors: Louise Greene, Hilda Greene, Marjorie Aldrich, Ruth Chamberlain, June Sanford, Phyllis Hathaway, Ruthella Conkey and Margaret Greene. The same girls also gave a song and danced the minuet.

A recitation by Donald Hunt was entitled, "The Old Umbrella," and was illustrated by the old umbrella itself with five other children crowding beneath it.

A chorus consisting of E. E. Gay, A. R. Ketchen, H. W. Conkey, Raymond Gay, L. W. Ayers and Mr. Matska sang, "Speed Away," and "The Old Oaken Bucket," Mrs. Collins at the piano. E. E. Gay was responsible for this part of the program.

Mrs. Amy Witt then gave a reading, "The Human Tonic," which, as her readings always do, thoroughly entertained the audience and created a demand for another. A song by the men closed the program.

Between 100 and 125 were present and $32.00 was cleared for the Ladies' Social Union treasury.

By Noel

The Belchertown bowling team, rolling its second match under its new manager, Andrew Sears, was forced to bow to the Legrand Ice Company, last Friday night, when the latter team took two points from the local bowlers in an interesting match rolled on the Red Men's alleys in South Hadley Falls. It appeared for a time as though the Belchertown five was in for another victory, for they easily took the first point, 449 to 430. But Guy Sefton, star bowler of the South Hadley entry of the Western Massachusetts Bowling league, was having a big night on the lanes and his teammates can well thank him for those strings of 108, 126 and 92—a total of 326—which, no doubt, was the main factor in bringing the laurels to the Legrand quintet. Still, the local team had as fine an opportunity of winning the match, if Ernie Orcutt, who toppled the pins for his smallest total of the season, 208, had been in his usual form. Bozo was the high man for Belchertown with 270. Summary:

Legrand Ice Company 2
J. Legrand	76	86	77 239
John	78	75	95 248
Sefton	108	126	92 326

Sears	89	87	92 268
Orcutt	94	86	78 258
	449	434	416 1299

Following last week's match, members of manager Sears's team and supporters journeyed to the Suffolk alleys in Holyoke and formed two 3-men teams. The team composed of Capt. Sears, Fisher and Noel won four close contests from their opponents, Capt. Green, Blackmer and Reynolds.

Tonight, the local bowlers engage in their regular league match, the results of which will appear in next week's issue.

Grange Notes

Mothers' night will be observed at the next meeting of Union grange Tuesday evening. The program is in charge of Mrs. Ora Davis.

A dance under the auspices of the grange will be held this evening at grange hall.

The rest of the program will take place as usual. At 7.30 we will begin our service of prayer, praise and song. The pastor will speak briefly on "Milking Stools and Praying Stools." All those who promised last week, remember to bring your Bible verses. Come and join in the service.

After the prayer service we will have our regular period of stunts and games. Belchertown folks are going to put on the program and you'll enjoy what they say and do. Everybody likes the game period. About 70 attended the supper last week in charge of Mrs. R. A. French. The community sing following merged into the prayer meeting conducted by the pastor. After the devotional service Wm. French gave a reading and a series of lively games closed the social hour.

Mothers' Day

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

You've read of love in a cottage
On the shady bank of a stream,
Nothing but love and the moon above
And youth at sweet sixteen.
You've read of love in a castle,
Romance and knights afar.
Let me take you down to a little town
Where the truest sweethearts are.
They all wear bungalow aprons,
Their hair isn't primped up nice,
For what can you do with a hot beef stew,
Three kids and a kettle of rice?
They stoop to kiss little bruised faces,
Or to bandage a tiny knee.
Though they could look neater, they couldn't look sweeter.
Mothers of you and of me.

Buys Chandler Place

Fred Buss of Enfield has bought the Chandler farm on Bay road and is making extensive repairs, preparatory to moving in the first of June. For about 80 years this farm has been in the possession of the Chandler family. Mrs. A. B. Howard, mother of E. C. Howard and Mrs. W. H. Atkins of South Amherst, the present heirs, moved to the place from Hardwick when she was a little girl.

Not only has the farm been in the hands of this family for a long time, but the house is an old landmark, having been built around 1780. Fortunately for the time-honored structure, it is falling into friendly hands, for Mr. Buss has made a sort of specialty of restoring antiques and will not treat it rudely. In fact, he expects to bring out and preserve the quaintness and beauty of other days. Wide shingles are displacing the modern clapboards, and several fireplaces and a brick oven will be reclaimed, while necessary re-flooring and other interior work will be done. Modern improvements will be installed, but the old setting will remain.

Demonstration at State School

A demonstration of the work of the Physical Education and Music classes was held at the State school Wednesday evening. Twenty-one numbers were on the program, which were not only varied in nature, but represented according to the statement of Dr. McPherson, the superintendent, the efforts of about 170 children ranging from pre-kindergarten age to adult mentality. The Kinderband with the two active drum majors was the interesting presentation of the sense training group and showed their ability to keep perfect time, while the last number on the program, a sheaf of three songs, by 22 of the older girls, was most appealingly given. All of the numbers in between were interesting. In fact one was apt to think of it as an entertainment rather than a demonstration, and it was both.

The Circus Clowns, Primary boys in garb of white with colored spots, represented the various animals in the show, the boys taking turns in "announcing".
The advanced girls gave the names of the composers as strains from several masters were played. In fact, it was very evident that the pupils are being familiarized with and taught to appreciate music of the finer sort.

The games by the younger boys were not only interesting, but showed considerable training. Exercises by the advanced boys, which included swinging of Indian clubs, work with apparatus and tumbling, called forth real admiration. Sometimes one failed in an attempted stunt, and a good laugh followed, but there would have been more had the guests tried it.

The sailors in their caps and suits of white trimmed with red elicited applause even before their diversified presentation was begun.

The Dutch dance by the advanced girls in quaint costumes of blue and white had appeal in it, as did the minuet executed by four "couples" (girls) in attire indicative of the old time.

Many of the numbers called for synchronism of movement which was admirably executed. The presentation was given in a rose-twined setting, but back of the scenes, to those with understanding minds, loomed hours and days and months of patient training by the teachers of the School to bring to pass, not so much perfection as improvement. Miss Christian had charge of training the physical education groups, and Miss Dray trained for the musical numbers, while to Miss Deatherage, head teacher, goes credit for supervising the entire production and bringing it to its commendable conclusion. This is the fourth annual demonstration at the school and Miss Deatherage has been identified with all.

The program of the evening not only demonstrated the degree of perfection attainable among the pupils at the school, but revealed types of training not always available to the normal pupil.

Bowling Notes

By Noel

The Wonders defeated the Bel-chertown Five in a Social League match rolled on the Red Men's alleys in South Hadley Falls, by 14 pins, last Thursday night. Due to a misunderstanding, it had been previously announced that the contest was to take place on Friday night. Both teams had won a point and were battling for the third and final point.
The outcome of the match was practically decided by the lead-off men, Lynch and Orcutt, the former toppling the pins for 109, while the latter rolled his smallest string of the season, 71. Wildman and Bozo were the high scorers of their respective teams with totals of 289 and 286.
Ernie Orcutt is still the League's leading bowler, with an average of 97.5. Summary:

Green's All Stars, another local bowling team, are at present engaged in a series of matches with the crack Palmer team, which are rolled on Brouillette's alleys in the latter town. Each team has won a match and the rubber will probably take place next week, the rival managers, Andy Sears and Ray Phaneuf, not having set the date as yet. The All Stars won the opening contest last Friday night. Bowlers of both teams were a little out of form, and Eddie Henrichon of the winners was the only one to better the 300 mark.

On Monday night the Palmer bowlers with several new faces in their line-up, easily turned the tables on the local team, winning by a wide

Food, Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 6.30 the floodgates of happiness will open at the Methodist vestry and with good reason. It is Mothers' Night, the evening of the year when she reigns supreme. The mothers of the community, by their unselfish service, have made the Food, Faith and Friendship Night possible. This Friday we are entertaining them. We want you all to come out and do honor to Mother. We want all the Mothers to be there.

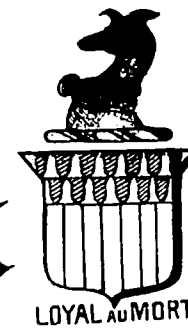

At 6.30 the men will serve a supper which, rumor has it, will be sumptuous. There will be a sign, "No Ladies in the Kitchen," on the kitchen door and the men are even going to wash the dishes themselves. That alone will be a sight worth seeing.

The usual prayer service will be held and we want you all there. The topic will be, "My Mother." Remember your verses and have a good word to say for Mother. One man has said: "The child who has not learned to love his mother will never learn to love any other divinity."

The stunt and game period will follow and will continue to carry out the Mother idea. Here we are going to give the mothers an actual chance to celebrate themselves. We want everyone there to make this the biggest and the best Food, Faith and Friendship Night of the year.

The B. H. S. baseball team came home happy Friday night from Williamsburg. After suffering defeat in the first two games of the season, it had the good fortune to pull through to victory in this, the third game. Williamsburg High coming out at the small end of a 6-3 score.

Death of Ralph Bartlett Green

TURKEY HILL NEWS

Once again has sorrow overshadowed the community in the passing to the Great Beyond during a most beautiful sunset on the evening of May 13th, of Ralph Bartlett Green, one short week after his friends had gathered to do him honor on his 21st birthday.

Bartlett, as his friends best knew him, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton R. Green and grandson of George H. B. Green. He also leaves a grandmother, Mrs. Mary Shumway and an uncle, Charles Shumway in the home, an aunt, Mrs. Iva Green Gay of Belchertown, and an uncle, George H. B. Green, Jr., of Boston.

After a prayer service at the home the funeral was held at the M. E. church (of which he was a member) Thursday at 3 p. m., Rev. W. H. Snape of West Springfield, a former pastor, officiating.

In spite of his frail health, Bartlett was active in the Y. P. B., of which he was president, the Epworth League and the grange, holding the office of assistant steward in that order. Schoolmates, the Grange and League, together with relatives and neighbors, nearly filled the church. Norman Carter, a friend from Malden, presided at the organ. Miss Ruth Gardner of Pittsfield sang, "Saved by Grace," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Eight of his most intimate friends acted as bearers; Norman Carter of Malden, Robert Flynn of Pittsfield, Rosario D'Agostino of Newton and Allen Ross of this town were honorary bearers, and Donald Terry, Ralph Hubbard, Albert Menard and Alfred Putnam bore the body to its last resting place at Mt. Hope cemetery.

He was a great lover of flowers, and the abundance of these tokens testified to the esteem of his many friends.

Health Day Next Wednesday

Wednesday, May 22, is Health Day for the Belchertown schools. The various districts are holding separate programs previous to that date, from each of which the feature number will be selected to be a part of the program at the center on Wednesday. Franklin schools had their preliminaries last Friday, Washington and Liberty yesterday, and Union and Cold Spring will hold theirs this afternoon, Union from 1 to 2 and Cold Spring from 2.30 to 3.30.

The slogan for Health Day is, "Youth is the strength of America. Make America strong." Tags will be awarded for weight, teeth and posture, also an arm band for all who receive the three tags. Anyone who does not receive any tag at all, but has tried to earn them, may receive an effort tag.

Dr. Harold A. Miner, District Health Supervisor, assisted by Dr. J. L. Collard, gave the toxin anti-toxin treatment to 185 pupils on Monday. This number included the pupils who reacted as positive after the Schick test last December, as well as new pupils who did not receive the treatment at the first toxin anti-toxin clinic which was held in February of last year.

Bowling Notes

By Noel

Neither the Belchertown nor the Legrand Ice Company bowling teams made any gain in the Social League standing as the result of their rolling off two postponed games on the Red Men's alleys in South Hadley Falls last Thursday night, each team winning three points and losing three. However, the local team made a slight gain on pinfall, rolling a total of 2760, while their opponents gathered 2679 pins. Manager George Guay of the alleys allowed the teams to use the four lanes for the contests, which were rolled in record time. Bowling features were furnished by Young Bozo, Dan Sobszak and Billy Deyo, who contributed strings of 126, 122 and 117, respectively. Summaries:

Mrs. E. W. Beach has returned from a visit in New York City.

Rev. Harold W. Curtis, who has been serving as associate secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Religious Education, has accepted a call to the Middle Baptist church of Portsmouth, N. H., and will begin his new work June 1st.

Mother's Day apparently brought back to the various hearthstones of the community a larger number than usual of loyal sons and daughters.

At last week's prayer service in the chapel, Miss Marion E. Bartlett and Mrs. Ninfa Collard reported on the recent Association meeting held at North Amherst.

Extracts from Report of Audit

The selectmen have received from Theodore N. Waddell, Director of Accounts, a report of the audit of the town's accounts for the period from Jan. 1, 1928 to Feb. 28, 1929. We quote some of the paragraphs therein contained:

In checking the financial votes of the town, it was noted that a vote passed at a town meeting held Feb. 13, 1928, provided that a portion of the proceeds realized from the sale of the real and personal property of the town farm should be used to establish a permanent fund, the income from which was to be added to the appropriation of the board of public welfare each year. This vote, however, is at variance with the provisions of Section 63, Chapter 44, of the General Laws, which reads as follows:

"Whenever the proceeds of the sale of real estate by a city or town exceed five hundred dollars, the same shall be applied to the payment of indebtedness incurred in acquiring such real estate or shall be added to the sinking fund, if any, from which said indebtedness is payable, or if no such indebtedness is outstanding shall be used for any purpose or purposes for which the city or town is authorized to incur debt for a period of ten years or more."

The amount received on account of the sale of town farm real estate, viz., $8,000, has been set up in the accountant's general ledger until the requirements in the above mentioned statute have been met and the balance of the fund, representing a portion of the proceeds of the sale of personal property, has been transferred to the surplus revenue account.

At the same town meeting, in order to reduce the amount to be raised by taxation, it was voted to transfer $450 from the overlay reserve account to the revenue account. This action on the part of the town was illegal, since Section 25, Chapter 59, General Laws, provides that the overlay reserve fund may be used only for extraordinary or unforeseen expenses.

In checking pay-rolls and vouchers to the classification book it was noted that, in various instances, expenses incurred in 1927 had been paid from 1928 appropriations. The practice of paying bills of prior years from appropriations provided for the current year's expenses should be discontinued in the future.

The books and accounts of the town and district treasurers were examined and checked.

As a result of this examination it was found that there was due the town from the collector, on account of the tax levies from 1922 to 1928, inclusive, the sum of $148.97, while, on the other hand, the amount of $69.16 is due the collector on account of payments to the treasurer in excess of collections for various levies. The sum of $31.10 is also due the district from the former collector.

Food, Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 6.30, the Methodist vestry will again be the scene of laughter and fellowship. After a few hours of experimental cookery the men have relinquished the kitchen to the ladies. Mrs. Putnam is in charge of the preparations and promises a supper worthy of anyone's attention. Come and see.

You will want to attend the prayer meeting. Bring your Bible verse or your personal testimony. This week the topic will be, "Fishers of Men." This is your own religious service. It is for your problems and you run it.

This week the entertainment will be especially fine. There will be music and singing. Following that there will be a debate on the prohibition question. Hazel Wunsch and William French will speak on behalf of prohibition, while Eleanor Maska and George Booth will oppose it. This will be really worth your attention. Come and bring the family.

There were special features in connection with the F F F night last week. Not only did the men preside, but the tables were placed so as to make a capital M in honor of Mothers' Night. Mashed potato, pressed ham and a grand topping out with ice cream stood out in the menu. There were the usual games and a "lullaby contest" in which mothers sang their little ones to sleep—some not so little now and some "adopted." The judges, Clark Canary, Bert Collis and William French awarded first prize to Mrs. R. A. French.

New Device Needed

With the prevailing trend to larger and finer cars, there bids fair to be introduced a new kind of escapement device for automobiles. As we understand it, one of our local women, by considerable calculating, contriving, concentration and coaxing, finally got one of these new birds into the old-time Ford hangar, only to find that the door could not be opened wide enough for exit. Fortunately for the frenzied female, the reverse was at last responsive and the lady and the story got out. As the car could not be run in by radio, the partition had to be removed, while Prof. Butts of Colliers Radio Hour, we understand, is feverishly working on devices intended to cope with the new problem.

Town Items

The artesian well on the Holland Farm has been sunk to over 200 feet. On Wednesday night a depth of 212 feet had been reached. No satisfactory flow of water has as yet been secured, two gallons per minute being the limit. The bore has now struck a different kind of rock, a kind which, it is said, often yields water. A veritable modern manna descended on the Holland farm neighborhood Monday night when cookies and crackers were strewn over the road and adjacent property as a result of a baking truck from Holyoke skidding into a tree on the way home. Spokes were taken from the wheels, the fenders damaged, etc. Some bark was taken off the tree that was struck. Another car came from the firm's headquarters to tow the crippled machine home. In the heavy hill-climb traffic of Sunday, an out-of-town car skidded and crumpled up to almost nothingness, near the Pickard place on the Enfield road. The injured passengers were taken to the hospital by a

Travelers Insurance Company of Hartford is spending a two weeks' vacation at her home in town. Dr. Edward P. Bartlett of Washington, D. C., was the week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. A. H. Bartlett of South Main street. Attention is again called to the meeting of the Home Department of the Congregational Sunday school this afternoon with Mrs. Henry M. Downing of Maple street. The fire department was called to a brush fire at Forge Pond Tuesday. A case which emphasizes the risk that the officers of the law have to assume in connection with their duties, was the arrest Wednesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Allen of a man giving his name as George Brown who carried a tobacco box, in which were five sticks of dynamite tied together, with a percussion cap in the end of one. Jas. Lemon, who was with Allen, captured the man as he was dashing from Parent's shack on the Ludlow road, which it was charged he was unlawfully occupying. Brown wore a U. S. army uniform and had conflicting stories to tell. The Senior class of the High school is planning to issue a Year Book next month and advertisements are being solicited to help defray the expenses in connection therewith. Death of John Garvey John Garvey, Sr., of Depot street South Belchertown, said to have been the oldest man in town, died Saturday morning. At the close of the Civil war, during which he was employed on a construction force engaged in building bridges for the Federal government, he moved to Bondsville and later bought a farm in Belchertown, which he carried on for several years. For the past 17 years he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. P. J. Keyes.

Memorial Day Plans
Memorial Day observance, in charge of A. P. Cook Camp No. 83, Sons of Union Veterans, will begin at 10 next week Thursday morning. Those in the parade are asked to meet at Engine House hall sharply at that hour. The line will march through Main St., by Memorial hall, to the cemetery, where graves will be decorated. Services will then follow at the monument, after which at 11 o'clock, special Memorial Day exercises will be rendered in the Congregational church. The speaker of the day will be Rev. C. R. Prewitt of Northampton.

lighting fixtures have been installed and the Scouts have made curtains and placed them at the windows. On the walls are charts indicative of the interests of the organization, and the Scout laws, promise, etc. Banners also adorn the walls, showing that the girls sort of "own" the place.

Health Day Observance
Belchertown turned out well for the Health Day exercises at the south end of the common Wednesday afternoon. Truly it was a community affair. The children came from the center and from all the districts and when formed in line, made a procession extending two-thirds the length of the common. Parents and friends were there in large numbers, too. They occupied several rows of chairs facing north and east, while back of these were others standing. Still others found vantage points in parked cars and trucks; proprietors and their clerks filled the doorways of nearby stores, while town sages braced against the sturdy maples. Not only was it a community gathering, but it was colorful, too. The youthful procession figuratively had the measles, so broken out was it with red, white and blue tags, indicative of health standards attained. And there were in evidence, yellow caps and green hats, red sashes and pink dresses, costumes of yellow and costumes of most every other color. There was the throne of white trimmed with royal purple, in which was crowned the May Queen, there was the May pole with its festal streamers—all flashing in the sunlight surging down on the assemblage through the greening maples. And it was an educational affair, as well. The gospel of fresh air, exercise, milk and vegetables in the diet, clean mouths, etc., was preached with a vengeance. First graders and upper graders talked of health, gave playlets on health, sang of health, and demonstrated health in posture exercises, swinging of Indian clubs, etc. Some spoke with voice clear and strong, while the accents of others vanished into thin air, but pictured head gear or plac-

Men's Club Meeting
Dr. H. N. Glick of M. A. C. did not hypnotise the Men's club and invited guests at the chapel Monday evening in his informal address on, "The Psychology of Every-Day Life," with Hypnotism as a special talking point, but it was noticeable that the meeting did not break up until the speaker "suggested" the matter, and even then some lingered for an exchange of observations.

As a result of the information dispensed, it is doubtful whether a hypnotist could do much with those who filed out the door. For Dr. Glick said that if one set his will against being induced into a hypnotic state, he could successfully resist. Further he said that if one yielded but had previously resolved not to do certain things if asked to while under the spell, he could not be made to do them. Or if he had strong moral convictions, he could not be gotten to deviate from them.

The speaker referred to the art as an induced type of sleep in which an idea is so forcibly impressed upon the subject that he is led to carry it out. He said there is considerable point to the Biblical passage, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

He said there are many people afflicted with diseases, that are solely of the mind. There has been so much concentration of thought on the matter that the disease has seemed real. He mentioned cases of blindness, indigestion, heart trouble, shell shock, etc. Many of the boys who were shell shocked, he said, never really heard the sound of a shell. In fact, some who were shell shocked never went across. Dr. Glick said that hypnosis had effected a cure in some of these latter cases. He said there is much fundamental truth in Christian Science. Of course there were comical aspects to the talk—the college boys who got a subject under the influence and couldn't get him out without help, and the like, but there was kick enough in the psychological aspect. Accounts of suggestions during induced sleep, to be carried out shortly after waking, were interesting. While the subject in particular, —continued on page 2—lar resisted the idea, he couldn't throw it off his mind until he had actually placed the chair on the table.

The speaker deprecated the exhibition stunts commonly put on and said they should not be allowed by law, as there is certain to be physical injury to the subject if persisted in, and the strain under which he goes is a severe one.

Dr. Glick questioned whether some of the modern "high geared" salesmanship, which takes advantage of certain susceptible personalities, is really ethical.

There were allusions to palmistry, mental telepathy, spiritism, etc., with many interesting comments, and he took the mask from all. The address was much appreciated and a good round of applause followed. Of course preceding it there was the regular monthly supper of the men—beans, ham, cheese, pies, etc., with plenty for two. The men then bought the surplus, after which they divided the expense, and almost had something coming to them as a result.

The celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington J. Walker of Springfield in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ray Norton, at Wilbraham road and Wellington avenue on Friday, May 17, will be of interest to their old-time friends. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the widows of Herbert, Edward and Jason Walker Miller of Springfield, Ludlow and Thorndike, respectively; Mrs. Emeretta Shumway Allen, widow of Albert Allen, a native of Belchertown but now of Springfield, whose several ages totaled 492; Mr. and Mrs. Norton and a son, Herbert Walker and their families; Mr. and Mrs. Jason Walker Hurlburt and their daughter, Ethel Giles, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Williams.

Another son, Ralph Walker, lives in Wisconsin. Wellington Walker's father was born in the house which used to stand nearly across the road from the Hurlburt homestead and, when married, built the house which was burned where Wilfrid Noel is now building. Mr. and Mrs. Walker lived at the corner of Federal St. and Pelham road until they moved to Springfield.

Dainty and unique refreshments were served and the party proved of more than usual interest and pleasure.

Health Day Observance

ard or posture somehow got the gist of the message across.

There was also the esthetic appeal. The doll dance by the cute little girls in pink, the Virginia reel, the quadrille, the sweet minuet, all sort of went to the spot, and gave flavor to the event.

Piano accompaniments were played on an instrument atop a truck, while a violin accompaniment came from the same vantage point.

This, then, is the pen picture of the event. Supt. H. C. Knight announced the program, which was sponsored by Miss Mansfield, school nurse. Four schools scored 100 per cent. for weight—Liberty, Cold Spring, Franklin Grammar and Franklin Primary. Betty Ketchen had the honor of being selected May Queen by reason of health requirements and scholarship. The presentation of awards was made by Dr. J. L. Collard.

Those in charge of the arrangements wish to express their apprecia-

Dies in Kirkland

Word has been received of the death on May 11 of Miss Emma Shumway of Kirkland, Wash., oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shumway, formerly of this town. The family moved to Seattle in '84, Miss Shumway entering the high school which had only three teachers at that time with only 18 in the whole place. She saw the city grow from small beginnings to its present size. She was a member of the church and a great club woman, and was instrumental in starting the Tacoma high school. She would have been 80 years old in two months.

She leaves three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Hattie Parker, Miss Carrie Shumway, Miss Mary Shumway and Edward Shumway, all in the home, and John S. Shumway.

Bowling Notes

By Noel

The Belchertown bowling team rolled its last match of the season last Thursday night on the Red Men's alleys in South Hadley Falls and lost all three points to the strong K. of C. five. At the beginning of the contest, it looked as though the local bowlers had a fine chance of trimming Amie Capistrant and his mates, but losing the first point by two pins was a heart-breaker and later proved to be the undoing of the Belchertown team.

The Sodial League closes its season this week with Art Pease's Woodlawn team battling it out with the K. of C. five for first place honors. Summary of Belchertown and K. of C. game:

The way in which the food disappeared was its most sincere compliment. At the prayer service the subject was "Fishers of Men." Special mention should be made of the singing of the children. The entertainment took the form of a debate on the prohibition issue. Miss Eleanor Matzka and William French supported prohibition, while Mrs. Hazel Wunsch and George Booth hurled anathemas against it. The judges,

Memorial Day Observance

Belchertown paid its respects to its dead on Memorial Day. There were the formal honors tendered its soldier dead and there was on the part of friends and relatives a return to the spot where lie those who also "fought a good fight and finished their course". No bugle sounded as these latter placed their flowers on the sacred plot, but a silent prayer hallowed the ceremony. For weeks past Mt. Hope cemetery especially has been a busy spot. New monuments have been erected, lots improved, etc., so that as the hour struck for the Memorial Day observance, it became a mecca for loving friends, who unconsciously diffused the place with a spirit that made a setting most beautiful for the formal observance on the part of the patriotic organizations.

The Alexander P. Cook Camp 83, Sons of Union Veterans, which sprung into being during the past year, had charge of this year's ceremonies and carried them through to a successful conclusion. The townspeople were also happy to see in line and participating in the ceremonies the Chauncey D. Walker Post, American Legion, who during the past few years have had the Memorial day exercises in charge, but who by reason of their checkered career, seemed at times unable to carry on.

The procession that left the Engine House hall about ten was headed by the Holyoke Girl Scout Drum and Bugle corps which performed so efficiently at the recent local Girl Scout rally. About twenty girls were in the group, and all the recompense they asked was their transportation. The Sons of Union Veterans, J. V. Cook, commander, came next, headed by Harold Allen with the colors.

Two members of the G. A. R.—Henry Woods and H. L. Hadlock, had seats of honor in an automobile driven by A. D. Moore. Chauncey D. Walker Post, American Legion, Raymond L. Blackmer commander, in natty new caps, came next. Lincoln Cook carried the colors and Vernon L. Bardwell the Legion flag.

The Auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans, also a new organization, Mrs. Della Dodge, president, appeared next. Those carrying the colors were Miss Helen Camp, Mrs. Hazel Wunsch, Mrs. Jennie Chamlain and Mrs. Edith Hathaway.

Girls Scouts with their leaders—Mrs. G. E. McPherson, captain, and Mrs. Frank E. Farrington, lieutenant, were next in line. The colors were carried by Marion Shaw, and Jean Baggs and Marjorie Shaw were the color guard.

A contingent of school children brought up the procession which marched through Main street, paused at Memorial hall where a deputation of Legion men deposited a

Birthday Party

When Rev. and Mrs. Rolls reached the chapel last week Thursday evening they were surprised to find an unusually large number of people assembled for the devotional service, but a greater surprise awaited them at the close of the meeting when they were asked to stand and receive the congratulations of those present. (Thursday was the birthday anniversary of Mr. Rolls, while that of Mrs. Rolls fell on the preceding Saturday.)

After a social half hour the company sat down at tables arranged in the form of a hollow square and attractively decorated with pink crepe paper and bouquets of flowering almonds.

Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. J. V. Cook, Miss Maggie Hales, Mrs. Harold Peck and Mrs. Morgan Ryther.

The lighted candles on the two birthday cakes failed to give the exact ages of the recipients, but indicated that they are still in their 20s.

After words of sincere appreciation of the work Rev. and Mrs. Rolls have done for the town and church during their fourteen months' sojourn among us, J. V. Cook in behalf of the church, and as a token of its appreciation, presented the couple with a standard reading lamp and purse of money.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rolls expressed gratitude for the gifts and the kindly thought. At the close of his remarks which at times sent ripples of laughter through the audience, Mr. Rolls requested that anyone at any time feel free to give him suggestions whereby he can best serve the interests of the church or community, adding, "I am among you as one that serveth."

Vocal solos by Carl Aspengren closed the evening's program.

A further surprise came on Friday evening, when the "J. G's." entertained Rev. and Mrs. Rolls at a special birthday party held at the chapel. Games were played and refreshments consisting of sandwiches, punch and a massive birthday cake, inscribed with greetings were served.

All arrangements for this party were made by the young people themselves.

Will Visit Native Country

Next week, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Zitka of Bardwell street will return to their native country, Bohemia, for a three months' visit. They expect to leave town Wednesday and sail from New York on the following Saturday.

This will be their first visit to the land of their birth since their coming here about 28 years ago. While the couple spent their early days in towns near each other and moved later to other places near each other, and came to this country within a few months of each other, they did not meet till shortly after their arrival, in Holyoke.

Following their marriage there, they came to Belchertown, where they have carried on the farm they now own.

Mr. and Mrs. Zitka are of the sturdy and industrious type, and their friends are happy that they can go back to renew old acquaintances and visit old scenes.

This spirit manifested itself last Sunday evening when some thirty friends surprised them by a sort of pre-vacation party.

MEMORIAL DAY

Some were shot,
Others died
At the sword's sharp edge,
One was crucified;
And ever they fight
And suffer pain
That the hopes of men
May live again.

But could they speak
To us today,
They would point our feet
To a nobler way;
They would say that war
Is a foul, black stain
And that peace must teach us
To love again.

We would like to invite the ladies to buy their soaps and mops, brooms and pails for cleaning at their nearest Nation-Wide Grocer. Why not buy a stock of canned and bottled goods for the summer months, and a general list of the dry groceries you will need. Your Nation-Wide Grocer handles a line of high quality groceries, his service is of the best, his prices are consistent with quality, and yet so low that you feel your good dollars are buying 100 cents' worth of honest merchandise.

THE ADDRESS

Rev. C. R. Prewitt spoke of the inauguration of Memorial day in 1868, a custom which, he predicted, "will continue long after the last veteran has been mustered out and answered the roll call in another land." He spoke of the common country that gave birth to leadership at the time of the "mutual crucifixion of our nation" and paid a tribute to the sincerity of Lee whom he termed in the last analysis "a states-rights man."

The speaker stressed the remote causes of the war—boundary disputes, the Dred-Scott decision, the passage of the fugitive slave act, repeal of the Missouri compromise and the John Brown raid.

Rev. Mr. Prewitt revived the atmosphere of those trying days when war was an institution supposed to be adored by the gods themselves and was accepted as a means of grace. There were those who thought that slavery was ordained of the gods and essential to civilization. Rome was said to have fallen, not because of luxury, but because she let the best blood of the nation die on the battlefield.

As our fathers had to contend with slavery, so our social obligation today is to free the world from man killing. The institution of war has doomed itself, he said, and pointed with pride to the Pact of Paris, in which war was renounced as a national policy.

He closed with the thought that the scientific world is challenging us today to produce enough moral and spiritual fibre and vitality to redeem civilization.

The address was finely phrased and tellingly presented.

Grade School Entertainment

Next Wednesday evening at Memorial hall the pupils of the center grade schools will put on a three-act comedy under the supervision of Miss Irene B. Orlando. Between acts there will be music by the grade school toy orchestra, and also fancy dances. Admission will be 35 cents for adults; children under ten, 15 cents. The proceeds will be added to the fund for playground equipment.

The entertainment itself promises to be very much worth while, and its object should appeal to all. The program begins at 8 p. m.

B. H. S. 1929 Year Book

One of the big events next week will be the publication of the B. H. S. Year Book. Its covers of red, printed in gold, its half tone cuts of members of the Senior class, its news matter and its ads ought to sell it on sight. It will be a forty-page affair—and every one of interest. Those in the school will want it, for their names are liable to be on its pages, either in joke or otherwise, latter day alumni will want it to know what "so and so" in the class is doing, and the loyal alumni of all years will want it regardless of what's in it, while the townspeople will want it to discover that the youth of today dares tackle things their forebears never dreamed of.

For the publication is put out by the Board of Editors of the Echo, which formerly appeared in print, but later, for the sake of thrift, was mimeographed. Miss Inman is supervising the publication, but the pupils have had to shoulder much of the field work. They solicited ads from the merchants here and else-

Clark-Fletcher Wedding

John B. Fletcher of this town and Miss Evelyn Clark of Leverett were married Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 at Hope Congregational church, Amherst, Rev. C. A. Gooding officiating. The bride was given away by her brother, Fred Clark of Leverett. The best man was Perrett Bracey of this town, and the bridesmaid was Miss May Smith of Springfield. The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of white roses. After a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home at Dwight where Mr. Fletcher is employed on the railroad.

Grange Notes

The program at the regular meeting of Union grange Tuesday evening included a paper on Rose Culture by Mrs. Julia Shumway, and a play entitled, "Her Forgetful Husband." This was the same play given at South Amherst some time ago.

The cast of characters is as follows: "John Robinson," the young husband Charles H. Sanford
"Mrs. John Robinson," his wife Miss Rachel Randall
"Mrs. Samuel Patch," her mother Mrs. D. C. Randall
"Mrs. Arthur Cross," her friend Mrs. Myrtle Cook

"Miss Martha Savage," a maiden lady Miss Althea Dodge
"Mary Ann Cook," a culinary specialist Mrs. Ora Davis

Mrs. Jennie Chamberlain was installed as Pomona in place of Miss Esther Squires, resigned, Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby acting as installing officer. Mrs. Wilfrid Noel was elected Ceres in place of Miss Priscilla Bisnette, resigned, and Alfred Putnam was elected assistant steward to fill the chair left vacant by the death of Bartlett Green.

The order voted to omit the regular meeting of June 18th and accept the invitation of Feeding Hills grange to neighbor with them that evening. The next regular meeting will be held July 2, when Chas. M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, will be present. This meeting will be open to the public.

Annual Meeting of Library Trustees

The annual meeting of the trustees of Clapp Memorial library was held at the library Wednesday evening. Mrs. Doris Squires, librarian, reported a circulation of 9,843 books during the year, exactly 500 less than the preceding year.

Mrs. Squires was re-elected librarian, and Miss Marion E. Bartlett, assistant. Arthur F. Bardwell was chosen vice president and William E. Shaw secretary, both for a period of two years. The term of Mr. Bardwell as treasurer and that of Thomas Allen as president do not expire until next year.

Mr. Allen, Mrs. Squires, Miss Bartlett and Mrs. Louise Sherman were elected a book committee. It was voted to appropriate a larger amount than usual for books and replacements this year.

Annual Fashion Show

Next Tuesday evening at 8 the Household Arts department of the High school will stage its annual Fashion Show at Memorial hall. This interesting event always has the spice of novelty and is open to everyone who is interested in the splendid work accomplished by this department.

Strawberry Supper

The bean, salad and strawberry shortcake supper and the entertainment following proved a winning combination at the M. E. vestry, Wednesday evening. The three double tables were filled, and then some. Salads of all colors and contents vied with the crepe paper festooning overhead, while the strawberry shortcake had its counterpart in the colorful azaleas arranged on the tables.

The entertainment following was no makeshift affair, although there had to be some make-up and some shifts in stage setting to introduce the Ruggles family and present the various tableaux.

As might be expected, the Sunday morning scene was a quick clean-up

Sermons in Song

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

This is the time for dreaming Beneath the warm, spring sun; Summer is near, the flowers appear, The cold of the winter is done. But you can't fry dreams for dinner Or you can't eat a chipped dream stew.

Oh, beef in the pot that is good and hot

Is the stuff that makes dreams come true.

Dreams cannot plow an orchard, Dreams never planted corn, And living on dreams isn't all that it seems

When you hear the dinner horn.

Still we need rich dreams for the future,

True dreamers are all too few, Yet the men we revere, the ones who are dear

Are the men who make dreams come true.

Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening the friendly folks will meet in the Methodist vestry for the usual Faith and Friendship Night. The prayer service will begin at 7.30. Be there on time. The subject will be, "The Practical Arts of Christianity." We will sing together your favorite hymns. Come and take an active part in this, your religious service.

This week we plan more informal entertainment. The games have been slighted recently and we intend to have more of them. Come and get acquainted honestly with your neighbor. Enjoy the fellowship that playing together engenders. Everybody wants to be there and everybody is welcome.

Tribute to Bartlett Green

The following article in the June issue of "The Message," the W. C. T. U. paper, will be of interest to our townspeople.

"A LOSS TO BE MOURNED BUT A WORKER TO BE HONORED"

"Just as our Message was going to print a message was received from the parents of Bartlett Green, our second vice president, telling of his death on May 14. He had been sick only a few weeks, and the last letter, received only two or three days before his death, voiced his hope of being at Sharon. He enclosed his examination questions on one of the study books, and wrote that he would be an Expert at the convention.

"Never has the Massachusetts Y. P. B. had a more faithful member. He was thoroughly imbued with Y. P. B. spirit, was ever planning to make our work more effective.

"Situated so far away from other Branches, he could do little but write and plan, and had sent several suggestions for our encampment. He will be sorely missed, but Heaven is richer.

Strike Good Supply of Water

Perseverance has paid in connection with the drilling of the artesian well at the Holland farm. Last Saturday night at a depth of 303 feet, the well yielded 14 gallons per minute, but it was decided to go a little deeper to see if a greater quantity could be secured. As a result, on Wednesday a 320-foot depth was reached with a yield of 40 gallons per minute. This more than satisfied expectations, so that the drilling was stopped.

Of the 320 feet, 300 feet has been in solid rock. Mr. Champlin of East Longmeadow, who has been doing the work, goes now to Holyoke for a similar job. He states that in that locality water is almost sure to be found at 125 feet. So Belchertown is high and dry.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland have arrived at the farm for the summer. In fact Mr. Holland has been able to supervise personally the last days of the drilling.

where and they came through with the business.

Of course much of the material is written by them. Each class has its history. Principal Allen has a word for the incoming freshmen, heads of departments have something to say, athletics are elaborated on, there are original couplets on the members of the Junior class and other verse, a couple of stories, and jokes to put one in good humor, besides ads fresh and virile.

Orders for the book can be placed with anyone connected with the school and it may be a good plan to order a copy now as those in charge are playing safe with a limited edition. 35 cents will buy one now, but a week from now perhaps they can't be bought.

Board of Trade Meeting

The Board of Trade held its quarterly meeting in the selectmen's room Monday evening, H. B. Ketchen, president, presiding.

Mr. Ketchen officially reported regarding the matter of the ever-green trees in front of Memorial hall, the bill for which was kindly taken care of by F. A. Bartlett of Stamford, Conn., who was consulted regarding the type to be secured and the best place of location. The trees were set out through the courtesy of Frank Fuller.

It was voted that the committee designated by the Board of Directors to see what could be done about having the town air marked, go ahead with the project. W. E. Shaw is chairman of the committee.

It will take a sizeable roof to handle the word "Belchertown." Buildings mentioned were Memorial hall, Ketchen's garage and Ryther and Warren's lumber shed.

To the organization primarily responsible for securing an airway marker for the community, the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics will award special certificate and it is understood that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has agreed to sign each of these certificates personally.

Various plans for a Fourth of July celebration were considered, H. F. Peck and Dr. J. L. Collard reporting as a special Directors' committee. It was finally decided to at least sponsor a ball game on the afternoon of that day, and J. J. Fairchild was designated to go ahead and make all necessary arrangements.

Grade School Entertainment

No audience ever went home better satisfied than the one that left Memorial hall, Wednesday evening, following the entertainment put on by the center grade school scholars.

The school orchestra, otherwise termed the toy band, directed by Miss Evelyn Smith, made a decided hit, while the 3-act comedy, "Polly's Revenge," was exceptionally well executed, especially when it is remembered that everyone in the cast was twelve years old or younger, with one exception.

Of course Buster Black (Phyllis Rawson), with his bottomless stomach was chiefly responsible for "busting" the audience with laughter and causing more than one to make a trip to the pantry before retiring.

The doll dance by five little girls in pink hats and dresses was bewitchingly presented and brought forth the greatest applause of the evening.

The "Good-Bye" dance was an especially taking feature and sent everyone home happy.

4-H Club Exhibit

The exhibit of the 4-H sewing club was held at Memorial hall Wednesday afternoon. The program consisted of singing by the group and a play, "The Sewing Society." After a short talk by Miss Spurr, the following awards were made: 1st year work, 1st prize, Eva Ward; 2nd year work, 1st prize, Helen Aldrich; 2nd prize, Myrtle Baggs; 3rd prize, Louise Greene; 4th prize, Nellie Rhodes; 3rd year work, 1st prize, Myrtle Greene; 2nd prize, Harriet Squires. Miss Spurr also gave each member of the club a pin for the completion of the year's work, while the club as a whole received a gold seal for its charter, being known as a "banner" club, which means that every one in its membership has completed the work required. Miss Althea Dodge, who very kindly took over the leadership of the girls upon the resignation of Miss Esther Squires, received a pin in recognition of her work.

Two third-year members of the club, Harriet Squires and Myrtle Greene, went to Laurel Park yesterday where the latter was awarded first prize among all the 4-H clubs in the county, the prize being cloth at over $1.00 per yard, sufficient for a dress.

Fashion Show

From a mere man's standpoint, the Fashion Show of Tuesday evening at Memorial hall, under the direction of the Household Arts department, Miss Conklin teacher, was about as near the opposite of a prize fight as one could imagine. To be sure, the ring was alike to both, but no announcer had to dent the air to no avail with, "Please be quiet." Instead there was a gentle stillness as strains from the violin with piano accompaniment wafted from the platform the while the living models, garbed in attire of their own making, walked one by one with unhurried tread to the waiting pedestal, turned around on it, and walked away amid the restrained applause of the assembled friends in the friendly circle.

More than one of the gentler sex gave a fond, lingering look at the creations of the young people as they left, and had thoughts that even man could fathom.

Following the presentation, the same participants in the program served refreshments as appealing to good taste as were the garments they had displayed.

Then the guests availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the various pieces of work on exhibit at the front of the hall, and after friendly words of commendation, passed out into the night with the unanimous opinion that the girls had "won".

It seems that there are twenty taking this course at B. H. S. at the present time and many of the garments they have made have long since been put in use, and many gift articles were broadcast at Christmas time. The school is fortunate in having the continued services of Miss Conklin.

Year Book a Success

The 1929 B. H. S. Year Book came out Tuesday. The first 75 copies went in a few minutes and the remainder have been practically disposed of. Miss Inman and the staff of editors are to be congratulated on the business-like way they have handled the enterprise.

The Year Book was dedicated to Principal Allen and contains his picture, beneath which is the inscription, "In grateful appreciation of his service as a teacher, adviser and sympathetic friend during our High School days, we respectfully dedicate this book."

Both the dedication and the insertion of the picture were a complete surprise to Mr. Allen.

Whitons Open New Stand

Some people stick up a dry goods box by the side of the road, knock off a board or two, buy a case of soda, and call it a roadside stand, but that's not the variety The Whitons opened on Sunday on Federal street. A structure over 75 feet long and 15 feet wide greets one as he pulls up for ice cream, hot dogs or what not. It is painted in white with green trimmings, and at night a string of lights on the front designates it as some place. A projecting roof has been built over the central portion for quick service, or you can step in if you like.

The base of a fireplace is in evidence there—for this is a building that has been reclaimed, but an electric toaster, hot dog roaster and coffee percolator are doing service now. The rest room opening to the north was once used for the storage of corn, while the spacious quarters to the south, to be fitted out as a pavilion, once housed birds of another feather. This space is 50 by 18 and with a hard wood floor soon to be put in, will accommodate those who desire to trip the light fantastic. No dances will be held here—the room being furnished simply for the use of private parties. Some kind of adequate musical equipment is to be installed.

Entrance to the pavilion is also direct from the outside. Three long openings have been cut in this section. The liberal space between the building and the highway has been filled in, the work having been done by Gleason of Holyoke, a contractor.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Whiton have had experience in roadside stand work. Mrs. Whiton has had dining room experience and Mr. Whiton has conducted a smaller stand on the same premises. Gas and oil are also dispensed, and in the fall, fruit will be a special feature.

Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 7.30 the usual Faith and Friendship night will be held in the Methodist church vestry. You will want to be there. Friday is Flag Day and the topic at the prayer service discussion hour will be, "The Flags We Wave." Come and add your opinion and your wisdom to these profitable periods of mutual discussion.

The usual entertainment and stunt period will be enjoyed after the prayer service. Some one has said: "It takes fifty-four muscles to frown and only nineteen to smile, so smile and give your face a rest." We provide the best smiles and laughs in town. Come and get one of our contagious smiles and then look at yourself in the mirror. Our smiles prove to be the winning combination every time.

Liberty's Great Anniversary

June 15 brings an anniversary so remote that we have almost lost its starting point, so important that it deserves the wider observance that is being sought for it in the British Dominions and the United States. On June 15 in the year 1215 A. D. King John signed the document that is commonly regarded as the basis of freedom for the English speaking world. That document is known as Magna Charter. It came at the culmination of a long struggle between the king and the barons and clergy, who could no longer endure the tyranny of the monarch. At Runnymede they forced the king to sign the charter. The signing of it marks an era in the progress of the liberty of the people over the tyranny of hereditary rulers.

The charter had features of a constitution to limit the claims of the king and guaranteed certain rights to the people which before the king had usurped. And from that day in England the will of the monarch became less important and the will of the people was more considered.

There will be some special observance of this seven hundredth anniversary in England, and there should be, for there is no greater document in the archives of England, and no more significant day in her history. That day has significance also to our own country, for we inherited the love of liberty that burned in English hearts. Magna Charter opened the way for the progress of political liberty that led to our Declaration of Independence in 1776.

Glorious as was the victory for liberty won by the signing of Magna Charter, all the objectives of liberty were not won and all are not yet won. There are still tyrannies that would limit our freedom. They would prescribe our beliefs and forms of worship, dictate our politics, write our text-books and rule our conscience. Magna Charter is more than seven centuries old but it has not lost its inspiration for those who love freedom and must maintain the struggle for it till all tyrannies fall.

Home Department Dinner

The Home Department of the Congregational Sunday School held its annual dinner at the chapel last Friday afternoon. There were 26 present. Mrs. B. A. Chadbourne presided at the piano while the members took their seats at the tables which were decorated in violet, the Home Department color. At each place was a bouquet of pansies and myrtle. The menu was a sumptuous one, including scalloped potato, salads, meat, jelly, rolls, etc. with several toppings of ice cream. A social hour followed the dinner. It was voted to have a speaker at the next meeting which will be held with Mrs. Chadbourne, June 28.

Town Items

There will be no Grange meeting next Tuesday evening as the local grange neighbors with Feeding Hills. Those desiring transportation are asked to call Wilfrid Noel.

Miss Dorothy Parkman of Miami, Fla. is spending her vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. F. W. Fellows.

The young people of the Methodist church gave a surprise shower last week Thursday evening at the vestry for Miss Carrie Atwood whose engagement to George Booth was announced recently. The gifts for the bride, which included a great variety of articles, were drawn from an old fashioned well.

The entertainment consisted of a mock marriage in which the following took part: Esmond Smith, minister; Donald Terry, groom; Miss Eleanor Matska, bride; Miss Alberta Grindle, bridesmaid; Alfred Putnam, best man; Misses Ruth Hunt and Irene Matska, flower girls. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and lemonade were served.

The Booster Voting Contest is Now On

Six (6) prizes having a value of $662 will be awarded to the best Red Arrow Boosters of this town and community at the August Red Arrow Auction. Winning Boosters will be determined through a unique voting contest, in which "Booster Ballots" will be used.

Facts About Booster Ballots and Vouchers

The Red Arrow Club has already put into circulation several different combination "Vouchers" and "Ballots". The "Voucher" is to be used by Organizations and the "Ballot" is to be used by "Boosters". Vouchers and Ballots are given in the following ways:

1. Each winning bidder at each Red Arrow Auction is given a "High Bidder" Voucher, to which is attached a "Booster Ballot". Both Voucher and Ballot are filled in with the amount of the bid, each cent of Red Arrow Money bid, being good for one vote. These Vouchers were given out at the first and second Red Arrow Auctions. They will also be given out at the next Auction, Friday, June 28.
2. Each person who Registers in the Red Arrow Registration Book, during the Registration Periods, as designated by the Red Arrow Club, is given a "Registration Voucher" to which is attached a "Booster Ballot". The Voucher has a value of $5.00 in Red Arrow Money when used by an Organization, and the "Booster Ballot" is good for 500 Booster votes. The next Registration Period will be from June 22 to noon of the day of the fourth Red Arrow Auction. A person may register only once during this Registration Period.
3. Red Arrow Money may be exchanged at Trott's Variety Store for "Exchange Vouchers" having a value of four times the amount of the Red Arrow Money surrendered. These vouchers also have an attached "Booster Ballot" which is filled in with the amount, and as in the "High Bidder Voucher", the Booster Ballot represents one vote for each cent filled in. Red Arrow Money may be exchanged for Vouchers at any time.

SUGGESTIONS

1. Save and solicit Red Arrow Money and all kinds of Vouchers and Booster Ballots.
2. Explain the contest to your friends, ask them to help you or your favorite Booster.
3. Join forces with Organizations, —exchange Organization Vouchers for Boosters Ballots.
4. Nominate yourself or some friend, by depositing this Coupon in the Ballot Box.

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

You can learn to write in a school-room
To read, to figure, to cook;
But the finest of lessons don't come in those sessions,
They're read out of Nature's book.
You must read with the eyes of patience,
With the sun or moon for a light,
And love must lead the eyes that read
In the morning, noon or night.
Therein you will read of courage,
Of might, and of fearless brawn;
You will learn to see strength for victory
In the fresh, pale light of dawn;
You will learn to compare your meanness
With the gifts of the generous sod,
And to see in a spring time sunset
The signature of God.

Gustafson-Wood Wedding

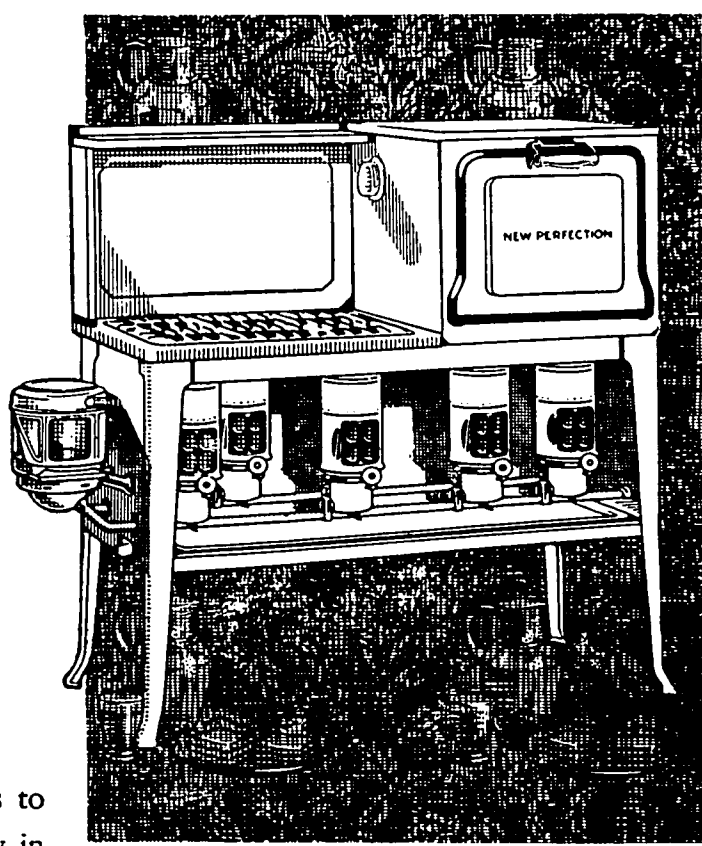

An event of local interest and also of considerable interest to the younger set of Northampton, took place Saturday afternoon, June 8, at 3 o'clock, in the Florence Congregational church at Florence, when Miss Anna Carolyn Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Linus Gustafson of 53 Park street, Florence, and Milton Jepson Wood, son of Mrs. Jennie (Wood) Pierce of this town, were united in marriage by Rev. Basil D. Hall, in one of the prettiest weddings of the season. The church was beautifully decorated in laurel, bridal wreath, larkspur and iris. Mrs. Clara May sang, "O Promise Me," preceding the professional, and "At Dawning." The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Dudley Lloyd, as was also the Recessional by Mendelssohn.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Gustafson, while Fred W. Wood, a brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Lewis Gustafson, brother of the bride, and John Wood, brother of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory moire, period style, trimmed with duchess lace, and a veil, cap-shaped. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in pale yellow chiffon, and wore a leghorn picture hat and slippers in harmony.

The beautiful new range . . .

designed for busy women

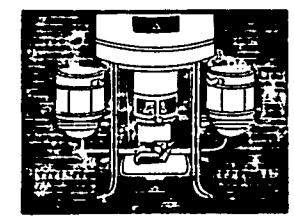

THE modern housewife wants to spend as little time as necessary in the kitchen. We don't blame her. And that's why the New Perfection was developed.

It is designed to save time. A new burner arrangement enables you to cook more dishes at a time. Perfection burners produce a swift, clean heat—aided by Socony Kerosene, the safe and economical fuel. The "live heat" oven speeds up baking. This new Perfection comes in full porcelain enamel, snow white or with trim of gay color: apple green, cherry red, sea blue, golden sand.

PERFECTION OIL RANGE

Some have the durable Perfectolac finish: white, silver gray, dove gray. Others are in satin black.

There is a Perfection dealer in your town. Stop in today and let him show you the wide line of models. Also the new Puritan, the short-drum type stove. All at a wide range of prices.

PERFECTION Water Heaters

Hot water whenever you want it—whether you have pressure system or kitchen pump. Ask your plumber about the Perfection and Puritan Kerosene Water Heaters. Five sizes and five kinds. Rapid, reliable and moderate in price.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

She carried a bouquet of Grace Coolidge roses and blue larkspur.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a cut crystal necklace and the groom's gift to the bride was a yellow and white crystal necklace. The ushers and best man were presented with gold pieces.

Mrs. Wood graduated from the public schools of Northampton and Mr. Wood was graduated from the local High school in the class of '22.

The popularity of the couple among the society of their community was evident from the large number of beautiful gifts which were received with the good wishes of their many friends. Guests were present from Springfield, Boston, Providence and Washington.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the garden of the bride's home where the decorations were the same as at the church. Immediately after the reception Mr. and Mrs. Wood left on a motor trip to Washington, D. C., after which they will be at home at No. 74 Maple street, Florence. Mr. Wood has a position with Lasalle & Taft, ice cream manufacturers, Northampton, and Mrs. Wood is employed in the office of the Florence Manufacturing company.

Visiting in Anacortes, Washington

Mrs. Clara Fuller Piper is visiting in Anacortes, Wash., where she arrived May 24 in company with friends. From letters written en route and on arrival, to Mrs. Evelyn R. Ward, we quote a few interesting pen pictures.

"Yesterday land was level most all day, with big farms, pond holes of water and lakes. Today we see bluffs and smaller farms and mountains that look like our own. Ground in places white with alkali. Just passed through Indian reservation many miles long in Montana. The faces look like those we saw at Gay Head. Miles of sage brush and tumble weed. The cliffs here look as if they were of white clay. See very few stands by the roadside here. Many places here have big barns and sheds and small houses with no flowers or shrubs around them.

"Just passed through largest herd of sheep I ever saw. Many lambs and some black as ebony. Lots of horses of all colors and many little colts. Occasionally a long-eared Jack. See some tractors working the farther west we go. Many times though it's 4 or 5 horses ahead of machinery. Never saw so much water in all my life. People can have no excuse for not being clean. Yesterday we rode side of Mississippi river; today when I woke it was the Missouri.

"Had all kinds of time. Just set watch back one hour. Fred Abbey is to meet the Shores at Mt. Vernon, Wash., and tow us in. Expect to go by the foot of Glacier National park this afternoon.

"Arrived in Anacortes Friday evening between 7 and 8. Air here all the time like you was on Mt. Tom. I look at a beautiful picture all the time of Puget Sound and its islands dotted all through it, and back of it the wonderful snow-capped Mt. Baker, where snow never melts.

"Sword ferns here in big woods grow six feet high. Skunk cabbage here very large and are yellow instead of red. Cultivated daisies in yard 3 feet high. Lots of asparagus, strawberries, fruits, plums, prunes, peaches, pears, apples and cherries.

"Anacortes is the gateway to all the islands round here. Called the playground of America. Came out on the Great Northern road and will come back on a different one."

$25 was voted to match a similar amount appropriated by the Park Association for the mowing of the common this summer. It is understood that the Farmers' and Mechanics' Club is likely to assist in this enterprise.

Dust prevention on the remaining gravel segment of the Turkey

Hill road was discussed and the selectmen were asked to see if there is not some way of alleviating this exasperating situation.

The Board of Trade still dreams of having one day a fountain of some kind at the south end of the common, and there was discussion regarding the matter.

Several more members came across with their dues Monday evening. In fact, in the closing minutes there seemed to be a general settling up of accounts, personal and otherwise. Money passed from one to the other for this thing or that, in rapid sequence. Some members finished up with less and some finished up with more and some finished up with the same money they had before. The Board of Trade usually stages some freak situation not on the agenda, and this time the general debt cancellation was the mirth provoking feature. So join the Board of Trade and collect your debts—and pay them.

Special Sunday Evening B. H. S. Graduation Exercises

A community service which promises to be of unusual interest will be held at the Methodist church, Sunday evening at 7.30. Dr. George E. McPherson, superintendent of the Belchertown State School, will be the speaker. He will explain to us the task of the State School and what is being done toward the concrete realization of that task. It is apparent that a better understanding of what the State School is doing and the closer sympathy which such an understanding would engender would be extremely beneficial to the whole community.

The service is an open one. The Congregational and Methodist churches are uniting in it. And we wish that the community at large would avail itself of this special opportunity to hear Dr. McPherson. This is a community affair. Consider yourself invited.

Lawrence Memorial hall saw another B. H. S. graduation Wednesday evening. Eight out of the forty who entered school four years ago, marched up the aisle with due ceremony, Paige Piper, '28, escorting them to the platform between split ranks of their school mates, while the march was played by Miss Louise Hawley at the piano and Miss Anna Wallace, violin.

Above the platform in red letters on a field of white was emblazoned the class motto, "We Finish to Begin," which characterized to some degree the atmosphere of the evening's exercises.

The invocation was given by Rev. F. C. Rolls, following which Schubert's Cradle Song was rendered by the Girls' chorus, directed by Mrs. Beaumont of Amherst, the school music instructor, who also directed all the chorus numbers.

The real graduation sentiment got under way with the salutatory by Miss Sylvia Damon, who welcomed those assembled and duly thanked the instructors for giving the class a knowledge of what real education means, and also not only for starting them on their way but for imparting the urge to climb higher.

An essay, "Aviation, Past and Present," was given by Miss Anna F. Lego. In handling this timely theme, she reviewed the early days of the art and brought into relief the contributions of Prof. Langley, a native of Massachusetts, the Wright Brothers and Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh. Mention was made of Wilbur Wright's initial flight of three and a half seconds in 1903, of Bleriot's London to Paris flight in 1909, and of Lindbergh's New York to Paris epoch-making flight. A word was also spoken about Zepelins.

Miss Anna L. Shuttleworth then passed in review the high spots experienced by the class of 1929, including parties given in the various years, the innovation of purchasing class rings, the presentation of the Senior play, etc. The History was

Baccalaureate Service

The B. H. S. baccalaureate service was held in Memorial hall last Sunday evening at 7.30. Seven of the eight graduates were present and occupied seats of honor. Prayer was offered by Rev. F. C. Rolls and the scripture reading was by Rev. Rockwell Smith.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Smith from the paraphrased text, "Can any good thing come out of Belchertown?" He referred to the graduates as tools of Belchertown, and of the schools in particular, asserting that the reputation of the local High school depended on them. They had the opportunity, he said, to advertise Belchertown.

They are tools of the country, too, in this democracy "where everybody has a chance to put his finger in the pie." Lastly he said that we are all tools in the hands of God.

The speaker cast the halo of dignity over the common task, maintaining it was holy and sacred, and would have the class build "cathedrals" no matter where they worked. His advice was to pick out one job and do it well, to ever gamble on one's high goal, and to make heaven out of hell. And the obligation for all this, he said, was by reason of "value received."

There was community singing, Miss M. L. Allen presiding at the piano.

Promotion Exercises of the Center 8th Grade

All the available space in Miss Towne's room was occupied by visitors Wednesday afternoon, who found the promotion exercises of the 8th grade well worth their attention. The recitations and original compositions were of interest in themselves and well presented. The cornet solo was an unusual feature while the other musical numbers were also enjoyed.

Following the program by the young people, Superintendent H. C. Knight presented the 16 graduates with certificates of promotion to the high school, adding his congratulations and a few words of practical admonition.

The motto, "Aim is our Highest Ambition," was printed on the blackboard facing the audience. The class colors were green and white, and the class flower was the white rose. The program follows:

When Dad's Day comes around we just Forget that there is such a day. Unless we want some cash Dad doesn't count for much. Unless we want to get the car To take our Sunday spin, We leave Dad out. But if it's bills Why that's where Dad comes in.

Dad comes in when we want some change

To take "her" on a date; Dad comes down stairs and lets us in When we get home too late. We take him much for granted, But if some job tough as sin Must be done, and none can do it, Why that's where Dad comes in.

Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 7.30 we will meet in the Methodist vestry for our usual Faith and Friendship Night. Moreover we are looking forward to an unusually splendid time. Sunday was Fathers' Day but no one apparently recognized the fact. We are going to talk about "Fathers" at the prayer service. Come and render your tribute to "Pa."

The stunt and game period will be organized with dad in mind and we hope that all fathers will come. In case they are bashful and retiring, we hope daughter or son or wife will bring them out so that we can meet together and have a good time.

"Polar" Television Arrived

Developments of the past week reveal the fact that H. E. Sessions, the local telephone manager, is evidently in league with the insane hospital authorities of the state. Whether he gets so much for every patient he lands or fifty-fifty for every week they stay, has not been determined. But this is the way he works it. He calls up a susceptible woman, calmly remarks that so and so is in the room, tells which way she is facing, the color of the office cat and which way his tail points. Well, by this time the lady is just about in hysterics and is perfectly willing that the insane ambulance call, when a chance look out the window reveals Harry atop a telephone pole, using his eyes as well as his tongue and grinning so that the wires sing, while the poor woman shakes her clenched fists at him through the open window and thanks high heaven she ever escaped.

B. H. S. Graduation Exercises

sparkling with wit and some experiences were vividly portrayed. An event which loomed large in their landscape was the trip to Bridgeton, R. I., on June 8, when they were week-end guests of Miss Inman, faculty adviser, at her home, and were entertained most royally.

Like a full-fledged minstrel show, the class of '29 had some real end men. William Barry sat on one end and Malcolm Dorey at the other and their assignments were most appropriate. Barry gave a reading, "An Income Taximeter," and the bewilderment, dismay and nonchalance he portrayed in "filling out" that document was a caution.

"Columbus" was rendered by the chorus, assisted by Mr. Stebbins of Amherst.

The stage was then set for the 1929 class play, "What's in a Name?" written by Miss Roberta Lisk of the graduating class, which was one of several written as an assignment in English. A "class" made up entirely of girls shining up to the wrong Mr. Smith was the substance of the plot.

"Pretty Polly Oliver" was then rendered by the girls' chorus.

Of course the prophecy was interesting. This year a new instrument, the television, was brought into play. By its use ten years hence, Miss Damon was seen to be a dancing teacher; Malcolm Dorey, a rancher; Miss Baggs, an astrologist; William Barry, a lawyer; Miss Lego, a professional swimmer; Miss Shuttleworth, a notable cook; and Miss Lisk, a syndicate writer.

The class poem by Miss Roberta E. Lisk was entitled, "We Finish to Begin," and was a bit of a valedictory in itself.

The next number was a solo, "To a Hilltop," by Mr. Stebbins, who also responded to an encore.

Malcolm Dorey, the other "end man," then got into action, dispensing many articles under the voluminous will of the class. Hot air and an auxiliary bottle of gasoline for use by stranded students indicates the variety of bequests, which also included honest-to-goodness gifts to Miss Inman and Prin. Allen in appreciation of what they had given the class as teacher and principal.

Miss Marie N. Baggs, president of the class, then presented the school with a framed picture of "Old Ironsides," in colors, to be hung in the main school room. Miss Baggs pointed out that classes of other days had given the school a picture at the time of their graduation, but since the burning of the old building the custom had not been revived. She expressed the hope that this would be the beginning of a similar series of gifts. Albert J. Menard, president of the Junior class gave the speech of acceptance.

Miss Baggs then gave the valedictory, pointing out that they were finishing their course to begin a longer and harder one. She expressed the class's desire to be a credit and an honor to its Alma Mater, and closed by reminding her classmates that "we finish to begin."

The class song was the final number given by the graduates.

At this point Prin. Allen made a few remarks regarding school activities. He called attention to the successful issuance of the "Echo" the past year, and of the "Year Book," a commencement time enterprise, giving due credit to the staff and to Miss Inman, who supervised both. He also gave a list of awards from the several typewriter companies and read the honor roll of those who had attained high scholarship in the several classes. He closed with words of Chief Justice Taft as to the importance of the academic side of life and the value of strenuous work in this field.

The graduates were then presented to Supt. Knight who awarded the diplomas, reading an appropriate bit of philosophy from some person of note, as he passed out the certificate.

The benediction was given by Rev. Rockwell Smith.

The program was varied in nature and had the usual appeal.

Gentlemen's Night

Those who did not attend Gentlemen's night of the Ladies' Social Union at Mrs. Harry C. Grindle's Wednesday evening, may pine away with regret, judging from the reports received of the gathering. At the start, the ladies tried to hold a short business meeting, but the men nearly put that out of commission with their noise at games outside.

The entertainment proper was in charge of Mrs. J. J. Kempkes and consisted of the following numbers: Vocal solo and encore Mrs. Grindle

Mrs. Sanford, accompanist
Reading and encore Mrs. Witt
Piano duet

Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. Shumway
One of the features was an amusing play, entitled, "The Gathering of the Nuts," while "A Chinese Prayer" had a somewhat similar humiliating ending. The hilarity was furnished by some of the well-known "actors and actresses" of Belchertown. All kinds of stunts were performed from sliding bases to kicking mules and riding on a loop-the-loop. About 40 took part in the entertainment. Refreshments came last and consisted of sandwiches, cake and punch.

All went home happy after giving Mrs. Grindle a cheer for the good time they had had.

This is the first Gentlemen's Night of the organization—at least, in a long while—but this will be remembered till the next one.

Former Resident Returns

Rev. Charles Bruce of Penney Farms, Florida, who came north to attend his 50th reunion at Amherst college, has been visiting in town this week and calling on his former B. H. S. schoolmates. Mr. Bruce is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Bruce and has the distinction of being in the first class entering the local high school and was glad to be able to procure a picture of the group at the local news store. Schoolmates still residing in town are Lawrence Parsons, Mrs. Mary Dodge, Mrs. Bathie Stebbins and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Curtis.

Rev. Mr. Bruce retired from the active ministry two years ago, his last pastorate being in central Wisconsin. He is in good health and is enjoying life at Penney Farms, made possible through the benefactions of the Penney Foundation. Mr. Bruce made the trip north by bus.

Tells of State School

The attendance and attention at the evening service at the M. E. church last Sunday shows that the townspeople still have a lively interest in the State school. Although the superintendent, Dr. Geo. E. McPherson, on a previous occasion had told of the school and its work, there was much that was new in his latest presentation. He maintained at the outset that it is by reason of a more Christian attitude that society is caring for the mentally deficient, an approach much in contrast with that of other days when the lowest type of the mentally deficient, the idiots, were disposed of; and imbeciles were looked upon as semi-gods.

Dr. McPherson said that of the idiot type, who have a mental age of not exceeding three years and most of whom are crippled, requiring nursing care, there are 150 at the local school which has an enrolment of about 900. Although he termed these cases unappealing, he said they have individuality and are friendly.

Concerning the second group, the imbecile, he said they were defective because of transmission of hereditary traits. Given feeble-minded parents, he maintained there is no chance for any other type of children.

On the other hand it was stated that there are occasional cases of well-bred parents having a child of this type. From this class come most of the voluntary applications for entrance to the school, as these parents fully realize the need.

Dr. McPherson said that as between boys and girls, the latter are somewhat more of a problem by reason of their natural emotional makeup, which causes them to be temperamentally explosive and to "blow up" under small provocation. The pupils are unmoral rather than immoral, have no conception of property rights and love to be liked, which makes them easy prey in the world outside.

However, 85 or 90 are earning their way and only about five per cent of these have caused trouble.

As to educational advantages, the Doctor was particular to say that all

A Mark of Respect

With the account of the Senior reception and the list of awards announced graduation night the 1929 Commencement festivities fade from the picture. As usual, they flavor our community life with a healthy urge to higher levels.

In connection with the graduation exercises proper, it has been pointed out by those familiar with usage on such occasions that the assembled guests, in deference to the graduates, should rise as the class enters the hall on that night.

Those who have had the experience, happy or otherwise, of being in the graduation limelight, know full well that a lot of self-consciousness goes with it that might be alleviated if the guests bestowed upon them this courtesy that gives one a sort of "I'm With You" feeling and makes one feel less that he is on display.

Possibly 1930 can give birth to or revive, as the case may be, this fine custom that costs so little and means so much.

I've a recipe for healthiness That beats a trip down South; Move the wrinkles from your forehead To the corners of your mouth. Just forget your foolish worries, Learn to laugh and sing and shout. Now beginning, start in grinning, Let your sunshine out.

Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, will give a patriotic address at the meeting of Union grange Tuesday evening. A business meeting will be held at 8 p. m., following which the meeting will be opened to the public. Those who have never heard Mr. Gardner are advised that a rare treat is in store for them, and all who have ever heard him will wish to hear him again.

Monday. Both Mrs. Shumway and Mr. Sanford are members of the class of 1910, the first class to graduate from the school. This class won the loving cup this year, awarded to the class with the highest percentage of attendance at the annual banquet. Mrs. Shumway was elected alumni vice president.

Sixteen members of the Girl Scout troop with their leaders, Mrs. G. E. McPherson and Mrs. F. E. Farrington, left town last Friday morning on a trip to Mt. Toby. Mrs. George Hussey was also a member of the party and at Amherst, Mrs. F. C. Pray, who gave a nature talk to the troop at its last meeting, joined them and conducted the party to their destination. Here the ferns, which Mrs. Pray had talked about so interestingly, were studied at first hand and a fine day's outing enjoyed. D. Donald Hazen furnished transportation for the crowd.

The Belchertown State school is fortunate in receiving a nine-tube Temple radio set, the gift of the Wahn Radio company through their representative, Ernest G. Sealander of Springfield. The set was presented to Governor Allen for the use of some public institution. The governor conferred with Dr. Kline of the Department of Mental Diseases, and thus the gift came to Belchertown. It will be installed in the administration building and connected with the other buildings so that by means of loud speakers in the various wards, all the pupils may enjoy the programs.

J. J. Fairchild, acting for the Board of Trade, has made arrangements with the Northampton Celtics to play a local team, supplemented by a few out-of-town men, next Thursday at 3 on the common. The visiting aggregation is made up of City League and High School players and is a fast team.

Dr. J. L. Collard and family went to Bloomingburg, N. Y. last week, where his mother will remain for the summer.

A circus of country-town size gave a performance in a vacant lot at the foot of Maple St. last Saturday night. Admission to grounds, shows, side shows and extra acts was disastrous to the looks of a dollar bill. Probably a dozen folks figured in the show.

the teachers are normal graduates or better, and that only by constant reiteration can results be secured. The pupils are required to attend half-day sessions as long as they make any progress.

Attention was called to the fact that while they could absorb no great amount of learning, they gained sufficient to make life more interesting and acquired deftness of action in industrial lines. He said that the girls make good domestics and that the boys will willingly do work that higher priced labor will not do. He said that many of the boys make excellent helpers in the various trades, but will never be able to do more than that.

It was stated that pupils going out from the school need to conduct their affairs with ordinary prudence, thus the necessity for several more years of preparation than that required by the normal person.

Mention was made of the useful industrial projects at the school. The girls do kitchen work, canning, sewing, laundry work, rug making, etc., as visitors at the annual exhibit well realize, while the boys do farm work and have dug tunnels connecting the various buildings, a herculean task.

Entertainment came in for mention—dances, movies, shows, etc. Religious needs are met by two services each Sunday, one for Protestants and the other for Catholics, while a Jewish chaplain comes once a quarter.

Dr. McPherson maintained that although the children would receive more individual care in homes, yet in his opinion "60 per cent of our children were never so clean, well fed, clothed and cared for as at the present time."

The local school has dealt, it seems, with over 1,200 cases, and in ten or fifteen years will be able to care for 2,000. Already four buildings with accommodations for 50 patients each of the idiotic type have been approved. This institution is supposed to care simply for the needs of western Massachusetts, which it is thought it can amply serve. Dr. McPherson's opinion was that the ratio of feeble minded persons to the total population is no increasing, but that there is a growing appreciation of institutional care. The average mental age at the school is 7½ years.

At the close of the address, questions were answered. It was brought out that the pupils at the school have a natural aptitude for music and stage work. In fact the impression was gained that in

The Fourth at the State School

When it comes to Fourth of July celebrations at the State school, no one can say that the former days were better than these. Possibly they were as good, but that is sufficient to admit. The program of events is much the same from year to year, but the parade is bound to be distinctive. The teachers, each one of whom has a float in charge, have fertile imaginations to draw upon, as the results indicate.

It is an interesting spectacle that passes the judges' stand. First comes the "Pathe News" man with a contraption supposed to "shoot" the affair. He flits from one side of the road to the other for points of vantage. The 12-piece band comes next, followed by the national and state colors. Eight boys in sailor suits of white also carry flags. The baseball aggregation, 23 in number, follows. Then come eight huskies in red and black topped with broad brimmed sombreros.

The float "Venice" passes now. In front is a gondola in which are seated a quaintly attired pair while another manipulates the craft. At the further side is the background, depicting in colors a Venice street with its typical canal. The truck is decked in red, white and green.

Ambulatory features arrive next—"Our Gang," "Little Boy Blue," "Doddle Dimple," "The Topsy-Turvy Girl," etc.

The float, "International," now arrests attention. Seven girls, each with a flag of a different country and attire in keeping, are aboard, while at the rear on a pedestal, on which are drawn the several emblems, is a huge globe of the world, all the while revolving. Red, white and blue streamers hang from the sides of this float.

"Campbell's Kids," "Two Black Crows," etc., are features following. "Cinderella," a float trimmed in orange and white, passes next. Here is bewitchingly presented the lore with which the world is so familiar.

A bevy of balloon men and a cavalcade of clowns come next in the passing show. Then appears "Fair-

"The Place Where We Live"

"The Place Where We Live." Those who attended the open grange meeting Tuesday evening and heard the address of Charles M. Gardner of Westfield, High Priest of Demeter, went to bed with these words ringing in their ears. Unlike some clergymen, the text was not forgotten by the time for the benediction.

Mr. Gardner cast a halo over the place where we live and showed how, consciously or otherwise, we make or unmake it in the eyes of men. He named four places where we live—the home community, the State of Massachusetts, New England and the United States. While he stressed particularly the first, the same adaptation could be made to the other three.

Mr. Gardner said that the isolated, self-contained community, with its distinctive mode of life, is no more. Such inventions as the auto and radio, and the dissemination of the printed page, carrying a great array of national advertising, has standardized our living and made neighbors of us all. Due to the auto, the world is rushing by our doors, making it imperative that we take pride in and keep up the place where we live.

The speaker stressed the desirability of a "real, abiding sense of home loyalty" in all our contacts with these people of the outside world, and showed by apt illustrations that strangers often characterize a whole community by a crabby cop or a delicious hot dog, as the case may be. He advised against the somewhat prevalent new England habit of telling about the big mosquitoes, bad back roads, etc., saying that a New Englander always hitches a string to his boasting, whereas the Westerner lets the visitor find out the unattractive things for himself.

Mr. Gardner's address was alive with human interest. His numerous contacts with people far and near made it possible for him to bring these characters before his hearers and let them tell his story. Few who heard his address would willingly disparage "the place where we live."

Mr. Gardner had an abiding faith in New England, stating that it is outstanding by reason of its diversified industries and diversified farming, which guarantees its prosperity. He decried the recent legislature for its failure to allow communities to spend one-twentieth of one per cent. for advertising, and called attention to St. Petersburg, Fla., that spends two per cent. of the tax levy for this purpose.

The speaker said that we must adapt ourselves to changes that take place and realize that prosperity can still continue, even though so-called established industries have to give place.

Ball Game on the 4th

If the local boys did get trimmed by the Northampton Celtics in a game of baseball Thursday afternoon, what matters. It saved the holiday from going by default, anyway. What an opportunity such an occasion always affords to mix with the home-for-the-day-ers, to hold down the planks on the north-end well, as one strains his eyes to see what the moundmen have got on the ball, to razz the umpire, and to watch a swarm of youngsters disperse when a five-incher goes off in their midst.

Paige Piper and J. J. Fairchild constituted the battery for Belchertown. This combination lasted till the seventh inning when Jap called his son to the mound. A few minutes later he went in himself, and Ray Blackmer donned the mask. This outfit stayed to the finish.

The visitors secured three runs in the second, two in the third, and six in the fatal seventh and were developing a fondness for dropping the sphere in Aspengren's door yard which seemed to swallow it successfully.

In the eighth there was a flurry of excitement when the locals staged a rally but it was too late; 14 to 6 was the final score.

Sermons in Song

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

It's not so very easy
When the sun is boiling hot
To be tired in the hay-field
And still pretend you're not,
To toss and rake and load it
And smile the livelong day;
But when the sun shines brightest
It's time to make hay.

It's not so very easy
When trouble singses you
To bear your grief in silence
And keep on smiling, too.
But when the future's blackest
And your life seems vile,
Is the very finest moment
To stop a bit and smile.

The Fourth at the State School

ries' Revel," replete with four girls dancing while a fifth plays energetically at a "pipe" organ at the rear. An appropriately colored lake scene forms a background for this presentation.

Living hobby horses, a sailboat, and girls with tamborines are sandwiched in here.

"The Swans" now pass the stand, tastily decked in green and white and set with yellow flowers. Representations of swans are set at either side of the front, while at the rear on a pedestal is seated a small girl beneath a flower-set arch.

After a few comics afoot, comes "Old King Cole." The merry old soul was there with his traditional pipe, while the assembled musicians in red and white and black and yellow were making merry on stringed instruments.

An old-time southern steamer with tall stack and huge wheel at the rear was the next float. Bales of "cotton" lined the decks where a colored boy also lay stretched out, and on the upper deck were ye southern ladies and gents, while standing out prominently was the trim little captain who kept clanging the bell of the realistic craft.

"The House That Jack Built" looms up shortly. On a wagon covered with green is the house itself, the preacher, the cat, the rat, and the whole paraphernalia.

Quite a menagerie passes in review now, elephants, lions, alligators with gaping mouths, monkeys, donkeys, rabbits—all "manned" inside with State school pupils.

"The Terrible Tooters' Chorus," aboard a high wagon, was a duplicate of the "Razzberry Band" of other days and consisted of some 14 musicians.

"The Police Patrol" was a comic. Blue Coats man the cross between a car and a wagon, and two walk in the rear, while through the top another is wielding a billy over somebody's head. Through slats at the rear protrude stockings but legless extremities of victims.

A half dozen pupils in red and black, afoot, with the hose rig, bring up the rear of the procession.

The line passes the stand three times, while the winners show up again for the banner awards which are presented by Lawrence Parsons, chairman of the judges. Other members were Frederick A. Farrar of Northampton and Dr. Charles W. McPherson of Medford. The awards were:

First	Steamboat
Second	Venice
Third	International
Fourth	Fairies' Revel
Favorable Mention	Old King Cole

As before stated, the teachers, headed by Miss Deatherage, were responsible for the spectacle, which was in general charge of Dr. A. E. Westwell. Moving pictures of the parade were taken by an expert and will be shown later in the season.

A general program of the day's events follows:

- 6 a. m. Flag Raising, Pledge of Allegiance and singing of the National Anthem by the school boys
- 7.30 a. m. Distribution of balloons and noise makers
- 9.30 a. m. Parade
- 10.30 a. m. Track meet, including pie eating contest for girls and boys
- 12 Picnic lunch under the Maples
- 2 p. m. Girls' ball game
- 3 p. m. Boys' ball game

Still Noisy But Different

The church bell has suffered the worst humiliation yet—the time has come when the Fourth of July celebrators sense no desire to get hold of it regardless of the consequences, as was the case with their "heroic" forebears.

Now the siren's the thing, and if it takes till 5 or 6 in the morning to short circuit a couple of wires on a pole, it must be done. 'Tis said that the thing blew a hundred times before the plot was unravelled.

It reminds one of the time when the town clock ran down and Belchertown folks almost gained a day. "J. V.," the caretaker, came through the ordeal, but some think it is taking a dangerous chance of possible loss to tie up the fire alarm.

Much ado about a little of nothing was the story of a couple of fire alarms rung in Thursday night. One call came from Dwight to the effect that the Lyman Randolph house was on fire. The fire department and outfit hurried up there, only to find the family quietly enjoying their fireworks, the red light of which had caused a neighbor to believe that the house was afire. Scarcely had the fire fighters reached home when they were called out a second time. A sky rocket falling on the barn at J. A. Peeso's residence on Maple street caused a slight blaze, but no damage was done.

Home Department Meeting

There were 30 at the meeting of the Home Department of the Congregational Sunday School at the home of Mrs. B. A. Chadbourne last week Friday afternoon, counting men and women, boys and girls, young and old—but there were no old, come to think, according to the pastor, Rev. F. C. Rolls, who gave a brief address appropriate to the occasion, on the importance of the Home department in the life of the church. In fact for this reason he invited them to attend the main school when opportunity afforded, and if they had no special affiliation there, to feel free to go into the class of his silent partner, Mr. B.

The party was to have been held out doors but the welcome rain decreed otherwise. Much of the program and the social hour took place in the spacious kitchen, where refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. The afternoon was much enjoyed by those present.

Numbers on the program were: Scripture Reading, Mrs. Taylor; Home Dept. Song, All; Reading, "There's Four in Our Family," Mrs. W. S. Piper; Song, Roberta Brown; Address, Rev. F. C. Rolls; Solos, Mrs. W. E. Bridgman.

Trickling through the address was wit, humor and cleverness that one almost swallowed before he realized its content.

Of course Mr. Gardner had a good word for the granges and for their "overflowing service into the life of the community," making it indeed a better place in which to live

The following numbers were contributed by the local order: Piano solo, Mrs. Chas. H. Sanford; reading and encore, Mrs. Harry Grindle; vocal solo, Miss Roberta Grindle. Auto Accidents

Belchertown has its share of auto wrecks. Last Friday night a Ford coupe, owned by a party in Springfield, skidded on the curve below the canal on the Ludlow road, breaking a wheel, and last Saturday night at about midnight a Chicopee Falls car coming towards town was hit on the bridge over Jabish on the Enfield road. A few minutes later it was hit by a second car. Between the two bumps it was put out of commission and the remains now repose in Squires's "morgue."

It won't take much more to make "Bill," who answers his share of these distress calls, to become superstitious. He says everything is going by three's lately, even to repair work in the shop. If it's a rear end job or if there's a particular trouble elsewhere, just as sure as the world there'll be two more cases just like it right away, so in ordering parts he always buys either three, six, nine or twelve, so's to come out even. Of course in the realm of used cars everybody knows he buys them in clumps of any number short of thirteen.

Attitude Toward Work

Most of us work whether we like it or not. It may be that we are more eager to work than appears on the surface...

Our attitude towards work depends upon how we think of work. Those who think of work as a curse have quite a different attitude from those who think of it as a blessing.

It is quite right that we should think of wages in connection with work, but there is a vast difference between the attitude of the man who thinks of work merely as a means of getting a living...

We ought to cultivate right attitudes toward work, since work plays such an important part in our life. Let us think of one attitude toward work.

How splendid it would be if we could think of our work as one way by which we express our good will to our fellows. We ought to have good will to our neighbors. And we express that good will in many ways...

I feel sure that some of your subscribers who are not regular readers of the Century will be grateful to you for calling their attention to an article so interesting, readable and informing about this popular and wonderful instrument and its place in modern life. It was born into the Electrical family after the telegraph, the telephone, the electric light and the wireless had made a name and place for themselves in the service of the world, but though young, it is doing credit to its family.

Breaks into Mill

Last week Theron Pratt had a surprise party of a different type from that which friends recently gave him. On Wednesday night or Thursday morning his saw and planing mill was broken into and tools valued at $40 or $50 were taken. An effort was made to get the belt off the planer, but this and some other things were relinquished, making it look as though they left hastily. Those responsible evidently tried to force the door, but finally gained entrance through a board-covered window.

Mr. Pratt says that in all the 29 years of the mill's history, this is the first time to his knowledge that it has been entered. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt heard a car go down by at a considerable speed between 2 and 3 in the morning, but had no suspicions. The loss was not discovered till Thursday afternoon.

Hill-top Lunch Shoppe

It is expected that the "Hill-Top Lunch Shoppe" will open tomorrow in the little white building with green trimmings at the corner of Park and Jabish' streets. Miss Dorothy Kimball, the enterprising proprietor, has daintily decorated the interior, the color scheme of which is blue and white. Private booths have been provided, so that the elite will feel at home. The menu shows a varied offering, tempting and substantial.

In the next room, entered through a latticed archway is H. E. Kimball's radio shop, while farther to the rear, the culinary artist has her

L. S. U. Supper and Entertainment

The supper season used to begin and end, but now it seems to go on forever, judged by the attendance at the Ladies' Social Union supper at the M. E. vestry Wednesday evening, when all the tables were filled. Possibly all signs fail in a dry time.

The tables were resplendent with wild flowers, and a wide strand of blue paper running down the center of each table lent added color. But the supper committee saw to it that there was something besides decorations. Beans and salads, cake and jello with cream, were high spots in the menu. The committee in charge was Mrs. R. A. French, Mrs. Mabel Stebbins, Mrs. J. J. Kempkes, Mrs. H. C. Grindle and Mrs. H. W. Conkey.

The entertainment following was as sumptuous as the supper. The program follows:

Piano duet with encore
Misses Eleanor and Irene Matska
The "High-Headed Band"
Misses Edith Atwood, Laura Butler, Ethel Bruce, Marie Hubbard, Madeline Lemon, Lillian Upham Readings
Mrs. Grindle
Illustrated song, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," Catherine French, Ruth Chamberlain, Ruthella Conkey; Mrs. Ethel Collis, soloist
Reading, "Hannah Tripe at Court" and encore, Miss Lillian Upham Dialogue, "The Minister's Mistake"

Tries for Endurance Record

While new endurance records are being hung up in the field of aviation every little while, there seems to be a mania here to see who can ride the most miles in a day, when on a vacation trip. Dr. A. E. Westwell of the State school turned in quite a record when he returned from Atlanta. In fact, he evidently filled his gas tank, headed his car due north, took a dose of sleepless powders and froze to the wheel day and night.

Rev. Rockwell Smith, one of the village parsons, is now liable to challenge his professional brother to an endurance test, as he, too, has joined this fast and furious company. He returned last week from Toronto, Canada, a distance of about 500 miles, whither he went in a day and returned in a day. When he came back he used the modern refueling process. When he saw the sand man coming and his car developing a fondness for the left hand side of the road he pulled up to the curb, no matter if 'twas the busiest spot in town, and slept the length of a good Methodist sermon or until a friendly cop advised him to move on and sleep it off elsewhere. So, by snoozing here and snoozing there, he drove up to his father's home in Greenfield in the sunless hours of the morning in his usual hilarious mood.

But "Rockie", as the "Faith and Friendship" folks call him, kept his eyes open most of the trip. He says that the friendliness of the Canadian traffic force was quite outstanding, in spite of the fact that he unknowingly violated some of the rules. As to liquor conditions over the border, in the territory which he traversed, things seemed to be well in hand, although he believes, as do his friends there, that prohibition has the edge on it.

Punctuality

One of the fine things about the universe is that it can be depended upon for punctuality. We know for a certainty that the sun will arise in the morning not a fraction of a second late. We can predict the exact moment that eclipses will take place. Day never begins late. The tides are not tardy in their appearance.

Water is very punctual in boiling and in freezing. As soon as 32 degrees is reached, water freezes. It is a great comfort to know that the heavens and the earth are dependable.

It is a joy to be in a big railway terminal and be reasonably assured that the trains will leave on the minute. One admires the promptness and loves to see things go like clock-work.

How much time is wasted through being late! We have spent in the total, days waiting for people to come to committee meetings. Some people make no pretense to be on time. It is taken for granted that a play or an entertainment will begin fifteen to twenty minutes late. Hardly anyone is expected to be on time at a reception or a fashionable dinner.

It is just as easy to be on time as a little bit late. Being late or on time is for the most part a matter of habit. When one comes to think of it, being late is a form of selfishness and also a form of stealing.

One of the fine traits of an individual or an organization or a club is punctuality. It always warms our hearts to find a person who will do a thing on time. He is dependable. And not simply is he dependable but he becomes efficient. They who accomplish big things are punctual.

Sermons in Song

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

She gets the meals and sends the kids to school,
She bathes the baby and she mops the floor,
She sweeps, she dusts, she mends,
She goes to bed
To rise again and do it all once more.

A humdrum life, you say. You think it dull.
Ask her and she replies: "It's really fine."
She shares the precious secret Jesus knew:
Love always changes water into wine.

Faith and Friendship Night

Most of us repeat at least as often as once a week the Lord's Prayer. Yet how many of us have ever given serious thought as to what it means? Friday evening at 7.30 the prayer service subject at the Faith and Friendship Night will be the first clause of that Prayer. You will want to come to the Methodist Vestry to listen and to participate in the discussion. Remember that this is a community service.

The usual stunt period will come after the prayer service. You will want to enjoy it with us. Come and get acquainted with some really jolly folks. The two and a half hours you spend with us will pay you big dividends in physical and spiritual health and happiness.

The Sunday School of the Methodist church has accepted the invitation of the Congregational church school to join them in a union picnic.

Because it is so extremely easy to apply—so rich in colors—so quickly dry—"Rogers" is everybody's favorite. In millions of families, dad, brother, mother and the girls are all using it successfully.

Unfortunately, there are cheap imitations of "Rogers"—made by folk who do not know how

Dries While You Wait

"Rogers" is easily applied. Just flow the gorgeous color over new or old surfaces. Quickly levels itself. Then it "dries while you wait." Dries smooth, without laps or brush marks. Dries so quickly that dust can't spoil it. Dries to a hard, porcelain-like finish that wears and wears and WEARS!

Dialogue, "Appreciating the Telephone," Misses Alberta Grindle and Ruth Hunt

"Last and Least" Catherine French

The illustrated song was unique. As Mrs. Collis sang, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," a small sail boat, fully rigged, in which a small girl clung to the mast, moved across the stage. With each verse a different girl took her place, dressed in keeping with the words being sung. In the dialogue the new "minister" found himself in the wrong regard to re-shingling the church building, that is, to use a tapering asphalt shingle of good quality. It was unanimously voted to authorize the trustees to go forward with the work. This is the necessary preliminary step before beginning the actual work of redecorating the interior which it is hoped may be undertaken in the near future.

Crashes Into Telephone Pole

A 1924 Dodge car driven by A. Labelle of Holyoke, and headed toward that city, crashed into a telephone pole near the entrance to Dr. McPherson's residence Monday afternoon, while attempting to pass a state truck driven by Mr. Kingsley. The latter made a left hand turn at this point, and in attempting to avoid a collision, Labelle brought up at a telephone pole, breaking it off and setting it over about five feet.

The Dodge car was badly damaged, an axle being broken and headlights and radiator crushed. The state police classed the accident as "unavoidable."

Big Forest Fire

The repeated wail of the siren on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, calling people out to fight forest fires, still rings in our ears. The blaze started on Monday near West Ware, where 300 acres were burned over before the rain of yesterday extinguished the final spark, it is hoped. 250,000 feet of lumber, owned by one Mazur, went up in smoke. 50 to 75 men were required to fight the blaze which at its height sent great clouds of smoke across the eastern sky. The warden and his men were called back three times, owing to fresh outbreaks. The total loss is estimated at $100,000.

One of the fire fighters, Pernet Bracey, left his car within the danger zone and returned to find it destroyed by the flames.

Warden Ayers was called to a brush fire at Mead's corner last Saturday. Although this lasted three hours the loss was light.

Pratt Homestead Burns

The Pelham road which once was a highway of considerable travel and threaded its way past many homesteads, is losing one by one its familiar landmarks. On Monday morning at about 2 the Homer Pratt place burned to the ground.

The house was occupied by Lou-aine Squires and family, who had a narrow escape. They were sleeping on the second floor when Mrs. Squires was awakened by the flames which were already leaping up in the room. Mr. Squires grabbed their four children, who occupied another room and who were awakened by their parents' outcries, and hustled them downstairs and out doors, while Mrs. Squires followed with a few articles of clothing. Her husband was able to return to the second story only once when he had time simply to get his trousers and throw a few things out of the window. None of the children's apparel was saved. A few dishes and a few pieces of furniture were all that was saved from the lower floor. Fifteen dollars' worth of groceries purchased Saturday night and which had not been touched, went up in flames.

When the occupants of the house emerged from the building, a tumble-down shed across the driveway was burned to the ground, indicating that that was where the fire had started. Eight turkeys valued at $3.00 each and which had every chance to escape, perished, as did also three or four rabbits that were in a box. The family was taken in by Mrs. Squires's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Dodge of Federal street, but has now returned to the premises, occupying a large shed, newly shingled, which will be fitted out as a house. The townspeople have been generous in rendering aid to the family.

Mr. Squires is employed as teamster by Cowles and Jones, who owned the house and carried insurance. There was none on the household effects of Mr. and Mrs. Squires.

The house, which was built about the time of the Revolutionary war, was 150 years old and had been in the Pratt family continuously until the death of Homer Pratt a few years ago. A log cabin preceded this structure, but was situated farther back from the present highway. The house with the old well-sweep in the yard was a land-mark which will be missed by the passerby.

Community Picnic

A community picnic under the auspices of the Congregational and Methodist church Sunday schools will be held at Ain's Beach next Wednesday, July 31. Those desiring transportation are asked to be at the chapel promptly at 9.30. Any with private cars having room for others are invited to be on hand at the chapel at the appointed hour.

As this is a community affair, everyone is invited. Committees representing the two churches met at the chapel Tuesday evening and made arrangements for the day's festivities.

If Wednesday is stormy, the picnic will be held on Thursday.

"How Do You Do ?" From the Sky

The occupants of the Holland farm are wondering who it is that is apparently saying "How do you do?" to them from the sky. About eight o'clock Wednesday evening an airplane appeared on the horizon to the east, evidently going towards Northampton, and when it arrived over the Holland farm, lowered altitude almost to the tree-tops, and circled twice over the premises, meanwhile blowing its whistle.

This is the second time this thing has happened. Just a week ago, an airplane, probably the same one, came from the opposite direction and preformed the same stunt. Some day probably the mystery will be unravelled.

With the increased interest in aviation, one wonders where the first landing field will be in Belchertown and who will be the first person locally to own and fly an airplane, using this town as a base. It's all bound to come, but who? and what? and where?

Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening is the best time in the world to fellowship with your friends and neighbors. Come at 7.30 to the Methodist vestry. It is the finest place in the world to lose your troubles and gain new friends. This week we will continue the studies on the Lord's Prayer, discussing "Kingdom Come". If you like to sing the rousing hymns, to pray, and to talk with others about religion, you will relish the novelty, sincerity and warmth of this service.

The entertainment this week is in charge of "Bill" French. When interviewed by our publicity agent, he refused to disclose his plans. He would only say that the presentation was a "surprise", something new and "different", such as has not been seen in Belchertown in recent years. We have always had a good time under "Bill's" leadership. This promises to be an extra good time. Come and see.

Community Picnic

Finger prints are indeed revealing, but what about the toe prints on Ain's beach Wednesday night! There were millions of them there when the sun sank back of the western hills, and if the art were a little farther advanced an expert would undoubtedly declare that Belchertown folks were responsible for most of them. They would indicate that their possessors were Methodist, Congregational, Catholic and what-not, and that they all had a good time at the community picnic sponsored by the Sunday schools of the Methodist and Congregational churches.

The busses were scheduled to leave the chapel at 9.30, and evidently all were provided for save a little white dog that remained till ten or after sitting on the browning lawn, expectantly awaiting some means of conveyance to the human lily pad to the south.

For while the toe-y extremities sank in the sandy beach, the surface of the water was alive with happy faces, some near sweet sixteen and some nearer sixty.

The same sun that shone on this dancing panorama also simmered down through the pines on the shore where the more timid ones of all ages kept the settees and plank benches warm all the day long, meanwhile daring one another to go in and awaken the old ecstasies.

Boats plied the water all day, too. Rev. Rockwell Smith brought along his father's outboard motor, and from morning till night, either he or Harold Booth ran free sight-seeing trips around the pond to the delight of all. This was the out-of-the-ordinary event of the day that will be remembered.

Of course the big event, as usual, was the dinner. Heaven only knows the contents of those dinner boxes. It took a tubful of lemonade to wash it down and no end of soda. In fact the beach management cash register clinked merrily all day long. The pocketbooks of kind-hearted daddies will hardly have a chance to get replenished by Cattle Show.

After dinner a quartet of the strong sex indulged in barnyard golf, but nothing particular got started till Harold Peck, the professional puller-off of picnic sports, blew in from up the line.

A baseball game between the married men and the single men was first staged. Of course the married men furnished the comedy part of the show. Bert Collis, Clate Green and Tom Allen took turns at pitching for the wise acres, the editor censored runners at first, Dick French picked apples at second, H. C. Grindle was farmed out to the third sack, H. F. Peck ran a general business in the field, while E. E. Gay did expressing in the opposite corner, at times urgently needing a motorcycle, but his nimble feet cleared that back fence slicker than an aeroplane. The umpire was picked up on the premises.

Most all the married men acted as defectors rather than catchers of the ball, so that the elusive sphere and the perspiring runners went merrily on.

In the second inning the youngsters broke the bat, but another one was obtained and the game continued. At the end of the third inning the single men proclaimed the score 21-4 in their favor. The game ended at this point so that other sports could be run off, but a married man has since figured out that, based on nine innings, the ultimate score would have been 63-12. It does

Positive Life

The only trouble with some people is that they do not live the positive life. They have never done anything wrong; they have simply failed to do positive good. They have kept all the "Thou shalt nots." They have never taken bread away from a hungry man nor a coat from any man's back. They have never stolen any man's property, nor told falsehoods, nor defrauded, nor killed any man. Their lack is their failure to live affirmatively. If a man's life is to be a success, it is not enough that he does not bring any harm or injury to his neighbor, he must render some positive service.

Positives cheer and negatives depress. Even a child thrives under affirmative speech. We note that in the football rules there are many "No player shall do this." We know also that we need negatives. But even so, we should make more of a man's virtues than we do of his faults.

The teacher who lives in an atmosphere of negations creates an atmosphere of suspicions in which the child can never do his best work. Emerson says: "Don't bewail and moan; nerve us with affirmatives."

Positive living invigorates. There are those who always talk in negatives. If the question under discussion is that of conduct, they talk in negatives. They say "A man must not do this nor that nor the other thing." Such language is not invigorating. But if some one bids us do some positive creative work, that puts new life into our blood.

Positive living is a good tonic. Not to hate one's enemy is a negation. There isn't so very much to it. But to love one's enemy and to render him some service presents a program which puts tonic into the blood.

Positive living brings power and joy. No one ever found any real joy or power in negative living. The joyful people are those who say "I can" and not those who say "I cannot," when a big job presents itself. Positive living is worth while.

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

Some people worship where cathedral chimes

Ring out their sober music on the air;

And others find religion in the wood Or where white lilies tilt and sway so fair.

But I find God within the commonplace;

He watches with the shepherd and his flocks,

He chums with silent workmen at their toil,

Or shares the contents of my dinner box.

"ROGERS"

and home beautifier

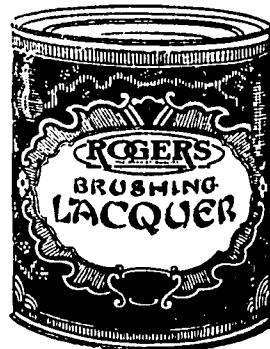

Because it is so extremely easy to apply—so rich in colors—so quickly dry—"Rogers" is everybody's favorite. In millions of families, dad, brother, mother and the girls are all using it successfully.

Don't be misled

Unfortunately, there are cheap imitations of "Rogers"—made by folks who do not know how.

Dries While You Wait

"Rogers" is easily applied. Just flow the gorgeous color over new or old surfaces. Quickly levels itself. Then it "dries while you wait." Dries smooth, without laps or brush marks. Dries so quickly that dust can't spoil it. Dries to a hard, porcelain-like finish that wears and wears and WEARS!

Let us illustrate

Come in. We carry the genuine "Rogers" in the "oriental" can. See the 26 beautiful "Rogers" colors, also black, white, clear and 6 brand new outdoor shades.

Faith and Friendship Night

"Bread" is a commodity with which we are all familiar. In one way or another we strive from day to day to get our share of it. "Bread" will be the discussion at the prayer service Friday evening at 7.30. The usual "big sing" will be enjoyed. These services are growing in value as more and more people take an active part in them. Be there, bring your neighbor, and take part in the discussion. It will help both of us.

This week there will be a surprise program of entertainment under the direction of George Booth. These services of fun give you a chance to become friends to your neighbors. Come and join us in these services if you want spiritual and physical refreshment.

About 80 attended the faith and friendship service last week, including Mr. and Mrs. James Hadley of Detroit, Mich., and their five children, one of whom, Miss Arlene Hadley, assisted in the devotional service with several solos on the flute besides accompanying the congregational singing. Other out-of-town guests were present. The social hour was in charge of William French, who introduced some new games and contests.

The carpenters' race was won by H. F. Putnam, whose speed in sawing a board accurately exceeded that of his competitors by one second. Lynn Martin won the contest among the men in sewing on buttons while Mrs. Smith, Rev. Rockwell Smith's mother, was the winner in the wood sawing contest among the women.

beat all how getting married queers one for baseball. Rev. Rockwell Smith pitched for the youngsters and George Booth caught, but what good they'll be next year, nobody knows.

The married men fared better in the rope pull. After a few pre-arranged lingering minutes, they got all that was coming to them.

The other events furnished plenty of fun. In the soda drinking contest the dusty roadway got its first real sprinkling in weeks; in the human wheelbarrow race, wheels flattened out and bodies dragged; in the pig-back ride, "pigs" fell off and owners fled; while the paper rabbit on the pine tree got his appendix pinned all over his anatomy.

The games subsided with the auto guessing contest. Miss Eleanor Bardwell furnished paraphernalia and pep for the last three contests of the day. Rev. Rockwell Smith dispensed peanuts free gratis to young and old. Already well-loaded stomachs had to accommodate 1/8 bbl. of the roasted product.

By reason of the lateness of the hour the crowd, which probably numbered a couple of hundred at its height, began to scatter, some for a last boat ride, a last swim, or the ride home. It was a listless company that left. Youngsters in one truck were probably representative of all. They quietly (yes, that's the word) sat back on the benches on either side, meanwhile slowly sucking down that last lolly to moderate proportions, while their tired eyes seemed to long for home and mother.

Adams-Allen Wedding

Dark green of laurel and gladioli in exquisite spikes of yellow and white combined to form the beautiful setting for a home wedding which took place last week Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Adams of Brockton, when their daughter, Miss Lillian Tabor Adams, became the bride of Francis Samuel Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen of this town, the ceremony being witnessed by over 50 relatives and friends.

Guests were present from Springfield, Boston, Stoneham, Albany, Waltham, Quincy, New Bedford and this town.

The living room where the ceremony took place was beautifully arranged with laurel and gladioli, the alcove of the bay window forming a bridal bower, banked with laurel and ferns, with bouquets of the gladioli in tall crystal vases. The lights were shaded with sprays of laurel and bouquets of the flowers in the chosen colors were about the room. The stairway in the reception hall was twined with laurel and flowers were used effectively at the central points.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Adeline E. Tabor of Fairhaven, serving as bridesmaid, while the best man was M. Watson Bardwell of Albany, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Archibald, former pastor of the First Baptist church of that place, the double ring service being used. Miss Dorothy I. Pratt played the wedding march and also rendered appropriate music during the reception which followed the ceremony.

Miss Adams' gown was of satin-backed crepe in a tint of 'ivory, in period design, trimmed with lace, which was used on the bodice to drape the décolletage. She wore a

Lawn-Party at West-view

Westview, which once fluttered with the life of Belchertown's aristocracy in the days of Myron P. Walker, but which in these latter years has had a rather unobtrusive existence, turned over in its reverie last Wednesday night and beckoned the townsfolk to its bosom in friendly fashion.

It was all coincident with the lawn party put on under the auspices of the choir of the M. E. church, of which Mrs. Collis, the new hostess, is leader. Mrs. Collis very kindly opened the house to the public and all evening the guests strolled through the spacious halls and multitudinous rooms, admiring the finish and appointments and picturing the festivities of other days.

Meanwhile in the music room the pianist of the South Amherst orchestra was strumming modern tunes, while his colleagues, eight or nine in number, on the southwest porch, manipulated in synchronism to the enjoyment of the guests.

Patrons kept coming from 6 o'clock on. They lined up for the cafeteria supper and kept going back and back for this thing and that. Salads and beans, hot dogs, ice cream, apple pie, lemonade, etc., vied for popularity. There was watermelon, too. Most any time one could see on the landscape a healthy youngster with his nose buried deep in the juicy red.

There was color at the several booths, too, where purple, lavender, green and orange were twined with white.

The orchestra was the chief source of entertainment, (although the croquet set had a few devotees). There were selections by the full company and solo numbers in abundance—all happily rendered. Even after the crowd had gone, they kept at it.

Almost all the edibles went, too. It was a common sight to see homegoers with either a bunch of celery, a watermelon or a bevy of lemons held tightly in their embrace.

Mrs. Hazel Wunsch had charge of pies and ice cream; Mrs. H. C. Grindle, salads, beans and rolls; Mrs. Conkey, lemonade and coffee; Mrs. Matska, frankfurts and rolls, while Mrs. Collis was in general charge.

The proceeds will go towards the purchase of music and a blower.

Third Annual Silver Tea

Mrs. H. Morgan Ryther opened her new home on South Main street to the ladies of the Congregational church Wednesday afternoon when the Social Guild gave their third annual Silver Tea. Among the guests from out-of-town was Mrs. Maria D. S. Longley, whose gift of a silver service is used on these occasions.

A short program was rendered, consisting of a reading by Mrs. A. H. Bartlett, "My Children;" another reading by Mrs. Louise Sherman, "The Chemistry of Character" and a third by Mrs. J. D. Shuttleworth, "I'm Nobody." Mrs. H. F. Duncan, who announced the program, then called on Mrs. Longley for a few words. Mrs. Longley, who has lived most of her 89 years in Belchertown, said in part: "It is

Silver Wedding Anniversary

About 50 relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dwight Randall were entertained at their home in the Blue Meadow district Saturday evening in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The original ceremony was performed at the same home by Rev. James B. Adkins, pastor of the Congregational church at that time. The master of ceremonies on the 25th anniversary was the son of a Congregational clergyman, as he described himself, C. B. Case, who in happy fashion extended the felicitations of the occasion. Mrs. A. D. Moore gave an appropriate reading and Mrs. Fred Lincoln read a poem written by Rev. Charles H. Smith of Granby and intended for a similar party to have been held at their Granby home the preceding evening.

Many gifts were received, including a tray of silver and other silverware, besides money and gifts of use and beauty.

Refreshments were served which included a wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. W. A. Sauer of South Amherst.

Guests were present from Springfield, Holyoke, Amherst, Pelham, Weston, Hatfield, and Granby, the occasion being in some respects a reunion of the Blue Meadow neighbors, many of whom have sold their farms to the Metropolitan Water commission. Mr. and Mrs. Randall have also sold their place and purchased a farm in Granby, but still retain possession of their ancestral acres, which has been their home for all of their married life except for the first three years which were spent in Agawam.

This pleasant affair was the result of the plans of the two daughters, Misses Alice and Rachel Randall, the former a graduate of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture at M. A. C., and the latter employed at present at the Telephone Exchange at Enfield, and marks a milestone to be remembered in the lives of this prosperous and enterprising farmer and his wife.

Grange Notes

Union grange held its mid-summer meeting Tuesday night with the following program: Vocal solo, Miss Alberta Grindle; Current Events, Mrs. L. H. Blackmer; reading, "A Blowout," Mrs. Charles H. Sanford.

The grange picnic for the children will be held the 20th at Ain's Beach. Transportation will be provided. For further details, call Mrs. Sanford.

Granby Old Home Day will be held the 18th and everyone is invited to come. The speaker of the afternoon will be Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, whose address is scheduled for 2 p. m.

It was voted at this meeting to send the lecturer, Mrs. Sanford, to the lecturers' conference at Amherst next week.

Storm Does Damage

Reports still come in of the damage done by the thunder and hail storm of last week Thursday afternoon. The largest stones told of measured between four and five inches in circumference. One person picked up stones in a secluded spot the next day at noon. The damage was considerable in the south part of the town where crops, principally corn, were mutilated, windows blown in and roofing paper on farm buildings punctured. The roadside was strewn quite liberally in places with leaves and pine needles shorn from the trees.

Sermons in Song

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

A heart is such a tiny thing,
It holds a little bit;
And so that it may hold more joy
Our sorrows widen it.

A soul is such a tiny thing,
It is not very wide;
But grief can push the walls apart
Till God can come inside.

a joy to greet so many and recognize so many faces. When I sit by myself, I live in Belchertown. I walk up and down the streets and enter the homes and receive in thought the kindly greetings which you have given me today." She then added a word in recognition of what the church had done for her, what Christianity and the Bible had meant to her and the happiness she found in the Word.

Refreshments of sandwiches, tea and cake were served. Mrs. E. A. Randall and Mrs. F. C. Rolls poured. The servers were Mrs. F. E. Morris, Miss Nora Connors, Miss Esther Jackson and Miss Eleanor Bardwell. The committee in charge were Mrs. Dora Duncan, chairman, Mrs. J. V. Cook, Mrs. J. Howell Cook, Mrs. H. Morgan Ryther and Mrs. Fred Lincoln.

About 50 ladies were present. The silver offering was unusually large.

Death of

Mrs. Jennie Draper

Mrs. Jennie Draper, 77, widow of the late Jerome Draper, died at her home on State street yesterday morning at 11, after a long period of ill health. She had been confined to her bed since early spring.

Mrs. Draper was born in Wisconsin, but at the age of two years she came to this town where she has since lived. She was a sister of the late Lyman Hubbard and the house in which she died was the homestead of her father, the late George Hubbard. Her husband was a Civil War veteran. Mrs. Draper joined the newly formed Auxiliary early in the year, signing the constitution in bed. She leaves a son, George Draper of East Weymouth, and four grandchildren, George, Edward, John and Edna, besides several great grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery. Rev. Rockwell Smith will officiate.

Grange Notes

The Grange children's picnic will be held at Ain's Beach Tuesday, August 20. Transportation will be provided from Grange hall at 10.30. Those desiring to go, call Mrs. C. H. Sanford. Bring a basket lunch.

Old Home Day at Granby will be held August 18. Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, will be the speaker at 2 p. m.

Mrs. C. H. Sanford, Worthy Lecturer, is attending the lecturers' conference at Amherst this week.

All roads will lead to C. R. Green's today by reason of the Pomona Grange Field day which is to be held at his place.

At a recent meeting Union Grange contributed to the fund for the purchase of an automobile for Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, which was presented to him this week by the granges of the state.

Adding New Equipment

H. B. Ketchen is adding new equipment at his garage. Last week he installed a device to raise cars off the floor for the purpose of greasing and changing tires. This is operated by compressed air. A new 2-wheel brake testing apparatus has been ordered to replace an inferior machine which has been sold.

The most important addition, however, is a new chair-seat Graham Brothers bus that Mr. Ketchen has ordered and expects to drive to town shortly. This will be used on the Springfield line and will add prestige to his motor bus fleet.

Telegraphs New Record

Early Tuesday morning we received the following Western Union wire:

Rockwell Smith and Harold C. Booth"

Ever since Dr. A. E. Westwell ran 540 miles in 16 hours the Methodist parson has been itching to beat the average of about 33 miles per hour, so when he headed north last Monday with Harold Booth, he determined to invest in a telegram if there was the slightest occasion for it. He contemplated sending the wire to Dr. Westwell collect, but he feared reprisals.

Probably the latter is feverishly examining his records to see if per chance a 6 1/2 hours' segment of his trip yielded this new average, otherwise he will likely be heard droning around the common some quiet night.

As we told the parson, we'd hate to lose either a good dentist or a good dominie as a result of this friendly rivalry which started out as a matter of endurance.

Supply Sunday

Rev. W. R. Blackmer of Saxtons River, Vt. will have charge of the morning service at the Congregational church on Sunday. There will be no evening service.

Faith and Friendship Night

Some of us are better and some of us are worse, but we are all bad enough to know something about evil and temptation. "The Tempter" will be the subject at the Friday night service in the Methodist vestry at 7.30. Be there on time or you will miss something valuable to you and to us alike. Decide now to invest two and a half hours Friday evening in happiness. Bring your problems with you to this, your service of experimental religion.

The entertainment this week is in charge of Herbert Battles. Up to a late hour the exact nature of the entertainment was not disclosed. When interviewed by the press Mr. Battles would only say that everyone would have an opportunity to participate and to have a good time.

The game period at the faith and friendship service last week was in charge of Mrs. Dora Wesley and Miss Rachel Randall and took the form of an "automobile social." The events were the assembling of the car, putting the water in the radiator, filling the gas tank, and a blow-out. The two captains were George Booth and Herbert Battles, the latter being the one to conduct his side to victory.

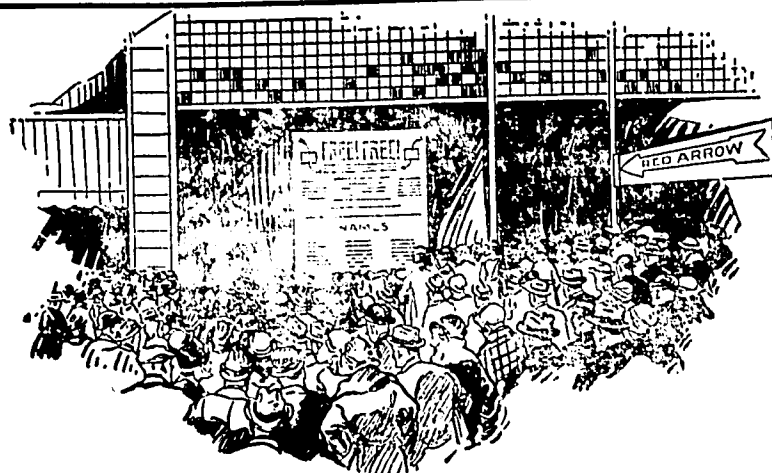

Free Cancer Clinics

Attention is called to the free cancer clinics being held regularly in Springfield. Anyone having a suspicion of this disease would do well to avail themselves of this privilege. We understand that in most cases of a skin nature, radium treatment effects complete cures.

Coming Events

The Home Department of the Congregational Sunday school will meet with Mrs. J. V. Cook next week Friday afternoon at 2.30.

The Ladies' Social Union of the M. E. church will hold their picnic on the 28th, the place to be announced later.

Local Committee Appointed

Strenuous efforts are being made to call attention to the free cancer clinics being held in Springfield. Recently Dr. Mary R. Lakeman of the Mass. Dept. of Public Health called in town in the interest of the movement, and Miss Marian E. Bardwell and Mrs. George E. McPherson have been appointed a committee to assist locally.

According to the state department of public health and the officials connected with the Western Massachusetts cancer committee it is the belief that the steady increase in the mortality from cancer is due to the fact that the public has not yet been awakened to the necessity for early diagnosis. Some 70 per cent of the cases are possible cures, these officials say, if the individual sees either the family physician or attends one of the state aided clinics at the first evidence of danger signals.

Immediate clinics are:
August 23rd Mercy Hospital
August 30th Springfield Hospital
September 6th Wesson Hospital at 4 p. m.

Each week thereafter in regular rotation.
At present many people are concealing early growths because they believe them to be incurable, and because they fear what they frequently regard as needlessly severe operations.

When people come to understand that certain forms of cancer are almost certainly curable; when they have been taught to recognize the early signs of these curable (because accessible) forms; then it can be said that cancer is being brought under control.

Death of Joseph David Boucher

Joseph David Boucher, 47, died of acute indigestion at his home on the Thayer place, Fletcher avenue, last week Thursday. He was born at Point Levis, Quebec, and 26 years ago married Ellen Bearder of Holyoke. Seventeen years of his married life Mr. Boucher spent at Fairview. The family moved here about two years ago. Mr. Boucher was a contractor, painter and paper hanger. His last contract was that of painting the blinds and trim at the Stone House, which lacked a day's work of completion.

Mr. Boucher leaves besides his widow, two brothers, Prexide Boucher of Aldenville and Victor Boucher of Holyoke, also a sister, Mrs. Armos Fleury of Holyoke.

The funeral was held at St. Francis church Saturday morning at 9. Burial was in Notre Dame cemetery, South Hadley. The bearers were the two brothers and James Bearder of Morgan Road, George White of South Hadley Falls, Edward Tracey of Fairview and Armos Boucher of Holyoke.

Pomona Grange Field Day

Hampshire county Pomona field day was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton R. Green of Turkey Hill last week Friday. There were sports in the morning and a basket lunch at noon, followed by an address by Charles M. Gardner, high priest of Demeter, who spoke in place of the national master, Mr. Taber, who was unable to be present on account of illness. Other speakers were Henry N. Jenks of Cheshire, worthy overseer of the state grange, and Berton T. Mowry of Raynham, past lecturer of the state grange.

A ball game between two mixed teams, carried over from the morning, was also a part of the afternoon's program, as a result of which one of the players, Mrs. C. H. Sanford, suffered a fractured rib, besides a cracked one, which occurred when a ball struck her as she was at bat. The program was arranged by the Pomona lecturer, Mrs. Edwin F. Shumway of this town.

About 150 were present, many coming from distant parts of the state, from New York and Connecticut. Some of the places represented were Fall River, Boston, New Bedford, Dartmouth, Dighton, Williamsburg, Indian River, Milford, Ct., Boston, Wachusett, Marlboro, Attleboro, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Dodge-Snow Wedding

A pretty home wedding took place last week Thursday afternoon when Darsa Mary Dodge, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Dodge of Federal street, and Houghton Cook Snow of this town were married at 3 at the home of the bride. Rev. Charles H. Smith of Granby officiated, using the double ring service.

The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of ferns and cat tails studded with pink geranium blossoms, with large pots of pink geraniums at the base on either side, and vases of gladioli and a large foliage plant for the background. The color scheme of the decorations for the whole house was pink and white.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Althea Dodge, as bride-maid, and the best man was Ellison Dodge. Donald Albert Towne, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer, and the wedding march was played by a cousin, Mrs. Donald Hawley of Amherst. The bride was gowned in white crepe and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. The bride-maid wore pink tulle and carried yellow and sunburst snapdragons.

About 30 guests were present from Amherst, Reading, Greenwich and Belchertown. Gifts were received of linen, glassware, electrical equipment and other articles of use and beauty to brighten the home. At the reception following the ceremony ice cream, cake, and punch were served, the center piece of the table being a bride's cake made by Mrs. Dodge.

Beautiful World

What a beautiful world in which we are permitted to live! When we contemplate nature we are more and more impressed with her beauty.

Most animals are beautiful. Perhaps we think of birds as among the most beautiful creatures. They have beauty of plumage, beauty of form and beauty of color. We marvel at the most wonderful mosaics and tapestries which man has made and yet they are commonplace in comparison with some of the most common of birds. What delicate shadings of color, what exquisite designs and movements of birds! Other animals are also beautiful. Probably we would call them all creatures of beauty did we not have inhibitions and prejudices. Prof. J. Arthur Thomson says: "All natural, free-loving, fully-formed, healthy living creatures, which we can contemplate without prejudice, are in their appropriate surroundings artistic harmonies, having that quality which we call beauty."

And what we have said of animals may also be said of flowers and plants, shrubs and trees. Perhaps we think of flowers as the most beautiful! Again, what an infinite variety of beautiful colors and perfumes! What is prettier than a flower garden? May we not say that there are no ugly plants? The thistle looks ugly to a farmer or a barefoot boy, and yet the artist calls it beautiful.

And what we have said of animals and flowers may also be said of landscapes. Who is not thrilled by the forests and the mountains, the lakes and the brooks, the valleys and the sea, the fleecy clouds and the star-lit heavens? And who ever painted anything prettier than a sunset?

This is a world of beauty and we should be glad.

We write three lines, then pause to ask:

Where is there such a weary task As writing verses? While outside Across the fields so rich and wide A farmer plows from seven to seven To make green farmlands rhyme with Heaven.

A New Type of Pet

Some people like dogs for pets and some, cats, but the fancy of few folks runs to skunks. However, that is the unique situation at the Howard Spencer home on John W. Jackson street. A little black and white fellow, full of untold possibilities, ambled on to the premises some three weeks ago and made friends with the household, which has taken it to their hearts. Now it is quite domesticated. It drinks milk like a cat, it eats out of one's hand and is just delighted to have its head scratched. It boasts of a modern bob tail, about three inches long, probably due to an experience in a trap.

Ruth, who is the boldest of the caretakers, leads it around by a string, and it responds to the reins admirably. Of course father had to fix up proper quarters, so it is comfortably housed.

But while everything has been going along harmoniously, some think it is a risky proposition, fearing the youngster will assert the right to rule. School will soon be starting and the children would hate to be absent for any unsavory reasons. But Thornton Burgess states that Jimmy Skunk is a gentleman and need not be feared.

Some day the leash will be cut, but at that, the animal may be thoroughly captivated by the civilized state and refuse to depart.

But the Spencer family thinks that its new home is located on a trunk line of the animal kingdom, for in their brief stay they've seen a coon going through the yard and also spotted a couple of cock pheasants. So it will be interesting to know the complexion of the next party that shows up on the premises.

Faith and Friendship Night

In the Friday evening services in the Methodist vestry we have been discussing the Lord's Prayer. This Friday evening we bring the series to a close with a discussion of the last phrase. The subject is "Victory." These prayer services are for you and we urge not only your attendance but your active participation. These are services of growth.

The entertainment period this week will be in charge of the Reverend Harold Suhm and his wife. They will bring us some mid-western fun. You will want to be there to give them a welcome and to enjoy the good time. They drove 1400 miles to be here. None of us will have to drive that far to the service, so let's all be there.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE

At the Sunday evening service at the Methodist church the Reverend Newell Booth of New Bedford will preach. His sermon will be on the subject: "What is your Christianity Worth?" Many of Mr. Booth's local friends have been eagerly waiting for a chance to hear him preach in one of our local pulpits. We look forward to a helpful service with him.

Muster and Anniversary

Camp 83, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, observed its first anniversary by a muster at Memorial hall Wednesday evening. About 150 were present, including large delegations from other camps and auxiliaries. The hall was decked with flags and bunting for the occasion. Nine new members were taken into the local camp, making the present membership 30. The degree team officiating at the ceremonies was the Past Department Commanders' association and made the trip from Boston for the occasion. J. V. Cook referred to the local organization as the "baby camp" that had grown "a pound a month". He expressed pride in the way Memorial Day was observed and thanked the guests for helping to paint the first milestone in such fine shape. State Dept. Com. White termed the Post one of the best in the state.

Four G. A. R. men occupied seats of honor on the platform: Henry Woods, S. W. Roode of Springfield, Sebastian Cabot of Enfield and John Sears of Greenfield. These were called upon for brief remarks. Other speakers were decorously called to the platform, but State Dept. Commander White punctured the wind bags with one stroke by moving that by reason of the lateness of the hour, speechmaking be dispensed with and that the social hour and dancing proceed. Music was furnished by Hamilton's orchestra. Refreshments were served by the local auxiliary. A birthday cake with a large candle was contributed by Mrs. S. W. Roode.

Features of the evening were the presentation of a silk marching flag to Camp 83 by the auxiliary and a drill put on by the Springfield auxiliary. State department officials were much in evidence at the ceremonies. Among the other camps represented were Greenfield, Barre, Agawam, Amherst, Northampton, Easthampton, Holyoke and Springfield. E. O. Stebbins was chairman of the committee in charge of the evening's program.

Atwood-Booth Wedding

Miss Carrie Atwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Atwood of John W. Jackson street, and George Booth, son of Mrs. Charles E. Booth of Chauncey Walker street, were married at the Methodist church at 1 p. m. on Sunday. Rev. Newell S. Booth of New Bedford, brother of the groom, performed the ceremony, using the double ring service. He was assisted by Rev. Rockwell Smith, pastor of the church. The bride was given away by her father. The couple were attended by Miss Edith Atwood, sister of the bride, serving as bridesmaid, while the best man was Harold Booth, brother of the groom.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine with veil and carried bride roses. The bridesmaid wore blue, hand-embroidered silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She wore a white gold pendant, the gift of the bride. The groom's gift to the best man was a bill fold.

The wedding march was played by Miss Irene Matska, organist of the church, who was also accompanist for the solos, "I Love You Truly," by Mrs. Bert Collis, and "O Promise Me," by Rev. Harold D. Suhm of Westfield, Ill.

The church was decorated with a profusion of gladioli, the ceremony taking place beneath an arch of hemlock with gladioli at the base on either side. The audience room was well filled, friends and relatives being present from Amherst, Hudson, New York, Springfield, New Bedford, Westfield, Ill., and Belchertown.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Booth received their education in the local schools and are popular among the young people and are workers in the church and its organizations. The bridal couple will take two weeks for a camping trip, after which they will make their home with Mr. Booth's mother on Chauncey Walker street where Mr. Booth is associated with his brother in carrying on a large farm and poultry plant.

Pelham's 13th Old Home Day will be held September 14th.

36th Bennett Reunion

TURKEY HILL NEWS

The 36th annual reunion of the Bennett family was held yesterday at The Orchards, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Newman and the former home of other Bennett families, Jenks Bennett and Sumner Knight.

After a program of games and sports, the executive committee held a meeting. It was voted to hold the meeting next year the third Wednesday in August at Fruitlands, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Green. Miss Bessie Graves of Ludlow was elected Historical Secretary to succeed the late Lewis Bennett who had held that office for many years.

Seeing America First

James Aldrich, son of C. R. Aldrich, and a pal of his are certainly seeing America first. They left this region by motor the first of May, ran through to Ohio where they found a job on a farm for a couple of months, and are now on their way to the wild and woolly west.

The following excerpts from several letters to H. F. Peck, one written at the farm and two en route, furnish illuminating pictures of their trip.

Chagrin Falls, Ohio
We attended a Guernsey sale at Wooster this month and as it was a seventy-five mile drive down we had a good chance to see a little more of Ohio. The section between Akron and Wooster is the best from an agricultural viewpoint that we have yet seen. Plenty of wheat, corn and hogs and fields of clover that would make your mouth water.

Omaha, Nebraska
August 13, 1929

We have come a total of 75 miles off our course in order to visit the Omaha stock yards, which are the second largest in the world, being outranked only by Chicago. Went through the Armour packing plant and saw beef, sheep and hogs go through every process from the time they were unloaded from the car until they were ready to be sold over the counter to retail trade.

In Chicago we also visited the stock yards, went up into the Tribune tower, 38 stories high, went through the Field museum, and also through the printing plant that Ed Gay works in—it is the largest in the world.

Sioux City was a Jonah. Everyone drives to suit himself and consequently we got hit in the rear. I was stopped for a red light but the fellow in back did not want to stop. No serious damage was done.

We are averaging 240-285 miles a day over these dirt roads—no more paved roads from here to the coast. I never knew that there was so much corn, oats, wheat, and clover in the world as we have seen since last Saturday. The prairies of Iowa and Illinois are beautiful.

We hope to see the Yellowstone by next Sunday or Monday. We are nearly half way to the coast tonight, but travel will be slower from here on, due to mountains and poorer roads.

Any town out here they call a city, some of only 1,200-2,000 population being included. The smallest place yet is Pingree, Ohio, with a population of 151. This fact was proudly displayed on the sign of the town limits.

Look over the automobile industry, try to figure out how many of the well-known makes have disappeared. Now here is the other side of the picture. Those cars that were manufactured from the standpoint of quality, like Packard, are still going strong. Packard was a leader in the early days. It is a leader today. Steady growth based on careful manufacture and a policy of permanence is the story. Certainly an advantage to Packard owners and dealers. And that will be the story of

Ladies' Social Union Picnic

Those who attended the Ladies' Social Union picnic at the home of Mrs. Matska Wednesday afternoon brought back reports of the best time ever. There were various contests of wit and skill and knowledge, with many humorous situations developing therefrom. There was the contest in naming flowers, in guessing the number of beans in a bottle, in tearing paper to make a picture, in answering questions showing one's power of observation, or lack of observation, perhaps, as the highest score in this contest was only a little over 40 per cent.

Those winning prizes were Mrs. J. J. Kempkes, Mrs. Amy Witt, Mrs. E. F. Shumway, Mrs. R. A. French, Mrs. Jennie Chamberlain and Mrs. Lillian Kelley.

The picnic lunch consisted of sandwiches, coffee, root beer, cake, and ice cream. The committee in charge was Mrs. Iva Gay, Mrs. Jos. Kempkes and Mrs. R. A. French.

One of the pleasures of the day was a visit to the beautiful flower garden of Mr. Matska who is connected with the M. A. C. greenhouses.

Grange Notes

There were six tables in play at the card party Friday evening under the auspices of the Home Economics committee of Union grange. The high scorers were Harry and Raymond Moore of Ludlow and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sanford. Refreshments of cakes and lemonade were served. The proceeds will be given to the fund being raised to furnish the practice house at M. A. C. The committee in charge were Mrs. Julia Ward, Mrs. Leila S. Curtis and Mrs. Julia Shumway.

The grange meeting next Tuesday evening will be in charge of the Home Economics committee. There will be a roll call to which members are asked to respond with an account of their most unusual vacation experience. Applications for membership must be in at this meeting.

Faith and Friendship Night

The Faith and Friendship hour at the Methodist church Friday night was attended by about 65. The social hour following the devotional service was in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Harold D. Suhm. The young people were divided into four groups under the following leaders: William French, Harold Booth, Rev. Rockwell Smith and Mrs. Hazel Wunsch. Among the contests put on was the impromptu staging of a Bible scene by each group, "The Temptation," "The Prodigal Son," "Daniel in the Lions' Den," and "The Queen of Sheba Before Solomon." The evening closed with song and prayer.

There will be no meeting at the vestry tonight on account of the camp meetings at Laurel Park.

Paine-Allen Wedding

Miss Alice Sylvia Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred K. Paine of Paine Avenue, Ludlow, became the bride of Arthur Leroy Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Allen of South Washington street, Belchertown, on Saturday evening at 7.30 at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. William Orsborne, pastor of the M. E. church of East-hampton, performed the ceremony, using the double ring service. The bridal march and chorus were played by Mrs. Albert Paine.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Olive Paine of Springfield, while Arthur Smith of Springfield was best man. The bride was attired in a white georgette gown trimmed with pearls and her white lace veil, studded with pearls, was caught in bonnet effect with orange blossoms. She carried white, asters and sweetheart roses. The bride-maid wore a yellow chiffon dress with lace trimmings and hat in harmony, and carried pink asters.

Matches Wits with Sir Reynard

2 o'clock last Saturday morning was the zero hour at the Holland farm. It was then that out of the quiet night a shot gun banged and a cunning fox met his match at the hands of he knew not who or what. Just 21 hours before he had entered the Holland poultry house, bit ten turkeys dead, crippled a few others and had gotten home safely even though Mr. Holland had had a clean shot at him, but had failed because in his haste he had grabbed the wrong shell.

This time however it was different. Verily it was a case of—This is the string that sprung the rat trap that pulled the trigger of a shot gun that was aimed at the innocent string that was in the aperture to the yard that it was thought the fox used for his raids.

The house had been closed tight but a crippled turkey was tied out for bait. The fox evidently did not enter by his appointed route, for he disposed of the turkey, but he did choose to take it on his way out, much to his sorrow.

The credit for the contraption goes to Hudson Holland who put in a full day thinking it up and rigging it up, wiring down the gun and making the connections. So sure was he of the affair that he didn't even take a test shot. He sighted it painstakingly, got the trigger to working and went to bed expectantly. And the looked-for happened at 2 a. m. The farm folks were in a flurry for a few minutes and "Huddle" has been a hero ever since. The only drawback is that Edison has already named his protege.

present. Colored lanterns formed an entrance aisle banked with cut flowers, and ferns opened the entrance to the lawn. The parents of the couple assisted in receiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen left late Saturday night for a two weeks' motor trip which will carry them through the eastern states, following which they will be at home in Red Bridge.

Mrs. Allen was born in Ludlow and graduated from the Ludlow High school with the class of 1919. She has been a teacher in the Ludlow schools. Seeing America First

Yellowstone
August 23, 1929

The trip from Omaha to the Wyoming line was terrible. Heat, sand, stones and holes are a few of the things we came in contact with. Blew out a good tire and broke a front spring. When we got into Wyoming we found rough roads but they had the one redeeming feature of being hard.

Our experience thus far has convinced us that any tourists planning a coast to coast trip had better be resigned to days of travelling over roads that no easterner would drive a logging team over.

I have absolutely no use for Nebraska, but although Wyoming has thousands of miles of waste regions, it is that sort of wild waste that appeals to us.

Another thing we are learning is that Yellowstone park is no place for a model T Ford. The roads are either straight up or straight down, and to lose control of a car for a fraction of a minute would mean a terrible accident. We burned all the bands out yesterday and plenty of big cars are having the same trouble.

But it is a sight that no one should miss. The wonders and their variety cannot be duplicated anywhere in the world; the park alone is larger than the country of Denmark, and contains some 870 miles of trails and 370 miles of roads accessible by auto.

Prices here are very high. Gas is .32, oil .31 to .46, mechanic's labor $2.00 per hour, towing service $1.00 a mile and $1.50 per hour additional for labor charge. But if a person camps out as we do, it need not be beyond the means of any person.

When I came back from getting water this morning, found a big she bear standing upright on our running board. Her head and shoulders protruded through the window. You bet I was not long in getting her off the car. They are a real nuisance sometimes, having no fear of humans.

Night before last a party next to us set up their wall tent about 60 feet from where they parked the car, and sometime during the night a bear climbed up the hood on to the top, which broke with him and let him down into the car, where he proceeded to help himself to everything, and finished the evening by going out the rear window.

We shall spend at least one more day here and probably two, then go on to Spokane. I am not quite sure that we shall use the car all the way. If someone wants to swap gold dollars for Ford parts, we will finish by train. The distance to Spokane is only 571 miles by shortest route so carfare is less than gas, oil and tires.

We had already decided to sell the car on the coast and return by bus. Arizona deserts are no place for an old car.

No person is allowed to take away any flowers, stones, pebbles, antlers or any other object in the park. When a person approaches the exit by car he is halted and examination made to see that he is carrying nothing away. They have a cabin built entirely of antlers that have been taken away from people at the exit.

It is useless to attempt the least description of the scenic beauty here.

Sincerely,
James Aldrich

GONE FORGOTTEN

Look over the automobile industry, try to figure out how many of the well-known makes have disappeared. Now here is the other side of the picture. Those cars that were manufactured from the standpoint of quality, like Packard, are still going strong. Packard was a leader in the early days. It is a leader today. Steady growth based on careful manufacture and a policy of permanence is the story. Certainly an advantage to Packard owners and dealers. And that will be the story of

Faith and Friendship Night

The usual Faith and Friendship night will be held Friday evening at 7.30 in the Methodist vestry. Let us all come out and make this return to our Friday night services a happy one. The pastor will give a review of some of the services at Laurel Park last week. You will want to learn what was done at these meetings which set the spiritual tone of our district for another year.

The good time period will likewise be reminiscent of the Institute. The Leaguers who spent the week at Laurel Park have brought their good times back with them. Come out and help us start the fall season with new vim and enthusiasm. You are welcome and wanted.

The Mania Spreads

This auto endurance record mania simply will not down. For some unknown reason it is largely confined to the professional class. When Rev. Harold Suhm was on from Illinois for the wedding of his brother-in-law, George Booth, of this town, he caught the bug and on his return sent word that he covered the 1,300 miles in 50 driving hours, or 26 miles per hour—and that in an old Ford with no allowance for time in taking on gas and oil. It must have been a hectic ride.

Home from Bohemia

Belchertown looked good to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Zitka who returned to their home here last Friday after a summer spent in Bohemia, their native country. They were happy to find that they could disembark at Boston, thus avoiding the trip to New York. On their arrival at the Hub, a train left shortly for Palmer and a taxi enabled them to quickly finish the trip.

The journey each way consumed about 12 days. Mr. and Mrs. Zitka renewed many old acquaintances in the land of their birth, and did considerable sight seeing. In fact the latter was the chief expense. Many changes had taken place in the country—one city had grown beyond all recognition, and they came away heartsick.

Several scenic spots were visited, as an array of post cards they brought home shows. Mr. Zitka says that Bohemia is especially appealing by reason of its scenery and climate. A good share of the houses are built of stone, the walls being exceptionally thick. There are no cellars by reason of the wet soil, and the houses are damp as it is. The hillsides of Bohemia are of clay and therefore very productive. Cyclonic storms of great proportions cut swaths in the woodland on the fringes of the country the first of July.

The travelers visited Poland, where it is sparsely settled and where they dared not divulge they were from America, fearing they would be relieved of their funds in high-handed fashion.

Mr. Zitka has a sister in Bolshevik Russia but did not visit her by reason of conditions there. Mr. Zitka characterizes this new movement as very impracticable.

The countries visited were more prosperous than in previous years.

Automobiles are much in evidence but bicycles are the accepted mode of transportation. It is a favorite conveyance of workmen going to and from work. Towards the close of his stay Mr. Zitka bought one of these vehicles himself to finish up sight seeing.

He says that he saw only six drunks while across, three in Bohemia and three in Poland, and this in view of the fact that everybody drinks beer which is around 15 per cent. Refreshments of beer and food are obtainable at almost every house.

Mr. Zitka got busy on his farm shortly after his arrival home. The very next day he started drilling a well. He says that in Bohemia no modern water systems are in use. The women still draw water from the streams in the valleys, while the men smoke their pipes. His comment was that if the men had the task on their hands, they'd soon find a better way.

The couple brought home a wealth of memories which cannot all be told at one sitting, but after all is said, there's a sparkle in the eyes of these far-flung travelers at the mention of home, sweet home.

Shaw-Butler Wedding

Miss Edith Lillian Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron A. Shaw, and Kenneth J. Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland J. Butler of Richmond, Mass., were married at the home of the bride yesterday afternoon at 4, Rev. F. C. Rolls officiating. The single ring service was used.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Bertram E. Shaw as matron of honor, while the best man was Frank R. Shaw, brother of the bride. The wedding warch was played by Mrs. William E. Shaw.

The bride was attired in brown satin-faced crepe trimmed with ecru lace and carried yellow rose-buds. The matron of honor wore a dress of brown velvet and carried pink rose-buds.

The house was decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Gifts included furniture, money, linen, cut glass and electrical equipment. Only immediate relatives attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler will take a short wedding trip through New York. The bride's going away costume was of brown with hat to match.

The bride was a graduate of B. H. S., attended North Adams Normal school and taught in the Richmond schools. The groom attended the Berkshire Business college at Pittsfield, where he is employed.

Annual Chicken Pie Supper

The annual chicken supper of the M. E. church was held Wednesday evening and was attended by about 140, many of them coming from out of town. A tempting menu, prepared with the best of culinary skill, was served expertly, while the tables were attractive with their vases of gladioli and their bowls of pears and grapes. It was a supper to dream about, and alone was worth the price asked for the whole evening's program, while those who waited for the play felt that they had their money's worth right there.

And in addition to the supper and the play there was another hour's entertainment in between which was not on the original program. While waiting for one of the actors, who, it was reported, was stuck in the mud some 13 miles from home, the audience began singing under the leadership of Mr. Smith of Greenfield. They sang the hymn book almost through and then began over again.

They wore out the first pianist, a second was pressed into service, and for the finale a third one was necessary. There were solos and duets and varied chorus numbers. Some one called for, "Why do you wait, dear brother," and finally the "dear brother" arrived, although the audience had found the long wait a pleasant one.

The play was inimitable. Poor Prof. Wise in his matrimonial entanglements deserved some sympathy, but the more terrible his condition, the greater the uproar from the audience. Later he sailed into calm waters and of course, at the end, everything was perfectly fine. All the parts were well taken and carried through exceptionally well when it is known that this two-hour play of three acts had only a week's preparation. The cast is as follows: John B. Wise, a professor, Rev. Rockwell Smith; Dr. Matthew Graham, a country physician, Wallace Matska; Billy Blake, a popular college boy, William French; Jupiter Jackson, a back trump, Mrs. H. C. Grindle; Mrs. Iona Ford, some mother-in-law, Mrs. Matska; Zoie,

Confirmation Class

A confirmation service will be held at St. Francis church next Wednesday evening at 7. Rt. Rev. Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary will officiate, assisted by visiting priests. It is expected that the choir from the monastery at Granby will sing and that Father John Griffin of Sacred Heart church, Springfield, a son of Belchertown, will preach the sermon. There will be about 30 in the confirmation class.

This service, like all others at St. Francis, is open to the public.

Adjourned Again

Evidently some excitement has got to be injected into these special town meetings to get folks out. The adjourned meeting Tuesday evening at 7.30 still lacked a quorum (50) and was adjourned till 8 o'clock, then till 8.30, and then till tonight at 8. It is suggested that a new number be added to the fire alarm code:

Riley-Randolph Wedding

A very pretty wedding took place August 31st in the Union Methodist Episcopal church of Fall River, when Miss Evelyn M. Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Riley, was united in marriage to Herbert A. Randolph, son of Mrs. Etta B. Randolph. The service was performed by Rev. Albert D. Parker, in a church beautifully decorated with gladioli and roses, and the single ring service was used.

The bride entered on the arm of her father and was given in marriage by him. Attending the bride were Miss Charlotte A. Wood as maid of honor and the Misses Marjorie Clark and Dorothy Sheppard as bridesmaids. The bridegroom was attended by his cousin, Harold Hazen, as best man, and Elliot Riley and Charles Davis were ushers.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and point d'esprit made with uneven hemline and large bertha collar. She wore white satin slippers with rhinestone buckles and

Poetry, Philosophy, Reason and Peace

The cause of peace is no longer marking time. The ranks of those who love it and hate war are being recruited more rapidly than ever before.

We are condemning the waste of power and wealth, not to mention precious human life, in the equipments and pursuit of war.

"Three days of mob hysteria can at any time undo peace habits of a hundred years; and the only permanent safeguard against irrational explosions of the fighting instinct is absence of armament and opportunity."

Poetry and philosophy agree in their view of war. There is, in fact, a new vision and a new philosophy, or mind, emerging regarding the evil of war that show an encouraging advance of the cause of peace.

Cause for joy it is, that forward-looking statesmen are seeking in common sense ways to realize the prophets' and poets' high ideals of peace. Blessed are these peace makers. They are the children of God.

Knowledge in religion has always been a dubious affair at best. We have done more talking than thinking. We have called our Friday evening services "laboratories of religion". This Friday evening at 7.30 in the Methodist vestry we will investigate our personal religious beliefs. A questionnaire adapted by William French from one used at M. A. C. and other colleges will be presented and you will have a chance to show what you believe.

The usual game period will be enjoyed. Come and experience the democracy of fun. Learn to play again if you have forgotten. Get acquainted all over again with your friends and neighbors.

Seeing America First

Extracts from Letters Written by James Aldrich

Y. M. C. A., Spokane Aug. 27, 1929

Here we are in the state of Washington and expect to strike out for Walla Walla tomorrow. We sold the car in Gardiner just outside of the Yellowstone park. We are going to look for work as we go through Walla Walla valley picking fruit. Both of us are feeling great. We are seeing some real mountain country and tall timber.

We find board very cheap here; for example this noon I had three slices of raisin bread and four of white bread, butter, coffee, three thick slices of corn meal mush fried, peas, and bread pudding, all for 30 cents.

Walla Walla Aug. 28, 1929

Our first day of bumming rides turned out 100 per cent. We have gone 185 miles today and walked less than five miles of that distance. We had to split up on this trip. I bought the fellow who carried me, 1 quart of oil for 25 cents, and that is all it cost me for the 185 miles. Bill caught a ride an hour later and he spent 40 cents for a milk shake for himself and the other fellow.

Tomorrow we go out into this Walla Walla valley to look for a job "picking prunes." They pay 10c a box, and if we can just make our room and board to start with, we will be satisfied. So the next time you eat prunes, think of us.

The Walla Walla valley is the best fruit and wheat section in the world.

Here's another incident that took place in the Yellowstone park. The car was laid up for repairs, but Bill likes to walk and wanted to walk 20 miles to see the famous geysers. I told him I would stay with the car and camp goods, so we fixed him up a roll containing two blankets, a rain coat, a set of eating utensils, and food enough for three meals as he expected the return trip would take a day (he already had the promise of a ride one way). Well, he left at 9 a. m. Tuesday and rode to the geysers. He spent the rest of the day around there and at night made a bed of pine boughs, rolled up in blankets and retired. Sometime about midnight he felt a jerk on the strap which was attached to the haversack, and of course not wanting to lose his food he yanked right back and then he heard a growl and a bear stood upright over him.

As bill says, "I let go of that strap mighty quick and the bear walked off with everything including a diary we had been keeping, a "love letter" to Bill's girl and all the eating utensils. So poor Bill walked back 20 miles on an empty stomach, and did it in 9 hours. You bet he was hungry when he hove in. We did not care so much about losing the eats etc., but hated to lose that diary.

Another time we saw a great old scrap between a black bear and a young grizzly over which one should have first chance at a bath in the pool. It finally took a ranger, his helper, and a stream of cold water from a hose to separate them, but not before both bears had lost a lot of hide and hair, and the ranger a good pair of trousers.

Dies in Malden

Word has been received of the death of Rev. Harry Porter Rankin, 70, at the Syracuse hospital after a brief illness of heart trouble. The funeral was held Tuesday at Malden where he had made his home since his retirement in 1925. The body was cremated.

Mr. Rankin was born in Ohio and graduated from Ohio Wesleyan and Boston University. He was pastor of the local Methodist and Congregational churches during their Federation in the years 1919, 1920 and 1921, and was a welcome friend in many homes in town. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He leaves no near relatives.

Grange Notes

The program at the regular meeting of Union grange Tuesday evening was presented by the Girl Scouts with the assistance of their captain, Mrs. G. E. McPherson, and their lieutenant, Mrs. F. E. Farrington. The girls demonstrated some of their work, including the opening and closing exercises of the troop meetings, and also repeated the playlet, "I told you so," given at the Girl Scout rally last April.

Union grange was organized 55 years ago last Wednesday and in recognition of this anniversary a bouquet of cut flowers was presented to Mrs. Sarah Dunbar, the only surviving charter member. Mrs. Dunbar is also entitled to one of the jewels which it is the privilege of the state master to present in person to any one who has been a member of the same grange continuously for at least 50 years. The master of the local grange has put in an application for one of these jewels, which is of gold of heavy design, and which will be presented to Mrs. Dunbar at a later meeting.

Confirmation Class

An impressive confirmation service was held at St. Francis church, Wednesday evening, when Rt. Rev. Thomas M. O'Leary, D. D., Bishop of Springfield, confirmed 17 boys and 30 girls. The bishop was assisted by Rev. Dr. Thomas Cummings of St. Mary's, Northampton, and Rev. Patrick Doyle of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Easthampton. The celebrant was Rev. James A. Dunphy of Brookfield, formerly of Belchertown, who was assisted by Fr. Arthur Sheedy of St. Bridget's church, Amherst, and Rev. James McGrath of St. Bartholomew's, Bondsville.

Visiting priests were Rev. James Mitchell of South Hadley Falls, Rev. E. Alfred Lane and Rev. Bernard Carrigan, both of Northampton, Rev. Fr. Waburton of Amherst and Rev. Cornelius Donahue of Hatfield.

Rev. Fr. Isadore of the monastery at Granby was master of ceremonies. Other priests present from the monastery were Rev. Fr. Giles and Rev. Fr. George. The singing by the choir of about 20 voices, from the monastery was an outstanding feature of the service. "Ecce Sacerdos" was sung as the procession filed in.

The sermon was preached by Rev. John Griffin of Sacred Heart church, Springfield, formerly of this town, who spoke of the reality of the spirit life, the importance of things unseen, the place of symbolism in the church, and related the present confirmation to the original coming of the spirit.

In confirming the young people, Bishop O'Leary spoke of them as being mustered in the "grandest and greatest army in the world" and the need for watchfulness in meeting the temptations sure to await them.

At the request of Rev. L. T. Rock, pastor of St. Francis, he asked the class to take the pledge of total abstinence until they are 21 and to promise to attend the catechism classes held regularly by the local church. He said that the first pledge is needed in spite of the prohibition law, and in connection with the latter, pled for an "intelligent" soldiery in life's crusade.

The services concluded with the Solemn Benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hanifan were sponsors at the service, and the ushers were James Garvey and Eugene Flaherty.

Chicken Supper

Next week Wednesday evening comes the annual chicken supper under the auspices of St. Francis church. The supper will be held at grange hall from 6 to 8 and an entertainment will follow. Parties from other towns are expected.

1,330-Mile Trip

When H. B. Ketchen and his party of seven drove into town last Friday night, they brought home a spiffy new, 19-seat chair bus for use on the Belchertown Motor Coach lines, and they also brought with them a whole car load of memories which will require considerable time to efface. "H. B." has not yet unloaded all the superlatives—"Biggest," "best," "longest," "finest," still figure in his vocabulary as he shows a bushel of post cards and tells of this trip to bring home the bus from Evansville, Ind.

For, like many children we've heard of, they didn't come straight home. They played along the way and stopped at every pair of bars, if they felt so inclined.

They left Evansville a week ago Thursday morning, went through Indianapolis, took in the Indiana state fair—"twice as big as the Eastern States", and stopped at Terra Haute to see if the big town still survives without J. V. Cook.

By Saturday afternoon they had reached the suburbs of Dayton, O., where Arthur Ward and family are located. Upon informing Mrs. Ward of their whereabouts, she dashed out to meet them, and from what we can gather, for a few minutes it was a case of all hands around.

Anyway "H. B." and his party had to surrender on the spot. They had to be shown the city with all its sights, especially the National Cash Register works and the big Frigid-

Faith and Friendship Night

The question period on "What Do You Believe?" postponed from last Friday evening, will be the feature at the Faith and Friendship night at the Methodist Church vestry this week. A frequent inventory of our intellectual stores is necessary to the progressive mind. It is hoped that a good number will attend this service in order that the figures compiled from the answers may have value as showing an average. Attend this service.

The entertainment and game period this week is in charge of Mrs. French. No definite announcement of program has been made as yet, but you may be sure that the regular tradition of a good time will be carried out. Come back to the Fall program with enthusiasm. Be happy with us.

Walla Walla
Sept. 10, 1929

Possibly it may be of interest to some of the fruit growers around town to learn briefly a few of the experiences we have come up against in our work with fruit, in and around Walla Walla.

Our first job was that of picking prunes, for ten cents a bushel box. Greenhorns that we were we believed ourselves capable of earning four or five dollars each per day. Well, we earned that amount without doubt, but all we found in our pay envelope was three dollars. It takes an experienced picker to turn out forty boxes in ten hours in fair to good picking. Experienced pickers always prefer small trees, and an orchard that has been kept well pruned.

Prunes are gathered when they are quite green, picked without stems, placed in wooden bushel boxes, hauled to the packing house, sorted, graded and put up in 16 lb. boxes for shipment. The over-ripe fruit and also the better grade of culls are sent to the drier.

The market this year is not of the best, due to over production, and quite a quantity of second grade fruit, but I suppose people in Belchertown will pay about the usual price by the time they receive Walla Walla prunes.

The trade name "Italian" and a bright red "V" which signifies "Valley Growers," appear on all boxes of prunes that come from this valley. If people back home had been educated to purchase only this brand of prunes, Bill and I might have made better wages picking them. The prune harvest begins about Aug. 10 and lasts two weeks or more. Probably we have seen fully as many women and children engaged in this task as men. Whole families often camp right in the orchards and work from dawn till dusk.

Now a word about the apple harvest. The particular orchard in which we are now working comprises some 640 acres of such varieties as Jonathan, Rome Beauty, Delicious, Winesap and a very few Northern Spy. We are picking Jonathans now, and with a crew of 125 pickers the estimated time to gather the crop will be about two weeks.

Men are divided into groups of 12, each group headed by a picking foreman whose duty it is to keep everyone busy (our foreman is particularly good at this), he also watches closely to see that each tree is picked clean, keeps boxes ready at all times in convenient locations, is responsible for quality of fruit that his men pick and acts as time keeper as well.

We are "color picking" now, that is, only such Jonathans as show 25 per cent. or more bright red color, are gathered—the others are left to color up; then we go back over the same trees and clean everything.

Only occasionally is a person allowed to climb about in the tree to gather apples; all fruit is handled with great care and it is almost a criminal offence to break even the smallest of limbs with the ladder or to knock off unripe fruit. Work starts at 6.30 a. m. and ends at 5.30 p. m., and here again $3 a day is the wage. You will note that wages here are much less than is true of a great many of the Eastern states, but living is much cheaper. We have boarded for about 70c each per day and have had a great plenty and a very good variety.

In the Yakima, Wenatcher and Hood River sections of Washington most of the growers pay 4—5c per box for apple picking; in such cases no attention is paid to color, though very small apples and unsound ones are discriminated against severely.

Alfalfa and buckwheat, sown together, is a very popular cover crop in these orchards. The soil is rather light, but of a different consistency than our New England sands or sandy loam.

Most of the orchards are irrigated, and when this soil becomes wet it is comparable to Wyoming "gumbo," being very sticky and exceedingly hard to walk through. I can testify from personal experience to the truth of the above statement as I accidentally fell into one of these irrigation ditches.

The construction of the irrigation ditches is quite simple. Every orchard is higher at one end than at the other, and at this higher point a ditch about two feet in width and two and a half feet in depth is dug across the entire length of the orchard. From this main ditch we find smaller ones leading down either side of the rows of trees; the main ditch is filled to overflowing and the water flows down these "avenue ditches" and accomplishes its work.

Fruit growers can use irrigation water only as prescribed by the state, unless they have their own pumping stations. Even the simplest of irrigation methods proves quite costly, and most farmers use them only as a last resort.

Another point which surprised us is the fact that all fruit and trees

Our foreman told us that in the Rome Beauty block the average production per tree last year was twenty-seven bushels, all marketable fruit. He estimates the same yield for this season.

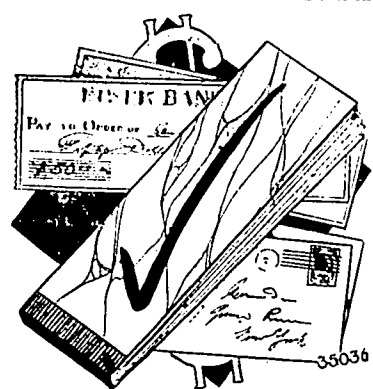

I am not a fruit grower in any sense of the word, but it certainly has been a worth while experience to learn even this little about Walla Walla's good fruit.

aire factory. Here's where they tanked up with some of their superlatives which they're still dispensing.

And they had to stay overnight, too, and take breakfast—there was no other way. "H. B.'s" mouth still waters and his nostrils inflate as he tells about the griddlecake-laden atmosphere they were greeted with on that Sunday morning. And he swears there were at least 150.

The Wards saw them on their way and they passed over rolling plains and later a continuous succession of hills and valleys that reminded one of a roller coaster layout. They passed through the smoky coal regions of Pennsylvania and finally reached Washington, D. C. Here they hired a guide and saw the places of interest. They also took in Mt. Vernon and the battlefield of Gettysburg. Heading for home they passed through Philadelphia and New York, going through the Holland tunnel at the latter city. Of course the next big stop on the 1,330 mile trip was Belchertown, which they reached on the evening of the eighth day.

Part of the time they put up at night at hotels and at other times at homes where tourist accommodations were offered. The edibles they had on their trip and their cheapness bulk large in the party's memory. "H. B." tells some big melon stories and tries to make folks believe he had all he could do to mow away a fifth of a five-cent melon. But when it comes to estimating, they've surely got to hand it to this young gentleman, for when he saw the human outfit he had on his hands to take with him, and pondered their size and capacity, he guessed within $2 a head of what it actually cost. So not only was it the "best" trip, but it didn't bust anybody.

The men's club of the Congregational church were the guests of the president, H. F. Peck, on Monday evening, the regular monthly meeting night. The men made merry, toppling the pins on the porch, pitching horse shoes in the roadway, playing croquet beneath the electric light bulbs, and volleying the ball over the swing frame. This warmed the folks up for the business meeting that followed, when it was voted to sponsor a musical entertainment which the choir of the church at Enfield would repeat here upon request. A committee was appointed to have charge of this affair, consisting of Fred Buss, H. Morgan Ryther and H. F. Peck. It was voted to hold a Halloween meeting in October at Whiton's pavilion and to invite the ladies. The committee in charge are F. N. Whiton, Roy Shaw, Harry Sessions, J. Death of Mrs. Eunice Bardwell

Mrs. Eunice Bardwell, 79, died Monday night at her home on North Main street after a short illness. She was the widow of Albert Bardwell who died some years ago. She was a member of the Methodist church for many years.

The funeral was held at the vestry of the church yesterday afternoon at 2, Rev. Rockwell Smith officiating. The bearers were four nephews, Leroy, William, Robert and Dana Bardwell. Burial was at Mt. Hope cemetery.

St. Francis Chicken Supper

A chicken supper under the auspices of St. Francis church was held at Grange hall Wednesday evening, but one would have thought the Annual Fair was taking place, from the jam. By 6.30 Park Street was lined with cars on both sides as far north as the old town hall. It seemed as though, before the last chicken had been killed, the hungry ones began to swarm. Some 75 from Holyoke were on deck long before 6.

The first tablers got the pick of the chicken, but later comers noticed them breathing heavily the lifeless atmosphere laden with human heat, due to the fact that the tables were entirely surrounded by "empties" standing in back of the diners, waiting to step into the veritable pool of Bethesda the instant the chair seat was visible. If one reached for the salt and pepper, he was sure to find on his return, some one else calmly sitting in his place, ready to proceed. And the patient waiters—they had to pass the food in down through the top.

This program proceeded endlessly. Those who got up, gave a warning wink to an uncle, aunt or cousin, who made a grand dive for the coveted spot.

Seventy chickens, it was said, lined up for the fray, but it wasn't so long before even the smell of one was gone. The ticket seller solved the mystery by saying he'd sold 375

Special Town Meeting Tomorrow Night

The selectmen are serving up another special town meeting tomorrow night. The last one was adjourned several times and was finally postponed indefinitely, due to a lack of a quorum, which is 50. The word "raise" has been deleted from the articles in the new warrant so that the tax rate, which has been declared as $32, can not be changed.

There seems to be a real need for the meeting, due principally to the fact that it has been found necessary to make transfers from the reserve fund to the forest fire, interest and other accounts by reason of the big fire at West Ware and the need to borrow more money and to borrow it earlier in the year because of outstanding taxes. The interest rate was also slightly higher.

Thus about $850 has been transferred from the reserve fund to these accounts, leaving only $150 to meet present needs.

$300 is needed in the bridge account. It was recommended at the annual town meeting that $1,000 be raised for bridges, but the voters pared it down to $750, thus creating the present condition. The $750 has been used and there are bills of $100 outstanding. The bridge at the station and over the river at Bondsville have had to be replanked and the town is also compelled to repair the bridge over the Hampden railroad near the Bowler place.

Steps have been taken to induce the legislature to restore the road at this latter point to the former condition by reason of the obsolete railroad, but the town is compelled to meet the present exigency.

In the Public Welfare department $1,300 more is needed to complete the year. $500 of this can be appropriated from the interest accruing from the funds secured from the sale of the town farm and which, it was thought, would be available without a definite vote, but the law does not so allow. The extra need in this department has been caused by poor who are living out of town. Most of these cases have been women with minor children, cases which could

Calendar Party

TURKEY HILL NEWS

Turkey Hill once more was the scene of a very pleasant church social affair on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. R. Newman entertained in her spacious reception hall 24 ladies of the church and invited guests. The occasion was the annual gathering of calendars, and those who had placed a small silver coin behind each of the 12 red seals during the year. After the silver had been counted by Mrs. Gay, acting chairman, Mrs. Ruth Kempkes passed out paper and pencils and the happy party entertained themselves with laughable descriptions of each other. At 4.30 they repaired to the dining room where an appetizing supper of rolls, salads, coffee and cake was served. Mrs. Newman's sister, Mrs. Henrietta Allen, was at the head of the table and 'poured, and all refreshed themselves with food and their minds with jolly stories.

The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers from the home garden, which as yet has been untouched by frost.

At 5.30 the party departed to their respective homes in Amherst, Granby, Ludlow and Belchertown. Guests of honor were Mrs. Amy North of Arlington and Mrs. Myra Roach of Palmer. Mrs. Alice Hubbard assisted as hostess.

Scarlet Fever in Schools

Two cases of scarlet fever developed this week in grade II at the center, Barbara Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Brown of Maple street, and Dolly Bardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bardwell of North Main street.

It is the plan of the school authorities not to close the schools, following the recommendations of the State Department of Health in such cases. However, the children will be under close supervision, and any pupil who is out will be required to present a certificate of permission to return, signed either by the school nurse, Miss Mansfield, or by the school physician, Dr. J. L. Collard, who will be at the center buildings each morning. This ruling applies to both the high school and the grades.

not have been handled at the town farm even if it had not been sold.

Altogether the town will need to appropriate about $1,000 from the surplus revenue, as $1,000 can be transferred from existing accounts having unexpended balances, such as snow removal where $400 or $500 is available.

It seems that the finance committee can make transfers from the reserve fund, but have no power to use the surplus revenue, which now amounts to about $31,000. The total used to be around $22,000, the town farm receipts accounting for the higher figure.

So the upshot of the matter is that exigencies have arisen that by law had to be met, the assessors have struck the tax rate, so no money can be raised, and therefore there is no other alternative but to appropriate from the surplus revenue, and it takes 50 people to do it.

Articles in the warrant follow:

2. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Highway Bridge account; or take any action relative thereto.

3. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Public Welfare account; or take any action relative thereto.

4. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Fire Department account; or take any action relative thereto.

5. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Forest Fire Department account; or take any action relative thereto.

6. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Health Department; or take any action relative thereto.

7. To see if the town will vote to appropriate a sum of money for the Police Department; or take any action relative thereto.

tickets. Scouts immediately ransacked the countryside for chicken meat, while the last patrons held down the coveted seats and were informed every minute or two by the whispering waiters as to the progress of the hunt.

Meanwhile, with collar off and necktie hanging, George Graton had been strumming away relentlessly at the piano, and had succeeded in limbering up the voices near the instrument, so that at the close there was quite a chorus for "Good-night, Ladies."

Professional entertainers were on hand to amuse the crowd, but the patrons, after being served, hied to the street, so that there was no demand for a set program.

Rev. L. T. Rock, the pastor of St. Francis, greeted the patrons and proved a genial host.

The committee in charge were Mrs. Ella Garvey, Mrs. A. J. Sears, Miss Nora Sears, Mrs. Noel, Mrs. Sampson, Mrs. Daniel Fitzgerald, Mrs. E. F. Beginning with Monday the High school will have an eight-period day instead of a seven-period one. The noon recess will be shortened, lasting from 12.15 to 12.45, and there will be only a five-minute recess in the morning when pupils will not be allowed to leave the building. This extra period will be used for assembly, music, play rehearsals and like matter which it has been very difficult to manage outside of school hours because of the many pupils who must leave on the busses. The new schedule applies only to the High school.

Edward Shuttleworth has returned to his studies at the International college at Springfield.

The Congregational church and Sunday School will observe Rally Sunday and a thanksgiving celebration the first Sunday in October, when it is hoped that everyone will make a special effort to be present.

As regards floats, autos and horse-drawn vehicles each come in for prizes, the first with awards of $25, the second with awards of $15, and the third with awards of $10. There are few other changes. As interesting a feature as any is the advertising section of the book, which constitutes a sort of Who's Who in the business life of the town. R. E. Faith and Friendship Night

Last Friday evening, the attendants at the Faith and Friendship Night filled out answers to a group of questions as to religious beliefs. At the meeting this week the pastor will present a detailed summary of the answers together with his interpretation of their meaning. Folks who attended last week's meeting expressed surprise at their inability to catalogue their exact beliefs. The question answers will be a revelation of the extent of our modern religious dilemmas. A discussion and question period will give you an opportunity to give your views on some of the many debatable points. Come out to this meeting.

Do not forget that a vital part of our Friday evening services is the social time after the prayer meeting. People must learn to work and worship together. We are well on the road to these greater virtues when we have learned to play together. Perhaps you have forgotten how to play. The joy of play is a lost art to a multitude of busy Americans.

Special Town Meeting

A colorless town meeting was held at Memorial hall last Saturday evening. It concerned simply transfers of money, which probably accounted in some measure for the lack of interest in it. When the meeting opened there was no more sign of doing business than at the previous duly called and twice adjourned meetings for somewhat similar purposes, but the selectmen and others interested made sallies into the club and pool rooms, meat markets and grocery stores, haling men and women to this court of town opinion, while their comrades in arms, stationed at the Memorial hall entrance, "shooed" back in dramatic fashion any who tried to make their exit in the meantime.

When the meeting finally got under way, the articles went through in 1, 2, 3, order with no debate.

Apparently the chief reward of those attending these neglected meetings was the social contacts during the intermissions, reports of which would be interesting but not "publishable."

It is said that since the meeting the question has been raised as to whether money can be appropriated from the surplus revenue account without the article so stating. So there's always something to worry about.

Transfers were as follows: Voted to transfer and appropriate $300 from the street and snow removal account to the bridge account; $100 from the permanent poor fund income, $400 from the estimated revenue and $800 from the surplus revenue, to the public welfare account; also from the surplus revenue, $300 to the fire department account, $175 to the forest fire department, $50 to the health department, and $175 to the police department. Thomas Allen was moderator of the meeting.

Tentative Date Oct. 18

The committee of the men's club of the Congregational church, which is making arrangements with the choir of the Enfield church to repeat in this town a musical comedy recently given before an appreciative house there, announces the tentative date of October 18.

October Four

This is October 4 in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine. Make a special note of it, for something epoch-making is to occur. The prime minister of the British Empire is due to arrive in this country. He comes especially to meet the chief executive of the United States and to talk over with him in a friendly way a matter that is vital to both nations upon which they are not yet quite in agreement. The president is eager to meet the prime minister. Each one seems to think that it is possible for them to formulate a policy that will check rivalry in naval construction, "The most insane rivalry," declares a great American journal, "in which civilized nations could indulge," reduce the size of their fleets to a satisfactory degree of parity, give relief from the heavy burden of naval maintenance, remove threatening sources of friction between the two governments and strengthen the existing bonds of good-will and friendship. So they have arranged to meet and talk the matter over. It will be a good talk, worthy of broad-minded and large-hearted statesmen who yearn to secure harmony between the two nations and contribute to the peace of all nations. Their meeting will be a unique event in the history of American and British diplomacy. But it will be more than that. It will be an epoch-making event.

One of the definitions of epoch-making is: Introducing a new method in the treatment of a subject. These negotiators are approaching the subject of naval affairs in a new way, the way of friendliness, frankness, fairness and reason. It revealed a high conception of deity when a Hebrew prophet called to his fellow countrymen in Jehovah's name: "Come now, and let us reason together." These two men are prophets of the coming age. Like the Hebrew prophet they are calling their countrymen to follow the way of reason in their dealings with each other. So this October four is not a common autumnal day.

It is a day to note, a day of happy augury, a day that marks progress towards the goal of Peace, because these leaders of the English-speaking nations have said: Let us reason together.

All interested in this work of the school are cordially invited to attend this exhibit which is open to the public.

Report of Dr. Miner

The following report was received by the Board of Health after the visit of Dr. Miner on Monday.

105 Bridge Street,
Springfield, Mass.
October 1, 1929

E. A. Fuller, Chairman,
Board of Health,
Belchertown, Mass.
My dear Mr. Fuller:
In response to your request Belchertown was visited Monday, September 30th, and a study made of the recent Scarlet Fever cases reported by your Board. Such study led to the homes of the patients and included conferences with school and health officials.

The study disclosed that during the past ten days six cases of Scarlet Fever have been reported, four of whom attended the grammar school, the other two being of pre-school age with no school connection. A visit to the school brought out the fact that one attended the 5th grade and three others the 2nd grade, the seating arrangement of the latter group strongly suggesting contact infection. Of the pre-school patients one was a sister of the school case from whom the disease was undoubtedly contracted. Evidence was lacking in the other pre-school cases to point to definite source of infection.

The disease in Belchertown has not as yet assumed epidemic proportions, although a nest of cases were found in the grammar school. Observation of the reported cases revealed that they were of the very mild type which often escape early detection, making the control extremely difficult. As has been found to be the case in many instances in recent years, it is quite evident that there have been mild unrecognized cases of Scarlet Fever roaming about town, from which recognized cases have sprung.

With the assistance of the school physician, Dr. James Collard, I examined all pupils in the grammar school, none of whom showed any evidence of the disease.

CONTROL MEASURES

It is advised that the school remain open under competent medical supervision. This is in accord with the procedure generally adopted throughout the State and one that meets the approval of the ablest health authorities. The schools should be visited daily by the school physician and all pupils in affected rooms examined at least a week after the appearance of the last case. The school nurse should visit the schools daily and be on the alert for signs of illness among the pupils in the school. In addition homes of absent pupils should be visited to check reason for absence. Often during these visits information is obtained suggesting symptoms of communicable disease and in the absence of medical attendance suspicious cases should be checked by the Board of Health.

Teachers should be on the alert for beginning illness of her pupils who should be referred to the school physician or sent home. In fact, all children returning to school after illness should be examined by the school physician before admission. Parents surely have a responsibility. They should be acquainted with the fact that Scarlet Fever, in a mild form, is present in the community and call a physician early in any illness that might develop among their children. In any case they should not be sent to school until it is ascertained that their child is not suffering from an infectious disease.

A copy of this report is being forwarded to the School Department.

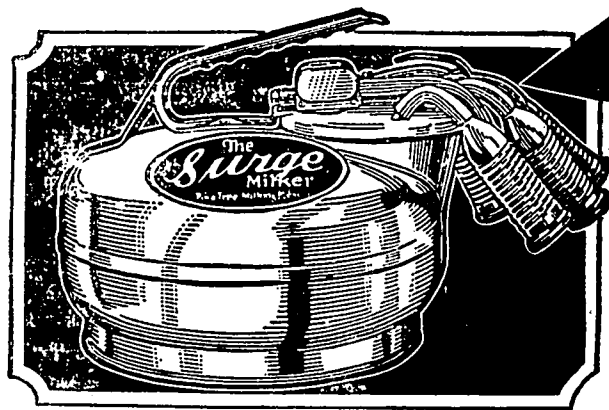

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) Harold E. Miner

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SUGGESTIONS

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT HEADQUARTERS

Now is the time to paint for real economy. All wood is thoroughly dried and seasoned by summer's blistering sun. The balmy fall weather is ideal for painting. And most important of all—you obtain full protection during the winter months when it is needed most. Neglect nothing. Your house, the garage, fences, shutters—every exposed surface should receive an armor-like coating of SWP.

Trade-mark Registered
S.W. Paint Products are sold the world over under this trade-mark

SWP is the world's best paint bargain

If your house were mine, the only paint used would be SWP. Long experience with all kinds has convinced us that it is the world's best house paint.

And it costs less on your home—remember that. Of course you can buy paints at a lower cost per gallon. But you are not interested in gallon price. The one thing of importance to you is, "how much will it cost to paint my house?"

SWP costs less per job because few gallons are needed. Its wonderful body thoroughly covers more square feet of surface per gallon.

And when the job is completed you have the best protection and clean, true colors that retain their beauty to the very last.

The best way to prove the economy of SWP is to get our estimate. Come in and see how convincing our figures are. You'll enjoy looking over our big, new book showing the latest color suggestions, too. Do it before ruinous winter doubles the cost of repainting.

Annual Fair

Annual Fair

Probably the Sentinel will get only a casual reading today by reason of the big fair tomorrow. The town's all a-bustle for the event. Two special cars of amusement material were unloaded Monday and the common has been a busy place since. Two merry-go-rounds are here this year, also a ferris wheel and chair plane. So no matter which way one wants to whirl, he can be accommodated.

The biggest problem to many is where the multitude is going to find standing room. If the present trend continues, householders around the center will have to begin to park people as well as cars, while the former await their chance at the mystic midway.

Family after family and organization after organization plans to be on Easy Street when the sun sets Saturday night. Taxes will be paid, bicycles will be bought, autos will be purchased, repairs will be made, all by reason of the influx.

Parking is about as lucrative an enterprise as any. Swamp land, hilly land, school yards and hen yards, all have a cash value apparent on no other day.

But everyone knows what the Belchertown fair is, why the folks come, and what a job it is to get away, so why say more!

Closing Branch at Enfield

Ryther and Warren will close their branch store at Enfield next Tuesday, making deliveries of grain direct from the mill here. Deliveries will be made along the main routes as follows:

Enfield and Smiths—on Wednesday
Greenwich and Greenwich Village —on Saturday
Large grain orders will be delivered at any time.

E. H. Howe and Son have been authorized by the local firm to receive orders for them at Enfield.

Coal will still be delivered from the Enfield plant.

The closing of the Enfield mill is a land mark in the company's history. Time was, and not so many years ago, either, that many Belchertown farmers ambled over the hills to Enfield to save a dollar on their grain bill. Now the big plant is here, and with the exit of farmers from the fated valley by reason of the coming "flood", there is not enough going at Enfield to keep the plant going.

H. L. Ryther, senior member of the firm, started work with it about 1900, when the late A. J. N. Ward owned the Enfield mill. In 1906 Mr. Ryther was taken into partnership, and on the death of Mr. Ward a few years later, L. G. Warren bought out the latter's interest, and the firm has continued under the name of Ryther and Warren for the past 13 years.

Mr. Ryther's son, H. Morgan Ry-ther, who has been managing the Enfield plant of late, will now become a member of the staff at the mill here.

The State School Exhibit

The second week in October is always an outstanding week in the State School year, for it is then that the institution holds a two-day exhibit of work done in the educational, industrial, laundry, farm and canning departments.

The pupils of the school are not visible on the stage or in the large assembly hall, but the work they do, day in and day out, is. Even if the children were there, the guests, of which there are many, could hardly be more complimentary. If one wants to hear adjectives sincerely expressed, let him attend these exhibits.

The fourth annual one came Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and those in a position to know assert confidently that this one surpassed them all.

The work done in the educational department had its usual appeal. Original lesson papers with 100 per cent noted on them were in-evidence, booklets with pictures neatly pasted in were there, cut out work, coloring and painting and free hand drawing that one marvelled at, were all on exhibition.

Sand tables showed educational and artistic ability. The kindergarten and first grade table depicted a Dutch scene, the next a Japanese, and a third the geography of France. There was also a sense training table with paraphernalia used for recognizing various liquids, colors, etc.

One dared not venture very near the laundry work table, the work was so immaculately done.

The industrial exhibit was a large one and brought forth admiration. There was the day by day work and the special feature, a child's tea garden, that was appealing in the extreme. This table was canopied with myriads of paper flowers—3,000 of them—while the garden was teeming with child life. There were young folks at tables beneath umbrellas, there were walks and flowers, a bridge over a pool, etc., etc. All was made by three girls, even to the grass, made of cut crepe paper sewed on in strips.

Table after table was loaded with material made in the industrial department, while rugs of every variety hung on the east wall. One hardly dared handle any of the creations, so perfectly were they executed. Of course, some were in the nature of dolls and trinkets that might not, at first thought, be considered utilitarian, but they are given away at Christmas time and are made largely of waste in the different departments. And as one attendant said, "If the whole thing here burned up, it would all be worth while," by reason of the experience the young folks had gained.

The different things made in the industrial department, samples of most of which were on display, is simply staggering. For the benefit of those who may not realize the truth of this, we list the various items:

Rugs—crochet, wagon-tire, cross-stitch, braided, knit, hooked, petal, braid-weave, knot-stitch, tent-stitch

pin cushions neckties stand covers woven table runners pillow cases table doilies neck scarfs table mats caps hats (crochet, knit) mittens baskets tapestry trays sweaters bed spreads bolsters face cloths dish cloths dolls (rag) stuffed animals yarn animals stockings sacks bird cages sofa pillows buffet covers curtains kitchen holders breakfast sets chair back covers portieres handkerchiefs dolls' hammocks paper flowers tray cloths paper vases napkin rings necklaces work bags yokes collar and cuff sets bobbin lace door panels guest towels centre pieces

The stage was, as usual, given over to the exhibit of vegetables and canned goods, thrown into relief by an autumnal setting. A New England boiled dinner, no matter how sumptuous, would hardly make a dent in the variety of produce shown.

A sign or two here and there attracted attention. One read:

FARM PRODUCE
Consumed 847,303 lbs.
Canned 63,774 lbs.
Storage 154,000 lbs.

A card on a bottle of milk read: "193,446 quarts" and one on a plate of eggs, "7,688 dozen."

There were special features at either end of the hall. A miniature movie was at the rear, where films of the Fourth of July celebration at the school were shown, also glimpses of groups enjoying Saturdays at Forest Park where about 20 pupils went each week during the summer. There were also illuminated slides of stage scenes, etc., at the school. Near the door, while the guests were admiring the exhibits, the school's large phonograph furnished appropriate music for the occasion.

The exhibit was in charge of the heads of the educational department, the industrial departments, the kitchen and canning departments, the housekeeping department, and the farm department.

While in an institution of this type, the people back of a project like this are sort of submerged by reason of the largeness of the organization, the work they do is no less commendable and their contribution to society is beyond compensation.

Girl Scout Week

morning service at the Methodist church in a body, together with members of the Girl Scout council. The girls will wear their uniforms at this service and are also entitled to wear them at school during the whole week. On one day of the week they will call on the troop grandmother, and another day each one will plan to do something of more than ordinary helpfulness for her mother. The regular meeting on Tuesday will be an outdoor meeting with nature study and observation and a weenie roast.

The Girl Scout council also had planned to mark the occasion in a special way. They thought of using this week to inaugurate an annual drive for funds for the troop, but although this drive will be held in the near future, it will not take place in Girl Scout week. Lacking a community chest in Belchertown, funds have heretofore been secured for Girl Scout activities in various ways, by giving card parties, by apron and cookie sales, by entertainments, etc., but it is the belief of members of the council that Scout work is worthy of the direct financial assistance of the community, and so they intend to present this cause to as many of the citizens as possible, with the hope that they will respond with a measure of generosity. If the plan works out this year, it will become an annual affair, subscriptions payable once each year with no further solicitations for the support of the organization.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who has devoted many years to the Girl Scout movement, recently opened a drive for a permanent fund for the national organization. In the course of some remarks to a group of reporters, said, "Really and truly, just today the most important thing in Girl Scouting is money."

Town Items

Union grange will confer the 3rd and 4th degrees at the regular meeting Tuesday evening. The 3rd degree will be worked by the Ladies' Degree team of Ludlow.

Mrs. Clapp of the Boston office of the Needlework Guild visited the local troop of Girl Scouts at their meeting on Tuesday and explained the work of the Guild. The girls were much interested and will take up the work this year, which means the making of 22 garments (they may be simple baby clothes), which will be given away, either locally or elsewhere, and the payment of fifty cents from the troop treasury.

Miss Madeline Lincoln had the misfortune to receive a broken collar bone at the track meet of the high school last Friday.

A. S. Brown has been confined to his home the last two weeks by illness.

14 ladies attended the cooking demonstration at the domestic science room Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Miss Blanche Spurr of the Hampshire Co. Extension Service. The next meeting will be held Thursday, the 24th, at the same place and hour.

Paul Aldrich has a position with Ryther & Warren, taking the place of Merton Pike, resigned.

Turkey Hill Items

Belchertown's airport may not be on the map yet but it is on the way, nevertheless. Turkey Hill claims the honor of a visit from a plane accompanying the Ford fleet Monday when the pilot, having lost his map and not knowing where he was, landed at the farm of Frank Lincoln about 6 p. m. Mr. Nickerson and his two passengers were taken to Springfield that night by Mr.

Lincoln. They returned the next morning and the plane took off about 10 a. m. An amusing incident in the search for a landing was the terror created among a flock of crows when the big unknown bird flew toward them. Their alarm was matched by that of the driver of a truck who thought his engine had completely gone to smash before he discovered the airplane roaring just above him. Planes were zooming overhead all the afternoon, some of them so low that they threatened to scrape the roofs of buildings and the tops of trees.

Evidently Jason Hurlburt has stumbled on to the secret of modern business success, viz., a quick turnover. A Rhode Island Red chicken of his, hatched the middle of March, laid a litter of eggs, stole her nest, and come off with a brood of ten chickens September 25. That's two turnovers a year. When he can speed this up to three and still get ten per cent on his investment, he'll be too big a man to stay on Turkey Hill.

With Our Subscribers

Mr. Editor:

I hope that parents, especially mothers, will not miss the message Miss Ishbel MacDonald has for the women of America, so venture to suggest that you reprint it as given in the papers of Saturday.

—C. G. B.

"The women of England want to insure peace," Ishbel MacDonald said in an interview here today.

"The memory of the war lies upon us still. We do not want another one. If I have a message for the women of America, it is my father's message, that all human beings work and strive in their own way and place to insure peace for the world.

"For generations children have been raised to glorify war. To see war as an opportunity for glory. Let us use that great power which always belongs to the mothers of the world and bring up our children to love and desire peace. Let us glorify peace to them. Let us teach them what the Englishwomen of today know so well, the horror and waste of war.

"It is great thing to die for one's country," said Ishbel MacDonald, "but it is a greater thing to live for one's country."

David H. Jepson

David H. Jepson, 80, died Sunday evening at the Holyoke hospital as a result of being struck by an automobile about 9 a. m. the same day, near his home. He had just started down street with his laundry and was walking on the sidewalk near M. A. Shaw's house, when an Essex car, coming from the rear, skidded on the wet road at the curve, turned around, tipped over, and struck Mr. Jepson, throwing him against a stone wall. He was taken about noon to the Holyoke hospital and did not regain consciousness.

Patrolman Meissner of the state police investigated the accident. The driver, an out of town party, was allowed to proceed.

Mr. Jepson was born in Belchertown and lived here all his life. He and his sister, Miss Sarah Jepson, who died some years ago, remained on the homestead of their father, Orrin Jepson, and carried on the farm until it was bought by the state as a part of the Belchertown State school. They then moved to the place on North Main street, where he had since made his home.

Although in poor health for some time, Mr. Jepson walked to the center each week, and attended the Fair last Saturday. He liked to converse with people about the happenings of the day, and was an interesting conversationalist. In later years he was a familiar sight on his front piazza, watching the traffic of which

Masonic Visitation

Over 100 were present at the annual visitation of Vernon Lodge, Wednesday evening, guests being present from Enfield, Ware, Warren, Palmer, Chicopee, Springfield, Agawam and Monson. D. Thomson Hastings, District Deputy Grand Master of the 19th Masonic district, made the visitation with his successor, Edwin L. Davis, chairman of the education committee of the grand lodge, was present and spoke. Preceding the meeting, supper was served in the dining hall by the Eastern Star.

The Annual Fair

As we started to write up the story of the 72nd annual fair of the Belchertown Farmers' and Mechanics club, news came of the sudden death of its president, D. F. Shumway. We recall the contacts with him on Fair day; we saw him cross the road in front of his house shortly after 8 to unlock the grandstand, a duty which he had performed for many long years; we saw him at the flag pole a few hours later, noted his president's badge on the lapel of his coat, heard him say that it was a great day for the cause, though not for him by reason of his feeble health, received his cordial invitation to lunch with him at the chapel, which it was not convenient to accept, heard his request for a good write-up, which was quite characteristic of him, and then saw him walk slowly away to his Fair day dinner.

So many events have transpired since last Saturday that by some the 72nd annual fair has been almost lost sight of. But one woman hasn't

Dwight F. Shumway

Dwight F. Shumway, 83, was found dead in bed Wednesday morning by his housekeeper who went to call him when he did not make his appearance as usual. He had been in poor health for some time and the loss of his wife last February and his inability to fit into the life of the community which he had served for so many years, weighed heavily upon him.

A year ago he had reluctantly given up the office of tax collector, a position which he had acceptably filled for a quarter of a century. He prided himself in his task, which he executed with sternness, more than once mixed with mercy in cases which he believed worthy of it.

He was also president of the Farmers' and Mechanics' club, with which he had been identified for some 35 years. It was an organization dear to his heart and he was

Hampshire East Association Meeting

The fall meeting of the eastern section of the United Hampshire Association of Congregational churches will be held with the local church next Tuesday. The morning session begins at 10.30, and following business and reports, Rev. J. A. Hawley will give Echoes from a Far Western Trip. Mrs. J. C. Wightman will also give a report of the National Council at Detroit.

A noon-tide devotional period will be led by Prof. Florence Purington, dean of Mt. Holyoke college.

In the afternoon there will be two addresses, one by Miss Miriam Woodberry on "Dwellers in the Manse," and the other by Rev. Asa M. Parker on "The New Day in Missions."

The ladies of the church will serve dinner at 35 cents per plate. The townspeople are cordially invited to this gathering, including the dinner. It has been seven years since the Association has met with the local church.

forgotten it. She took 16 chances on some candy and didn't win a box. One young man won four straight, and so it went. That, in a nutshell, was the story of the midway and accounted for the milling throng that never seems to tire of this type of thrill. Barkers on every side fairly gnashed at one's money. But if one crossed the road to get away from the melee, he was not immune to those who were after his cash. Residents of Main and Park streets and imported vendors were sure to challenge one before he reached the concrete, either to sell him something to eat, something to drink, something to wear, or some place to bestow his car. It would have been a great day for the assessors or the census taker to call, for everybody was out, and all could be counted.

Of course the parade was the big attraction of the morning. The city dwellers sometimes turn from the last entry with "That's all there is to it," but the Old Home Day folks look at it from another angle, in fact, from all sorts of angles before the procession has circled the park for the second time. For here is revealed what the folks on this breezy hill-top have been working on and talking about for days and weeks.

E. F. Flaherty, marshal for many a show, led the procession, accompanied by three aides. Then came the 26-piece Ware Boys band which furnished music for the day.

Next in line were two pair of steers and a pair of oxen drawing a dump cart. These animals, quite in contrast with 1930 streamline models of locomotion, were entered by Irving Fuller and were in charge of Harlan Davis, Howard Snow and Thomas Lines, who had no need of a three-speed license. But by some clever juggling, J. V. Cook did accept the above in the auto drawn class and it was awarded third prize.

The floats came next. First prize among the horse drawn vehicles went to William Pranaitis, who displayed in the midst of heavy bankings of evergreen, black alder and laurel, vegetables from his East-side farm and also five turkeys in a wire compartment at the rear.

The second horse drawn vehicle and the one to receive second prize was that entered by the newly formed Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary No. 83. Here was depicted Betsy Ross (Mrs. A. D. Moore) making the first flag and displaying it to George Washington (Harold Allen), Robert Morris (Chester Cook) and Maj. Ross (Douglas Rhodes). The little daughter of Betsy Ross (Margaret Greene) sat in Washington's lap. All were garbed in attire of colonial days and the fireplace and its setting added to the scene.

The Senior class of Belchertown High school took first honors in auto drawn entries with its float, "Ye Olde Schoole." Autumn branches of this year's gathering hung from the sides of the truck, but the attire and equipment of the teacher (Miss Alice Hussey) and her pupils, seated at desks made of 4-ft. split cord wood, savored of another day when 2 plus 2 made 5, all drank from the common water pail and everybody acted like sin, as evidenced by the dunce cap.

Jesse Johnson with his car of cats—a dozen of them—and a dolled-up damsel in pantalettes astride the radiator with auto horn, balloon and shopping bag, was awarded second prize. Cats and folks peered out of an orange colored outfit decked with evergreen.

Miss Frances Sauer of South Amherst took first prize in decorated cars with her rumble seat auto dashingly dressed in vari-colored crepe paper petals, while Japanese lanterns hung from the sides and Japanese sun shades were carried by the "rumblers" in attire of the Orient.

Sandwiched in here and there in the line were the comics, of which there seems to be an increasing number each year. Charles Pranaitis headed the winners in this class with his Ford roadster fitted out with dogs, fox pelt, fish pole, gun, etc., while a raised umbrella thrust through the top clinched the car as a comic.

"The Old and the New" (Mrs. Julia Shumway and Mrs. Wilfrid Noel) each trundling a baby carriage, took second honors. Long skirts protruded from one and a wee cigarette from the other. The rest can be guessed.

"Going to the Fair," Miss Mary Bevins, Miss Priscilla Bisnette, Dorothy Wood, Hazel and Wallace Bisnette, came in third. There was only one spoke in a back wheel of the baby carriage, but the outfit kept going.

"Runaway Kids," tousle-headed and holding hands, were personified by Wilfrid Noel and Bessie Wood and came in for fourth honors.

A decorated auto advertising the dinner at the M. E. church, was driven by H. F. Putnam, and was preceded by his daughter, Edith, in costume, wielding a baton.

Henry Fisherick of Ware brought up the procession with a horse and buggy and was awarded a gratuity of $5.00.

There was the usual breathless silence while J. V. Cook announced the winners and then the line broke up, never to come together in just the same fashion again.

After dinner the women hied for the baby show, while the men made a bee line for the south end of the common where an extra large space had been roped off for the draft horse event. This was thoroughly modernized this year. A dynamometer from M. A. C. with an amplifier and announcer truly bespoke a new day, but the old timers did miss the snapping of harnesses, the cracking of whiffletrees, the clatter of rocks and the sight of perspiring judges as they warmed to their task of repiling on that stoneboat the geological specimens they'd pawed over and over since Cattle Show days began.

In the light weight class there were two entries: J. W. Hurlburt of this town and Bernard McElligott of Westfield. The latter won first prize while Hurlburt's team took second, pulling the 2,550 pound load 22 ft. 2 in.

The heavy weight class developed a battle royal between professionals, one of them having lowered the state record at the Northampton Fair. The Hampshire Silver Fox Farm team pulled the 3,150 pound load the full distance, 27½ ft., while the Leo McGinnis team pulled the same weight only 22½ ft.

There was a general scattering after this event. The customary cattle pen was filled with live stock, but the string of cattle tied outside has almost ceased to be. There were about the usual number of rabbits, puppies, etc.

But most of the crowd came to be entertained. A new feature this year was open air dancing under the auspices of Hamilton's orchestra. The rest of the show looked about as it always has.

ATTRactions AT HALL

"Where are the babies?" was the query as the old town hall became filled at 1.30. "Up there on the platform, 19 of them." There they were in a semi-circle, seated in the lap of their mother or aunt or grand mother, and giving audience to an admiring throng of onlookers. The variety in human nature was evident even in these infants. One baby sat up straight and independent and waved a gay greeting to some one in the audience. Another was wholly engrossed in the care of her doll and paid no attention to anyone. One sturdy youth insisted on going it alone, even though the process demanded a constant getting-up from an unexpected sitting-down. And one tiny baby was too small even to wonder what all the fuss was about, although none of them seemed troubled by self-consciousness, and surely not the one fast asleep. Although one tot was seen holding hands with one of the judges, it is believed that no coquetry was allowed to influence their decisions, which were as follows:

Best-natured, 1st, William, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Leonard of Springfield; 2nd, Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hickey of Mittineague; fattest, 1st, Ernest, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Emery of Holyoke; 2nd, Beverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Miller of Palmer; handsomest, 1st, Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reynolds of Thompsonville, Ct.; 2nd, Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dodds of Amherst; youngest, 1st, Frieda, one month old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rohnert of Belchertown; 2nd youngest, Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gates of Ludlow.

The hall itself represented much labor either in farm, garden and orchard, or in the feminine skill which fashions rugs and quilts, and makes bread and cakes, etc., or in the work of pupils in our schools along domestic lines. Miss Conklin's pupils at the High school had a display of their work in sewing, canning and jelly making, while Miss Nellie Shea, leader of the 4-H club at Franklin school, had a remarkable variety of articles made by pupils in all grades, beginning with grade 1 and including both boys and girls. Both these exhibits came in for awards at the hands of the judges.

Union grange and Enfield grange both had attractive displays of farm and home products, 1st prize going to Enfield and 2nd to Belchertown. Other interesting ex-

Bowling Season Opens

By Noel

The pins are dropping and so the bowling season has opened for the coming winter months. Local bowling enthusiasts are now busy getting the kinks out of their arms in preparation for the many contests which are to follow.

At least one team will represent this town on the alleys, and that is the recently organized Turkey Hill Five. This team, which is managed by Andrew J. Sears, has joined the Social league of the Suffolk Alleys in Holyoke. There are ten teams in the league, and a schedule calling for three rounds of play has been drawn up.

The local team is made up of such bowlers as A. J. Sears, John J. Fairchild, C. R. Green, and McDonald and Holmes of Chicopee, formerly of the Astor Lunch Five of Springfield.

The league opened its season on Wednesday night, October 9, with the Tip-Tops taking three points from the Turkey Hill Five in a heavy rolling contest. The winners rolled in mid-season form and at present are holding the high team total of 1477. The local team also rolled a fine total of 1378, and it expects to furnish plenty of opposition in the coming contests.

Beaulieu and Reynolds of the Tip-Tops and Fairchild of the Turkey Hill Five were the big pin toppers of the night with totals of 336, 327 and 306 respectively.

He had also served on the Republican town committee for many terms, had filled the office of constable and was truant officer for some 35 years. He was a member of the Congregational church and of Union and Pomona grange.

The passing of Mr. Shumway removes a striking character from our community life. He was brought up on the gospel of hard work and he liked to play the game of life. He was a man of strong will, yet he had a warm place in his heart for the children of the community whom he liked to greet.

Mr. Shumway was born in Belchertown April 30, 1846, and spent his whole life here. He was the youngest of six children of Loren and Harriet (Foster) Shumway. June 27, 1867, he married Jane Baggs of Turkey Hill district and a year later they moved to the farm where his son now lives and carried on the place for 32 years, moving to the center in 1890. In 1917 Mr. and Mrs. Shumway celebrated their golden wedding with considerable ceremony, and ten years later the Congregationalists of Eastern Hampshire County met with the local church on Tuesday for their fall meeting. Rev. Jesse G. Nichols of South Hadley presided at the morning service and Miss Martha Gere of Northampton at the afternoon. Dr. F. E. Emrich, one of the most beloved men in the Congregational denomination, conducted in his usual reverent spirit the morning devotional service.

Hampshire East Association Meeting

As the business, reports and addresses proceeded, one visualized the denominational wheels that gear one into the other. Rev. Mr. Seymour of North Amherst, reporting for the religious education committee, said a good word for the Teacher Training School now meeting twice weekly in Northampton, and available to all-comers, and for surveys, standards, etc., that would assist in bringing about efficiency in church schools and gear them to meet present day needs.

Rev. Mr. Luther of Amherst spoke of the illegality of holding church councils on Sunday, the advisability of simplified procedure in dismissing installed pastors, and of

Men's Club Party

At the invitation of F. N. Whiton the men's club of the Congregational church held its meeting at his pavilion Monday evening, the regular meeting night. Ladies were eligible for this occasion and their presence helped swell the numbers to around 30.

The men segregated at a far end of the hall for a business meeting run off in subdued tones, while the ladies waited in more or less silence around the gas tanks till they were welcome.

The men lost courage over their proposed turkey supper for November and voted to have the "J. G.'s" try out their abilities on them in the culinary line. It is also planned to have a speaker.

It was also voted to put on a "pageant or something", Christmas Sunday night as last year. The committee named was Rev. F. C. Rolls, H. F. Peck, H. E. Sessions, H. Morgan Ryther and L. H. Blackmer.

Fred Buss spoke at some length of the musical comedy to be presented under the club's auspices at Memorial hall tonight.

The rest of the time was given over to games, stunts and social confabs in which almost everybody indulged. By the time the evening had half passed, there were only one or two able to walk straight, and that not by reason of cider, sweet or sour, but because it's a bit difficult to walk a chalk mark looking through inverted binoculars.

Sumptuous refreshments of doughnuts, pie, cheese and coffee were served, and the evening wound up with the usual "thank you" and "good-nights".

O. E. S. Inspection

An unusually large number attended the annual inspection of Mt. Vernon Chapter, O. E. S., Wednesday evening. The hall was crowded to capacity and people were turned away for lack of room.

The inspecting officers were Deputy Grand Matron Gertrude Irwin and Deputy Grand Marshal Agnes Pearson, both of them past matrons of James Hannum chapter of Ludlow. The officiating grand patron was Mr. Church of the Golden chapter of Westfield. Mt. Vernon chapter was also honored by the presence of Mrs. Alice Wallace of New York, deputy grand treasurer and past grand matron. Other guests were present from Palmer, Ware, Enfield, Amherst, Northampton, Easthampton, Holyoke, Westfield, East Longmeadow, Springfield and Malden.

The inspection was preceded by a supper at 6.30 in charge of Mrs. Ninfa Collard, Mrs. Nettie Allen, and others. The Granby sisters served and brother Masons waited on table. The dining hall was beautifully decorated in Halloween effect. The electric lights were shaded by lanterns, and candles lighted the tables, which were attractive with baskets of apples and grapes. The favors were orange colored baskets of salted nuts.

Bowling Chatter

By Noel

Local sport followers will no doubt be pleased to know what the Turkey Hill bowling team is doing and how it stands in the Social League of the Suffolk alleys in Holyoke. The league, which is composed of eight teams instead of ten as previously announced, finds the local team in seventh place, having won one point out of six. Its total pinfall, the third highest in the league, shows that Manager Andy Sears has a strong team and will cause many upsets to their opponents before the season is over.

The list of averages of leaders finds Jack Fairchild in fourth place with an average of 97, while Sears is tied for eighth place with an average of 93. The averages of the remaining bowlers on the Turkey Hill five are: Green 91; Holmes 89; Noel 89; MacDonald 87; Prevost 75. The league standing:

Tip Tops	4	2	667	2778

Rally Day at Congregational Church

Rally day at the Congregational church drew a larger attendance than usual at both the morning and evening services Sunday. About 100 were present at the Sunday-school hour when Mrs. Clifton Johnson of Hadley, chairman of the religious education committee of the United Hampshire Association, presented practical plans in religious education, making a distinction between the former Bible study classes and the development of religious education which began only about 25 years ago. Mrs. Johnson stressed the point that a knowledge certain technical matters brought up at the state meeting.

W. H. Atkins of South Amherst reported for the special committee having under advisement the matter of pastors' salaries, etc. This committee recommended a minimum salary of $1,500 and parsonage and that a fund be created for the relief of local pastors and their families in time of need.

The cogs meshed back to the main driving wheel with the report of Mrs. J. C. Wightman of the National Council meeting at Detroit, but her emphasis was so much on the atmosphere, spirit and expectancy of the convention that the mechanism was lost sight of.

Rev. J. A. Hawley of Amherst, the "accordion speaker" of the morning (he could stretch his speech out or shorten it at will), flashed in rapid succession before his audience vivid word pictures of his far western trip emphasizing in particular the grandeur of the Yellowstone with its erupting springs. He also told of attending meetings of the McPherson cult where emotional eruption was evident, and of Mormon contacts at Salt Lake City. He did not fall for these cults, but he did express the wish that those of saner faiths come up to their houses of worship with the same eagerness, joyfulness and expectancy. The morning session closed as it began, with noontide devotions conducted by Prof. Florence Purrington, dean of Mt. Holyoke college.

At the dinner hour there was a general exodus to the chapel where the Social Guild ladies did themselves proud with an elaborate dinner. Around 150 were served. The tables were made most attractive with flowers in birch bark holders, with a wreath of colored leaves around the base of each.

The afternoon meeting began shortly before 2. Rev. Asa M. Parker, Field and Apportionment secretary, presented in challenging fashion his subject, "A New Day in Missions." His allusion to the coming together of the denominations on the missionary frontiers was heartening. He spoke of the United Church of South India that had been functioning for 30 years, and of the Church of Christ in China which has been a reality for ten years. He said that progress always comes with the missionary outreach. He laid before the gathering the problem of missions as a single mammoth enterprise and pled that it might be met in business-like fashion by the whole church. He spoke of the Guest Book as a great success, stating that 17,000 copies had already been sent to the churches of Massachusetts and that the first edition is exhausted.

But it remained for Miss Miriam L. Woodberry to capture the audience. Note books were dispensed with and folks just listened as she spoke of Christian progress in terms of human personalities. Glittering generalities will be forgotten, but the character she painted of that African girl and those Chinese children and others will remain. And these races were viewed not only in objective fashion, but Miss Woodberry turned the telescope around and let the audience see how they and their religion look through Oriental eyes. It was such as to make one shift in his seat. The speaker stressed the contribution each one makes to the common good, and as before stated, her proof was not theoretical. She made one believe in the leaven of the gospel which, she said, starts to work immediately, works and stays by.

And so the meeting concerned itself with doing things decently and in order, with efficiency in presenting religious truth in accordance with modern psychology, with better financing in church affairs, with the outreaching work of the church in home and foreign fields, and the human element involved therein, which makes it all worth while.

Mrs. George E. Scott was chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner, assisted by Miss Marian Bardwell, Miss Marion Bartlett, Mrs. H. C. Knight and Mrs. H. B. Ketchen. Mrs. J. D. Shuttleworth had charge of the table decorations.

of the Bible did not necessarily of itself produce moral character. The primary department met with the main school for the opening exercises, contributing one of their songs.

The Junior Guild, under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Rolls, gave a drama, "Peace and Goodwill," at the evening service held in the church. There were 19 characters in the cast, most of them in special costumes. Miss Myrtle Greene, as princess, took the leading part, while Miss Ruth Spencer was the counselor and Miss Barbara Baggs the military officer.

Miss Evelyn Sessions, president of the Junior Guild, presided at the opening of the service and told of the work which had been done since the organization was started last spring. They have had an average attendance of 15 and have made a special study of the League of Nations. In fact the burden of the drama presented was that the gospel in all lands is the only sure way by which the world will rid itself of war.

Faith and Friendship Night

This Friday evening the service in the Methodist vestry will begin at 7 p. m. sharp in order to allow attendance after the service, at the Musical Comedy sponsored by the Congregational Men's Club. You will be able to attend both services. This week the subject for discussion is the question, "What is the Holy Spirit?" That question is more practical than we think. It concerns our daily lives and our ordinary religious and moral life. The idea of a Holy Spirit has been ambiguous and the fertile source of innumerable errors. Let us clear up our thinking together.

There will be no entertainment period. Instead it is hoped that we will all adjourn to the good time prepared by the men at Memorial hall. Friday evening is community night. Let's be sociable.

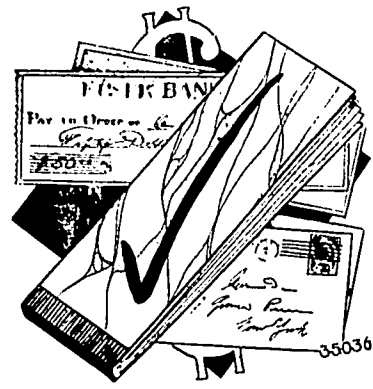

The subject of discussion last week was "Who is Jesus Christ?" The social hour following was in charge of Miss Trudell and Isaac Hodgens.

Turkey Hills in Big Victory

By Noel

What a gala night it was for the Turkey Hill bowling team last week Thursday! It was one which will not be forgotten for some time, and local rooters are determined to accompany the team on its trips more often hereafter. The Turkey Hills made a clean sweep of their match with "Red" Sweeney's Red Tops on the Suffolk alleys, taking all three points, and its team total of 1457 is only twenty pins short of tying the high total of 1477, which is, at present, held by Joe Reynolds' Tip Tops.

At the last moment, Manager Andy Sears decided to direct his team from the side-lines and from the time that Jack Fairchild gave his mates an eleven-point lead, rolling a nice 99 to Russell's 88, it was easily seen that the crowd was to be treated with some fine rolling. The local team took the first two points by wide margins, but the last point was anybody's from start to finish, which Turkey Hill won by five pins.

MacDonald of the winners had a big night on the alleys, rolling the high three-string total of 314. Mac's opponent, Danny Sobszak, also topped the pins heavily with a total of 304. Manager Sears had a new bowler in his lineup, Joe St. Michael of South Hadley Falls, who rolled the high single of 120.

Musical Comedy and Musicales

The musicale, and musical comedy, "Cynthia's Strategy," given by the Enfield church choir last Friday evening in Memorial hall, under the auspices of the Men's club of the Congregational church, made a decided hit with the exceptionally large audience attending. The patrons were not only entertained, but were edified as well, the visitors proving themselves to be the artists which the committee sponsoring the entertainment had represented them to be. There were many encores.

In the musical comedy, Mrs. Kathleen Knight took the part of Cynthia, the strategist; Carl Remington was "Smith Young", or just "Young Smith", in the eyes of Cynthia's father, "Eugene Perry" (J. Frederick Zappety) while Mrs. Marjorie Ewing Gage took the part of Mrs. Perry, who revived memories of other courting days.

Mr. Remington's impersonation of a girl friend won the favor of the unsuspecting father and brought down the house with his perfect falsetto renderings.

Several dancing numbers some of them decidedly acrobatic, were rendered with the precision of professionals and proved popular with the patrons.

Grange Notes

"Neighbors' night" will be observed at the regular meeting of Union Grange, Tuesday evening, and a large number of grangers are expected to be present from the Hadley, Ludlow and West Springfield orders. The visiting granges are each to furnish a 20-minute program. Refreshments will be served.

Pomona Grange meets next Thursday at South Amherst, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected. About 200 attended the Pomona dance at Smith Agricultural school, Wednesday evening.

Historical Association Meeting

Some of the meetings of the Historical association have been largely concerned with business matters, but the semi-annual meeting of Wednesday evening was almost entirely a program affair and was in charge of Mrs. H. F. Curtis. The past still holds treasures for those willing to make friends with her, and interesting ones, too, as evidenced by the close attention paid by the sixteen members and friends gathered for the occasion.

Miss M. E. Bartlett, recording clerk of the association and a member of the staff at the local library, gave a paper on "Library Activities in Belchertown, 1852-1875," which revealed the responsibility felt by the earlier citizens of the town for the best educational facilities that conditions could afford. This informative paper, requiring considerable research, will be printed in a later issue.

Mrs. M. G. Ward gave interesting excerpts from Belchertown school reports covering the same years, 1852-75. What made them so delightful was the frank characterizations of both teachers and pupils. In fact, the former seemed to fare the harder of the two, for while there were "refractory" pupils, there were teachers lacking dignity, some were youthful and inexperienced, and one in particular was "reluctant to administer needed chastisement". Occasionally there was one who was judged to have really found his life work and was advised to continue.

But as might have been expected, these exceedingly personal annual comments had to be given up, or at least were, around 1862, and teachers and pupils of a later date have pursued their paths in "peace", which an inquiring posterity cannot invade.

Miss Marian Bardwell gave a paper on "Bottles Great and Bottles Small, but without Doubt, Pre-Volstead All." Extracts were read also by Miss Bardwell from a recent article on the subject appearing in the Saturday Evening Post. To make the presentation more real, old bottles from the association's collection were exhibited. Of course, the expected question had to come up as to what the bottles were used for and the occasion for the size of some of them.

Musical memories of other days were revived at this point by the singing of "Good Old Belchertown" by H. F. Peck, with Mrs. Peck as accompanist.

H. C. Knight, superintendent of schools, guest speaker of the evening, then related some interesting anecdotes connected with his invasion of the antique field and his search for certain articles He spoke of "finds" in a pile of old papers about to be destroyed at Uxbridge, which included documents signed by noted people, John Hancock being among them.

Mr. Knight has a collection of old text books and told of some in his possession. He also exhibited at the meeting some candlesticks and some old pictures, including a Kellogg print of Lincoln.

"Dr. Syntax" was introduced to the company by Miss Ella A. Stebbins who gave excerpts and readings from "Dr. Syntax in search of the Picturesque" and told of the interesting personality of the author.

Pottery illustrating a number of the "Dr. Syntax" episodes was exhibited.

Miss Lucy Bardwell followed with descriptive paragraphs regarding the Don Quixote plates, which were also on exhibition.

One of the reasons why the meeting was appropriately held on Wednesday evening was on account of its being the 100th anniversary of the birth of John Rogers, maker of the Rogers groups of which the local association has 21. W. A. Stebbins in making some introductory remarks concerning them, said that this is probably the largest collection in Western Massachusetts. Mr. Stebbins glimpsed the life of the sculptor, whose works are not yet "antique" strictly speaking, but which are valuable by reason of their historic interest and will be of increasing worth as time passes.

L. H. Blackmer alluded to the group portraying the court scene in the Merchant of Venice and gave a brief synopsis of this Shakespearean play.

The evening concluded with a social hour and refreshments.

I have just about time to give you a general idea of our impression of the great Pendelton Round-up, which we saw Wednesday.

Pendelton's main thoroughfares were thronged early with noisy, but orderly crowds, awaiting the pageant. Nearly everyone wore a silk-en scarf, gay hued shirt, hat band or Round-up insignia of some kind.

The city was just one crazy quilt of color, vivid and vibrant.

The parade was typically significant of the spirit of the Round-up. Headed by Round-up officials, local and visiting dignitaries, the cowboy band, the formation included in bewildering succession, representatives of the early days of the West—real stage coaches, prairie schooners, covered wagons, ox teams, soldiers, cowboys, cowgirls and Indians, gay in rich and beautiful bead, leather and feather trappings, jingling bells and war-whooping; bucks, squaws and children, a never tiring delight to Round-up hosts.

Then too, there were chuck wagons, pack trains, visiting bands and marching units, bucking horses and clowns.

If it is fair to say that there was any one outstanding feature or this giant show, then we choose the Indian parade.

1600 Indians and 1200 Indian ponies took part and a more colorful and beautiful blending of colors is beyond our imagination. The chiefs rode at the head of their respective tribes and many of them wore priceless trappings, handed down from generation to generation, and in many cases, could not be duplicated the world over.

Thus far the two most beautiful things that we have seen in nearly 3500 miles of wandering is first, the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, and the above mentioned parade. Isn't that praise enough?

We saw races, both stage coaches and chuck wagons, and bucking horse contests which left one wondering how any human body could stand the terrible punishment.

The roping and tying contests as well as bull dogging events, are things which only an Easterner can fully appreciate. When you see a cowboy (or cowgirl for that matter), ride full speed, along side of a galloping steer, leap from the saddle and catch the animal by both horns, and then when the dust settles, you see the steer lying on its side and the cowboy grinning like a Cheshire cat, you cannot help but do your share of the wild cheering which always follows such a display of skill.

Cowboys and cowgirls have gone professional these days; they make the animal circuit, and the survivors come to Pendelton for world championships, because they are the best in their respective lines. They bring with them the lesser lights of the arena, but potential champions, because in this body-racking, nerve-taking game, the agility, resistance and resilience of youth passes quickly.

Round-up animals likewise include the survival of the fittest, many of the bucking horses being almost as well known as the human performers. They have been trained to know what is expected of them, they certainly do their stuff, and dynamic action is the result.

You have read of these steer roping contests, bull dogging events, etc., but have you any idea how long it takes a good roper to lasso, throw, and hog-tie a steer. We saw it done in 23.4 seconds; the time for calf roping was 20 seconds.

Unemployment

We did away with dueling a long time ago. Slavery we abolished two generations ago. We are engaged in the task of getting a world without war. How gigantic were these evils! It seemed impossible to eradicate them. And yet miracles have happened.

Is not poverty an evil, as slavery and strong drink and war? And is it not true that in the ideal society every able-bodied individual shall have employment?

Admittedly, here is a problem of gigantic proportions. But not a whit more difficult than many another problem the world has solved. Let the brain and heart of man be applied diligently and wonders may be accomplished.

We ought never to be satisfied till every worker has one day's rest in seven, and work to do for the six days. If we were as humanitarian as we profess to be, we would be more seriously agitated about this matter than we are.

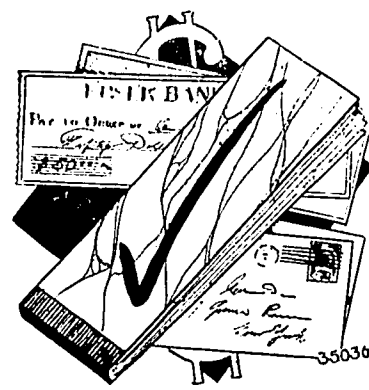

Every idle worker is a liability in society. Idleness leads to poverty. And in any ideal civilization there is no poverty. Poverty is the mother of crime. It was poverty that led Jean val Jean to steal. He could not bear to see his children suffer.

One great problem which should deeply concern every thoughtful person is that of finding a job for every able-bodied person.

Mrs. Root came east to attend the wedding of her cousin, Leslie Merton Olds, of Granby, who was married to Miss Laura Adams at South Hadley, Saturday evening. H. F. Miss Stella Weston is visiting the homes of Mrs. J. R. Newman and Mrs. E. E. Gay.

A very pleasant social affair of the week was a Hallowe'en party held at Mrs. J. R. Newman's, Wednesday evening by about 26 lady employees at the State school. Those whose birthdays occurred during the month received framed mottoes. Mrs. Newman as hostess, was presented a cross-stitch friendship motto. The guests all came in costumes, representing men, ghosts, goblins, the Dutch twins, clowns, the town crier, and last but by no means the least, sheriff Allen. The house was uniquely decorated with paper and jack-o-lanterns. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and cider, cake, cookies, tea and apples were served during the evening. Food, Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 6.30 in the Methodist vestry we will hold the first of our winter Food, Faith and Friendship nights. Mrs. Putnam has charge of the supper hour this week and guarantees a simple and tasty supper. As usual there will be no charge, but a collection will be taken to pay the expenses incident to preparing such a meal. Plan to come to this service and fellowship with us around the tables.

The prayer service will follow the supper. This week our discussion topic is, "What Is Man?" The question as to what we are is one that we very seldom ask ourselves. We are rather satisfied with ourselves as a general rule. But religion and science have placed a definite value on human personality. What do you think you are worth? What do you amount to? Come and help us answer these questions.

"Bill" French promises us a happy hour in the game period. Hallowe'en games will be the order of the day. Come and help us celebrate together this autumn festival. You may not see any ghosts, but we know that you will see a good time. You are welcome at these services. Get the habit of dropping in at the Methodist vestry Friday evening. It pays dividends in friendship and fun.

Death of Mrs. Rose Jejeian

Mrs. Rose Jejeian, 55, wife of Manoog H. Jejeian of Bardwell St., died in her sleep last week Thursday night. She had been in her usual health, save that she had complained of a slight cold.

Mrs. Jejeian was born in Armenia, Turkey, and was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lazarus Hovsep. She was a student at Euphrates college, and in 1894, while an undergraduate, she married a worthy gentleman. In the massacre of 1895 her father and husband were murdered.

After she became a widow she again entered Euphrates college from which she graduated in 1902. Later she taught for 7 years in her alma mater.

Owing to the prevailing unrest in Turkey, she decided in 1909 to come to the United States. In 1910 she came to Belchertown to become Mrs. Jejeian. Mr. and Mrs. Je-

Acquires Stage Coach

An old stage coach rolled into town on Monday. If it had come into the village drawn by four horses, it would have created some excitement, but loaded on skids atop an auto truck, its entry was not quite so sentimental. It was an interesting sight, however, and caused some comment. We say "interesting" rather than "amusing," for who knows but that somebody's highly prized latest model car will some day, a hundred years hence, be seen perched on an airplane, sailing through the skies to find repose in some collection of "old-time" methods of travel.

For the stage coach referred to was bought by the Historical association and is now housed at the Ford Annex, where it is liable to stay, for it had to be considerably dismantled to clear the doorway.

The vehicle was made in Concord, N. H., and was used in Barre during the latter half of the past century. At the time of its purchase it was owned by George H. Hey-

The Urge Towards Peace

We are thankful that as we approach another Armistice Day, the urge for permanent peace is so strong. As our readers probably know, the 10th assembly of the League of Nations was held at Geneva, Switzerland, in September, 1928, out of 54 member states being represented. In an increasing sense, this is a world forum and it is interesting to learn what some of the statesmen said concerning peace and justice and their accomplishment at this session. We quote a few sentences from the verbatim record that reveal the atmosphere of the gathering:

H. H. Mirza—Persia

"It is a law of human affairs that nothing in this world is stable which does not rest on habit. You, gentlemen, are creating the habit of peace."

Ramsay McDonald—British Empire
"...I am in a position to announce to you now that my government has decided to sign the Optional Clause..."

"And so, Sir, we are going to take our risks of peace. Peace, I know, has its risks as well as war; but the difference between the nation that risks itself in peace and that which risks itself in war is this: that the nation that takes the risk of pioneering in peace is likely to get peace; the nation that takes the risk of leading in military preparations is absolutely certain to get war."

M. Briand—France

"France signed this (Optional) clause in 1924, but on condition... but I wish to tell you that this session will not end without our having renewed our signature."

M. Scialoja—Italy

"As regards the position of Italy, I have the honor to announce that this morning, on behalf of my Government, I signed the Act whereby we accept the compulsory arbitration of the Court."

M. Mowinckel—Norway
"The amendments to the Statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice, and the draft Protocol concerning the accession of the United States to the Court, are other measures which afford us an assurance that international peace will be based on a sound judicial system."

And Charles Evans Hughes, who has just returned from The Hague where he has been serving as one of the judges in the above mentioned Court of International Justice, characterized the World Court as the "most important of all undertakings for peace" and as "the absolute minimum of intelligent effort for the promotion of world peace." He added: "We had a very busy time. I found it all I expected and even more, and consider it a privilege to have a part in the work."

Faith and Friendship Night

The usual Faith and Friendship Night will be held Friday evening at 7.30 in the Methodist vestry. The discussion topic is, "What Is Sin?" Your attendance is invited and your participation. Come and make this meeting your own. After the devotional service there will be the recreational program. Here is your chance to play again. Play is a neglected art in our modern civilization. Enjoy yourself with your friends here. You are welcome.

Fifty-five were present last week at the supper prepared by Mrs. Rosabelle Putnam and her niece, Mrs. Edna Doolittle Root. The menu included Italian spaghetti, salad and pies. Halloween decorations on the tables, lights and walls, and Halloween sports in charge of William French following the devotional service, gave an appropriate setting to the evening. The plan is to have a supper once a month in connection with these services.

wood of Gardner who made use of it at the agricultural fairs in advertising his extensive farm business. The vehicle is in excellent condition and is almost identical with the one in the Pynchon memorial at Springfield.

The body of the coach contains three seats, one at each end and one in the middle. There is glass in each of the doors but the windows at either side have only curtains for protection. The upholstery and decorations are in a good state of preservation. At the rear of the body is a platform for baggage.

Above the driver's seat in front is an open-air seat and still higher up, on top of the coach is another observation seat, so that altogether the old stage coach could handle a number of passengers.

Motor car devotees claim that the present day trend is towards "underslung weight," but who knows but that the passengers who once rode in this old-time vehicle, perched here and there on its high seats, were just as happy as those who now ride nearer Mother Earth. The Association bought the vehicle but the memories of many merry miles can only be imagined.

A drive for funds for the Girl Scout work is being made this week. Members of the Girl Scout committee are calling on citizens, asking for their support directly rather than through the medium of sales, entertainments, etc. The committee has prepared a budget of its expenses and hopes to be able to care for it in a generous manner. If those interested prefer to give in this way, as the committee feels that they do, it is hoped to establish a precedent for other years, when annual gifts will be received regularly

Library Activities in Belchertown 1852-1875

Paper by Miss Marion E. Bartlett read at Semi-annual meeting of the Historical Association October 30th.

Seventy-seven years ago on the fourteenth of February, 1852, the Young Gentlemen's and Ladies' Social Circle of Belchertown held a fair. Two and one-half years later the proceeds of this fair were used to establish the so-called Society Library or Library Association Library. This library flourished for a time with Calvin S. Bugbee as librarian and James H. Montague as assistant librarian. However, during the long dreary years of the Civil War, it fell somewhat into disuse, and after fifteen years of existence was merged with the Young Men's Christian Association library.

A Y. M. C. A. had been organized in this town in March, 1859. Because so many of its members were called for the defense of the Union, this organization seemed short lived, but in the spring of 1867 it was revived and became very active. Among its other activities, an attempt was made to furnish a reading room and to establish a Y. M. C. A. library. In May of that year C. B. Hayes was appointed librarian and in August of the same year funds were subscribed for a reading room by members of the Association and by other interested citizens who were desirous of improving the condition of the young men of Belchertown.

Of the $75.00 raised, $50.00 was reserved for papers and periodicals; the remainder was used to procure a circulating library. Then a committee was appointed to secure more books for the library; said committee when soliciting money was advised to solicit books also. James Herrick was chosen librarian and care taker of the reading room, which was located in an upstairs room in the brick store. In September it was voted to credit the librarian his annual payment for that year.

In October a table, chairs and lights were purchased for the reading room. In November Charles Washburn became librarian.

During the winter of '67 and '68 about $40.00 worth of books was purchased "to lay the foundation for a valuable and permanent library for the benefit of Belchertown."

Early in the year 1868, plans began to develop in regard to a union of the Society Library, consisting of 160 volumes, and the Y. M. C. A. library of 48 volumes. After nine months, the plans were consummated and articles of agreement adopted. The new library was known as the Union Library, and the librarian was instructed "to open the reading room every evening unless in his judgment it shall not seem best." Ten dollars of the Association's funds were voted as pay for the librarian, for services rendered during the preceding year—not an enormous salary!

Later books were contributed by Mr. S. D. Cowles's Sabbath School Class, by Mrs. Bruce, Dr. Oscar Roberts and Rev. W. W. Woodworth.

In October, 1868, the Association received a donation of $30.00 from the Young Peoples' Sewing and Reading Society for the benefit of the library. The lady members of the foregoing society were made honorary members of the Association with all privileges of the Association except voting. Members of the Library Association Library, the Y. M. C. A. and the Young Peoples' Sewing and Reading Society were given free use of the Union Library. Other people were charged 25 cents per quarter for the privilege of using it.

According to a report, "the library contained a choice collection of Historical works, Biographies and Books of Travel, with a sprinkling of Poetry and lighter literature, and also of religious reading."

One article of agreement read: "In case both Associations should disband, the library shall not be sold for the benefit of the members of either or both, but shall continue to be kept for the public benefit."

After the Union Library came into existence the management of its affairs was largely in the hands of a library committee, but in December, 1869, the Y. M. C. A. voted that "the librarian draw up a subscription paper for the benefit of the library and get all he can."

An item in a report of 1868 reminds one of present day comments in regard to library books—"We found the books in as good condition as could be expected, considering how much some of them are used; book-makers now-a-days do not seem to feel bound to bind their books very substantially."

Mr. Washburn, after several years of service as librarian, was succeeded by Charles R. Bruce.

No reference is made in the Association records to the Union Library after the year 1875, but many of the books, some of which were printed over a century ago, were given to Clapp Memorial Library and accessioned there under date of July 20, 1887. A sticker on the inside of a front cover reads as follows:

"Library Association of Belchertown. Meetings are holden quarterly, on the first Tuesdays of March, June, September and December.

"All books must be returned at the quarterly meetings, on penalty of six cents per week.

"Books may be returned and others drawn at any time, on application to the librarian.

"Shares $2.00 each."

By whatever name a library in Belchertown has been or is still called, its aim remains the same. It is desirous of being of service and help to all people in this community.

At the conclusion, Mrs. Hazel Wunsch, the new president, on behalf of the auxiliary, presented Mrs. Della Greene, the retiring president, a $2.50 gold piece, in appreciation of her services the past year. Mrs. Beaton, the installing officer, was also presented a similar gold piece.

Social Guild Supper

The Social Guild held its first public supper of the season last week Friday night at 6.30. It was termed a Harvest supper, and the decorations bespoke it. In fact they were so ingenious that they almost took the place of the first course. Each table was adorned with wee little pumpkins, and strands of colored crepe paper, while at the plates were napkins folded boat-shaped, all rigged (tooth-picked) with a "Life Saver". Individual candle fruit salads lit up the scene; pineapple rings answered for bases, sections of bananas were the candles and a Marschino cherry furnished the light, while salad dressing took the place of melted tallow.

And as if this were not enough, waitresses dashed at one with aprons ablaze with color. If such a pace keeps up all winter, the men may just as well serve bread and milk in March.

Editor of the Sentinel:

When the annual encampment of the National G. A. R. at Denver in Sept. 1928 voted to hold the 1929 meeting in Portland, Me., I was in high glee, for I thought I would have opportunity to meet my comrades of Massachusetts and Michigan, and could also have a good long visit in my native Belchertown. But while man proposes, it is God who disposes, and on Jan. 7 I was stricken with apoplexy which took me out of the field of activity, and I am much crippled, with very little prospect of recovery. But I am able to read, and the weekly visits of the Sentinel have kept me in touch with boyhood playmates, and I have had lots of time for reflection and reminiscence.

The death of Dwight F. Shumway and David Jepson removes two of my boyhood companions, and although they were both younger than I, they were not forgotten, and I visited with both when I was in Belchertown two years ago.

I picked up a New York paper quite recently, in which was an article depicting the great growth of manufacturing, especially of paper, in the city of Holyoke, Mass. It was then that I realized I was an old man, for I stood with my father on the bank of the Connecticut river at South Hadley Falls when the first dam was built. It had been announced that the gates would be closed on the following Saturday, and when the time arrived a large company of people had gathered to see the water pour over the great dam.

While the water was rising, the spectators were freely expressing opinions, some claiming the dam was not strong enough, and others taking the opposite view. The contractor heard the comments, and standing on the abutment, he took off his hat and said to the crowd, "I've got a dam there that God Almighty can't move." But when the water had risen to within a few feet of the top of it, the whole structure began to quiver and settle, and a danger alarm was sounded, and soon came the breaking of timbers, the rushing of water and the frantic cries of spectators, and the dam, according to the contractor's own words, "had gone to hell by way of Willimansett."

At that time, except one small farm house and workmen's tool houses, there was not a building of any kind on the Holyoke side of the river.

Another dam was built immediately on a different plan, and that dam is in there now, but a cut stone front has been put in more recently which gives it the appearance of a stone dam. I stood on the abutment on the Holyoke side two years ago, and the log dam just back of the stone front could plainly be seen.

Some comical things happened on the day mentioned. For instance: After the gates in the dam were closed, the water soon drained off from the river bed, and men and teams were in there getting out building stones, and many people were walking about, picking up shells and relics, until warning was shouted that they were in danger, and then there was a lively scramble to get to safety. I have in mind several Belchertown men who were in there, but especially do I remember Mr. James H. Clapp. He was a portly man and came struggling and puffing up the bank, and seeing my father and Mr. Ebenezer Warner, he reached out his hands and cried frantically, "Devil, Devil, Warner, help me up!"

It was a frightful scene, with such an immense body of water full of timbers plunging down end over end, and people screaming with fright.

I suppose there are few people living who saw that catastrophe, because most people die before they are as old as I am. There were but few children there, and I was not quite seven years old.

Turkey Hills and Rovers This Week

By Noei

As we go to press, the most important contest in the Suffolk Social league schedule this week is taking place between the Turkey Hills and the league-leading Rovers, the result of which will appear in next week's paper. This contest is one of great importance to the members and followers of both teams, but more so to the rival managers, Andy Sears and Jim Long of South Hadley Falls. These bowlers have been great "enemies" at the alleys in past years, with the former having a slight edge on his opponent from the sidelines. This year, Sears and Long have both gathered up a team of bowlers, with the latter having better success at present, as far as victories are concerned. The Rovers have great confidence in themselves and can furnish plenty of opposition with such bowlers as Mgr. Long, Davis, Itner, Burnette and Curran. The Turkey Hills are not to be outdone and much is expected of Mgr. Sears's entry as the season advances.

A victory for the Rovers means a stronger hold on first place, they already having won 13 out of 15 points, while a win for the Turkey Hills means a chance to move up in the league standing—they are now in sixth place.

The averages of the local bowlers as compiled to date are as follows: *Henrichon, 102.3; *St. Michael, 95.6; MacDonald, 93.8; Sears, 92.7; Green, 92.5; Fairchild, 92.4; Holmes, 90.6; *Swain, 90.3; *Noel, 89.3; *Provost, 75.3.—*Bowled one match.

lation, performed the duties of installing officer for Camp 83. He was assisted by District Commander Knox as guide. In appreciation of the services of Mr. Moran, Commander E. O. Stebbins, on behalf of the camp, presented the former with a package containing cigars.

The work of the installing officers was most highly commended by Comrade John Sears of Greenfield, a G. A. R. veteran, who, when called on for remarks, said that he had seen many installations, but that this was the finest he had ever witnessed.

There were other personages on the platform, all of whom were called upon. Dept. Com. Chester White of Northampton took occasion to compliment the camp on a membership gain of nine during the year, thus leading the state, but counseled continued efforts, as he sensed keen competition in other camps. Awards are made each year on a percentage basis.

Dist. Comdr. Lester Knox, Comdr. Cook of Amherst, Comdr. Little of Northampton and Dept. Organizer James Knox of Springfield were called upon. Others on the floor had to respond, including Mrs. Beaton, and Laura Ernest of Holyoke, Past Dept. President.

At the conclusion of the remarks the ladies served refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee. There were 71 present, parties coming from Springfield, Northampton, Easthampton, Holyoke and Amherst. In accordance with requests from headquarters, Sons of Veterans uniforms were somewhat in evidence. The commander of the local camp is the first one here to be thus outfitted.

The ambitious proceedings of Monday evening as well as those which have preceded, are largely the fruition of Mr. Stebbins's efforts to have a live camp and auxiliary in Belchertown.

A reader of Dr. Brady's column in the daily press was interested in his answer to a question relative to scarlet fever, and in view of the presence of the disease here, submits the question and answer for republication, believing that Dr. Brady is considered an authority in the matter.

"Can a child get scarlet fever from a case of scarlet rash, if the person with scarlet rash is not sick enough to go to bed? (C. K.)

"Answer—Certainly. 'Scarlet rash' and 'scarletina' are just other names for scarlet fever. There is one disease, no matter how many different names you find for it."

Girl Scout Notes

The Girl Scout council held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. E. McPherson. Reports of the recent drive for funds were most encouraging, both in the amount of money secured and in the general attitude of the public towards Scout work.

Although there were many gifts of 25 and 50 cents, the total will meet the budget for the year, it is hoped. Immediately following the report, it was voted to install one or two much needed lights in the Scout room and also to add certain small conveniences. It was also voted to pay the state quota. Educational and recreational activities for the girls came up for discussion and it is hoped that the council will be able to help send some girls to camp next summer.

The troop report stated that so many new members had joined that another patrol had been formed, the three patrol leaders now being Alice Hussey, Gertrude Knight and Barbara Baggs.

Special interest was reported in the work of the Needle-woman's Guild, some of the girls having already completed a garment. These garments, which must number 22 in all before the end of the year, are to be given away and form a part of community service as well as furnishing a means for the Scout to demonstrate her sewing for the second class work.

Two scribes have been appointed from the troop who will contribute Girl Scout troop news to the Sentinel.

TROOP NEWS

The meeting was held as usual in the Girl Scout rooms. After opening exercises, we returned to patrol corners. Because of the increasing number of girls, it was decided to have three patrols. Scout Barbara Baggs was chosen as patrol leader of the new patrol.

After business had been completed, the girls were divided into different groups. Miss Acknich has charge of the Home Nursing group for first class, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Farrington are in charge of the sewing for the Needle-woman's Guild for second class work, and Scout Alice Hussey is in charge of the Tenderfoot class.

Games were played and the meeting closed with the "Goodnight Circle" and "Taps."

The entertainment consisted of a musical romance read by Miss Gertrude Knight, the blank places being filled by old songs played by Mrs. Marion Shaw. This brought into bold relief the troubled, "What is it?" look and the satisfied, "I've got it!" The "Art Gallery" kept the folks figuring quite a few minutes. Strange to say, they all had a little difficulty with the article that wasn't there.

Fletcherism was thrown into the discard when two teams lined up for dry eats, each side trying to beat the other in mowing away in varying sized bites, the saliva-absorbing substance. Carl Aspengren's side succeeded.

Those in charge of the contests were Mrs. G. E. Scott and Miss Gertrude Knight, while the supper committee consisted of Mrs. H. F. Duncan, Mrs. H. Morgan Ryther, Mrs. J. Raymond Gould, Mrs. J. Howell Cook and Mrs. W. S. Piper.

The order will sponsor another series of dances, the following committee to be in charge: J. Howell Cook, Charles Sanford and Howard Snow.

Mrs. Harry F. Putnam was elected a member of the executive committee to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Mary Spencer.

A fine "family supper" preceded the business meeting.

Men's Club Meeting and Supper

Just enough of the novel entered into the Men's club monthly meeting and supper at the chapel Monday evening to make it a success. To begin with, the "J. G's" served the repast, a realm in which they had never publicly functioned before, but they came through gloriously. It was a dinner indeed, and as the servings and side dishes kept coming in, the men began to feel cheap to pay the stipulated price and sent a representative to the kitchen to see if the youngsters weren't running behind.

At the business meeting following, conducted by H. F. Peck, president, there was again revealed the novel situation of a treasury with quite a bit of money in it, due to the proceeds of the Enfield choir entertainment. The men promptly voted to pay the picnic expenses which they had agreed to take care of, and invested a little money in the coming generation by voting to send Louis Fuller and Edward Schmidt to the Y. M. C. A. Older Boys' conference at Pittsfield, Dec. 6, 7 and 8. Rev. F. C. Rolls was empowered to name alternates if necessary.

The Club also voted to sponsor a moving picture entertainment, which it is thought the telephone organization will be glad to furnish. This would be held in Memorial hall and be open to the public. H. E. Sessions was appointed a committee of one to attend to the matter.

And the novel certainly was evident in the entertainment. Mr. Cobb, who is employed at the State school and who is organist at the First Congregational church of South Hadley Falls, delighted the company with several selections on the piano from Schubert and other masters, and later on the organ at the church, when the gathering finally disbanded.

Central Group Rally

Confidence in youth was the undeniable reaction felt by listeners-in at the M. E. church last week Friday night. The coming together of the Central Group of Epworth Leagues afforded opportunity for impressions of the younger generation, and they rang true.

At the banquet tables in the vestry the young folks made merry in modern style with their society cheers; at the service following they conducted the meeting with dignity and yet in happy mien; and they threw themselves with characteristic abandon into the games that followed.

The message of the evening, given by Rev. George Taylor of Easthampton, himself one of the younger clergymen of this section, was a challenge to youth to have high ideals and to follow them. He claimed that those who are fitting away on life's unessentials and those who have no moral regard for their souls or bodies are but the minority and a noisy minority at that, and as—

Center School Entertainment

A moving picture entertainment will be given tonight at 7.30 at Memorial hall under the auspices of the center grade schools. It is hoped that the response of the public will be sufficient to enable the schools to purchase a radio equipment, as they already have part of the necessary amount from the parking of cars on Fair day. If the proceeds are not sufficient for the buying of a radio outfit, they will be used for some equipment such as the proceeds of last year's entertainments made possible. At least, the price of admission should not keep folks away, 25 cents for adults and ten cents for children.

Swimming Tank Filled Yesterday

"Come on in, the water's fine!" We don't know why it shouldn't be. For drinking purposes it tests extremely high and it ought to be equally good to swim in.

These observations apply to the new swimming tank on the Belchertown Farms that was filled for the first time yesterday—and with water district water.

It takes 66,000 gallons, by the way, to fill this receptacle in the lot back of the Fuller mansion on Mill Valley road, but being classed as a commercial proposition, it takes a sort of "heating" rate, as might be expected. It is 24 feet by 60 feet, varying in depth from 4 to 12 feet.

It is built of a vulcanite waterproof cement, reinforced with steel—five tons of it, and the outside of the walls, which are 12 inches thick, was coated with asphalt for double protection.

To take care of any water that—

The Banner with a New Device

Years ago an American poet sang of a youth who bore "a banner with a strange device". On Armistice Day our president unfurled a banner with a device even more strange and challenging than Longfellow's "Excelsior"; "Free Food Ships".

Standing by the beautiful monument that in the National Cemetery marks the resting place of the unknown soldier who died in France, whose patriotism and bravery and that of his comrades he eulogized, the president raised his banner and challenged the nations to make food ships free in time of war. The world has heard the challenge. It is a noble call from a great heart. The challenger's work during the war was to feed the helpless. He fought for the food for their women and children which the war-mad belligerents were sinking in the sea. His was an experience among the innocent sufferers from some of the horrible cruelties of war to turn a man's mind to thoughts of mercy.

Some are saying this challenge does credit to his humanitarian principles but is not practical. Do not be disturbed by such criticism of the president's proposition. Note this carefully: The practical among nations is what they agree voluntarily upon honor to practice. It may be to limit standing armies, to reduce navies, to abandon the use of submarines, gas, the bombing of cities from the air, and the sinking of passenger and food ships. Is it not time that more humanity should be injected into the awful barbarism of modern war? The president thinks so and asks the nations to consider the matter and take this step in advance. The step will prove a practical one if the nations are wise enough to take it.

Rovers Take Two Points

By Noel

That Turkey-Hill-Rovers contest at the Suffolk alleys last Thursday night will be a long remembered affair. The pace-setting Rovers took two points, but that's about all; the Turkey Hills did the rest, winning one point and pinfall. The result was a gain in the point column for the Rovers, but, oh, how they hated to ante up with the cashier. The strong Turkey Hills should have won the match easily, but tough breaks at opportune times were very costly.

It was the most exciting contest of the season and, never, has there been so much cheering and "razzing" as there was that night. The outcome of the match was practically decided by the anchor men, with the veteran, Jim Long, having a slight edge over his younger opponent, Eddie Henrichon, the former being able to top-ple the pins when they were greatly needed.

The first point was won by the Rovers with two pins to spare, while the second was a walk-away for Andy Sears's charges. The third point was not decided until the last string. The Longs were enjoying a lead of 35 pins, when McDonald and Holmes came through with strings of 104 and 100, respectively, thus cutting the Rovers' lead down to four pins. It was then up to Henrichon or Long to win the match for their respective teams, with the latter rolling a 90 to his opponent's 82.

McDonald was high man of the night, hitting the century mark or more in each string for a total of 314. Davis, lead off man, was high with 294 for the Rovers. Score:

Table with 4 columns: Name, Rovers 2, Turkey Hills 1, Total. Includes Davis, Ittner, McKay, Damon, Long, Sears, Green, McDonald, Holmes, Henrichon.

Table with 4 columns: Name, Rovers 2, Turkey Hills 1, Total. Includes Brown, B. Leske, Ironside, Dion, F. Leske.

The Turkey Hills rolled this week's match on Tuesday night and took two points from the Mid-Ways. The local team maintained the lead throughout the entire match and came near giving their opponents a whitewash, losing the last point by seven pins. This completes the first round of the schedule of the Suffolk Social League. The second round will get under way next week, with the Turkey Hills booked to meet the Tip Tops.

First Dial Telephone

The first dial telephone to be installed in town was put in this week at Belchertown Farms, which has been connected with the Springfield exchange by reason of the large retail egg and poultry business done by the Farms in that city. Now householders in Springfield can call the plant as easily as the corner grocery and at no expense.

Extension lines have been run to the killing room and also to E. A. Fuller's residence. The killing room has been one of the additions to the plant this past summer. It is equipped with an electrically heated scalding tank, and a Frigidaire cooled room adjoins.

Probably few people realize the big retail business the local plant does in Springfield. Mr. Fuller delivers daily the product of 3000 laying stock kept at the Spencer farm. The firm standardizes its product to a nicety, weighing the eggs individually and classifying them accordingly.

Among the social events of the week were a party at Wilfrid Noel's new home given by out of town relatives, a quilting party at Mrs. E. F. Shumway's and the Ladies' Social Union Thimble party at Mrs. C. R. Green's.

The Ladies' Social Union met with Mrs. Pearl Green Wednesday afternoon and enjoyed a very interesting program of readings, singing and stunts with prizes. The prize winners were Mrs. Ruth Kempkes, Mrs. Alice Hubbard and Mrs. Ethelyn Grindle. The supper served by the hostess consisted of scalloped oysters, several kinds of sandwiches, cake and marguerites. It was decided that at the next meeting thimbles should be more in evidence. Sixteen ladies were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Noel were pleasantly surprised last Saturday night by a large party of friends and relatives, who made it an occasion to remember this young couple who have recently built a new home on Springfield road. Mr. and Mrs. Noel received many supplies for the pantry. Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Wood of Ludlow. Refreshments were served.

The speaker said that in college there are those who know why they are there, and there are those who could go twice as far if they half tried. The only difference is, Ideals, he said. He also spoke of ideals in religion, industry, politics and world affairs.

A. P. Van Derpoel of Chicopee Falls, president of the Central Group, presided, while the speaker was introduced by Russell Flanagan of Northampton, treasurer of the organization. The address of welcome was given by Rev. Rockwell Smith.

Holyoke stood second and Westfield third in the list of percentages. The Belchertown society had 14 of its 23 members present, but was not eligible to compete for the banner. A social hour followed in the vestry, Rev. Rockwell Smith and William French having charge of the games and stunts, which were conducted in a manner quite professional and which were entered into most hilariously. In fact the atmosphere of the entire rally was one of contagious enthusiasm.

This idea was one of T. P. Rylands's, the ingenious head of Reynolds and Co., contractors in charge, who wanted to make sure that this piece of construction was permanent.

There are scum gutters around the edges, so that before one "goes in", he hasn't got to wait for the brook to rise, but can turn on the water, and when it's of the right complexion, take the plunge.

But it's lucky the kids weren't bouncing around on the surface yesterday, otherwise the contractor wouldn't have known when the tank was full. Workmen are now filling in around where the forms were.

Golden Wedding

Golden wedding bells rang for Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Witt of North Main street last week. In fact, the couple had good reason to believe that they would never stop ringing. There was a family party on Wednesday, the anniversary day, and there was enough ado so that they had settled down to their usual quiet life for another term of years. They were quite surprised, therefore, Friday afternoon, to be informed that they were wanted at the M. E. vestry that evening in order that church people and other friends might have a pull on the golden threaded rope.

The usual Faith and Friendship program was abbreviated to fit the occasion, but even the prayer service at 7.30 breathed the wedding atmosphere with its subject of Homes, and served as an appropriate prelude to the celebration of the founding of this home 50 years ago.

It was in the church, but it was "a pretty home wedding", nevertheless. Parlor lamps, parsonage furniture, rugs, potted plants, cut flowers, all helped to make it so. And a crepe paper portiere with yellow and white ribbons descending from golden chrysanthemums, all against a background of green, helped to lend a golden aspect to the occasion. Overhead was a wedding bell and a card lettered in gold bearing the inscription "1879-1929."

It was in such surroundings and with such a background that Mr. and Mrs. Witt informally received their friends and calmly awaited the turn of events.

The picture will linger long—the couple seated on the davenport, with a grandson on either side, hardly cognizant of the part they were playing in the proceedings, the inner circle composed of members of the family and relatives, and the outer circle of friends, all anxious to pay them honor.

The formality of receiving over, the following program was rendered:

By Noel

The Turkey Hills rolled their first match in the second round of the Suffolk Social League in Holyoke Tuesday night and dropped two points to the Tip Tops. The local team is one of the heaviest rolling teams in the league, but seems to have the jinx of losing points by small margins. In this contest, the Turkey Hills again proved to be superior over their opponents in pinfall by gathering a team total of 1440 to the Tip Tops' 1428.

It was an exciting contest from start to finish. After losing two points, the Searsmen came back strong and took the last point with the big total of 500. Andy Sears copped the honors of the night, rolling the high single of 114 and a three-string total of 302. Joe Bowers toppled the pins with ease for the Tip Tops and was high man with 298. In fact, the bowlers of both teams were in good form, not one having an average below 90. Score:

Another bowling team has been organized in town under the name of the All Stars, and plans are to arrange a series of matches with various out-of-town teams. The team is mostly made up of local bowlers and included in the lineup are Andy Sears and C. R. Green, star pin top-plers of the Turkey Hill entry in the Suffolk Social League. A series has already been booked with the Gulf Refining Co., bowlers of Palmer, and the first match was rolled last week Thursday night on Midma's alleys in that town, with the "Gas Boys" coming out on top, 2 to 1. Both teams were rather off form, which resulted in many low scores. The All Stars are looking for revenge on their opponents in the next contest, which will be rolled at a later date. Score:

Legion Man Here

Belchertown was visited this past week by Legionaire Thos. McDonough of Brooklyn, a past commander of the 14th Infantry Post American Legion. He was on his way to the Veterans' hospital at Rutland Heights, to visit a comrade of his post who is incarcerated with tuberculosis.

He was accompanied by Past Commander Parent of the Chauncey D. Walker Post. Mr. McDonough was so impressed with the pleasant conditions at the hospital that he invited Legionaire Parent to visit his Post in Brooklyn to assist in rendering a report of their visit.

Mr. Parent will report his experiences with the Brooklyn Legionaire at the next meeting of the local Post. Mr. Parent says that the American Legion in the "big town" is quite the "big thing."

Several of the musical numbers were encored. Mrs. Ora Davis was in charge of the program, and Mrs. Collis had the music in charge, also officiating at the piano.

Atty. Parker, in presenting the gold, called attention to the fact that the recipients had spent half a century making gold in their characters, thus preparing them for this day, and as he gave the precious box to Kenneth Witt to hand to his grand parents, he said that they had "the esteem and respect and love of the whole community."

Mr. Witt responded in happy vein, taking the assemblage with him on that eventful trip over Shelburne mountain to Colrain where they were married at a church sociable by Rev. John Capen, a former pastor of the M. E. church here, and back to Shelburne Falls by stage coach and on to Millers Falls and home. Mr. Witt related many mirth provoking anecdotes in his reminiscences of those far off days.

Mr. Witt expressed appreciation for what the years had brought them and testified that they had experienced more "ups" than "downs". Speaking of his relationship with the M. E. church, he said that he had been a member about 56 years and his wife 54, and that to his knowledge only two other couples in the church had lived to celebrate their golden wedding: Mr. and Mrs. Morse and Mr. and Mrs. Gould.

Mr. Witt was born at Granby, the son of Horace and Irene (Smith) Witt. Mrs. Witt was born at Belchertown, the youngest of ten children of Elias and Saphronia (Mills) Chapin. Both Mr. and Mrs. Witt are the last of their families. They spent a few years of their early married life in Granby and Holyoke, but have lived in Belchertown for about 45 years. During most of this time they owned and operated a large farm on John W. Jackson St., which was purchased by the state some years ago.

Mr. Witt has served the town as selectman and superintendent of streets and has been one of the water commissioners since the incorporation of the district in 1922. He has served the Methodist church as trustee for many years and has been superintendent of the Sunday school where both Mr. and Mrs. Witt have left indelible impress upon the pupils in their classes. They are also former members of Union grange.

Four of their six children are living, two daughters having died in infancy. Henry H. Witt conducts a large farm on Federal street; Edgar Clifton, Jr., is manager of a First National store at Williamsburg; Miss Effie Witt is a teacher in the Junior High school at Stamford, Ct., and Earl Witt is principal of the High school at Stafford Springs, Ct. There are also four grand children, Edgar Clifton, 3rd, Maynard

Refreshments of butterfly salad, sandwiches, cookies, cake and cocoa were served, and as a grand climax there was the presentation and cutting of the mammoth wedding cake. The party dispersed with the hope that the future would still dispense to this congenial pair, more "ups" than "downs".

Radio for School

The center grade schools are considering the purchase and installation of a radio set from the funds received from the moving picture entertainment and the parking of cars on Fair day. The radio would be available not only for special broadcasts but also for the weekly music appreciation hour at 11 on Friday mornings, given especially for school children, under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

For several years music supervisors have given courses in music appreciation in many towns, but the radio enables both pupils and teachers to hear this program given by Mr. Damrosch who is able not only to interpret the work but to give from an intimate knowledge and acquaintance with the composers that which makes the half hour especially valuable. Large towns and cities are doing this which has been made possible for Belchertown through the generosity of the townspeople under the up-to-date leadership of the center school teachers.

Historic Dwelling Burns

The old Harris place at Knight's Corners was burned Saturday night about 10 by a fire of unknown origin. The place was owned by Louis Serra who was at work at the State school, his wife and son also being absent from home. The blaze was discovered by Max Gollenbusch, but nothing was saved except some clothes on a line in the yard. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The house was estimated to be 150 to 175 years old and had been the home of five generations of Supt. H. C. Knight's family. It was built by Phinias Davison who married Polly Randall. She was of the same family as Ben Randall of tavern fame. The first house on their ancestral acres, which comprised a much larger territory than now, was built of timbers from a house owned by Dr. Rowland's ancestors and which stood on a road long discontinued. This house was burned during the earlier manhood of Phinias Davison.

The house destroyed by fire Saturday night is known to have been the birthplace of the daughter of Polly Davison, who married John Ward, the date of her birth being 1802. At that time the house had been in existence some years. A son of John and Polly Ward, born in this house, was drowned in the pond near by and was the first person to be buried in the cemetery there, which was then a part of the farm. This same Phinias Davison was the author of books which are still the prized possession of the Harry Ward family.

The marriage of Polly Ward brought the farm into the Knight family for the next two or three generations and gave the name of Knights Corners to the cross roads.

Results of Red Cross Roll Call

Mrs. H. F. Duncan, who is in charge of the Red Cross roll call, reports receipts of $100. This amount is $27 more than that raised last year.

Dr. G. E. McPherson, who has headed the drive for members at the State school, reports a total of $145 raised there. Although the amounts are sent in separately, the total for the town is $245.

Guests of Amherst Theatre

Two hundred fifty pupils of the State school have good reason to remember Tuesday, December 3, for on that date they were guests of the Amherst Theatre at a special performance for their sole benefit. The production was Harold Lloyd's first talking picture, "Welcome Danger."

A larger number than was at first thought possible were able to avail themselves of the invitation, due to the generosity of members of the Rotary club of Amherst, who transported 100, and D. Donald Hazen, who kindly took 25.

We are told that they were a finely behaved bunch on the trip, but when the proper time came they had plenty of pent-up energy to release. When Dr. G. E. McPherson, superintendent of the school, introduced

Mr. Smith, the manager of the theater, to the children, they responded with three rousing roof raisers that are still reverberating. And outside the theatre the doctor found a ready response to his call for three more cheers for their benefactors in transportation.

Of course, due to the size of the institution, there were a great many children who couldn't go, but they will be remembered possibly at another time. Only it will not be simply a case of remember, for a record is kept of those who go on such trips. As would be expected, also, good behavior and amount of parent interest figure in the matter.

Annual Meeting and Roll Call

The Congregational church family, about 100 strong, met at the chapel Wednesday evening for their annual meeting and roll call. A scalloped salmon and baked bean supper under the auspices of the Social Guild, preceded. Gleaming candles on the tables lent an atmosphere of friendliness to this annual gathering where fellowship runs high.

Thomas Allen was moderator at the business meeting which opened with prayer by Rev. F. C. Rolls. Reports bulked large in the program. Miss Marion E. Bartlett reported two baptisms, two accessions on confession of faith, five deaths, four dismissals by letter, and a present membership of 173.

The treasurer, Miss Ella A. Stebbins, reported expenditures for current expenses of $2,676.53, besides gifts to benevolences and to the interior redecoration fund.

C. F. Aspengren reported for the trustees, calling especial attention to the reshingling of the church which has been accomplished this past season.

The Sunday school report was given by James R. Collard, secretary and treasurer, who gave the average attendance as 64. Activities during the year included the sending of 25 Christmas boxes to shut-ins, a picnic, rally and festal day observances, and the recent sending of boxes of various Christmas gifts to

Turkey Hills Break Record

By Noel

Well, the Turkey Hills did their stuff at last! It happened Tuesday night on the Suffolk alleys with the strong Lucky Five taking a hard beating at the hands of Andy Sears' pin topplers. The teams were engaged in a Social League match and the Paper City team, which is at present in second place in the league standing, was anxious to add the local team to its long list of victims. But there was one important thing in Mgr. Sears's mind and that was to pick out a lineup which could beat the Lucky Five, a team mostly made up of Dusty League stars. With eight bowlers on hand, it was a difficult problem to solve, but the local manager can well thank himself for choosing a combination which not only defeated its opponents, but broke the high team total of 1477 by rolling a record total of 1511.

John Fairchild was elected to roll the first string for the local team and was opposed by "Frenchy" Emond. Fairchild got 85, which is considered a good string without a mark, while Emond's string was 99. As the latter wished to roll his remaining two strings, so that he might take part in another match later in the evening, Clayton Green was sent in to oppose him. Green topped Emond in both strings by 17 pins, thereby giving the local team a three-pin lead in the entire string, 281 to 278. Orcutt and Barsalou followed, but the former bowler's string of 111 was topped by the latter's 127. McDonald then beat his opponent by eight pins, but Holmes lost by the same margin. Although Eddie Henrichon gained 19 pins on his rival, the totals found the Lucky Five in the lead by 11 points.

The second string began with a ten pin lead for the Turkey Hills by virtue of Green's 107 rolled earlier in the match. Then came some fine bowling by the local team and, being greatly aided by Mgr. Sears and several rooters, who did all in their power to prevent their opponents from getting big strings, it soon appeared as though the high string total of 540 was in for a close call, but the Turkey Hills best was six pins less with 534.

With a point for each team and the Searsmen enjoying a pinfall lead of 41 pins, both teams were eager to win the last point. Although the Turkey Hills had a seven pin lead, Barsalou's 110 gave his team the lead, only to lose it again once and for all, when McDonald beat his opponent, 99 to 92. The final totals gave the Turkey Hills the point by eight pins. Whether the new team total will stand for the remainder of the bowling season remains to be seen. The local team, at least, hopes that it will. Great credit must be given to the winners, with McDonald, Holmes and Orcutt each going over the 300 mark. Barsalou of the losers was high man of the night with 330. Score:

The meeting of the Sew-and-Sew club Monday at the home of Mrs. L. E. Williams served a double purpose. While the ladies were planning, basting and stitching aprons, Mrs. Clara Lincoln in her quiet way was enjoying her 82nd birthday with us. The ladies had planned a surprise and each contributed a card or other small gift and the cake had been adorned with candles. As we have seen done before, side glances were cast toward it to see if the age of the fair lady might be determined, which she in no way tried to hide, but 24 candles was all that could be counted.

Mrs. Lincoln had brought with her a copy of a poem which her teacher, Miss Lois Dickinson, afterwards Mrs. Graves of Amherst, gave her over 70 years ago while a girl in school. This was read aloud at her request and was thought to be appropriate to be printed in 1929.

'TIS THE FASHION

"'Tis the fashion," said a maiden Who on her lovely head Wore a very little bonnet When wintry snow flakes sped. "The fashion now is very small, And well, my friends, you know That I must do as others do E'en mid the falling snow."

"'Tis the fashion," said a fair one, Who on her little feet Wore a pair of silken gaiters Which set quite snug and neat.

I saw her on the sidewalk Upon the glittering ice, With her beaver cloak and furs on, And gaiters all so nice. "'Tis the fashion," said another, Who on her waist around Rich India rubber girdles Are far too tightly bound. "'Tis the fashion, friend, to wear it, Support to give the frame, And I must do as others do, So I am not to blame."

"'Tis the fashion," lisped another, With rosy, parted lips, Who in the latest crinoline, Moved with fantastic trip. "'Tis the fashion," and the sidewalk The lady fair now owns. I wonder why these boorish men Don't keep the paving stoned.

But soon I missed that lovely form; Why like a fairy sped? So heedless of the piercing cold With her uncovered head. Then I looked in vain to see The maiden fair and gay Who through the snow so lightly tripped In gaiters thin that day.

It was said consumption marked their brows And stole their roses fair. I thought upon their thin-clad feet And lovely head so bare. But O, "'Tis the fashion, friends," To my remembrance came, And, "'We must do as others do, So we are not to blame."

This "'Tis the fashion" makes more slaves Than have as yet begun To toil in cotton fields Or 'neath equator's burning sun. And fashion is a despot worse Than southern slave e'er knew; Their souls are free But fashion binds the soul and body, too.

There were fourteen ladies and children who enjoyed the salad, sandwiches, cake and cocoa with real cream. Here's hoping we have more birthdays to celebrate.

Miss Ella Nelson of the Shriners hospital, Springfield, spent the week-end with Mrs. J. R. Newman.

Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Burnham left town Tuesday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will spend the winter. They will be with friends from Chicopee, who are also wintering there.

B. C. Colby, who has a barber shop in Masonic block, slipped on the ice as he was taking the bus to go away for the holiday and fell, breaking his shoulder. He was attended by Dr. Collard, who took him to the Holyoke hospital for an X-ray examination.

About thirty from the Congregational church attended the meeting at First church, Amherst, Sunday evening. We hope to glimpse this gathering later, where mention was made of J. B. Knight's contribution to India.

Annual Meeting and Roll Call

the Palmer Memorial Institute at Sedalia, No. Carolina.

Mrs. F. C. Rolls, superintendent of the Primary department, reported an enrolment of 37 in that department.

Mrs. Hattie Taylor, superintendent of the Home department, read the report of that organization which has an enrolment of 37, has held 10 meetings, one at the chapel, and has raised money and purchased a piano for the church.

Mrs. Myrtle Cook, superintendent of the Cradle Roll, reported a membership of 19, nine of them enrolled this year.

H. F. Peck, president of the men's club, spoke of regular meetings with guest speakers, the Enfield choir entertainment, a pageant put on last Christmas and one in contemplation for the coming Christmas Sunday evening. New lighting fixtures were also installed in the chapel auditorium.

The Social Guild's report was an outstanding one of the evening, from a financial standpoint, especially. The 38 ladies have been busy with suppers, sales, Fair dinner, silver tea, etc.

The Junior Guild, a new organization formed May 5, was reported on by Miss Myrtle Baggs, who gave a detailed report of socials, parties, and the putting on of a pageant.

The election of officers followed, resulting as per list appended. The meeting adopted recommendations of the benevolence committee which were to designate communion envelope offerings to that department, to take a special offering at the forth coming pageant and on the first Sunday in January for similar purposes, and to set a goal of $300.

Regarding interior redecoration, Carl F. Aspengren, chairman of the trustees, gave a report of progress. The matter of floor covering was referred to the Social Guild for consideration.

The roll call followed, which proved the usual connecting link between those at home and members removed by time and distance but not by spirit. Checks and cash toward the special fund were also received and were added to the offering of the evening. 106 responded to the roll-call.

Mrs. H. F. Curtis read "In Memoriam", which recorded the passing of these members—Mrs. Julia Hanks Walker, Mrs. Jane Baggs Shumway, Miss Helen M. Shuttleworth, Mrs. D. Louise Bridgman, Dwight F. Shumway and Mrs. Rose Jejean.

Dead still as if awaiting God; The trees hold up bare boughs in prayer,

The lonely willows nod. All nature is so very cold

Entertainment at State School

It was simply wonderful what Prof. Whosis could turn out of that queer machine at the State school entertainment Wednesday evening. Awkward girls were changed into graceful dancers, flabby fighters to pernicious pugilists, shrill singers into bird-like songsters, while a gray haired woman was changed to a winsome damsel, but was quite grief-stricken because her poor Fido had come out as balogna. Finally the professor himself took the treatment and was reduced to ashes—poor man.

The entertainment finished as enticingly as it began, with "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," a dainty presentation where color, movement and music blended to a nicety.

In between were songs, a recitation, dancing, etc., as the program numbers indicate:

1. Prof. Whosis and his Wonderful Machine
2. "That's You Baby" (from the Fox Movietone Follies)
3. Recitation
4. Song, "Tip-toe through the Tulips" (from Gold Diggers of Broadway)
5. Song and Dance, "Am I Blue?" Four Black Crows
6. Community sing
7. The Wedding of the Painted Doll
8. Finale

The stage background was of bright, water colored paper, being work done at the school. The per-

Faith and Friendship Night

Since the genesis of national prohibition as a legal reality our attitude toward the whole proposition of temperance and intemperance has been more evangelical than educational. We have expanded our energies in offering preachments against the use of intoxicating liquor rather than in telling people why they should not use it. In a return to the educational methods of pre-prohibition days we will discuss the subject of "Temperance" at the Friday night meeting in the Methodist vestry at 7.30. Everyone is invited to attend and to offer criticisms, comments and suggestions. This is an open forum for your use.

The entertainment period after the prayer meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Hazel Wunsch. You will want to stay through the hour of games and stunts. Such social give and take is at the basis of fundamentally sound living. We expect you.

Board of Trade Meeting

There were eleven present at the Board of Trade meeting in the selectmen's room, Monday evening. H. B. Ketchen, president, presided. New business was discussed and ghosts of unfinished business of other days appeared at intervals.

Two items always come up at the December meeting—the community Christmas tree and the skating rink. The evergreen trees set out last spring were intended to bear the glittering bulbs on Christmas henceforth, and it now remains to be seen whether or not the committee in charge can harness satisfactorily so small a team. As a result of the dry season one tree died, so there might have to be some temporary grafting if the proper effect is secured. The committee in charge is H. E. Sessions, J. J. Kempkes and H. F. Peck.

While the subject of trees was up, it was thought wise and proper to purchase a replacement in the spring.

It verily seemed as though the spirit of Christmas stole into the meeting and lingered a bit. There was a desire manifest that no needy ones be overlooked at Christmas time, and while it was not considered exactly the province of the Board of Trade to be a humanitarian agency, it was decided that the president appoint a committee to report to the directors any worthy cases that are apparently being overlooked, to the end that relief may be dispensed from some source.

It was thought that this committee might well be a permanent one, as it was stated by one in a position to know, that there are constantly arising chances to minister in a practical way to children especially who are suffering from a lack of things which may make the difference between success and failure in life.

Of course the Board voted to have a skating rink, and some of those familiar with rolling up the wet hose in years past were appointed—Dr. J. L. Collard, M. C. Baggs, G. C. Allen, R. G. Shaw and H. R. Gould.

Some thought it would take less gravel and be fully as satisfactory to make a rink at the north end of the common rather than the south, but the committee were not hamstrung in the matter.

The "ghosts of other days" were improved mail service, a second beacon light, etc. These were put back in the closet, but were requested to be more fully clothed when they appeared again.

It is still the opinion that there will be an accident some day at post-office corner unless traffic can be better regulated at that point. The meeting wound up, as has many another, with feverish discussion regarding the matter.

The Turkey Hills bowed to the Red Tops in a Social League contest on the Suffolk alleys Monday night, 2 to 1. Led by some fine rolling by Tom Murphy and Danny Sobzak, the winners built up an early lead which they maintained throughout the entire contest. - Senior Warden Earl Prentiss
- Junior Warden D. Donald Hazen
- Treasurer Winfred F. Forward
- Secretary William E. Shaw
- Marshal Dr. James L. Collard
- Chaplain Thomas Allen
- Senior Deacon Ernest W. Lane
- Junior Deacon Kenneth Bristol
- Senior Steward Frederick Lincoln
- Junior Steward Guy C. Allen, Jr.
- Tyler William J. Dummelow

Following the installation, refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Started South Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard and son, Charles, started on their trek south last Saturday morning all snugly seated in their specially outfitted camping car, the body of which was designed and constructed some years ago by H. D. Hoag, and which was purchased of him. It now rides atop a Reo chassis and makes a combination of some quality.

Last heard from, the Howards had reached Philadelphia and had headed toward Washington. Their ultimate goal is Florida, but when they will strike it and where they will strike it has not been determined.

They have no business venture in mind on their trip and are enjoying a winter holiday afled away from their exacting and confining duties at "Howard's Happy Hour."

They plan to return the last of March or the first of April.

Standardization in Education

The trend of the times is more and more towards standardization. It is true in business. It is true in religion. And it is also true in education. The school building must conform to certain standards set up by State Boards of Education. We have a certain measure of pride when in our district the words, "Standard School," may be inscribed over the school house door. Our school boards are always glad to report to their constituency that there are so many more standard schools in their district. The teaching must also conform to certain standards set up by those who are experts in the business, and the teacher is expected or required to attend those meetings where these methods of teaching are presented. And more and more must the teacher conform to certain standards. No one is allowed to teach unless he or she can produce a certificate of graduation from some recognized institution of learning.

Now standards are good, and it is necessary that we have them, but there is always a danger lest the standards become wooden and external rather than vital and internal. As it is easy for ritual to degenerate into form and lose the heart of the matter, so it is easy for our standards in education to degenerate into a matter of outward rules. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick recently preached a sermon on "The Things that are Vital in Religion," in which he declared that there were few subjects likely to be so upsetting and revolutionary. It is so. History shows that the different denominations have so often set up as standards things which were not vital. Dr. Fosdick declared that the same thing was true in the educational world. The things that really matter in education are not always found in the standards.

A normal education and a college education are of high value, and no one should think of entering the teaching profession without the very best possible training he can secure. And yet the fact remains that Abraham Lincoln with meager education wrote a classic, and many of us can testify that those who have helped us the most have not been necessarily those who used standard methods or approved text books or standardized school rooms, but have been those who with inferior tools and lacking the latest and most improved methods, instilled in us the love of the subject and a passion to master it, and helped us to find ourselves. It is a fact also to be noted that many of the greatest men of the ages have been those who did not conform to the standards either in religion or education, but who lived above and beyond them.

Standards are inevitable. We must ever labor to keep them vital. We must ever bear in mind that standards have their limitations, that they cannot accomplish everything, and that they will not cure us of all our educational ills. If there is a great mind and heart at one end of the log, and an eager and alert mind at the other, there is a liberal education hard to excel.

"SELECTMEN AND SCHOOL COMMITTEE FORBID MR. GOLD FROM ENTERING ON TOWN PREMISES

Dear Sir:

You are hereby forbidden to enter or remain in or upon the premises at the corner of Jabish Street and South Main Street, owned by the town of Belchertown, upon which the high school building now stands, including the driveway leading from said Jabish Street along the Easterly side of said premises to the rear of said school house building.

Are the local "Tammany Hall" politicians alarmed over the possible exposure of expenditure of town funds, that they forbid Mr. Gold from entering the High School building where certain town records are stored? Mr. Gold has not entered the building since the annual town meeting in February, 1929.

Certainly he has not troubled the inefficient politicians, now holding town offices, by his presence.

What is the purpose of these town officials in taking this high handed action, to keep Mr. Gold from entering upon town property? What prompts this action by these "bunions on the toe of time"? Are they again raising the issue of the use of the driveway leading to the rear of Mr. Gold's garage? They erected the chicken wire fence last spring, against Mr. Gold's wishes, along a line they chose. That fence inconveniences Mr. Gold sufficiently to satisfy most designing politicians. Hear Lecture on India

About 30 from the Congregational church accepted the invitation of the First Congregational church of Amherst a week ago Sunday night to meet Dr. Hivale, whose motion pictures of India, supplemented by still pictures and interpreted by the ready tongue of this gifted lecturer will not soon be forgotten.

Dr. Hivale showed the beautiful Taj Mahal which was 21 years in building. According to the estimate of an American, it is set with forty million dollars' worth of jewels, and the pictures showed workmen fitting bits of precious stones into marble so perfectly that no cement or glue of any kind is necessary. There were also pictures of the beautiful massive stone temples, carved inch by inch with chisel and hammer from the solid stone mountain, some of these temples being 3,000, 2,000, 1,000 years old.

Dr. Hivale interpreted to his audience the life of this interesting country, the lower part of which rose up out of the sea before there was any life on the earth. At least, scientists have been unable to find any fossil remains whatever in this plateau region, although in the Himalayas to the north, which rise five miles above the sea level, fossils of marine life are to be found. He pointed out the link between this ancient land of the Aryan race and our own America in the identity of such words as mother, father, brother and others which have come down to us through the Sanskrit. He stated that a professor of his at Harvard had told him that the latest thing in American slang was "Whoopie" but Dr. Hivale said that was an old, old word in India.

When he showed the car of Juggernaut moving slowly through the dense crowds surging about it, he took pains to correct the idea prevalent in America that mothers threw their babies beneath the wheels of this chariot and said that was absurd an idea as some that his people had of America.

He spoke of our own J. B. Knight and his work in bringing to his people modern methods of agriculture. He showed pictures of the animals of India, the water buffalo and how they are milked, the elephant and how the wild ones are caught and tamed, and how the lion is hunted.

Perhaps the most thrilling reel was the last one, on which a man worked for six months before getting what he wanted. This reel showed a deadly battle between a cobra and a mongoose, the latter being an animal about eight inches long and somewhat resembling a racoon. With marvelous courage this little animal stirred up the giant cobra, wearied him with feint attacks, and finally gripped him on the lower jaw, not too high lest he touch the terrible poison fangs, and not too low lest the cobra be able to strike him; and then the final attempt of the cobra to set his coils about the mongoose's body.

A lecture like this cannot be retold—and it cannot soon be forgotten.

Dies in Northampton

Mrs. Clara L. Woodward, 74, died at the Northampton hospital last Friday morning. She was born in Belchertown May 5, 1855, in what was then known as Cherry Valley, now submerged by the Ludlow reservoir. Mrs. Woodward was a member of the Bennett family and her grandmother, Laura Ann Bennett, lived with her son, Lewis Bennett, in the Longley house on Maple street, now occupied by Miss Mary E. King. The funeral was held at the Congregational chapel Sunday afternoon at 3. Rev. F. C. Rolls officiating. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Harry Dodge of North Main St. received a broken leg Saturday afternoon as the result of an automobile mixup. He was on a two-horse wagon driving toward town on the Enfield road when he met a car coming from town which started to pass him at Miss Lillian Miller's driveway. Another car coming from the rear tried to pass between the two and struck the rear wheels of the wagon, pushing the body forward onto the horses. There was no floor on the wagon body and Mr. Dodge sat with his legs swinging between the framework. He was attended by Dr. J. L. Collard who took him to the hospital for an X-ray examination. The wagon was badly wrecked.

The last of a series of cooking lessons on the preparation of vegetable dishes was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Abbie S. Walker of North Main street. This was an all-day meeting with luncheon served under the direction of Miss Pozzi. The table was attractive with its centerpiece of laurel, poinsettias and red candles, and its place cards decorated with a sprig of evergreen and a straw flower, the work of Mrs. Ruth Kempkes. The menu included a vegetable salad, which added to the decorations of the table as well as being appetizing, also a vegetable chowder and nuts and stuffed prunes for dessert.

Food, Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 6.30 at the Methodist vestry the December Food, Faith and Friendship Night will be celebrated. The supper will be served under the direction of Mrs. Grindle and Mrs. Davis. Here is a chance for all Belchertown neighbors to fellowship together around the table. Come and enjoy this happy friendship hour.

At 7.30 we will hold the regular prayer service. The discussion will center in the problem, "How Shall a Christian Celebrate Christmas?" Our great Christian festival has become secularized and paganized. Is there a special way in which a Christian can celebrate Christmas?

The hostesses of the evening are also taking care of the entertainment and social hour. They promise a program of stunts and games that will keep all of us interested and happy. You are welcome at these services and we hope you will take advantage of them. They are for the community and that means for you.

Death of Mrs. Laura Lewis

Mrs. Laura (Wood) Lewis, wife of Alvan R. Lewis, died at her home on Cottage street at 11 last week Friday morning, after only a few days' illness with pneumonia. Mrs. Lewis was born at Westminster, April 4, 1858, and came to Belchertown from Provincetown with Mr. Lewis when he was appointed superintendent of schools in 1908. She was a teacher before her marriage in 1881. She was a member of the Congregational church and of Mt. Vernon chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Alvan R. Lewis, Jr., principal of the junior high school at Easthampton, and Edward Snyder of Springfield; one brother, Abel M. Wood of Brookline, and a number of nephews and nieces.

Mrs. Lewis was greatly beloved by all who knew her, her quiet, friendly ways bringing her enduring friendships, even though during her years spent here she moved but little outside her home circle.

A prayer service was held at the home on Sunday afternoon at 3, and on Monday afternoon at 1.30 a service was held in Howe Memorial chapel at Leominster. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery at that place.

Rev. Collins G. Burnham

The daily press carried the news Wednesday of the death of Rev. Collins G. Burnham at St. Petersburg, Fla., where he went with his wife early this month to spend the winter.

In the death of Mr. Burnham, Belchertown loses one of its most valuable citizens, for although he could not by reason of his impaired health, participate to any marked degree in civic affairs, yet his pen moved with continued facility and he was ever beckoning his fellow townspeople to follow the gleam which he clearly saw.

For Mr. Burnham was old only in years. He had so kept abreast of religious thinking and had lived life so vitally that his theology was marvelously modern. He refused to fetter himself with a strict literalistic interpretation of the Scriptures, and always pleaded for a reasonable approach to them. The only authority which he recognized was Christ and his spirit.

So today if Mr. Burnham is walking the streets of gold, it will be a sad disappointment to him if the gold he treads is of earth's coinage, for on more than one Sabbath morning in the fall of the year as he went up North Main street to church, has he pointed to the overarching maples in their garments of gold, or to the blooming forsythias in the spring and declared with enthusiasm that there was a street of gold more grand than that described in The Revelation.

He never considered the Bible a closed book, but was always on the alert to discover new chapters in the divine unfolding of God's message to man.

While he knew what he believed, no person could be more catholic

Annual Meeting of Men's Club

The annual meeting of the Men's club was held in the chapel Monday evening. The various officers and committees reported, revealing a year of considerable activity. About the best-spent money of the year was that enabling Louis Fuller and Harold Cook to attend the Y. M. C. A. Older Boys conference at Pittsfield.

Both boys were on hand to report the gathering, the former giving a written detailed account of the trip from the time they clambered aboard the train at Springfield till they returned to the same point. He told of the big parade, of the banquet at hotel Wendell attended by over 800, of being entertained in a private home, (many summer people came back to open their mansions and extend this hospitality) and of the addresses by Dr. Crane whom they especially admired, calling attention to his address on Thinking—Clearly, Clearly and Courageously, also to the evening presentation on Christianity.

Harold Cook told of his reaction to the round table discussions. The boys called the trip "wonderful" and "profitable".

President Dr. James L. Collard
Vice President J. Howell Cook
Secretary Louis Fuller
Treasurer Guernsey Lauber
Ch. Boosters' Committee H. F. Peck
Ch. Program Committee

Rev. F. C. Rolls
The president was authorized to name a special relief committee of five. These are E. A. Fuller, J. V. Cook, R. G. Shaw, L. G. Warren and J. D. Shuttleworth.

There was discussion as to ways and means of being of service to the community.

Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served in charge of C. F. Aspengren.

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

The Christmas bells begin to ring. They sound the birthday of a King, A king whose fuzzy baby head Must rest upon a manger bed.

No courtiers attend his cries, Only an ox with heavy eyes Looks down upon the tiny stranger Who dares thus to molest his manger.

Humblest of the poor is he, This thorn-crowned King of Calvary,

A God whose loving strength is able To save all men, born in a stable.

Food, Faith and Friendship Night

In spite of the unfavorable weather, about 45 attended the Food, Faith and Friendship services at the Methodist church Friday night.

The social hour following the devotional service was in charge of Mrs. Ora Davis and included group singing and stunts.

Grange Notes

Union grange held a Christmas party in connection with the regular meeting Tuesday evening, about 30 attending in spite of the treacherous traveling.

Reports were also given at this meeting by Charles F. Austin and Mrs. Charles H. Sanford, delegates to the state convention at Worcester.

Driveway Dispute Nears Solution

At present, signs seem to point to an ending of the lingering dispute over the driveway beside the garage owned by the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., and it's not being a dry time, possibly the signs will not fail.

Last Saturday, at a hearing before Judge Hammond, brought about by reason of Mr. Gold's seeking to restrain the town officials from restricting him, as they had done, Lawyer Mahoney appeared for Mr. Gold of the aforesaid company and Lawyer Morse for the town authorities.

The lease several times presented to Mr. Gold was not at hand to place before the Court, so a new lease was drawn, less encumbered with language than the former but substantially the same in content.

We were informed yesterday that the new lease is now being signed by the town officials and will shortly be ready for signature of the party of the second part, or of the first part, as the case may be.

Mr. Gold stated yesterday verbally that the judge ruled that the lease must be satisfactory to Mr. Gold and that he was granted unrestricted use of the driveway till the lease is signed.

Mr. Gold claims that posting the land came out of a clear sky, he not having heard about the lease since last May.

Sad to relate, this episode bids fair to color the coming election, as it has in years past.

sue of the expenditures in connection with the case. With the officials maintaining that they have been actuated only by the town's interests, the outlook is dark for the immediate union of the Democratic and Republican parties, or whatever name they go by.

than was he. It pained him deeply to see people dogmatic in their religion, denying fellowship with others who saw life differently.

Mr. Burnham was an apostle of liberty and believed in the free expression of opinion, having full confidence that nothing but truth can stand in the light of day.

Although he lived on Federal street, the universe was his home and his concern. He was deeply interested in international affairs, especially those efforts looking towards peace.

Mr. Burnham had the unique faculty of taking an intricate problem in world affairs and reducing it to such a simple formula that the issue would be most apparent, even to the unread.

He was an apostle of temperance and prohibition and was the author of a temperance catechism published in 1915, when he was in Hawaii.

Mr. Burnham leaves two daughters, Mrs. Matthew Graham of Honolulu, T. H., and Miss Alice Burnham, a member of the staff of the Territorial library of Hawaii; also a brother, John H. Burnham of Westbrook, Me.

M. E. Church Notes

Mr. Burnham refused to be baffled by life's declining years. He still read avidly and when sermon writing days were over, cultivated a more intimate relationship with nature, making cherished friendships with the birds and flowers and trees.

As he was wont to look to the hillsides after the maples had passed their peak of beauty and point to the oaks that were retrieving the scene with their richness of deepening red, so we are minded to think that his last days were his best and that they enriched our common life even beyond our power to discern.

The Sentinel will be the poorer by reason of his passing, unless the mantle of his spirit falls on some one whose motto in every realm of right thinking and endeavor is: "Go on, go on, go on," words Mr. Burnham himself was wont to quote.

Complete data concerning Mr. Burnham's life are not at hand, but we note that he lived in Massachusetts for over 40 years, during 15 of which he was pastor of the First Congregational church at Chicopee, leaving there in 1908 on account of his health and spending the next five years in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Burnham had the unique faculty of taking an intricate problem in world affairs and reducing it to such a simple formula that the issue would be most apparent, even to the unread.

He was also a member of the nominating committee in 1917 and one of the members of the committee on federation in 1918, and since 1922 had served as a member of the pastoral committee.

Mr. Burnham leaves two daughters, Mrs. Matthew Graham of Honolulu, T. H., and Miss Alice Burnham, a member of the staff of the Territorial library of Hawaii; also a brother, John H. Burnham of Westbrook, Me.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE The Epworth League of the Methodist church will have charge of the 7 o'clock Sunday evening service there.

The service is built as a unit around the Christmas idea of giving. Novelties in which the congregation may share are being planned.

The sermon, to be preached in dramatic episodes by the Leaguers, is called, "Two Dimes." What can two dimes actually do? Many things. Come and see what two dimes did do.

"MR. GOLD SECURES INJUNCTION AGAINST TOWN, SELECTMEN AND SCHOOL COMMITTEE"

A bill in equity against the town of Belchertown was filed by Mr. Gold Tuesday, Dec. 10, 1929, and the Court issued an injunction restraining the town authorities from prohibiting Mr. Gold entrance to town property.

board spendthrifts are worsted in their efforts to hamper and hinder a local business man in the pursuit of his business affairs.

Little wonder that at the last annual town meeting a motion was made by one of the selectmen's proxies to raise and appropriate an exorbitant amount of money for legal expense!

How much has the school-yard driveway fence controversy, started by Scott, cost the taxpayers? They have paid Schoonmaker's counsel fees, the surveyor's enormous bill for surveying not only the school building property, but all around Gold's garage property, and for preparing drawings and blue prints of both properties.

To attract investment of money in local enterprise and make Belchertown a desirable place in which to conduct legitimate business, do we not need a complete and thorough house-cleaning in our town offices?

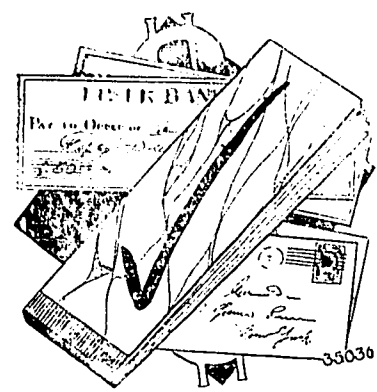

What must the taxpayers think of the uncalled-for tactics of their inefficient school board and the assistance of a mediocre board of selectmen?

To attract investment of money in local enterprise and make Belchertown a desirable place in which to conduct legitimate business, do we not need a complete and thorough house-cleaning in our town offices?

Death of Mrs. Nannie Fairchild

Mrs. Nannie (Crown) Fairchild, 78, wife of Rudd E. Fairchild, died last Friday night at her home on East Walnut street after a long illness. She was born August 4, 1851, at Milton, Vt., but had lived in Belchertown for about 55 years. She was married June 2, 1870, to Rudd E. Fairchild. She was a member of the Congregational church for many years.

She leaves three daughters and a son, Mrs. Maud Stacy, Mrs. Capitola Demond, Mrs. Geraldine Howard and John Jasper Fairchild, all of this town, also ten grand children and two great grand children.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 at the chapel. Rev. C. H. Smith of Granby officiated, and prayer was offered by Rev. F. C. Rolls. The bearers were J. J. Fairchild, D. Donald Hazen, Elwyn Wood and Fred Wood. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Christmas Tree at the Chapel

As soon as one entered the chapel Monday evening he forgot the snow storm without and thought only of the Christmas cheer within, for there were Christmas bells and wreaths, the electrically lighted tree with its abundant fruit, low tables set for the children, each plate bearing a snow man favor (really a marshmallow and gumdrop makeup) and best of all, there were the glowing faces of many children and those of others older in years but not in spirit.

At the close of a program consisting of songs and recitations, Santa (J. Raymond Gould) appeared and with his aides (the young men's class) supplied his audience with gifts and boxes of candy.

Refreshments of cocoa, sandwiches and cake were served by the committee in charge, Mrs. J. Raymond Gould, Mrs. Harry Greene and Mrs. Frank Morris. The program was arranged by Mrs. F. C. Rolls, while the committee in charge of the decorations consisted of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ketchen and Mrs. Olive Hamilton.

J. Raymond Gould presided at the piano. About 90 were present.

Pageant at State School

An outstanding event at the State school this week was the Christmas pageant on Monday evening. The newly remodelled hall was festooned with tinsel and crepe paper streamers, while Christmas bells were also in evidence.

It was truly a worship service, breathing the air of old Bethlehem. Colored lights shone over her hills, while real sheep on the platform fed all unmindful of the part they were playing in the pastoral scenes.

The shepherds and the wise men both followed the star as it moved in the heavens, and came in the last scene to the dimly lighted stable, where lay the Christ child to whom they presented gifts.

A pupil of the school read each episode before its presentation. A chorus assisted with the musical numbers, while the effect of music in the distance was produced by the use of the school phonograph placed in an alcove at the rear of the stage.

Dr. A. E. Westwell directed its presentation.

School Exercises at Memorial Hall

About 300 pupils of the center schools gathered at Memorial hall Friday afternoon to sing Christmas carols. All the schools joined in singing "The First Noel," "Silent Night," and "O Little Town of Bethlehem." The special numbers were:

"Away in a Manger" 1st grade
"Under the Stars"

2nd and 3rd grades
"We Three Kings of Orient Are"

Boys of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades; solos by Richard Hennemann, Douglas Meigide and Raymond Menard

"The Song of the Shepherds"

4th and 5th grades
"Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabelle," an old French song 6th grade
"Oh, Holy Night" and "Song of the Shepherds" 7th and 8th grades
"Sing We Noel" and "Sleep, Little Dove"

High school
Mrs. Grace Beaumont, music instructor, was in charge and at the close gave in her vivid fashion three Christmas stories to the delight of both pupils and visitors.

Christmas Pageants

Christmas was observed Sunday at the churches which were decorated with evergreen, wreaths and poinsettia. Special music was rendered and there were sermons in keeping with the day. In the evening pageants were presented at both the Congregational and Methodist churches.

The one at the Congregational church, "The Adoration of the Kings and Shepherds," was effectively given by candle light, the Junior Guild taking the part of angels and lighting the way for the coming of the kings and shepherds. One of the Junior Guild, Miss Myrtle Baggs, took the part of Mary, L. H. Blackmer being Joseph. The shepherds were J. Howell Cook, Guernsey Lauber, and Edward A. Fuller, with James R. Collard as the young shepherd. The kings were Harold F. Peck, Fred Buss and H. Morgan Ryther. A large choir under the direction of Miss M. L. Allen, organist, supplied the musical setting.

The pageant was put on by the men's club, with Mrs. Belle Peck as director.

The pageant at the Methodist church was put on by the Epworth League. It was entitled, "Two Dimes," and beautifully illustrated the words quoted by the angel after the episodes, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these." The three episodes were "The Man Who Didn't Care," "Santa Claus" and Special Delivery.

The gifts of the evening were not taken as a collection, but were brought by each individual to the altar as in the olden days, the choir leading and the audience following.

Watch Night Program

The Ladies' Social Guild will hold their regular monthly supper Tuesday evening at 7 at the chapel in connection with a Watch Night service. After the supper the Girl Scouts will provide entertainment for an hour and a quarter. There will also be a community sing, and coffee and doughnuts will be served in the late evening. A devotional service in charge of Rev. F. C. Rolls will usher in the New Year. The supper is in charge of the vice presidents of the Guild.

A Christmas Suggestion

The remembrance of families in need during this Christmas season has been most inspiring. Many individuals and organizations have shared in the good work, possibly to an unprecedented extent.

There has apparently developed, however, a need for a sort of central information bureau in connection with the matter. Some have not been sure whether others were helping in a given case, or not. There has, therefore, been some duplication of work and possibly some omissions.

If a confidential source of information could be established, to whose attention cases of need could be called, and a check made on just what individual or organization was attending to the matter, would it not be more satisfactory?

In fact this idea might be carried still farther to include cases of need developing during the year, as a Board of Trade member suggested at the last meeting.

We would not disturb the spontaneity of giving. We would simply advocate a little more systematic check upon it.

High School Christmas Party

The pupils of the High school held their annual Christmas party at Memorial hall last week Thursday evening. The Senior class presented a play, "One Gift Above Another," which was coached by Miss Hawley. Miss Kathleen Shea was the leading lady, with Albert Menard playing opposite. Kenneth Damon took the part of father; Miss Alice Lyons was the grandmother; James Garvey was "Allan," the college boy; Miss Alice Hussey was the mother, and the children were the Misses Madeline Lemon and Regina Graton, and Sylvio Marion. Others taking part in the play were Misses Barbara Sears, Kathleen Knight, Edith Atwood, Goldie Carpenter, Mirtam Bryant and Walter McLean. Miss Gertrude Knight was property manager.

A part of the scenery was the artistic work of Kenneth Damon, Dr. A. E. Westwell of the State school also contributing to the setting.

A beautiful Christmas tree bore fruit for all, and the evening closed with dancing, music being furnished by Hamilton's orchestra.

With Our Subscribers

Although the article referred to in the following letter is so long that the size of our sheet does not warrant our reprinting it, yet we believe the letter itself is of timely interest as giving a first-hand glimpse of the scenes which have been brought before us in song and story and paginated this Christmas time.—Ed.

I am sending you what to me is a most interesting article which I have cut out of one of our daily papers, doubly interesting to me because it recalls so vividly the scenes to my mind, and the description is so accurate of the place Bethlehem, where our Saviour was born. With Mrs. Parsons I had the great pleasure of spending about two weeks in this most historical land.

As you look at the picture, you see it as we saw it on our way there from Jerusalem, and it was over this same road that we passed. On the left was the well down which the wise men saw the reflection of the guiding star they had lost on their way to Bethlehem. A little farther on, on the right, is the tomb of Rachel, and again on the left are the fertile fields where Ruth gathered the sheaves of wheat. Further off are the fields where David tended his father's flocks and fought the Philistine army and Goliath.

It is very interesting and if you had space in your paper would be most interesting as it is a true account as it is today.

Cordially yours,
L. S. Parsons

With Our Subscribers

Although the article referred to in the following letter is so long that the size of our sheet does not warrant our reprinting it, yet we believe the letter itself is of timely interest as giving a first-hand glimpse of the scenes which have been brought before us in song and story and pagant this Christmas time.—Ed.

I am sending you what to me is a most interesting article which I have cut out of one of our daily papers, doubly interesting to me because it recalls so vividly the scenes to my mind, and the description is so accurate of the place Bethlehem, where our Saviour was born. With Mrs. Parsons I had the great pleasure of spending about two weeks in this most historical land.

As you look at the picture, you see it as we saw it on our way there from Jerusalem, and it was over, this same road that we passed. On the left was the well down which the wise men saw the reflection of the guiding star they had lost on their way to Bethlehem. A little farther on, on the right, is the tomb of Rachel, and again on the left are the fertile fields where Ruth gathered the sheaves of wheat. Further off are the fields where David tended his father's flocks and fought the Philistine army and Goliath.

It is very interesting and if you had space in your paper would be most interesting as it is a true account as it is today.

Cordially yours,
L. S. Parsons

Girl Scout Notes

There will be no Scout meeting next week. The Girl Scouts held a Christmas party last week, several members of the Scout council being present. There was a tree and also games and refreshments.

The Scouts rendered community service during the Christmas season by singing carols at a few homes and by making up a gift basket of groceries.

That section of Maine has been deprived of telephone, lights, and other necessities by reason of the recent storm. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Williams and Milton Pember of Bel-lows Falls were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Green were entertained at the home of C. L. Hubbard on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Isaac entertained their daughter's family. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Allen and two children of Palmer at Christmas dinner.

About forty people assisted in this community service and around thirty homes were visited. All returned to the M. E. vestry where a hot fire and coffee and doughnuts awaited them. Announcement

Emma P. Green
Belchertown, January 3, 1930

"District School" Tonight

Tonight is a big night at the M. E. vestry. At 6.30 there will be a box lunch, when boxes of unknown contents will go under the hammer. At 8 there will be a play, "The District School." Mrs. Amy Witt will be the teacher, so something will be doing. Of course she will have some tough pupils—Bertha Conkey, Charles Sanford, Julia Shumway, Ethelyn Grindle, Howard Snow, Bert Collis, Ruth Kempkes, Jennie Chamberlain, Ora Davis, H. H. Witt. Bedlam will likely break loose at the lunch hour in the second scene, and in the afternoon there will appear the venerable "school board"—Rev. Rockwell Smith and Arthur R. Ketchen.

A play within a play will be presented at the afternoon session, the following people participating—Willie Wink, Fred, John, Joe, Mary, Henry, Betsy, Carrie, Jane and James.

The whole performance will take around an hour and a half and somebody will probably snicker before it's over. The charge for the entertainment alone is 25 cents.

Employees' Entertainment

How the pupils did enjoy the entertainment at the State school on Monday, provided by E. Chognon and troupe of Holyoke, through the courtesy of the employees of the school who secure each year a show of this kind as their gift to the pupils!

How they did enjoy the Melody Boys with their banjo and songs, how closely they watched the whistling Rube of the troupe, how tickled they were with Rastus, how glad they were to see Santa Claus, and how their eyes bulged as Mr. Chognon himself brought on the spirits and performed stunt after stunt of magic! When he was done, he gave one of the pupils his wand and told him to practise with it a half hour each night. He wrapped it up in two rollings of newspaper, and then, poor lad, he found he didn't have it!

Lease is Signed

There should be considerable relief felt in town by reason of the signing of the lease of the much-discussed driveway, by both the town officials and F. L. Gold of the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc. Mr. Gold claims the new lease is satisfactory, whereas the town officials state that it is essentially the same as the previous one. But now that it is signed, we see nothing to be gained in arguing the point. The document is appended.

* * *

This indenture, made the sixteenth day of December, 1929.

Witnesseth, that the Town of Belchertown by George E. Scott, Everett A. Geer and Mrs. Etta B. Randolph, School Committee for said Town, and Edward A. Fuller, Joseph C. Bothwell and Edward E. Gay, Selectmen for said Town of Belchertown, in the County of Hampshire, Massachusetts, do hereby lease, demise and let unto the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., a corporation duly established by law, and having its usual place of business in said Belchertown, a right of way from Jabish Street, in said Belchertown, to the rear of land owned by the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., and now used as a garage.

Said right of way is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at Jabish Street at the end of the pipe line fence erected on the Westerly side of the present driveway, and following the line of said fence to a point opposite to and twelve feet from another pipe fence on the Easterly side of said driveway, which fence is about two feet from the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc. Garage at the rear corner of said Garage; thence in a straight line to an iron pin driven in the ground, said pin being the corner of lands owned by Henry R. Gould, the Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., and the Town of Belchertown; thence Northwesterly following the boundary line between land of said Belchertown and land of said Belchertown Motor Sales, Inc., to said Jabish Street; thence along the Southerly line of said Ja—

Play Next Week

The big attraction in Belchertown's social life next week will be the three-act play in Memorial hall, next Wednesday evening at 8.15, under the auspices of the Epworth League. The production will be put on by the Congregational Church Players of South Hadley Falls and is a full two hours' performance. The play has an interesting title, "The District Attorney." Prices are 50 cents and 35 cents.

The Story of 1929

1929 has passed into history, and it is well to enumerate some of the major events of the past 12 months.

The annual town meeting furnished about the first excitement of the year. All-night street lighting was provided for, as were also five extra lights on Federal street. $600 was raised for a siren and since its installation (two were tried out), together with testing, a Fourth of July prank and regular use for fires, the air has been fairly well agitated. $2,000 was voted for the Turkey Hill road.

Special town meetings were called in the fall to make extra appropriations and transfers, and a quorum was finally secured before 1930 dawned.

The Board of Trade provided a skating rink at both ends of the year and at both ends of the common, with the odds in favor of the south end. It also saw to the erection and lighting of a community Christmas tree during the holidays.

Although 1929 was an exceptionally dry season, the town water supply came through gloriously and no curtailment was requested. In fact, the Water District profited by the dry spell, as over 20 takers were added during the year.

Ryther & Warren's new grain mill got into operation the first of the year, thus restoring to the town a major business. They have installed a sprinkler system in the new structure. A First National store was opened in the Dillon block May 23. C. W. Clark, tonsorial artist, moved to the quarters occupied by M. C.

Watch Night Services

Watch Night services were held at both the Congregational and Methodist churches Tuesday evening. The vice presidents of the Ladies' Social Guild served a supper in connection with the service at the chapel, which was followed by entertainment and games under the direction of the Girl Scouts. Miss Gertrude Knight was in charge of this part of the program and was assisted by Scouts Madeline Lincoln, Barbara Baggs, Marion Shaw and Alice Hussey. Cake and cocoa were served before the final devotional service which was conducted by Rev. F. C. Rolls.

The preliminary program at the Methodist vestry included a debate on the subject, Resolved: That Belchertown is a better place to live in than either North Amherst or Granby. The affirmative side, which was upheld by George Booth and Mrs. Hazel Wunsch, won over the negative, which was taken by William French and Miss Eleanor Matska. Rev. Rockwell Smith and Elmer and Chester Osgood of Greenfield dramatized "The Charge of the Light Brigade," and Rev. Rockwell Smith and his brother, Esmond, gave a talking picture, "The Highwayman." Rev. Mr. Smith's father, Stephen Smith, and Miss Irene Matska sang a duet. There were games and refreshments, followed by the Watch Night service, when the electric lights were turned off and the vestry lighted only by two candles, one at either side of the pulpit, the audience singing, "Abide with me." Rev. Mr. Smith's talk was on Looking Forward into the New Year.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church held its Christmas tree party last week Friday night in the vestry. An entertainment preceded the distribution of gifts.

The self-styled Improvement club met with the Willing Workers at the home of Mrs. Ora Davis Wednesday afternoon to tie a maple-leaf quilt. They improved it so much that it is now a fine quilt and is for sale. At an early hour all marched out to a table of good things. After singing Blest Be the Tie, the following menu was served: California chicken pie, Mrs. Charles Sanford; country salad, Mrs. Carrie Ketchen; coffee, Mrs. Mabel Stebbins. Rolls, pickles, angel cake and chocolate eclairs were also served.

Baggs in the above mentioned block, the latter moving to a newly fitted room one door to the south. Miss Dorothy Kimball opened the Hill-Top Lunch Shoppe in the small building on the corner of Jabish and Park streets, and H. E. Kimball fitted out a radio and sports shop in the rear annex. B. C. Colby moved his tonsorial parlors from the room over Garvey's store to the room at the rear of the post office. Mrs. Roy O. Baggs opened "Peggy's Inn" at her home, near the site of the Park View, and F. N. Whiton outfitted and opened his wayside stand and pavilion on Federal street. H. B. Ketchen added to the material assets of the community by putting into commission a new chair bus on his Springfield bus line.

Several places in town have been bought this past year by those living in the "flood area". Fred Buss purchased and has remodelled the old Chandler place, E. B. Downing has bought the dwelling opposite H. H. Witt's, and Jesse M. Vaughn the Garvey place on Mill Valley road.

Wilfrid Noel completed his bungalow last year and Herbert Hubbard erected a cottage on the Springfield road. William Squires built a new house on Jabish street.

The recital of new construction and developments at Belchertown Farms during the year would make a story all in itself. A new stucco brooder house 190 feet long was completed. A two-story laying house 230 by 20, with a capacity of 3,000 fowls, was erected on the Spencer place, possession of which was taken in April. The barn near the brooder house was turned into a killing room, and a Frigidaire cooled room outfitted in connection. A driveway was put in with an efficient drainage system, and with the coming of winter a mammoth swimming tank was completed on the premises.

On the Holland Farm a 320 foot artesian well was drilled to supply water for the swimming pool there. There have been several fires in town during 1929. The most serious forest fire was at West Ware. The house and barn of John Brown burned March 26. The barn on the French place, belonging to Thomas Spellman, burned, also the Homer Pratt homestead and the historic Harris place at Knight's corners. George Fife also lost a barn at Pond Hill.

The schools have put on a varied program of plays, parties and entertainments in addition to the regular academic work. The center grade schools have sponsored several entertainments and have purchased play ground equipment with the proceeds. Health Day was observed with an ambitious out door program May 22. A fashion show was held in June, and B. H. S.'s first Year Book appeared the same month. Eight graduates from the High school received diplomas.

The church properties have been improved this past year. The M. E. church was painted and the kitchen remodelled, while the roof at the Congregational church was renewed. New lights were installed in the chapel audience room by the men's club and the Home department purchased a piano for the church. A community picnic was sponsored by the two churches.

St. Francis church held a notable Confirmation service September 18. The Hampshire East conference met at the Congregational church in the fall. Interest in the Faith and Friendship Nights at the M. E. church has been maintained, with "Food" often added to the program.

Vernon Lodge and Mt. Vernon chapter, O. E. S., each held their annual balls. On March 18 the Firemen's association held a ball and purchased new equipment with the proceeds. They also put on a clam bake during the summer.

Union grange has held dances and card parties, and practically every organization in town has put on a supper at some time or other. Church organizations have featured picnics, parties, teas, and the like. A poultry meeting was held in town March 25 under Extension Service auspices, and cooking and sewing classes have been of assistance to the ladies.

The newly organized camp of Sons of Veterans, assisted by the Auxiliary, for the first time had complete charge of the Memorial Day observance. The camp held a muster of sizable proportions on August 28.

The Historical association has enhanced its collection during the past year. The purchase of an old stage coach was perhaps its most outstanding acquisition.

As the years pass, some organizations fade from the picture, while new ones appear on the scene. 1929 was no exception. The W. C. T. U. disbanded January 9, and the "J. G.'s" came into being May 5. The latter recently put on a pageant.

The Girl Scouts have continued to be of service to the community. They held a notable rally April 12, and kept open house at their new room at the library building May 22. Their recent drive for funds resulted favorably.

The Farmers' and Mechanics' club brought more people to town than any other organization, the occasion being the annual Fair. The death of its long-time president, D. F. Shumway, might well be noted in this connection.

The Y. P. B. lost its ardent president in the death of Bartlett Green, and the sudden passing of Helen Shuttleworth was a shock to the community. The death of David Jepson was also tragic. In Memoriam includes, too the name of Rev. C. G. Burnham, a retired clergyman with a community mind.

The year ended with quite an outburst of giving—Red Cross roll call, Christmas seals, Christmas baskets, subscriptions to those in hard circumstances, etc., etc. We are glad to note the material growth of Belchertown, but this last mentioned characteristic is what really makes this town a good place in which to live.

STATE SCHOOL

1929 has, indeed, been a year of enlargement at the State School. Gradually the institution is moving to its consummation and fulfilling the expectations of its proponents of other years.

It hardly seems possible that the school has now 1,000 beds, or about one-half the estimated capacity. A girls' dormitory, containing 110 beds was completed in 1929, an employees' cottage with 20 beds, also four school rooms, domestic science and manual training rooms. Since moving the school department into the new quarters, the temporary assembly hall has been remodelled, giving greater space and ampler stage facilities.

The contract has been let for a hospital building, a new horse barn has been built, and at the farm new construction has included a cow barn providing for 60 head, a dairy, bull pens and a cow hospital. The young stock barn has also been remodelled.

During the year, 500 feet of tunnels have been put in, 25 feet deep. The land formerly comprising the town farm has been put into use and much clearing and ditching done. A start has been made on remodeling the main building.

A permit was secured to erect a dam to provide water for Lake Wallace, which has already begun to fill up and has been stocked with fish.

Red letter days at the State School have been the Fourth of July with its grand parade and track events, picnic parties to Forest Park, hot dog roasts, the entertainment of 250 pupils at the Amherst theatre, and last, but by no means the least, the Christmas week observance, with its pageant, carol singing, gifts, employees' entertainment, etc. The day by day work at the institution was revealed at the annual exhibit in October and the demonstration of the physical education and music classes in May.

So runs the story of the year. The record is good, but we wouldn't have the right attitude toward life if we didn't desire 1930 to go one better.

By Noel

With the exception of rolling off postponed games, the Suffolk Social League of Holyoke has been idle during the past two weeks. It is generally the custom, during the holiday season, for all the leagues to enjoy a short vacation. Among the teams which rolled a postponed match were the Turkey Hills and Tontines. These teams were scheduled to meet on Friday, Dec. 20, but at the request of the local management, the match was called off. It appears now as though Manager Andy Sears made a rather wise move, for he and his mates took all three points and pinfall from the Willimansett five last Thursday night.

Whether the night after Christmas agreed with the Tontines or not, we do not know, for a clean cut victory for the local team was not looked for, as the losing aggregation has always been rated one of the strongest teams in the league.

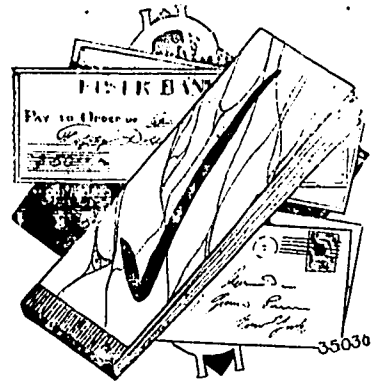

Evidently the Turkey Hills moved up to fifth place in the league standing as a result of the victory. A few more victories for the Searsmen will place them right behind the league leading Dovers, as there is now practically a three team deadlock for second place.

The contest was very interesting, with Ernie Orcutt and Billy Wildman, the lead-off men, battling it out for high honors, the latter defeating his opponent, 307 to 303. The team strings of the winners were rather even, also with two of them totaling 463 each.

The league will resume its regular bowling schedule next week, with all teams in action. Score: Turkey Hills—3

"The District School"

There was an air of expectancy at the M. E. vestry last week Friday night as "The District School" began, and there was good reason for it. There were black children (Mrs. Julia Shumway and Mrs. Grindle), there was the fellow with the black eye (Charles Sanford), there were prim girls and awkward boys, the latter's clothing being replete with patches, while green and red were popular with the "girls."

The teacher, Mrs. Amy Witt, was prepared for a trying day at school and had laid in a good supply of austerity, but it hardly sufficed for the occasion. It appeared no trouble at all for these pupils of other days to revert to the "wild state," from which they evidently sprang. The play within the play gave an opportunity for Mrs. Ora Davis, one of the pupils, to take the role of teacher and try to straighten the "crowd" out, but it was no use. They ended as bad as they began—if not worse.

There were bursts of brightness, barrages of paper wads—and bedlam all the time.

The play was compiled by Mrs. Ora Davis. Preceding the entertainment there was a box lunch auction and the sale of a maple leaf quilt to the highest bidder. The vestry was well filled for the occasion.

"The District Attorney"

The "District Attorney" at Memorial hall Wednesday evening proved an entertaining entertainment. It was replete with prosecuting, political maneuvering, and love making. "Billy Reynolds" even had two girls, or thought he had, for he found they were both spoken for. There was college football, the bang of a suicide (besides several bangs in the gallery, where a number of candy bags were blown up, for the Epworth League, under whose auspices the play was held, sold sweets during the intermissions).

The play was presented by the Congregational Church Players of South Hadley Falls. This was their third rendering. They have also booked a date at Granby the last of the month. Around 200 were present.

Death of John S. Stadler

John Solomon Stadler, 67, who suffered a shock last Saturday, died at his home yesterday afternoon at 4. He was born in Zurich, Switzerland, Sept. 16, 1862, and came to the United States about 45 years ago. For the last 37 years he has been a much esteemed citizen of this town, carrying on a farm on the Springfield road. Feb. 12, 1894, he married Dora Klicker, who survives him. He also leaves three daughters, Mrs. Herbert Canterbury of Springfield, Mrs. Rex Higgins of Hinsdale, N. H., and Mrs. Francis Loftus, who is on her way home from California. There are also four grand children, Harris, Kenneth and Phyllis Higgins and Audrey Canterbury. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Wins First Game

The B. H. S. Boys' Basketball team started its schedule for 1930 by defeating Warren High here last Tuesday night. The victory was a decisive one as the final score, 33-10, would indicate.

The game started with the teams evenly matched. Belchertown was the first to score, but at the end of the quarter, Warren's Five led by two points. In the next period, the local boys recovered the lead and the half ended with a 15 to 10 score in their favor.

Although many expected that the next half would see another change of lead, the locals proved well able to control the situation. The Orange and Black scored 18 more points and allowed their opponents not a single tally.

McLean, Belchertown captain, was easily the outstanding player of the evening. With 23 points to his credit, he led the scoring. His defensive work was high grade as well. The rest of the local team played their first regular game for the

Turkey Hills Take Two Points

By Noel

The Turkey Hills came through in true form in their match with the Mt. Tom A. C. Tuesday night, winning two points and rolling the nice team total of 1412. After losing the first point by 21 pins, the local bowlers began to topple the pins in all directions and their team string of 492 found that they had gained back all they had lost in their first point with plenty pins to spare.

With Johnny Holmes and Eddie Henrichon on the sick list, Manager Sears of the Turkey Hills used a newcomer in his lineup, who is, no doubt, well known to local sport followers and is none other than "Shoo" Mercure. His strings were fairly even which totaled 261. But it was Sears and Green who kept the local team in the running with their fine bowling, and although the former was the winners' high man with 298, his opponent furnished him plenty of opposition. Green rolled a total of 294, including the high single of 116.

Robinson, usually an anchor man, appeared in a different position in the Mt. Tom lineup and was high man of the night with 299.

Whether the Turkey Hills will move up another notch in the league standing as a result of their victory, depends a great deal on the outcome of the games in which the three teams, who are now in a second place deadlock, are engaged in tonight.

Score: Turkey Hills 2. Rows: Orcutt, Sears, Green, Mercure, McDonald.

Mt. Tom A. C. 1. Rows: Seiffert, Robinson, Wolf, Bernier, Lacharity.

Friday evening brings to us the first real Faith and Friendship Night of this New Year. The discussion topic for the Prayer service at 7.30 will be, "What Shall We Do in 1930?"

The game and stunt period will be in charge of R. A. French. His plans remain as yet cloaked in secrecy, but everyone is looking forward to a good time.

Seeing America First

Pen Pictures By James Aldrich

Carnation, Washington Dec. 17, 1929. I sincerely wish that my command of the English language was such that I could describe on paper, in an authentic and detailed manner, a sight which Bill and I saw here last week.

And one which neither of us fully appreciated at the time because of its unusual and truly magnificent beauty.

First, a brief description of the location of Carnation Farm is important; as the lay-out had much to do with the spectacle I am describing.

The main buildings are situated on a side hill and we can look across a huge area of flat river bottom land to the distant Cascade Mountain Range, which rises majestically skyward with its peak and sides long since snow clad, while the intervening area is composed of green grass, a wide ribbon of river, and part way up the mountain side a dense stand of spruce and fir trees.

At about 3:30 in the afternoon, I chanced to be passing from one barn to another and while going through, I noted that a peculiar yellowish white light seemed to be spreading over the whole Valley. The sun was dropping down behind the hill on which the buildings stand, and as I came out into the open I glanced toward the Cascades, off to the East.

The entire range seemed to be lighted from within by an enormous battery of electric lights and looked so thin and transparent that it seemed one could poke a finger into its side and cause it to collapse like a pricked toy balloon.

The indentation of the range stood out every bit as clearly as did the prominent peaks, while in turn the peak looked to be enormous thin spires with none of the ruggedness which normally is characteristic of them. At a point on the mountainside where snow and spruces seemed to meet, we could barely distinguish the evergreen tree tops; the peculiar light-effect seemed to encompass them as would a dense cloud of fog at the base of the mountain; the wide twisting ribbon of a river flowed serenely on, just as if this were not unusual sight; or perhaps even unworthy the attention of a dignified and well-behaved river; and nearer to us the wide expanse of green grass; where Carnation's "contented cows" could be seen in various attitudes of bovine relaxation.

And over all this area hovered the beautiful yellowish white light; thin and quivering, much as we all have seen heat waves dance over New England hayfields in July. I shall always feel that had any one peak in the range, any tree in the timber line or any twist in the river, been changed in the least degree from its position during the display, the whole would have been spoiled.

At such times we may indeed feel a sort of contempt towards the puny endeavors of artists to delect upon canvas, anything, even remotely approaching the magnificent splendor of this which held us in its spell. It brought to our minds certain parts of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, which we saw during our stop there, but when a person enters that park, he is prepared to see things which cannot be seen anywhere else on the face of the earth, and would be bitterly disappointed if his expectations were not realized.

On the other hand, this was entirely unexpected and because of that, its beauty was increased a hundred fold. While watching this phenomenon of nature, I turned to a fellow-workman, who is a native here and remarked, "Isn't that just wonder-ful?" A non-chalant shrug of the shoulder and an indifferent "Yeah" was his only reply, and straightway there flashed through my mind the old adage, "Familiarity breeds Contempt." He had seen it numerous times and took it as a matter of no concern.

Foreign countries may lure thousands of sight-seeing people to their shores every year, but I still believe that the old U. S. A. stands second to none and we have as yet seen only a very small part. "Seeing America First" means more to me every day.

S. of U. V. Membership Drive

The most unique and perhaps most important drive for members ever launched by the Massachusetts Department, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, is now in progress.

During the conference of New England department commanders and Commander-in-chief Cazeau, held in November, Mass. Department Secretary William L. Anderson suggested to Department Commander Chester A. White of Massachusetts that the last quarter of the present administration, January 1-March 31, 1930, be designated as the "Edwin J. Foster March Quarter Drive." Commander-in-Chief Foster of the G. A. R. is one of the few from Massachusetts to have received this honor and in addition is a son of a veteran, having his membership in the Willie Groat Camp of Worcester. It seems fitting that Commander-in-Chief Foster should be so signally honored in his own state and it is expected that other departments will take up the challenge presented first by Massachusetts.

Camps in the western part of the state have always shown enthusiasm for their growth, under the untiring leadership of Chester A. White of Florence, now Department Commander, and Past Department Commander Charles H. E. Moran, Jr. of Holyoke. Several camps in this area have already reported good net gains for the "Foster Quarter."

It will be of interest to Belchertown people to know that Miss Anna Belle Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Newcomb of Northampton and niece of Mrs. J. W. Hurlburt, who has been employed since 1925 in a secretarial position in the office of Francis White, assistant secretary of state in Washington, has been selected as one of the secretaries to accompany the United States delegation to the five-power naval parley this month in London.

Miss Newcomb left Washington yesterday and sails today with the delegation on the George Washington.

Miss Newcomb was graduated from the Northampton High school in the class of 1923 and took the secretarial course at the Northampton Commercial College, graduating May 1, 1924. Miss Newcomb was appointed to a stenographic position in the State Department in 1924 and about a year later was promoted to a secretarial position in the office of the assistant secretary of state.

Mr. Editor:

Again I must trespass on your time and patience. The English language, the most prolific in the world, fails when we feel keenly as I do, and must. The Girl Scouts, the Eastern Star, the Sunday School, all remembered this "shut-in" so lavishly, and my individual friends so generously, that words fail to express my appreciation. They were so timely. I had fallen and hurt my hip so that walking was impossible, but the bearers of the gifts walked for me, and were such willing helpers, too. The singers on Christmas eve sounded like music from above. "Blessed are the merciful" and God is still in his Heaven.

Independents Lose Opening Game

By Noel

The recently organized Belchertown Independent basketball team opened its season on the Town Hall floor last Saturday night with the Ware five, which won the contest, 36 to 24.

Playing their first game of the season, the home "boys" had a little difficulty in getting started, but every play was greatly improved as the contest went on. Sydla of Ware opened the scoring with a floor basket and was followed with a pretty toss by Capt. Dwyer of the Independents. The visitors then took the lead which they maintained throughout the remainder of the game.

The first quarter ended 6 to 2 in favor of Ware, while half-time saw the visitors' lead increased, 18 to 6. The third period ended with the same team leading, 27 to 13.

But the final period saw the local hoopsters throw a big scare into the visitors' camp. With Bob Camp and Mike Boyko leading the attack, the Independents staged a great rally, which brought their score within eight points of the Ware score, but the lead of the visitors was too much to overcome.

The Independents certainly played a fine game for their first encounter and much can be expected from them in future contests. Eddie Parent, local sports promoter, is manager of the quintet, and Phil Dwyer, former Amherst high luminary, has been elected captain. The team, made up mostly of former B. H. S. players, found in Saturday's lineup: Bob Camp and Elwyn Wood in the forecourt; Capt. Dwyer at the

Caucuses Next Week

Caucuses will be held next week for the nomination of town officers, the Republican being Monday evening at 7.30, and the Democratic Tuesday evening at 8. Both are to be in Memorial hall. The list of candidates to be submitted by the Republican town committee is appended.

The Democrats have not yet completed their lineup, and so have no list for publication. A member of the committee states that C. G. Bartlett is being nominated for town clerk and treasurer, and Wilfrid Noel for tax collector. The list or constables is the same save that Guy Allen's name will take the place of E. F. Shumway's. The candidate for school committee is the same as on the Republican list—E. A. Geer. Raymond Sullivan is chairman of the Democratic town committee, and Cornelius Lynch, secretary.

The organization of the Republican town committee is as follows: Chairman, C. R. Green; vice chairman, William A. Kimball; secretary, Mrs. Etta B. Randolph; treasurer, E. A. Fuller.

The list of six Republican candidates for selectmen is quite pretentious. E. A. Fuller and E. E. Gay of the old board are in the lists, and J. V. Cook, once a member of that august body, has again thrown his hat into the ring with his old time fervor. F. L. Gold, who has tried to crash the board for several elections, and has figured in recounts, is trying once more to turn the trick. H. B. Ketchen, the competing garage owner, and Herbert Peeso, cattle dealer, are new faces on the landscape and are waiting anxiously the result of the solemn referendum.

We make one safe prediction, and that is that there will be enough voters out next week so that the meeting will not have to be adjourned eight times for lack of quorum.

Turkey Hills in Big Victory
By Noel

The Turkey Hill bowling team created another big upset in the Suffolk Social League of Holyoke last Monday night, when Manager Andy Sears and his mates administered a coat of "whitewash" to the veteran Jim Long and his league-leading Rovers. The local pin artists were in hopes of at least taking two points from the leaders, but their continuous encouraging remarks, as we call it, completely upset their opponents, as the score will indicate, with Alec McKay and Long coming through with a 69 and 87 in their final string.

The Rovers have been toppling all their opponents with ease and they took this defeat rather hard; although they rolled a fine total of 1400, the Turkey Hills showed their superiority over them by totaling 1430. The first point went to the local team by 11 pins, with Orcutt and Ittner, the lead-off men featuring with strings of 117 and 109, respectively.

The Rovers worked hard to take the lead on the next point, but when Jack Swain came through for the Turkey Hills with a 109, all hopes were lost.

Honors for the third point were a hummer. Davis, substituting for Burnette of the Rovers, rolled a 116, against Swain's 81, thereby giving his team a 29 pin lead for the point. Then came the crash! The Turkey Hill cheering got the best of McKay and Long, who rolled their poorest strings of the season, resulting in a disastrous loss for the league-leaders.

Ernie Orcutt was high man of the night with 311. Not one bowler on the winning team rolled under 270, which is rated fine bowling for a five-man team in that league. It might be well to note that the Turkey Hills have lost only one game in their last nine contests, which clearly indicates that the other league entries are now considering the Sears-men great contenders for the top berth. The Caucuses

The Republican caucus Monday evening, as predicted, did not have to adjourn for lack of quorum. The usual number of ballots was printed, but it was not long before the wait went up that they were gone. The main floor had few empty seats, while in the balcony several Democratic solons feasted their eyes on the scene.

It was a continuous performance. Up the right aisle and down the left the assembly surged, voting first for this officer and then for that, while the counters were deluged with bulging envelopes of votes awaiting their attention.

There were "surprises". A contest developed for school committee when Irving M. Fuller and Frank Rhodes were nominated, also for cemetery commissioner when Fred F. Dewey was nominated. It turned out that neither of the dark horses won. The returns are appended. Thomas Allen was moderator, and William Shaw, clerk.

Turkey Hills win Again

By Noeli

The Turkey Hills, with a rather make-shift lineup, were again returned winners in a Suffolk Social league bowling game, Monday night by taking all three points from the Midways. It was an unexpected victory, in view of the fact that the Searsmen, with only four bowlers on hand, were forced to use a 75 average for the remainder of the team. Despite this handicap, the Turkey Hills managed to come through with a clean-cut victory, thereby strengthening their hold on second place in the league standing.

The local team took the first point by a margin of 59 pins, a lead which would be hard for any team to overcome. The Turkey Hills increased their lead with 15 more pins on the second point. The final point was doubtful all the way and was not decided until R. Leske of the Midways rolled his last box. Leske needed a spare to win the point for his team, but came through with only a 6 box, thus giving the point to the Searsmen by two pins, 436 to 434.

Ernie Orcutt was again the mainstay of the winners. This speedy bowler crashed the pins for a total of 332, with strings of 130, 98 and 94. His high single and three-string total were not far from breaking the present league marks of 138 and 336. R. Leske featured for the Midways. He toppled the pins for double strikes on the last two boxes of his first two strings, which is a rather rare feat.

These dances are becoming a popular event and are greatly enjoyed by all who attend. Hamilton's orchestra of Amherst will again furnish music for the occasion. Let's go!

Union grange will sponsor a military whist party to be held in Grange hall next Tuesday evening, to which the public is cordially invited. The committee in charge, Mrs. Julia Shumway, Mrs. Myrtle Cook and Wilfrid Noel, are now making plans for a large attendance.

Men's Club Meeting

The men's club of the Congregational church held its regular meeting in the chapel Tuesday evening. Supper in charge of Carl F. Aspengren, chairman of the commissary department, assisted by Roy G. Shaw, chef, and H. E. Sessions, was served at 7, and it truly did honor to the chef.

The entertainment began shortly after—in an impromptu fashion in the kitchen where the dish washing squad sang lustily, and later in the audience room.

J. Howell Cook, vice president, presided at the business meeting. It was voted to hold a minstrel show in March and C. F. Aspengren and H. F. Peck were chosen a committee to have the matter in charge. Dr. A. E. Westwell, guest speaker of the evening, kindly offered to coach the production, an offer which was gratefully accepted.

In view, also, of the musical bent of the members, it was decided to purchase song sheets for informal sings. There was also some discussion as to Ladies' night in March.

Dr. Westwell was then "introduced". He gave a delightfully informal talk regarding recreational activities at the State school, and illustrated the same by the use of slides and moving pictures, emphasizing the fact that recreation is not only entertainment but training, and that at the school they could "discontinue their final performance and still be ahead of the game."

Allusion was made to Richard Cabot, whose contentment is that work, play and worship are essential to the normal person's existence.

In speaking of productions at the school, the doctor stressed the point that the historical background is emphasized, so that there is an educational aspect in connection.

Mention was made of the limited capacities of the pupils, but it was

With Our Readers

History repeats itself. And history proves it.

This is especially true as regards governments. No country continues with one form of government for very many years, and the succession of forms which they follow is comprised in a definite cycle. For instance, suppose a country is ruled by a monarch. They are ruled by one man. He, in turn, begins to take advice from a few of his friends and allows them to assist in the making of the laws. This is the rule of a few and is known as oligarchy government. The people revolt and for a time have no set form, but rule, "everyone for himself," or mob rule, until some one wiser and stronger than the rest sets up a democracy. Where we go from here, no one knows, because no democracy has ever yet been overthrown.

Now here is the point. Looking at our town government, where, in this cycle, do we find ourselves today? Right the first time. We are an oligarchy, the rule of a few. Of course we each have a vote to cast for the men whom we wish to have run our town affairs, but after we elect those men, what do they do to reciprocate for the power we have given them? Right again. They do just as they please, (until just before the next election). Then it's a different face they greet you with. You don't have to look at the calendar to know it's election time. Little knots of important looking politicians, holding confabs on the quiet, in the street and in out-of-the-way places, tells us, louder than words, that we must vote again.

What is the cure for this condition of politics? Wouldn't the same thing work in our case, that has proved efficient in the past? Mob rule would certainly prove exciting.

Here are a few questions pertaining to some of the outstanding features of the past year's political reign. If those concerned can answer these questions to the satisfaction of the people, they will gain far more favor in the eyes of the town's voters than could be gained by a month's canvassing.

1. Who authorized the selectmen to turn the town hall over to the school committee, and how can the superintendent of schools collect money for the rent of the town hall?
2. Where did the school committee get the money to rewire the town hall and install a furnace therein?
3. Who gives the high school students the privilege to use the Lawrence Memorial hall as an assembly hall and play room? (I understand that it was specified in the will which left that money to the town, that it was not to be used for school purposes.)
4. Why is it that the reports of town officials are made out in such a way that no one can understand them? Why aren't these reports more specific, so we may know just what is being done with our money?
5. What became of the four hundred odd dollars that was collected last year as interest on taxes?

Folks, I've regusted. —A Voter

Spends Week-end at Gravel Bank

The dump truck and school bus of D. Donald Hazen spent the week-end at Orlando's gravel bank. Mr. Hazen did not fancy the idea and tried to persuade them from it, but they stuck to it, nevertheless. Yes, stuck-to-it, for while the town's pedestrians were slipping around on the ice up street, wondering why something wasn't being done to sand the walks, the wheels of Hazen's dump truck, which had gone to relieve the situation and which had made one safe trip, were one by one dropping through the ice into the water filled depression. Don then got his school bus to pull out his truck, when, lo and behold, that, too, got weak kneed and sank in the icy mire.

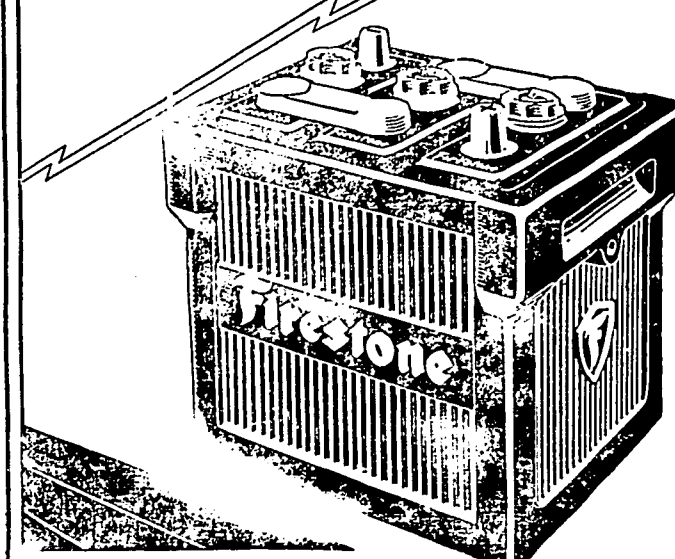

A pair of horses was then corraled and while they proved powerless to rescue the disappearing cars they managed to get out, thus saving a third direlect being added to the number.

But it was getting late—about midnight—and it was getting cold too—even the thermometer was sinking—and so was Hazen's heart, consequently he gave up the fight for the night.

On Sunday he got hold of Bill Squires who has rescued more sick cars than any garage man hereabouts, and he was only too glad to add one more scalp to his collection. He sailed to the scene with his wrecker, got the big tackle with which Hoag moves buildings, planted a post in the ice, chopped away the ice around the wheels of the cars and gave her the gun.

Out came the trucks, pond and all, for the bodies had frozen to it. Of course the wheels wouldn't turn, also maintained that along musical and some other lines, there was a marked proficiency, in some cases beyond that of the normal child, leading one to believe that the musical center and the intellectual center are not the same.

Slides were shown of stage scenes at the school, and moving pictures were thrown on the screen of the Fourth of July parade and other events. Dr. Westwell gave a descriptive close-up of some of the floats, the children in them, and the educational program that was unconsciously put across in connection. Aside from these angles of interest, there was manifest a completeness of detail that always characterizes State school programs.

After the talk, the doctor answered questions—all sorts of them. The upshot of a good deal of the discussion was that there is still a large place in the world for those who do ordinary tasks, a need for greater exaltation of family life, and a growing appreciation of the fact that in justice to all, backward children should be segregated in special classes.

After the talk there was a sing around the piano, which concluded the evening's program.

Fishing in Florida

By Lawrence Parsons

I thought a little account of a fishing trip I have just had down here might interest the followers of Isaac Walton who are readers of the Sentinel, and so I am sending you this account of a half day's fishing down here.

A promise made to me last summer by a good friend of mine who lives here, that if I would come down he would take me where we could catch a salt pork barrel half full of fish, brought me down here with Mrs. Parsons, and Saturday last we tried our luck. We left New York with the thermometer at 10 above and arrived at Vero Beach next afternoon with the thermometer at 75, quite a pleasant change, and here among the palms, grape fruit and orange trees, roses and all kinds of flowers in bloom, one can hardly realize that within a day and half from here you are having regular winter weather.

Vero Beach is one of the delightful places in Florida, situated on the beautiful Indian River dotted with islands covered with tropical vegetation and with the Atlantic Ocean with the finest kind of surf bathing but a little distance away, and with unexcelled fishing on the Indian River in the inlet, as well as with the best of bass fishing in the island wa-

Independents on Losing End

By Noel

The Belchertown Independent basketball team is still on its losing streak, having failed to break into the win column during the two games played within the past week. Last Friday night, while playing the Leeds five on the town hall floor, the Independents led all the way until the last five minutes, when the visitors managed to breeze through and come out on the long end of a 20 to 17 score. It was a hard game for the local hoopsters to lose. Bob Camp, star forward, played his last game with the Independents, as he has left town.

On Wednesday night, the home team lost a five-minute overtime game to the St. Bridget five of Amherst in the town hall by a score of 37 to 33. This was a game that the local five will not forget for some time. At half time, the teams were tied at 18 all and at the end of the

We secured five quarts of shrimps which we used for bait, obtained a power launch and with the captain in full charge, headed for the inlet where the ocean comes into the Indian River, and were soon at work fishing. And what fishing we had! We kept the boatman working overtime, taking off fish and baiting hooks. We caught all kinds of fish: drums, sheepheads, eak fish, blue fish, red snappers, sea trout, filled the salt pork barrel half full, and but for the fact that we got hold of a large skate about the size of a kitchen table, which we tried to land with a light steel rod and trout line, spending an hour and a half in trying to get him in our boat, we would have filled that pork barrel full of choice fish. There were three in our party, and at times all three of us were pulling in fish.

We stopped fishing long enough for our captain to take us over to an island where he cooked and served us with a fish dinner, and such a dinner! Out in the great ocean, with the Atlantic on one side of us and the Indian River on the other. I was loathe to stop fishing even for an hour and said I was not hungry, but was overruled. I may not have been hungry, but it took two large fish, several slices of bread, innumerable pickles, cheese and coffee to satisfy me.

Of the people living here, too much cannot be said of their southern hospitality, and we had hardly set foot on the platform here until we were made to feel we were welcome, a most pleasant feeling indeed. With two good golf courses, surf bathing and unexcelled fishing, one cannot third period, the Independents were leading, 32 to 24. With both quints resuming play for the final period, it looked like a victory for the home team by close playing. But St. Lee, Martin and Thornton of the visitors, each connected for a basket from the floor, thus making the score 32 to 30 in Belchertown's favor. Here, Manager Parent called time out and, with three minutes to go, the local team tried to hold its lead, but a pretty heave by Martin deadlocked the score at 32 all. It was then decided to play five minutes overtime. In this period, E. Lee broke through for a double decker, thus giving the St. Bridget's the lead by two points.

Rhodes was fouled and made good on his gift toss, thus cutting down the margin. But then Martin was also fouled and his toss from the 15-foot mark went through the hoop. Soon after this, E. Lee dropped in a twin counter and the game was over!

New Team Enters Basketball Field

A new basketball team has been organized, and hopes to create a lot of competition with the local team. The Athletics, managed by F. Farrington, have been practising for three weeks and can give the town team a real rub next week. 'Tis hoped that a series of three games may be arranged, to decide the town championship.

The Athletics have in their lineup such men as Terrill, Minor, Kingsbury and Collis, all new men on the local floor, and Allen, Dodge and Hodgens, who have displayed their ability here in the past.

Announcement of dates for the series will be made as soon as they can be arranged.

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

A BEGGAR WHO MET JESUS
He did not give me any bread,
He had no money and no purse.
He was as poor as I am poor,
Or even worse.
But when His rough hand touched my head,
It made my cold blood sing.
And when he said: "God bless you, sir,"
I knew He was a king.

No New Issues

As this is the last issue of the Sentinel before the town election, we have ruled that no new issues be presented today, as there would be no opportunity to reply in our columns, in case there was a desire so to do. The town officials who have been criticised in the press, have resented the several attacks but so far have shown no inclination to be "smoked out," preferring to let their record stand. One of the selectmen, referring to last week's list of questions, stated that the selectmen were in session 52 nights a year and that they would be glad to answer all such questions at such times. The opposition has maintained that these matters are of more than personal interest.

It's the old story of the "scoundrels" being "in" and the saints being "out" or vice versa, depending somewhat on the variety of glasses used, and a year from now the same cry will be raised.

But life here is much to be preferred to that in the "flood" towns where in some cases one has to fight to get an opponent and where causes are like afternoon teas.

Mr. Colby wishes to inform his old customers and friends that he is back again in his barber shop, ready for business, after being laid up with a broken arm for eight weeks, and will be pleased to meet you all again at the "old place", Masonic Building, rear of Post Office.

TOMORROW

Social Union Supper and Play

A large crowd was attracted by the supper and entertainment at the Methodist vestry Friday evening. A bountiful supper of escalloped oysters, escalloped potato and the accessories was served under the leadership of Mrs. C. E. Booth.

The play, which was in charge of Mrs. Amy Witt, was preceded by a song by "Giggling Ann" (Miss Irene Matska) and "Bashful Dan" (Mr. Matska) with Miss Eleanor Matska at the piano. When the curtain rose, it revealed "The Fresh-Air Taxi-cab" with its load of sightseers. Bert Collis was the driver and Howard Snow the crier, while Mrs. Julia Shumway took the part of groom and Mrs. Ruth Kempkes was the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witt were "Pa and Ma," while Mrs. Ethel Grindle impersonated a deaf old man and Mrs. Bertha Conkey was a girl with a harelip. Other sightseers were Mrs. Ora Davis, Miss Alberta Grindle and Joseph Kempkes, Jr. The sightseers certainly saw things. Even Pratt's mill and the Sentinel office were ports of call. Not all the occupants were acquainted with the rules of the road, however, but insisted on running down red lights and over dead men.

A February Cheerio

An "All-American" supper was served by the Ladies' Social Guild at the chapel Wednesday evening. The centerpiece of each table was a group of small American flags with streamers of red, white and blue on the table cloth. Tiny hatchets cut from red card board were at each place.

A unique "radio" program, arranged by Miss Marion E. Bartlett, formed the entertainment of the evening. Although we are more accustomed to seeing the receiving sets than the sending apparatus, those at the chapel that night were given a view of the Cheerio studio with its blue "canary" above the microphone, and its patriotic decorations. The Cheerio circle was there, including Mrs. Dora Duncan, announcer for that station, FEBRUARY,

Alvan R. Lewis

Alvan R. Lewis has been "promoted." That was the term used by Rev. F. C. Rolls, who conducted the funeral service at the Congregational church last week Saturday afternoon for Belchertown's ex-superintendent of schools, who died the Thursday night previous at the home of his son in Easthampton, after a long period of ill health. The word "promoted" was most appropriate, considering the fact that most of Mr. Lewis's life breathed the atmosphere of the school-room, where progress in the acquisition of knowledge is paramount.

For ten years he taught in the schools of Ashburnham, Mansfield, Hingham and Natick, and for 34 years he was school superintendent, 8 years in the Hopkington-Ashland district, 8 years in Provincetown and 18 years in the Belchertown-Enfield district. He retired at the age of 70 in June, 1926.

Mr. Lewis was born May 25, 1856 at Sterling, the son of Alvan and Hannah Richardson Lewis and was educated in the Lancaster and Fitchburg schools. He also took a course in a western university where he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He was married October 31, 1881, to Miss Laura Helen Wood of Westminster, who died last December.

Mr. Lewis was a past master of Union grange, past patron of the Eastern Star, past master of John Warren lodge of Masons of Hopkington, and also of Vernon lodge of this town. He also served as district deputy grand master of the 19th Masonic district and as senior grand warden of the grand lodge in 1927.

Mr. Lewis was a member of the Congregational church of which he was deacon and a member of the board of trustees. In his earlier years he was an active Sunday school worker.

Mr. Lewis served the town as moderator for a period of ten years, succeeding G. H. B. Green in that office. His alert bearing, quick decisions and his emphasis on punctuality at all public functions will long be remembered. He was also

Election Returns

The election returns by precincts are given elsewhere in this issue. The outstanding results were the election of Frank L. Gold to the board of selectmen by the largest vote given any candidate for that office, and the retention of Everett A. Geer as school committee man. Mr. Geer was opposed by Irving M. Fuller. Peter Hanifin, who like Mr. Gold, has run several times for selectman, was elected. Edward A. Fuller, chairman of the board for several years, was retained.

The New Fire Equipment

One of the outstanding articles in the warrant to be considered next Monday evening at the appropriations' meeting is that dealing with the proposed purchase of new fire equipment. What the fire department has in mind is a pumper, similar in nature to that brought here by the Amherst department the night the Park View burned, only of smaller capacity.

Several companies put out this type of equipment. We understand that no particular make will be presented Monday evening for the voters to pass upon, although the Seagrave is looked upon with favor, also the La France. New equipment of the Springfield department is of the Seagrave type, and East Longmeadow a few years ago purchased a pumper identical in size and type with that under consideration here.

Points common to all these makes, which are priced the same, are 500 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure, a 100 gallon booster tank, 200 feet small hose and 30 feet suction hose, together with ladders, etc. In any case, the machine has to pass the fire underwriters' test, before acceptance.

It is pointed out that this equipment would be of especial value in protecting the tall public buildings and also in answering calls outside the fire district, where at present little can be done.

The booster tank carries 100 gallons of water, which would be im-

Faith and Friendship Night

Friday evening at 7.30, the Rev. Newell Booth, whom you all know, will have charge of the prayer service. Mr. Booth has studied and prepared himself for the mission field and leaves within a very short time for Africa. Belchertown has sent streams of influence all over the world, but this is probably her first African explorer. You will want to attend this service and hear of Newell's plans and hopes. After his talk, he will be glad to answer any questions.

The usual Friendship period will be held after the prayer service.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE

A service of special interest to all will be held Sunday evening at 7.00 in the Methodist church. Next Sunday is Lincoln Sunday and the pastor has arranged to have the Rev. Daniel Davis as the evening preacher. Mr. Davis is pastor of the Greenfield African Methodist church. It is extremely fitting that the message of Lincoln Sunday should be brought by a negro. Mr. Davis will preach upon the subject, "The Kingdom of Truth." The public is invited to attend this service.

Moves to Amherst

J. C. Bothwell and family moved to Amherst last Saturday, where Mr. Bothwell is station agent for the Central Vermont R. R. Mr. Bothwell, aside from being agent here, had served the town as selectman for several terms, and also as one of the commissioners of the water district. He had a comprehensive grasp of affairs connected with both these positions, and rendered valuable service in securing benefits to the town, of which not all the citizens had knowledge. Mr. Bothwell had also assisted in reviving the Board of Trade, being its secretary for some time. Mrs. Bothwell had served as organist at St. Francis church.

Issued Today

It is expected that the first installment of the town reports will be issued this afternoon. The book is larger than usual this year, (119 pages), due partly to the inclusion of a portion of the state audit.

We print elsewhere outstanding paragraphs in some of the school and other reports for the benefit of any unable to secure a copy, among which most of our out of town subscribers are numbered.

Independents Defeat Shamrocks

By Noel

The Independents broke into the win column for the first time this season last Saturday night at the town hall by defeating the Shamrocks of Holyoke, 32 to 20. The game was close until the last period, when the local hoopsters displayed some brilliant basketball, tallying eight points while holding their opponents scoreless.

The Shamrocks had the edge on the home team during the first half, mainly through some fine shooting by Dean, and at the half were leading, 13 to 8. Then the Independents started on a scoring spree, which completely baffled their opponents. It was Stanley Rhodes' fine playing and shooting, which started this rally, and he popped them in from all directions, seven baskets in all, plus a gift toss for a total of 15 points. He dropped one clean through the hoop over half the length of the hall, which drew great applause. Capt. Dyer and "Red" McLean, the forwards, played a splendid game and were all over the floor. Dyer tallied twice from the floor, while McLean connected for four twin counters and a free try. Louis Shumway at the tap-off position had plenty to do with his opponent, Holm, while Elwyn Wood and Joe Boyko, who divided up the back court with Rhodes, also played a big part in the Independents' victory. Athletics Win

The first of a series of three games to determine the Belchertown basketball championship was played Wednesday night and resulted in favor of the Athletics, 18 to 17. chairman of the Republican town committee for a number of years.

Mr. Lewis became truly a part of the community he loved and which loved him. He enjoyed social contacts, and his home on Cottage St., which was remodelled under his personal supervision, gave him great contentment in his declining years.

He leaves one son, Alvan R. Lewis, Jr., principal of the Center grammar school at Easthampton; one sister, Mrs. Hattie L. Spaulding, and one brother, George Lewis, both of Fitchburg; and an adopted sister, Mrs. Annie Cone of Milford.

The funeral last Saturday afternoon at 2 was largely attended, Vernon lodge of Masons and Mount Vernon chapter, O. E. S., being present as organizations. Rev. F. C. Rolls officiated and paid tribute to Mr. Lewis as a man of high Christian integrity in both public and private life and in his inmost personality. He spoke of the love and esteem in which he was held, which was also testified by the abundance of the floral offerings. The stores were closed during the hour of the funeral. The service was continued on Sunday at Leominster at 2 p. m., 17 members of Vernon lodge escorting the body there. The bearers were Harry Sessions, Kenneth Bristol, D. Donald Hazen and Milton C. Baggs. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery at Leominster.

The New Fire Equipment

diately available on arrival at a rural fire. With the 200 feet of one-inch hose, the pump could deliver a stream at 300 pounds pressure. In the meantime, a suction line could be laid to a well or to a brook if there was one within 1,500 feet. (The department now owns 1,500 feet of hose.)

Of course, if the fire was at a public building in the center, contact would be made with the hydrants, enabling the pressure to be materially increased.

It is pointed out that Belchertown has lost by fire much property outside the center which has never been rebuilt, and that the saving of one such loss would go far towards paying for the machine.

We are told that the insurance rates would not be affected by the purchase, inasmuch as no one is permanently on duty at fire headquarters, but that the pumper would be placed to the town's credit and possibly help keep it in the class it is now in.

These facts were secured in an interview with M. C. Baggs, chief of the fire department, with the idea of informing the voters as to what is in mind.

Grange Notes

Union grange held its regular meeting Tuesday evening with a very good attendance present. The program consisted of an open forum on Prison Reform conducted by Thomas Allen and participated in by many of the members. The subject brought out considerable information and proved much worth while.

Refreshments are being served at each meeting this year. At the first meeting the A's served apples and this time the B's, who were in charge, provided bananas.

Twelve from the local order attended Pomona grange at Easthampton yesterday.

Next Sunday is Church and Grange Sunday when a special meeting will be held at the church at Ludlow Center at 7.30 p. m., with Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, as the principal speaker.

Another card party will be given at grange hall next Tuesday evening with the following committee in charge: E. F. Shumway, C. F. Aspengren, A. D. Moore and H. H. Witt.

Excerpts from Town Reports

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

This report would be incomplete without a word of comment about summer school attendance by the teachers of elementary grades. It has been the custom to offer the teachers of the elementary grades a raise in pay for summer school work. Each year there has been an increase in the number of those who have availed themselves of the offer. Last summer the response was greater than ever before. The results have been gratifying from a professional view point. The teachers are showing a decidedly improved professional tone, and added interest and zest are shown. This plan should be continued, and in order to do so, an increase in the school budget must be made. In this connection it will be timely to view the matter of costs in education as it applies in Belchertown.

In the towns where higher salaries are paid, it is true to a great extent that the teachers are normal graduates and, as a result, command higher salaries than do teacher without such training, but it is equally true that our teachers are making an effort to improve themselves as teachers and therefore are entitled to a greater financial compensation as a consequence. For a period of years there has been offered to the elementary teachers who have taken courses during the summer vacation, an increase in pay, and yet our salaries are low in comparison with those paid to grade teachers in many towns.

The solution seems to involve the continuation of the offer for improvement in summer school. Salaries have increased, but the appropriation for school expenditures has remained stationary during the past three years. In order that the improvement which we need shall continue, the appropriation should be increased.

School projects in different schools have been undertaken successfully. In the high school social and athletic activities have been carried on with success. Franklin school and the Household Arts department of the high school received gratuities on their exhibits at the Belchertown fair. Entertainments, parking of cars at fair time, and forty dollars from the school funds made possible the installation of two units of playground equipment costing more than one hundred sixty dollars, at the Center school. Through the initiative of the teachers in the Center building, a radio has been installed and pupils are thus enabled to listen to the bi-weekly music appreciation programs under the direction of Walter Damrosch, assistant leader of the New York Symphony orchestra.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Assembly once a week has been marked by several special programs. At one, Dr. George E. McPherson forcefully and instructively presented his views of our young folks' coming responsibilities, and how they ought to prepare to meet them. Before the end of the year we hope to have other men of note address us

Last spring Professor Wells, head of the Department of Education, M. A. C., asked and was granted the privilege of sending members of the senior class in his course to observe and get first hand training in teaching. The same arrangement is now in force. Our departments afford a good field for such training and results have been satisfactory to all. Our closer contact with the college has a good effect on the student body.

Those who desire it can now gain an extra point credit in music during the course. Miss Hawley's once-a-week class in Music Appreciation may well pave the way for pleasure and profit later. Under Mrs. Beaumont's fine instruction, pupils gain educational as well as entertaining concepts. We hope the new book will be an added incentive to the pupils' interest in music.

Our Christmas exercises were well prepared and executed by the Seniors under Miss Hawley's supervision. The play, "One Gift above Another," was the most pretentious effort yet attempted for such an occasion.

Previous reports have stressed home study, attendance, scholarship. These are essentials. They fit for a career. As never before, the demand is for leaders, directors. Our schools must furnish the materials for this new order or our children will see other nationalities coming in and usurping their birthright. Man's leisure time will be increased through the mechanics of the age. Machines almost human in their operation, more than humanly accurate in their continuous results, are displacing man power. The leisure time must be wisely used. Criminal use of it may place man in a serious situation. Our prisons are filling with young men in their late teens or early twenties. The better educated young people are, the less a life of crime will appeal to them. Education offers new fields for profitable study, enjoyment, and employment, and leisure hours rightly employed, will place a man's work in a community far above the dollar sign of the shop.

HOUSEHOLD ARTS

The food classes are worked out on a definite meal basis. The class luncheons and the annual school committee dinner are always of great interest. However, the food work is hampered by lack of suitable equipment. The oil stove is our biggest item. Because of the educational and economic value, the School Committee and State Department of Education should consider the purchase of an electric stove.

The annual fashion show was arranged with rows of seats encircling a decorated platform. A great many attractive dresses and ensembles were displayed. The garments constructed in 1929-1930 promise to outdo all previous exhibits.

It has always been a policy to require five hours weekly of reported home project work for each pupil. This is the check that proves the information gained in school functions in the home. During November I made a personal visit to twenty-five homes. Some of the points discussed with the mothers were: The development of the pupil's ability as a practical homemaker; the improvement shown after definite school instruction; and, how might this instruction be molded to meet the needs of this particular home. A follow-up visit will be made in the latter part of April and the first of May. This idea of home visits is indeed a gratifying custom.

SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

Very good progress has been made in the elementary grades at the center. In the rural schools the progress has varied considerably. This was unavoidable, since supervised music had not been a part of the work of these schools before. Year by year the work should grow more uniform.

In the high school a chorus has been organized for the purpose of preparing really worth-while music. This chorus has been put upon a credit basis, credit being given only to those who attend chorus rehearsals and take, as well, a course in Music Appreciation and History. This course is given by Miss Hawley, who is also of untold help in accompanying the chorus.

The music prepared in the schools should be and is used from time to time in public programs. The high school chorus sang "Columbus" at commencement in June, and the girls' glee club sang two numbers. At Christmas time all schools at the center united in a carol program in which each room had its own separate part, as well as its part in the singing of the entire group.

SELECTMEN

The bridges and approaches to bridges in the town, a large majority of which are of wooden construction and were erected in years past before the coming of motor vehicles, are rapidly reaching an unsafe point. Wherever it has been possible to do so within the appropriation, permanent bridges of reinforced concrete construction have replaced the former wooden bridge and we recommend that this policy be continued in view of the present and future heavy vehicular traffic in addition to the continued expense in connection with the upkeep of wooden bridges. The safe condition of the bridges of the town is one of serious importance, and appropriations for this account should not be pared down too closely.

Arrangements were made whereby the school committee of the town should act as agents of the selectmen in charge of the old Town Hall. This arrangement was made principally on account of the Town Hall being used for gymnastic purposes by the school department so that they being vested with the charge of the building could better take action to prevent further misuse of the building by unauthorized persons who were abusing the privileges of the building by acts of destruction.

Two major enterprises are on the program for 1930, one the reconstruction of the Holyoke road from the post-office to Granby center and the other progressing of action initiated by this Board for construction of a macadam road from the post-office to the Palmer town line. Of the first, work will be commenced and completed during 1930. It will be noted that an article in the warrant seeks authority from the town to indemnify the State for land damages, drainages and easement costs for this work. We are informed by the State officials, that by law, Towns and Counties must bear this cost but have been assured that it will not be excessive and that they will co-operate with the Town to hold this cost down to a minimum by making relocations and other arrangements toward this end. The second matter we believe to have made satisfactory progress with during 1929. At our instance we have sought and obtained the co-operation of the Chambers of Commerce of Palmer, Amherst, Northampton and Greenfield with the result that favorable action may be expected in the near future. This road will be constructed by the State and County and with its completion this town will then enjoy through macadam routes to Amherst, Springfield and Holyoke, Boston and Palmer.

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Rolls went to Hudson, N. H., Monday by reason of the critical illness of Miss Phyllis H. Harwood, a niece of Mrs. Rolls, who had by mistake taken strong disinfectant tablets instead of cold tablets, last Friday, but found that she had passed away 15 minutes before their arrival. Belchertown people will remember Miss Harwood, as she was a guest at the parsonage the last two summers. She was 15 years of age and a sophomore in the high school. She is survived by a brother and sister.

Harlan Davis has returned to Belchertown, where he has accepted a position with Irving Fuller.

Turkey Hills Topple Tip Tops

By Noel

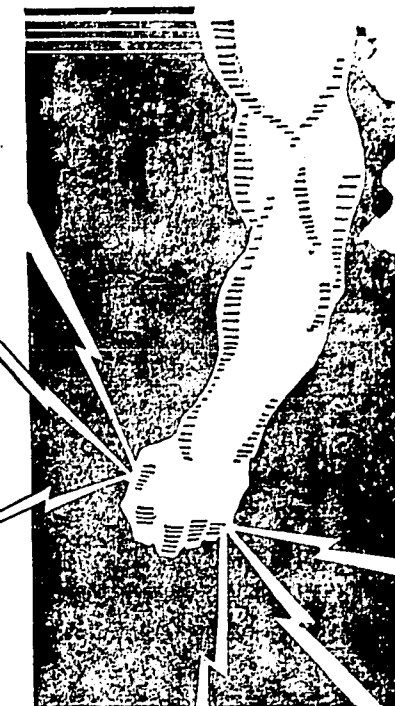

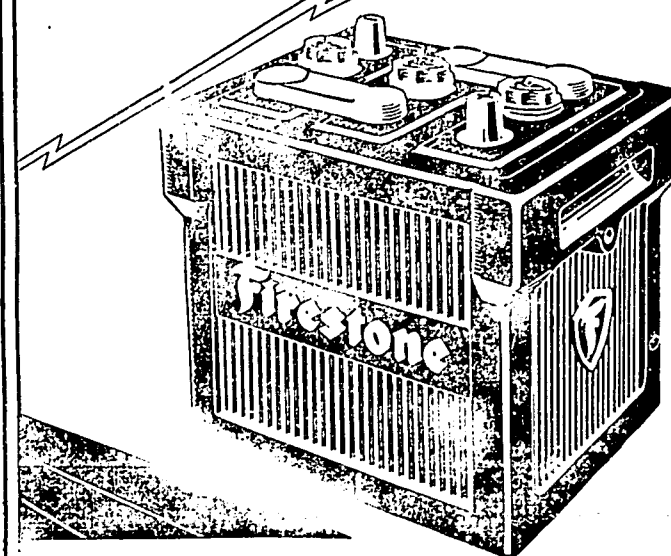

The Turkey Hill bowling team moved into first place in the Suffolk Social League last Thursday night by virtue of its three-point victory over the Tip Tops, thus displacing the Rovers, league-leaders throughout the season, who dropped to third place as a result of losing all three points to the Red Tops on the same night.

Another big upset happened during the past week when the Lucky Five and the Red Tops hit their stride and toppled the pins for totals of 1511 in victories over the Midways, thereby tying the Searsmen for the league high team total. How long these three teams will remain tied for this total is unknown, but will be, at least, until some team goes over that mark.

In returning to the match, a local victory was looked for right at the start, when Orcutt rolled a 102 to Reynolds' 71, and as this lead was gradually increased, the Turkey Hills took the first point by 61 pins. The second point was the closest of the night and again went to the local team by 20 pins. Reynolds sort of evened matters up with Orcutt in the final string, when he rolled 130 to the latter's 98, and for a time the point looked rather gloomy for the Searsmen, but when "Mac" and Swain each came through with strings of 120 and 123 respectively, the outlook for the point was clear indeed.

Breaks for the Turkey Hills came in all directions with Orcutt, Green,

At the close of the Cheerio broadcast, the program was continued from station Y O U T H, Congregational Sunday School, Belchertown, Miss Irene M. Jackson, announcer. This program included musical selections by a chorus of young ladies and recitations by Jean Baggs, Hilda Greene, Betty Lou Cook, Loraine Spencer, Kenneth Collard, Roberta Brown, Betty Ketchen and Jackie Paine. Ex-Mayor of Northamp- ton To Speak

Ex-Mayor Andre of Northampton will speak at the Central Group Epworth League Mid-Winter Institute to be held at the M. E. church tonight, this service taking the place of the usual Faith and Friendship program. The institute features Bible study and Life Service, and Mr. Andre will speak on the latter theme, showing how one can be of service as a lawyer. At these institutes it has been the custom to draw on speakers from the several professional groups.

Dr. Orville Crain of the First M. E. church of Holyoke will have charge of the Bible Study period. Dr. Crain has been heard here on previous occasions.

William French of the local League is business manager of the institute.

It is announced that there will be a social hour and refreshments following the speaking, and that the townspeople will be very welcome at this gathering.

Speaks on Africa

More than usual interest attached to the Faith and Friendship service at the M. E. church last Friday night by reason of the fact that Rev. Newell Booth, who is to go shortly to Africa as a missionary, addressed the gathering, telling of his plans and of the conditions prevailing where he is to labor.

Mr. Booth is a son of Belchertown and of the Methodist church in particular, so that there was a justifiable pride evident on the faces of those who gathered for the service.

Rev. Mr. Booth spoke on the challenge of Africa, and one had difficulty in detecting whether the knowledge manifest was gained by experience or was academic. The challenge as he saw it was to infuse the spirit of Christ into the home life.

The Appropriations' Meeting

The weather outside Memorial hall Monday evening was rather blustering, and it was equally tempestuous within, at the appropriations' meeting, where the winds of argument blew back and forth with varying velocity.

It started off peacefully enough. The new town clerk, C. F. Aspengren, read the warrant, Thomas Allen was chosen moderator, Rev. F. C. Rolls offered prayer, and under article 2, Mrs. Amy Witt and Mrs. Lillian Kelley were appointed almoners of the Whiting Street and Mrs. Susan M. D. Bridgman funds, each for one year, and E. C. Witt trustee of the Calvin Bridgman fund for three years. Under article 3, all reports, save the finance committee's, was accepted, and under article 4, that was taken up line upon line, here a little and there a good deal.

It was moved that each item be considered a written motion, so down the list they went. Most of the time, Moderator Allen might just as well have used a phonographic record with eight or ten stanzas of "Is there anything to be said—If not, those in favor—Opposed—It is a vote."

But Frank L. Gold, newly come to power on the board of selectmen, stopped the merry tune with the 9th item (a new one), which was to raise and appropriate $150 for a clerk for the assessors. He asserted that there was no such town officer, that the inclusion of the item was illegal, out of order and unnecessary. He maintained that the assessors' work was soon over with, while Charles Sanford, a member of the board, claimed that with the coming of the excise tax, there were almost daily demands on their time. So, on the first test vote of the night, the item was voted down, 73 to 61.

Opposition to the next entry on the list, "Law, $250," developed from the same quarter, the assertion being made that legal talent on the board of selectmen this year would necessitate little expenditure in this department. E. A. Fuller, also of

Annual Minstrel Show

The annual minstrel show at the State School was given at that institution on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week—on Tuesday, both afternoon and evening, and on Wednesday night, when the main performance was pulled off. The Rotary club of Amherst, who made it possible for a large number of children to attend a talking picture at the Amherst theatre a short time ago, were special guests at this performance. In fact, between Parts I and II, one of the actors called Fred Hawley to the front and presented him on behalf of the cast, a gorgeous red rose.

What a cast it was! Superintendent McPherson, who interspersed a few remarks, said there were 71 in the show. And colorful, too! None of the colors were missing, from ebony black to vermilion red, and the stage was packed for the grand finale with an assortment of characters hard to duplicate. There were the diminutive "Williamses," large and luscious "Charlie," dancers, rope jumpers, "old maids," and "invalids," while to the rear towered the "wooden soldiers" with gay headgear.

Rovers Lose To Amherst A. C.

By Noel

The Rovers, playing their first game under new management, lost a hard fought game to the fast Amherst A. C. Wednesday night on the town hall floor, 35 to 13. The visiting quintet was the best attraction brought here this season and showed its superiority both on the offense and defense. Although defeated by a good-sized margin, the local team deserves great credit for the fine game that it played against its opponents. Connors and "Red" McLean were the highest scorers of their respective teams. In the preliminary, a girls' team composed mainly of former high school players, defeated a similar team of high school girls, 16 to 6.

Basketball Team Under New Management

Quite a change has taken place in local basketball circles during the past week. The Independents are now known as the Rovers and Wilfrid L. Noel, who managed several teams a few years back, has taken over the management of this team. Manager Noel has always taken great interest in local sports and hopes to have attractions which will bring out basketball fans in large numbers. The team is, at present, handicapped for practise on account of new rules at the town hall, but with fine support and plenty of cheering, these young players can develop into a strong quintet.

TWO GAMES BOOKED

Tomorrow night, there will be two games in the town hall. The main event will bring together the Shamrocks of Holyoke and the Rovers, which is scheduled to start at 8:30. In the preliminary, the girls' team has been booked to meet the B. S. S. girls quintet at 7:45.

The second of a three game series for the town championship will be played next Wednesday night between the Rovers and Athletics. These two teams are evenly matched, as the result of the first game indicates. That a victory by the Rovers is looked for, is no secret, otherwise the series will end then and there. A delegation of rooters for these two rivals is expected to attend the contest. Let's go!

the educational life and the social life of Africa.

He introduced his hearers to a typical African hut and home, to the crude bush school which is only a semblance of a school, and pictured the religious life of the natives which finds repeated expression in connection with life's common experiences, but is based upon fear, thus allowing the witch doctor with his charms a wide field for operations.

Rev. Mr. Booth glimpsed Elizabethville, where he expects to begin his labors. This is a city just below the equator, having some 25,000 to 30,000 natives, and 5,000 to 10,000 Europeans. Gas and electricity and modern conveniences are available. The country is rich in minerals, and the official language is French.

Rev. and Mrs. Booth, (for, of course, the family is going) expect to be of service to the African people in this transition period between the old, isolated life and the modern trend towards centralization, by assisting in training native teachers and pastors. They plan to sail from New York March 7, spend two and a half months in Belgium to familiarize themselves with the language, and arrive in Cape Town June 16. They are sent out by the churches of the New Bedford district, who will receive from them (as will also the local church) monthly reports of their labors.

For the past four months Rev. and Mrs. Booth have been taking a course at the Kennedy School of Missions at Hartford to fit themselves for their work. Mr. Booth said that the challenge of America is the same as that of Africa, but that we must let our light shine and not hide it by provincialism.

At the close of the talk Mr. Booth answered questions quite varied in nature—from one, how many languages he must learn; from another, how much tiger hunting he expected to do.

When Rev. and Mrs. Booth and Newell, Jr., were nicely seated for eats at a table on the platform, Rev. Rockwell Smith presented on behalf of friends, gifts to each, $10 gold pieces to Mr. and Mrs. Booth and a "doggie" to Newell, Jr. Mr. Booth said he saw in the gifts a camera with which they could take pictures in Africa which could be transferred to slides for use on their return five years hence.

Friendliness then mixed with refreshments consisting of sandwiches and cocoa, served under the direction of Mrs. Dora Wesley, and the evening closed with the usual program of games.

Independents Lose To Ware A. C.

By Noel

The Independents, although leading most of the way, lost a close game to the Ware A. C. in the town hall Saturday night by a score of 22 to 18. With the score of 18 all and three minutes of play remaining, Budlong and Syda came through with a floor goal each to win the game for the visitors. The entire home team played a wonderful game with Capt. Phil Dyer featuring in the scoring role with four baskets and a free try for a total of nine points. Syda was the outstanding player for the Ware A. C. and counted six times from the floor for a total of twelve points.

In the preliminary game, the local girls' team defeated the Ware maidens, 18 to 7. The visiting quintet presented a rather make-shift lineup and with only three of their players on deck, they were forced to take two local players to round out their team. The home team, playing its first game of the season, outclassed its opponents throughout the contest with the scoring divided between Evelyn Clain and Ruby Gustafson. Agnes Mulvaney scored six of the seven points for the Ware quintet.

Bowling Notes

The Turkey Hill bowling team, which is now resting in first place in the Suffolk Social league in Holyoke, is planning to retain its berth at the top for the remainder of the season, for the main reason that league officials have announced that the winning team will be tendered a banquet at the Hotel Nonotuck and a good time enjoyed by all.

Each team is allowed to carry eight men and a manager. On account of the departure of C. R. Green for Florida, Manager Sears expects to list another bowler. The averages of the Turkey Hill bowlers to date are as follows: Orcutt 98, 22-27; Swain 96, 4-15; MacDonald 95, 24-36; Henrichon 95, 21-26; Sears 94, 8-33; Holmes 92, 1-25; Green 91, 3-38; Fairchild 91, 14-16; Noel 90, 2-9. Green took part in the greatest number of matches.

Last night (Thurs.) the Turkey Hills rolled the Red Tops, the results of which will appear in next week's paper.

Let the SENTINEL Follow You!

the board, stated that they had in hand a bill of over $100, but nevertheless the meeting voted only the substitute sum of $100.

Moderator Allen then ran a merry pace down the sheet for fully a dozen items, with stray hands going up here and there to make it legal. When "Street lights, $2,120" was reached, Mr. Gold substituted the sum of $1,800, contending that all-night street lighting was not essential. This time the lines held and the original sum was voted. An unsuccessful attempt was also made to reduce "Dust prevention, $125" to $75.

But the battle royal of the night was waged over the school appropriation. $43,000 was recommended by the finance committee, but Mr. Gold moved the sum of $41,000, maintaining that school expenditures, including transportation, had been going up, and that it was time to stop. He proclaimed the glorious formula of economy, to be brought about principally by the submission of transportation contracts to open bids.

G. E. Scott, chairman of the school board, asserted that the transportation cost was "less today per pupil than ever before." H. B. Ketchen, who transports the pupils from Enfield and Greenwich, pointed out that Belchertown doesn't pay a penny towards their transportation. Concerning his local contracts he said that in view of the circumstances he had handed in his resignation. He claimed that in four months he had received only $75 above actual cost.

Mrs. Etta B. Randolph, of the school board, threw a bomb shell into the meeting by coming out for the smaller amount, thus revealing a split in the committee. She protested water installation at Union school and maintained that expenditures for text books the coming year would be considerably less.

Dr. G. E. McPherson demanded to know what the trouble was inside the school committee, deplored the fact that the argument over the school appropriation had resolved itself into a scrap between two transportation groups, and didn't think it looked well for a member of the board to protest against a water supply.

Everett Geer, also of the school board, admitted that expenditures for school-books would be less this coming year, but stated that seven new typewriters were needed in the commercial department (although he said that they might not get them all), and that a new stove is needed in the domestic science room.

Thomas Hanifin, early in the discussion, diffused the situation with a bit of humor, by supporting the larger sum, with his usual contention that the school teachers should receive more pay. Alluding to the proposed saving in transportation, he dryly remarked, "Well, I guess they could use that too."

Supt. Knight spoke at length on the school problem—the increased number of pupils being transported, in order to give them added advantages, the teaching of music in the outside schools, the immunization work that had been done, and of the interest of the teachers in attending summer school. He maintained that if Belchertown undertook a policy of retrenchment, the state authorities would likely send Enfield and Greenwich pupils elsewhere, as they pay so much of the transportation and of the tuition.

G. E. Scott spoke forcefully of the fact that other things enter into the matter of transportation besides price, viz. the sobriety of drivers and their moral influence. He also stated that 155 towns in the state have adopted the policy of private contracts, so that we are not alone in the matter.

When the question came to vote, the $43,000 was raised and the vote was not doubted.

The remaining items were passed over without debate, including the "added recommendation" that the sum of $3,775.98 be transferred from the surplus revenue account to the revenue account of 1930 to be used in reducing the tax rate.

Going back to the warrant proper, Art. 5 was considered and the balance of the dog license fund was voted to the library. Action under the remaining articles was as follows:

Art. 6

The treasurer was authorized to borrow $40,000 in anticipation of taxes.

Art. 7

Chauncey D. Walker Post, A. S., was awarded $25 for flags and wreaths for Armistice Day.

Art. 8

$1,500 was voted to complete the Turkey Hill road, this amount to be augmented by sums furnished by the county and state.

Art. 9

In the matter of the purchase of a snow plow, for which $290 was asked, the sum of $200 was substituted, Mr. Gold stating that one practically identical with that in use could be purchased for the smaller amount on account of being able to buy at the wholesale price.

Art. 10

Maude B. Aspengren and Harry B. Bridgman were permitted to set apart such portions of their land north of Mt. Hope cemetery, for cemetery lots as occasion may require, the price to be not more than $35.

Art. 11

This article, concerning a sewer at South Belchertown, caused considerable discussion. Some maintained that they had a definite program of action, others that they didn't, some that the state authorities would have a say in the matter, others that it would be left to the local board of health. An amendment to appoint a committee to investigate was permitted by the chair, but William Sullivan appealed from the decision. The moderator was sustained 68 to 61. But when the voters were through with the article, the $250 asked for, was voted.

Art. 12

Three thousand dollars was voted for a "permanent asphalt pavement to begin at the Bondsville bridge and run up Depot Street to Franklin Street," but not till after considerable argument, and then it was only with the proviso that the county and state would contribute their proportionate share, which was very much doubted by some. Thomas Hanifin wanted $1,500 spent on the road anyway, and was happy to be able to make an "amendment to the amendment" to that effect. In fact, such legal possibilities were grabbed up like third choices at a bargain counter. Hanifin threw another laugh into the meeting by saying that the only time people at the center show any interest in affairs at the south end is just before election.

Art. 13

$25 was voted to extend the street lighting system on Franklin St, and install a light in front of the house of Daniel Kennedy.

Art. 14

$500 was voted as the town's share towards "land, grade and drainage damages" which will be incurred with the straightening of the Holyoke road.

Art. 15

Concerning the purchase of suitable fire apparatus, a committee was finally appointed to investigate. M. C. Baggs, fire chief, explained in detail the proposed pumper and the need there was therefor. F. L. Gold claimed that the present equipment, which had been run only 3,000 miles, could be put in shape for a small outlay. Mr. Baggs stated that in his opinion it would be poor economy to patch up the present machines, and hoped the town would wait till it could get a real machine, if it couldn't afford one now. It was left with the selectmen to appoint the committee of investigation. The vote as to whether the matter should be referred to a committee was: yes, 74; no, 60.

Art. 16

This article, relative to financing the proposed piece of fire apparatus of the previous article, was indefinitely postponed.

Art. 17

Under "any other business," F. L. Gold, clerk of the selectmen, submitted for that board the names of persons appointed to the finance committee: R. E. Hanifin, 3 years; H. Morgan Ryther, 2 years; J. V. Cook, 2 years; Arthur Warner, 1 year. J. V. Cook withdrew and the meeting closed with Mr. Gold submitting the name of Leroy M. Blackmer, after whispering to Peter Hanifin and raising his finger in an attempt to get Fuller's eye and approbation.

Of course some were there to hear the motion to adjourn, but the excitement hunters had gone.

Annual Minstrel Show

Part I was given over to the minstrel proper. It was a rollicking, side-swaying, mirth-provoking bunch, on the move every minute. And out-of-the-ordinary specialties were pulled off in connection. The audience just sat back and opened their own ruby-red lips in response.

Part II was a conglomeration of everything. The "Radio Broadcasters" at station PUNK, according to telegrams carried to the stage, were most favorably received in Enfield, and even Amos 'n Andy "relinquished the air". The "Jolly Tars" maneuvered gracefully in suits of white trimmed with red, the jump rope specialty was well executed, and the two-faced dancing girls made one look twice. One soloist, a Madam with all the letters of the alphabet attached, had to be carried off the stage on a stretcher, but it was all a part of the show. "A Garden in the Rain" produced real girls, real umbrellas, real rain coats and real rain, and nobody knows yet how those small boy wooden soldiers with headgear reaching to the ceiling managed to stay atop those stilts thrust down through their long pants' legs.

In fact each program at the school reveals the fact that the ingenuity department works overtime. Special lighting effects, controlled from the director's booth, lent reality to the special novelty scenes and the dances.

The program was put on by the teaching staff and was directed by Dr. A. E. Westwell, appreciation of whose services was expressed by Dr. McPherson. The superintendent called attention to the fact that there are 968 children at the school, and that there are four major entertainments each year, augmented by monthly programs. There are movie Mondays with parties in the wash on alternate weeks. Coasting and skating are part of the winter program.

Tonight the "minstrel" will be taken to the Northampton State hospital, where a show of this type always "takes".

Tells of Western Trip

The monthly meeting of the Men's club was held in the chapel Monday evening. A hash supper was served, the committee being Harold F. Peck, H. Morgan Ryther and Kenneth Bristol. At the business meeting following, at which Dr. J. L. Col-lard, president, presided, it was voted to hold the annual men's supper March 5.

Then while the members were still seated around the fire, which fought a losing battle with the cold wave, C. Edward Stowe of the State school, guest speaker, told of the trip he took west last summer with Mrs. Stowe. Although he alluded to Baker, where the thermometer stood around 100 degrees at 2 a. m., also to Yuma, the hottest city, told of flies in Utah so plentiful that workers had to wear mosquito nets, spoke of driving the desert by night, due to the unbearable heat, and of the hot baths and springs at Glenwood Springs, still the most coveted spot in the chapel was between the stove pipe and the chimney.

But Mr. Stowe told of the cold spots of the trip as well. He took his hearers on that thrilling ride up Pike's peak, where at its summit, (14,000 ft.) sightseers did not care to linger long. The peak is 3,000 feet above vegetation.

But the high spots of the trip were emphasized the most. Speaking literally, Leadville, the highest town in the United States, was the "highest" point visited, but in the common vernacular of "high spots" Bryce's canyon was outstanding and was said to outrival the grandeur of the Grand canyon, and the Columbia River drive was mentioned as particularly beautiful. Mid-Winter Institute

The mid-winter institute of the Central Group of Epworth Leagues was held at the M. E. vestry last week Friday evening. There were a good number present from the constituent societies, besides those from the local league and other friends. Rev. C. R. Prewitt of Northampton presided. Following the devotional service and roll call, Dr. Orville Crain of Holyoke took charge of the Bible hour period, taking for his subject, "Miracles." He said that the miracles were indeed miracles to the people of the times in which they occurred, but that with our increased knowledge of the universe and its laws, reasonable explanations, in many cases, present themselves, which is not surprising. He said that God works in the cosmic forces rather than apart from them and that the miracles are not central in the Book, but rather the spiritual. He said that the smallest thing in the book of Jonah was the big fish, and went on to say that people claim more for the Bible than the writers themselves claim for it.

Dr. Crain maintained that Christ's control over the thoughts, feelings and will of people was more wonderful and vital than his control over nature and that Christ was to be measured not so much by what he did as by what he was. In conclusion he said, "There stands the Man."

After an intermission in which Miss Chilson conducted a sing, Lawyer Jesse A. G. Andre of Northampton, of the firm of Stevens and Andre, spoke on how one could serve the community as a lawyer. He said that lawyers have a great deal to do with making and enforcing our laws, are responsible for wording most of the laws enacted, that as judges they interpret the law and if it is violated they mete out the penalty.

He spoke of the "tricky" lawyer as an abuser of his trust and a dangerous man, but he thought the undesirables in that profession were no more numerous than in others. He said that a good lawyer was a diplomat, and if a client was wrong, served his community by telling him

Town Championship Series Tied

By Noel

Belchertown's "little world series" for the town basketball championship is now in a deadlock as a result of the Rovers' victory over the Athletics on the town hall floor Wednesday night in the second of a three-game series, the final score being 19 to 14. These two rivals played a fine brand of basketball, which was greatly enjoyed by the largest crowd of the season. It was a close and interesting game from start to finish, with plenty of thrills throughout the entire contest.

The first quarter furnished one of the features of the game, for seldom do any teams battle for ten minutes on such even terms as the Rovers and Athletics did, the period ending at 2 all with "Red" McLean and Ike Hodgdon scoring the points for their respective teams. The Athletics took the lead at the beginning of the second quarter when Hodgdon took an easy shot on a pass from Bob Dodge, making the score 4 to 2. Al Menard then came through for the Rovers with a pretty toss.

Turkey Hills Trim Red Tops

By Noel

That the Turkey Hills are serious pennant contenders was again proved last Thursday night when they took all three points from the Red Tops in a Suffolk Social league match. The winners, although not at their best, rolled a total of 1408, which was 111 pins better than their opponents' total of 1297. Some fine bowling by Ernie Orcutt and Johnny Holmes kept the local team in the lead, these two bowlers turning in scores of 300 and 299 respectively. Manager Andy Sears tried out a new bowler, "Molly" Pelouquin, in this match. Pelouquin, who has recently moved to the western part of the town, is very much out of practice, for he has not bowled for two years. He has rolled with several teams in the Red Men's Social league of South Hadley Falls, and has a keen eye for toppling the pins.

Whether the Red Tops fear the league-leaders as some of the other teams do, is not known, but the losers were certainly in poor form, rolling their lowest total of the season. Danny Sobzak was the only Red Top bowler able to hit the century mark, who was their high man with a total of 279. Score:

Table with 4 columns: Name, Score 1, Score 2, Total. Includes Orcutt (114, 84, 102-300), Sears (99, 85, 83-267), Pelouquin (91, 83, 81-255), MacDonald (89, 97, 101-287), Holmes (97, 120, 82-299), and Totals (490, 469, 449, 1408).

The Turkey Hills finally met defeat Monday night, after winning seven straight games, by losing all three points to Charlie Wright's Big Five. Score:

Rev. Asa M. Parker, secretary of missionary promotion of the Massachusetts conference, will speak at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Vernon Lodge was represented at the 14th Lodge of Instruction in Ware last night. Rev. F. C. Rolls gave an address on "The Principles of Masonry."

Object of a Newspaper

The writer of this article does not pretend to speak for the editor, but simply for himself. He desires to mention one of the reasons why a paper like this is valuable to a community. The reason why he believes it is because through its columns there is opportunity for the expression of ideas.

One of the great values of the Town meeting is the opportunity it gives for the expression of opinion on the part of any voter. If a man does not like this thing or that he has the privilege of getting up at the proper time in meeting and saying so. That is a good thing. If a man has a criticism, it is proper for him to be given an opportunity to express it. It would be unfortunate to deny to any individual the right of free speech.

Whether an idea is right or wrong we are not concerned about for the moment. If an idea is false, its falsity will be most speedily shown by bringing it out into the light. We are not interested in "horse-shed" criticism. We heartily disapprove of "back alley" talk and veiled conversation in the dark. We like the New England Town Meeting because men can come out in the open and express their convictions.

So with a newspaper. A weekly newspaper is a town meeting once a week. If a man has a grievance, let him state it and sign his name. When a newspaper refuses to print any such articles—if it is written in decency—then it ceases to be what a newspaper ought to be,—an opportunity for the people to express their ideas. A newspaper should encourage free speech.

No one should think that every idea set forth in a newspaper is the idea of the editor. That would be unfortunate. The true editor believes that men can be trusted to find their way to the light and come to the proper conclusions. He believes that truth has the universe on its side and cannot permanently be defeated. If for example someone thinks that the ideas set forth in this article are erroneous, let him write to the editor, and express his convictions, and if the editor is what we think he is, a proper amount of space will be given him. —R.

Shamrocks Down the Rovers

By Noel

The fast Shamrock quintet of Holyoke turned back the Rovers on the Town Hall floor Saturday night in a brilliant game, 33 to 19. The first half was rather listless, the home team trailing 23 to 10, but a shift in the Rovers' lineup in the last half, which brought about better teamwork, was a feature of the game. The score for the final half was 10 to 9, which clearly shows the great improvement in the Rovers' team play. It must also be considered that the Shamrocks greatly outweighed and outreached their opponents, thus giving them a big advantage. That the home team is developing into as speedy a quintet for their size as there is in this vicinity must not be forgotten.

Al Menard, playing his first game for the Rovers, featured with his all-around playing. This midget player and Capt. Dyer, who performed in the back court in the last half with Rhodes and Wood going in the forecourt, made a change which enabled them to hold their own with their opponents.

Cassidy was the big gun for the winners, hooping nine floor goals for a total of 18 points. Donahue played a nice floor game and found time to drop in four twin counters. Raymond Dunbar, who once pastimed with B. H. S., was in the visitors' lineup and naturally was "in" for a little razzing by local fans. Summary:

Table with 4 columns: Name, B, F, P. Includes Shamrocks (Cassidy 9, 0, 18; Donahue 4, 0, 8; Minkley 0, 0, 0; Dunbar 3, 0, 6; Marrin 0, 0, 0; Griffin 0, 1, 1) and Totals (16, 1, 33).

Park was visited, but there was no special ecstasy expressed over it, by reason of its alleged untidiness.

Mr. Stowe told of passing through the Boulder Dam area where there was much activity in anticipation of expected development, and of seeing quite a bit of California at the expense of real estate agents who were described as "good", but who failed to get him to sign on the dotted line. He spoke of going down a hill with a 21 per cent. grade, of attending the rodeo at Glenwood Springs, which he described as the most interesting event of the trip, of running into a sandstorm, and of avoiding by about an hour, being drafted to fight a fire in the wheat belt.

Mr. Stowe wove in many human interest stories. He spent a most profitable evening in the home of a Mormon family, he told of two travelers who were held up for a day and fined $40 for catching two frogs in a private frog pond, etc., but perhaps the most interesting of all occurred at Kimball, South Dakota.

One of the citizens there spotted his car as from Massachusetts and wanted to know where they hailed from. The reply was "Just out of Springfield." The stranger said that he used to live just out of Northampton. When Mr. Stowe said his home was in Belchertown, lo, the westerner said he, too, used to live here. He gave his name as F. A. Reynolds. Of course they had to have lunch together and talk it all over.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Stowe's return, they have received from Mr. Reynolds, who is "78 years young," letters telling a little more of his genealogy. In his last communication of Jan. 15, he says, "Mother's father was for many years called the wealthiest farmer of Hampshire County, a family of four sons and one daughter. His father was 2½ years in Washington's army, while grandfather was in the war of 1812." He also enclosed a letter written by his Uncle Edwin July 20, 1849, from Tampico, Mexico, to his mother, the then Mary Jane Hanum, located at Belchertown.

Mr. Reynolds told Mr. Stowe that he with the U. S. Senator from that district were the ones instrumental in getting Coolidge to spend his vacation in the Black Hills two years ago. Kimball is not far from the Bad Lands, also one of the high spots of the trip.

The Stowes spent their nights in cabins and were pleased with the accommodations. The price of gasoline ranged from 17 cents to 40 cents a gallon, the latter price prevailing in the Grand Canyon area.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Stowe answered questions, which brought out additional sidelights on this trip of nearly 11,000 miles, covering 20 states and a part of Canada. The speaker brought to the meeting a large number of post cards which were passed around to the members as he spoke.

Mr. Stowe admitted that generally speaking New England has it on the rest of the country as to scenery, and stated that one makes the cross-country journey sooner than he anticipates because of the monotony of part of the distance.

Capt. Terrill's floor goal again gave the Farrington men the lead, 6 to 4. But then Capt. Dyer and his mates opened up a rushing attack, which drew a roar of applause, and took the lead which they maintained during the remainder of the game. Baskets by McLean, Shumway and Wood and a gift toss by the latter brought the quarter to a close, the Rovers leading 11 to 6.

Play was very close during the last half, both teams scoring a like number of points, with the Rovers having the edge on floor goals, 4 to 3, while Hodgen and Collis each made good from the 15-foot mark.

McLean and Hodgen were the highest scorers of their respective teams, the former with three field goals for a total of six points, while the latter scored nine points on four baskets and a free try. Summary:

TWO GAMES BOOKED

Manager Wilfrid Noel of the Rovers' basketball team announces that he has booked two games to be played within the next week. Tomorrow night, the Wilco A. C. of Holyoke will oppose the local team in the main game to be called at 8.30 p. m. The Paper City team is one of Holyoke's leading junior quintets and is expected to be a good attraction. According to reports received by the local management, the visitors have won 15 games and lost 7 this season.

A preliminary game has also been arranged for tomorrow night between the local girls' team and the Ware maids. This game is also to be of great interest, inasmuch as Miss Gould, who jumped center for the home team Wednesday night, scoring eleven baskets for a total of 22 points, is one of the leading players of the Wonder Town five. The local team is expecting stiff opposition and is planning to have the Misses Peeso and Christian of the B. S. S. quintet in its lineup, when the teams are called together at 7.45.

Next Tuesday night, the Cyclones of Chicopee will be the attraction against the Rovers. This quintet includes in its lineup several former Chicopee High School stars and were 1928-29 junior champions of that city. No preliminary has been arranged for as yet. Watch the papers for further announcements! The Rovers, fresh from their victory over the Athletics, are in fine shape for the two coming games and hope to add these teams to their list of victims. That the hoop game is coming back on the map in this town is apparent by the large turnout at the last game. The management of the Rovers greatly appreciates the increasing support of local basketball fans, which is of great help in encouraging these young players to have a winning team. Popular prices prevail at these games. Admission: adults, 25 cents; children under 12, 15 cents.

so. Mr. Andre said a lawyer could be just as honest, just as Christian and just as worthwhile as a deacon. Contrary to the opinion of some, he claimed that many worked from 12 to 15 hours a day, were good material for public office by reason of their ability to speak in public, and were continually being called upon to serve on committees and to speak on various occasions. He spoke of the large percentage of lawyers in our law making bodies.

At the close of his address Mr. Andre was submitted to a barrage of questions ranging from the possibility of convicting a million dollars, to an opinion on the Sacco-Vanzetti case. Some in the audience dissented from his views, but that only added to the interest. Fees, he said, were gauged by the importance of the work, its success and the financial standing of the client. Mr. Andre was finally beckoned from the stage by the presiding officer who realized that the speaker had given the folks their money's worth and more.

The evening's program closed with games in charge of William French, business manager of the institute, and refreshments.

Gustafson-Allen Wedding

Miss Helen Marie Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Linus Gustafson, and Guy Chapin Allen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Chapin Allen of this town, were married last week Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride, 53 Park street, Florence, by Rev. B. D. Hall, pastor of the Florence Congregational church. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Mrs. Louise Gustafson, sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride was Miss Elsie Gustafson, sister of the bride, and the best man was Harold A. Allen, brother of the groom. The bride wore a gown of heaven blue crepe, trimmed with eggshell lace, and carried a bouquet of Mrs. Coolidge roses and blue lace flowers. The bride was gowned in rose crepe and carried a bouquet of tulips to match the gown.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at which refreshments were served. There were a large number of wedding gifts, including cut glass, silver, china and furniture, besides a chest of silver from the members of the engineering department at the State school, where Mr. Allen is employed.

Water District Meeting

The annual meeting of the Belchertown Water District will be held in Lawrence Memorial hall, on Monday evening at 7.30. As will be seen from a reprint of the articles in the warrant, the business will be mostly of a routine nature. As before stated, the commissioner whose term expires this year is H. B. Ketchen. A commissioner is also to be chosen for one year to fill the unexpired term of J. C. Bothwell, who has moved to Amherst.

The eighth annual reports of the district officers are being printed. Excerpts from the same will be found in this issue.

Farewell Sermon

Sunday evening at the Methodist Church presents a special opportunity for the people of Belchertown. Rev. Newell S. Booth, who sails for Belgium next week to proceed with his missionary studies and eventually to go to Africa, will preach his last sermon in America for five years from the Belchertown pulpit. Such a sermon should mark his challenge and charge to us and our answer of loyalty to him. The service is open to the public as always and everyone is welcome. Make this a new consecration service for you.

Play and Dance

"Pa's New Housekeeper" made quite a hit at Grange hall Wednesday evening. "Pa" fell for her 100 per cent, even though he caught the object of his affection in the act of embracing his son, and later puffing a cigarette, but it was explained away—oh, so nicely. "Pa" went through the adoration act, or as near so as one could and not do it. When breach of promise suits darkened the horizon, poor pa found that the golden hair was removable, that the voice was bass instead of falsetto, and that dresses were where trousers should have been. It all explained the apparent "non arrival" of his son's chum, friendly to his older daughter. Of course the explanation was that no one wanted "Pa" to lose his head at his time of life over that expected "Mrs. Pounce."

This play, with a plot like a cobweb, was presented by the Palmer grange under the auspices of Union grange. The hall was well filled for the presentation, which was well received. Many remained for dancing from 10 to 12. Stanley Wheeler's orchestra of Enfield furnished music. Proceeds were $24.

Faith and Friendship Night

The greatest mystery which a man ever faces is himself. Science has probed the expanses of the universe, but is just beginning to understand men and women. This week we are going to talk together about "Controlling Ourselves." Many of us wish we knew how. Others have the secret and the power. Come and tell us how you control yourself.

The usual fellowship of fun will be enjoyed after the prayer service. Come and learn to play again.

motional secretary of the Congregational Conference, spoke at the local church on Sunday morning, calling attention to the feeling of comradeship with others in the common task of evangelization, and lent human interest to his address by speaking of various missionaries on the field and the work they are doing, which on the foreign field is now largely confined to the training of native leaders.

With Our Subscribers

My dear Mr. Blackmer:

In a letter sent you from Vero Beach, Fla., a short time since, I told more of the attractions for the pleasure seeker, but since that time I have seen much more of Florida, and while it can well be called the pleasure ground of the United States, it has in addition the real worth to attract others who are not wholly bent on pleasure but look on the more serious side of life; and so I am giving you a few facts regarding what I saw, which I think will prove of interest to our farmer friends.

Vero Beach, Fla., is in Indian River County, where the tropics really commence and where frost is seldom seen. I was taken around the country outside of the city and here are a few of the things I saw. I saw what is known as Hammock land, where the soil is rich and dark looking, where about everything can be grown, and which reminded me of our rich Connecticut River land. I saw tomato fields of 10 acres each, string beans as well as Lima beans in equal sized fields, and all kinds of other vegetables being raised in equal proportion. The Indian River grape fruit as well as its oranges have a world wide reputation and when you get one bearing the regulation stamp, you get a fruit that can not be excelled anywhere in the world. There is under cultivation some 6,500 acres in grape fruit and oranges, which produced last season over 105,000 crates of oranges and 325,000 crates of grape fruit, bringing its owners over $625,000 in cash.

In addition to citrus fruit grown, the following acres were devoted to the raising of vegetables:

Irish potatoes	270 acres
Peppers	213 acres
Cabbage	34 acres
Tomatoes	942 acres
Egg plant	36 acres
Watermelons	19 acres
String beans	804 acres
Lima beans	7 acres
Cucumbers	16 acres

And the industry is yet in its infancy. Here you can raise three crops yearly, and if the farmer needs corn for his silo, he can put in the fourth crop in corn for that purpose.

I also visited an up-to-date dairy so clean in every respect that we had our lunch in one of the cow barns. It reminded me of the one at our State school there as well as the one at the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst, except that here the herd were thoroughbred Jerseys and their milk sold at 22 cents a quart retail. Poultry also occupies a

Girl Scout Hike

"What is so rare as a day in June!" But how about a June day in February? Such was Monday, the day of the Girl Scout hike. A warm summer sun, clear blue skies, and a long, long trail awinding, such was the perfect combination.

The girls quite naturally paired off. There were the ten and eleven year olds with their arms about each other, there were the B. H. S. seniors who took the luggage in charge, there were "Pork" and "Beans," inseparable as usual, and there were the two adults trying to encourage each other that they were nearly at the end of the hike.

Holland Glen was their destination. Here a fire was quickly laid and water heated for the cocoa. And then the hot dogs began to sizzle and crack open, the sandwiches were toasted to an appetizing brown and last but not least, the forked sticks were used to toast the marshmallows. It was a wonderful dinner, with the music of the brook for an orchestra, and the too-hot sunshine shaded to candle light by the hemlocks overhead. There were songs afterward, as there had been on the trail coming up, and group pictures taken in an open spot between some ledges and the brook.

The trail homeward was a more or less broken one. Some had to leave early to meet an appointment for a music lesson. Some of the younger Scouts were given a ride home, and one by one others reached their own homes until the few who finally arrived at the center were but a remnant of the 20 who left there together that morning.

There were some wet feet that night, some tired muscles and some blistered heels, but no one complained much about little incidents like that and apparently everyone had the best time ever. Scout Dorothy Fitzgerald had charge of the arrangements for the hike.

Report of Commissioners

It is with pleasure that we herewith submit our eighth annual report. This report for the year 1929 is one of progress as it shows a real increase in actual water takers. There are now 134 actual water takers, ten with services installed who are not taking water and about twenty-five possible takers.
 The entire system still proves very satisfactory with all maintenance costs remaining exceptionally low.
 The equipment and supplies purchased were used in installing new services and most of this amount will be paid back to the District as all labor and material used beyond the curbing is charged to the customer.
 The Commissioners urge the prompt payment of accounts without the necessity of sending notices and shutting off the supply as being very important to the District's welfare.
 The District will lose this year the very valuable services of Commissioner Jos. C. Bothwell, who has moved to Amherst. Mr. Bothwell came on the board shortly after the District was formed and has had a very important part in its development. The Commissioners wish to express here the District's appreciation of his service.

Rovers Lose to Wilco

A. C.
By Noel

The Rovers basketball team dropped a hard fought game to the Wilco A. C. of Holyoke Saturday night on the Town Hall floor, 30 to 27, before a large crowd. The teams were evenly matched, although the visitors led most of the way but never by more than four or five points. Included in the visitors' lineup were several former Paper City high school stars, among which were O'Rourke and Connors, who once past-timed with Sacred Heart high. Just how interesting the contest was can be determined by the total number of floor goals for each team, with the Wilcos having the edge, 12 to 11.

The Paper City five led 7 to 5 at the end of the first period and 16 to 14 at half time. The Rovers tied the score early in the third period, but McLaughlin's keen eye for the hoop again gave the Wilcos the lead with the period ending in their favor, 22 to 20. The final period was the feature of the game with the Rovers trying their best to bring home the bacon, but the visitors managed to hold their slight lead to the end of the game.

The home team played an exceptionally fine game with every player figuring in the scoring line. Connors and the midget McLaughlin proved to be the outstanding performers for the Wilcos.

In the preliminary, the Ware girls' team, led by Miss Lois Gould, defeated the local maids in a one-sided, yet interesting game, by a score of 31 to 6. The first half was rather close, with the visitors leading, 9 to 4, but the last half saw the Ware maids popping them in from all directions. Summaries:

Cyclones Easily Down Rovers

By Noel

The Cyclones of Chicopee easily proved that they are one of the leading junior quintets in Western Massachusetts on the Town Hall floor Tuesday night by turning back the Rovers' basketball team, 56 to 34. That the management of the Rovers brought the best quintet here in years cannot be doubted, for the game which these flashy young players displayed can hardly be equalled by any team of its caliber.

The home team was at its best in the second and third periods, but was unable at any time to come within scoring distance of the visitors. Summary:

Amherst All Stars Defeat Athletics

By Noel

The Athletics basketball team lost a close game to the Amherst All Stars on the Town Hall floor Wednesday night, 30 to 23. The first period found both teams giving a fine exhibition of passwork, with very few attempts at the hoop. The period ended, however, with the All Stars leading, 2 to 0, Connors contributing the visitors' points on a shot from under the basket in the last 30 seconds of play.

In the second period, scoring began and half time found the Amherst hoopsters leading, 12 to 7. The teams battled on practically even terms in the last two periods, the home team trailing by two points, 18 to 16.

The Athletics, with Phil Dyer and Elwyn Wood of the Rovers' lineup, put up a fine game and gave the visitors plenty of opposition. The All Stars, who have appeared here twice previously this season, played their usual good game.

In the preliminary, two local girls' teams engaged in a practice game. Summary:

Big Attraction Tomorrow Night

The Rovers basketball team jumps into action again tomorrow night at the Town Hall. The opposition will be the Whirlwinds of Easthampton, who have several well-known players in their lineup. Another fast game is promised for local basketball fans, which is due to start at 8.30 o'clock. Capt. Dyer and his mates are playing a fine brand of basketball, considering the stiff opposition they have been up against, and certainly hope to surprise home-town supporters before the season is over.

A preliminary has been arranged which will be almost as interesting as the main battle. The Belchertown girls' team, with its strongest lineup of the season, will be opposed by the Ware maids, who won the 1928-29 high school state championship. Included in the visitors' lineup will be a few of the players who appeared here last week. Besides Capt. Evelyn Clain, the local girls' team will be made up of the Misses Peeso, Christian, Warren, Skribiski, Gustafson, Carpenter, Dyer, Sears, Upham and Graton. This game will be called at 7.45 p. m. The management of the Rovers believes that this will be one of the best attractions of the season and a record crowd is expected to be on hand when the first whistle blows. Let's go!

Wilfrid L. Noel, manager of the Rovers, also announces that his hoopsters are in for a busy week. Next Tuesday night the tribe will journey to Holyoke, where they will encounter the Mohican A. C. on the Boys' Club floor.

Wednesday night, which is also the most popular mid-week night for home games, will find the fast Orleans quintet of Springfield and the Rovers battling it out on the Town Hall floor. The Orleans have a strong team and have been fine attractions where they have played this season, so an interesting game is looked for. A game with the Huntington A. A. to be played in that town next Thursday is pending. On Saturday night, March 8, a game has been booked with a team made up of former Springfield Dusty league players to be known as "Superman's Roosters" to be played here. Further announcements of this game will appear in next week's paper!

He spoke of visiting the ancestral home of the Washingtons, located in England.

Mr. Rolls called the Father of his Country an "astute diplomat," and alluded to his constant emphasis on details, which in large measure accounted for the success of his military campaigns. He also called attention to Washington's loyalty, to his great humility, and to his constant recognition of his dependence upon Divine guidance. Mr. Rolls related several anecdotes concerning Washington which revealed him to be a man of the people.

Men's Supper

There was no mistaking the fact that it was men's night at the chapel, Wednesday evening. A man took the money, men manipulated in the kitchen, and young men, and men with small waist lines served the supper. White coats flitted everywhere carrying mashed potato, turnip, ham and lastly, and by no means least, ice cream. Time was when the last course was lasting and produced laughs aplenty. Those were the days of cotton fritters and sauce a la Hoover, but this wild strain is running out of these latter days; men whose slogan evidently is, "Good to the last dish!"

Of course silverware played a merry tattoo on the floor at times and it's still a secret as to how many whole dishes there are left, but the men are not likely to lose their annual job of serving the March Social Guild supper. They go at it in a business-like way, they stay to the grand finale in the kitchen, and they march away as though it was all a part of the day's work. What woman but could admire!

While the crockery flew in the kitchen, an entertainment was being run off in the audience room. The following numbers were given:

Water District Meeting

The annual meeting of the Belchertown Water District was held at the Lawrence Memorial hall, Monday evening. In writing up the town meeting, held in the same hall a few weeks previously, we described the atmosphere as tempestuous, but that word would hardly characterize Monday night's meeting. Not a ripple of dissent appeared on the quiet waters. To be sure, some suspicion as "contrary minded", came and took a good look at the puddle, but they went home, apparently without voting.

Whoever heard of an election here where somebody didn't at least toss in a vote for some street corner guy, just to start a laugh, but even that didn't develop. Sixty-seven people filed around and voted for William E. Shaw as clerk, and for C. G. Bartlett as treasurer, and 66 votes were given Ella A. Stebbins and Harold B. Ketchen, as commissioners for one year and three years respectively, with no names written in.

The election of a woman as water commissioner was perhaps the most exciting event of the night. A few years ago the town threw precedent to the winds and elected a lady as town clerk, and now once more they turn to the feminine element.

The other commissioners frankly admitted that they couldn't agree on a man to keep the books, so they pled for a member of the fair sex and their selection was sanctioned.

From the report of the commissioners presented Monday evening, things seem to be going fairly well in the district. The large number of new water takers, it was stated, would make possible (probably with the next meter reading) a reduction in the water rate possibly to $1.50 per month.

E. C. Witt of the board pled with the bosses of the household, whoever they might be, to settle all water bills promptly, so that there would be no necessity for the disagreeable business of shutting off the water.

Thomas Allen was chosen moderator, but was called upon to make only one ruling in the two hours or more the meeting was technically in session. No games or piano recitals brightened the waiting period this year, as evidently no one cared to disturb that incomprehensible calm.

Farewell Sermon

An event of more importance than perhaps some people realize, took place at the M. E. church Sunday evening, when Rev. Newell Booth, one of Belchertown's sons, preached a farewell sermon before leaving with his family for Africa, where they will be engaged in missionary work for the next five years.

Rev. Rockwell Smith conducted the service, while Rev. F. C. Rolls of the Congregational church, which had foregone its evening service by reason of the significance of the event, gave the farewell prayer. A large chorus choir assisted with the music.

Rev. Mr. Booth's sermon was a challenge to his hearers to enter into service for others, a challenge which he has accepted in qualifying as a missionary to Africa.

Mr. Booth traced the thought of others back to pre-historic animal life, pointing out that those animals which had lived for themselves alone, no matter how large and strong they had been, had perished while those which had lived in herds were still occupying the land today.

ing Capetown, South Africa, June 16. From there they will go by train to the Katonga district, which is the special field of the Methodist church. The work will probably be that of teacher in the Central Training institute at Kabonga, where native leaders are trained and where Rev. and Mrs. Booth will take the place of a man and his wife who are due to leave on furlough.

Mr. Booth was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1920 and from Boston University in 1924, where his wife also received her education. In 1927 he received his degree from the Boston University School of Theology. His last pastorate was at New Bedford, one of the churches in the district which is sending Rev. and Mrs. Booth out as missionaries.

Visits Ancestral Home

Postmaster Pratt received a call Monday from Mrs. Austin B. Griggs of Topeka, Kansas. Both Mrs. Griggs and Mr. Pratt are descendants in the fourth generation of Capt. David Pratt. This was the first visit of Mrs. Griggs to Belchertown, the home of her ancestors. Her visit brings to mind some of the anecdotes told of the doughty Captain.

Coming early to this town, he with his wife, Lucy Cooleedge, settled upon a farm in the Great Hill district. It is said that when David received his call to join the Continental army he forsook his plow and went, leaving his wife and four small children in the log cabin on the hill. He served with distinction through the war, being promoted to captain.

At the close of the war he returned to his farm where, with characteristic vigor he took up his interrupted duties. It was at this time that he built the house so recently burned. Before a schoolhouse was built in the district, it was at the house of Capt. David that the children would gather for instruction. As the older sons became old enough to help, the produce of their farm was loaded on to the ox cart and drawn by two or three "yokes of oxen" over the long, rough road to the distant city of Boston where the produce would be exchanged for nail rods. These, in turn, were brought home and manufactured by hand into nails. Undoubtedly the nails used in building the old Pratt house and many others of the town were made by Capt. David and his sons.

His oldest son, desiring to study medicine, undertook the contract of making 35,000 nails, for which he was to receive thirty-five dollars. He not only undertook but successfully finished the job. With the thirty-five dollars received he purchased medical books. Not exactly a "royal road to learning"!

The result makes one wonder if, in these days of equipment and ease, some vital element in the education of our youth is not in danger of being lost for, in the archives of the D. A. R. in Washington, D. C., may be read the following, copied from the History of Madison County, N. Y. "Dr. Jonathan, James and Daniel Pratt, brothers, were from Belchertown, Mass., whence they came as early as 1796 and settled near the Center. Dr. Pratt was the first physician and practised until his death in 1839. He was prominent in the formation and support of the First Congregational church. . . . Dr. Pratt's brothers were young, unmarried men and studied medicine with him. Dr. James settled in Eaton, N. Y., as the first physician and school teacher." Dr. Daniel was also one of the early physicians of this vicinity. Among the descendants of Capt. David's fifteen children were many prominent pioneers and educators. It will be noted that the family name of the mother of this large family was Cooleedge, and certainly this enterprising family exhibited traits we are accustomed to connect with that name.

It will be noted that the family name of the mother of this large family was Cooleedge, and certainly this enterprising family exhibited traits we are accustomed to connect with that name.

Mrs. Griggs herself is one of the founders of The National Research Federation which has just held its convention in Atlantic City. She with Mr. Pratt drove to the old Pratt farm which for more than one hundred and seventy years remained in the possession of the Pratt family and name.

Rovers Down Whirlwinds

By Noel

The Rovers' basketball team defeated the Whirlwinds of Easthampton in the most exciting game of the season on the town hall floor Saturday night, 38 to 37. The home team, trailing all the way, staged a great comeback in the final period, by tying the score at 32 all and managed to nose out their opponents by one point in the last three minutes of play. Every player on the local team played a wonderful game and which they consider their biggest victory of the season. Ezyk was the outstanding star for the visitors.

In the preliminary, Ware girls again proved to be far superior to the local girls' team by winning a 20 to 9 game. Summaries:

Orleans Victors Over Rovers

The Orleans of Springfield added the Rovers' quintet to their list of victims Wednesday night, by downing the local five on the Town Hall floor 42 to 30. The visitors proved that they are one of Springfield's leading junior quintets by playing a wonderful floor game, both on the offense and defense. The home team, playing its second game in successive nights, could not get started in the first half, but showed a great reversal of form in the last half and outscored their opponents, 19 to 16. Summary:

Big Game Tomorrow Night

Manager Wilfrid L. Noel of the Rovers' basketball team announces that his charges will be opposed by the Supermans of Springfield on the town hall floor tomorrow night at 8.30 o'clock. The visiting quintet is made up of former City League players of that city, several of whom played here a few years ago. The Springfield aggregation is being brought here through the courtesy of B. W. Superman, well-known Home City poultry dealer, who has made a large acquaintance of friends here during the last few years. Mr. Superman enjoys following up the hoop game and believes his team will be a great attraction. His players, or "roosters" as he calls them, are anxious for the first whistle to blow.

The Rovers are having a much needed rest, after playing two hard games this week, and are now looking forward to plenty of opposition in tomorrow night's game with "Superman's Roosters". Several of the home players are recovering from bruises received in the Holyoke game, but the local management assures hoop fans that the regular lineup will be ready for action. A large crowd is expected to be on hand for the contest.

"Let's go to the Town Hall tomorrow night and see the fighting roosters!"

Town Items

The bowling match scheduled for Wednesday night in the Suffolk Social League between the League-leading Turkey Hills and the Rovers has been postponed to a later date. There were six tables in play at the Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary card party last week Thursday evening at the Wayside Inn. The high scorers were Harry Greene and Mrs. Frank Rhodes, and the low scorers were Mrs. W. S. Piper and Kenneth Rhodes. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Mrs. Mary Ayers, Miss Althea Dodge and Mrs. Frank Rhodes. Mrs. Jennie Hopkins went to Malden yesterday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. C. H. Eddy. Due to a misunderstanding concerning coming events, the Auxiliary to Camp 83, S. of U. V., has postponed its 3-act play, "Three Pegs," to Mar. 26. Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gay, Jr., of Chicago, announce the birth of a son, Edward Howard, on February 25.

At the close of the program, a portrait gallery was opened, and the audience exercised their wits in trying to decide who was who. Most of the pictures were taken some years ago and caused much merriment.

Over 100 people attended this annual event. Dr. G. E. McPherson was chairman of the supper committee, and Mrs. A. D. Moore had the entertainment in charge.

Grange Notes

It was Poultry Night at Union grange Tuesday evening when interesting and helpful talks were given by Mrs. Frieda Gould on the raising of Reds, and by George Booth on the raising of White Leghorns. William French spoke on the subject of feeds for young chicks. There was also a vocal duet by Mrs. H. C. Grindle and Mrs. Hazel Wunsch and readings by Mrs. George Davis and Mrs. J. Howell Cook. The D.'s furnished refreshments of stuffed dates instead of the doughnuts which everyone expected.

There will be another card party at Grange hall Tuesday evening.

Ten patrons neighbored with Ludlow grange Monday night.

Another grange dance will be held March 14. It is announced that $5.00 in gold will be awarded to the winner of the prize fox trot.

Eleven from Union grange attended the Pomona grange at Hadley yesterday.

Turkey Hill Items

Mrs. Estelle Sanford celebrated her birthday on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Shumway. The ladies of the community dressed as school girls, gave her a surprise visit and presented her with an apron and cut flowers. A salad supper with cake and coffee was served at 5. Those present were Evangeline Newman; Louise Gay, Emmeline Hubbard, Carrie Belle Eaton, Adella Hurlburt, Ursula Sanford, La Point Shumway and Marion Putnam.

Mrs. Charles Booth accompanied her son, Rev. Newell Booth, and his family to New York, from which place they will sail for Belgium tonight. Mrs. Booth will return on Saturday.

With Our Schools

The yearly dental examination of the children in the public schools was begun Tuesday by Dr. Thomas E. Sullivan, assisted by Miss Mansfield, school nurse.

The slogan for the 1930 Health Day is "Parent Co-operation in the Community Program for Child Health and Protection."

In the interests of better health and health education, school room temperature charts are being distributed to all the schools by Miss Mansfield. The thermometer will be read each hour during the day, and the resulting graph on the chart will show how near to the ideal of 68 degrees the temperature of the room has been maintained through the week.

Miss Martha Conklin, Household Arts teacher, returned to her duties yesterday after an absence occasioned by the death of her father last Sunday. He was taken ill the Wednesday preceding and went to the hospital on Saturday. Much sympathy is expressed for Miss Conklin.

Basketball Games Next Wednesday

Manager Wilfrid Noel has arranged for two basketball games for Wednesday night. The main game will be between the Rovers and the Holyoke A. A. and will be called at 8.30, while the preliminary at 7.45 will be between a girls' team from Holyoke and the Belchertown girls.

Commissioners' Announcement

The commissioners of the Belchertown Water District state that the meters will not be read this quarter until April first. The regular dates have been February 25, May 31, August 31 and November 30, but since the fiscal year has been changed to conform with the calendar year, it has seemed logical to change the reading of the meters to the first of each quarter in the calendar year. The commissioners also state that they will make a determined effort to collect the water rents which are past due. It is expected that notices will be sent to delinquents the first of next week and that the following rule will be applied:

"In all cases of non-payment of water bills for thirty days after same are due, the water may be shut off and will not be turned on again until the amount due and two dollars charge for the shutting off and turning on are paid."

Dies in Florida

Word was received by relatives in town of the sudden death Monday of Samuel Porter Hopkins at Orlando, Fla., after a long period of heart trouble. Dr. Hopkins was born in Belchertown December 1, 1860, the son of Edward S. and Maria P. Hopkins. He was brother of the late Harry A. Hopkins, whom he often visited and with whom he went with other local friends for many an enjoyable outing at Camp Arcadia. He spent most of his life in Brooklyn, N.Y., where he was a dentist for many years. He was married April 16, 1896, to Miss Edith Beard, of Brooklyn, who survives him. He also leaves a son and two daughters, Samuel Porter Hopkins, Jr., Mrs. Hazel Ford of Detroit, and Mrs. Beatrice Hopkins, Edwards of New York City. The funeral was held Wednesday at New York City.

Poultry Meeting Monday

A meeting for the discussion of poultry problems will be held at Grange hall Monday evening at 8, when Jos. H. Bodwell, formerly a county agent in Massachusetts and Maine, who has had much practical experience, will speak.

To lend a feminine touch to the meeting, Mrs. Eunice Clark Bodwell, who has been a home demonstration agent in this state for many years, will discuss some of the problems of child feeding.

The public is invited and is asked to bring questions. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Amco organization, of which R. A. French is the agent in this locality.

Board of Trade Meeting

The Board of Trade took a new lease of life Monday evening. At least that seemed to be the atmosphere of the occasion. A large part of the business was that which had previously been acted upon, but there was a persistent determination to see it through. In order that the enterprises might receive fresh impetus, committees in charge were in many cases revised.

This being the annual meeting, officers were elected. Here again there was a change in leadership. H. B. Ketchen, the president of last year, asked to be excused from being a candidate, and H. C. Knight, superintendent of schools, was elected in his stead. Other officers elected were: 1st vice-president, G. E. Scott; 2nd vice-president, W. E. Shaw; secretary, Lewis H. Blackmer; treasurer, Harold F. Peck; board of directors: M. C. Baggs, J. L. Collard, H. B. Ketchen, R. G. Shaw, and the aforesaid officers.

The new president, H. C. Knight, took charge of the discussion period. It was voted that the evergreen tree which died last summer be replaced, and the president was delegated to attend to the matter.

It was voted that the Board of Trade reappropriate $25 (that amount was voted last year, but was not spent) to be used on the common, if the Park Association will contribute a like amount, and other organizations will bring the sum up to $100.

It was mentioned at the meeting that the selectmen have the project of re-covering the well at the south end of the common on their hands, and it was thought that the much talked of fountain and curbing might well receive attention at the same time. It was thought that the discontinued well might be used as an overflow for the fountain.

Some thought that the well might just as well be filled in, but those with a more sentimental make-up hated to see it done. The idea of covering the well with a cement slab was favorably commented on.

The following committee was appointed to investigate the cost of a fountain and curbing: M. C. Baggs, J. L. Collard, J. J. Kempkes.

The Board still felt that mail service would be expedited if the buses were allowed to carry it, due to the round-about way much of it has to go. It was voted that further information be secured on the point.

Another old project loomed on the horizon of the meeting and that was the air marking of the town. The task of following up this matter further was assigned to H. B. Ketchen, who was empowered to get others to assist him.

The meeting adjourned with the idea that there would be a special meeting in the not distant future, probably following the Park association meeting, April 2, to check, double check and maybe triple check on some of these enterprises.

L. S. U. Officers

At the meeting of the Ladies' Social Union Wednesday afternoon the following officers were elected: President Mrs. Ruth Kempkes 1st Vice-president

Mrs. Bertha Conkey 2nd Vice-president

Mrs. Elizabeth Booth Secretary Mrs. Lillian Kelley Treasurer Mrs. Clara French

Work Committee: Mrs. Ora Davis, Mrs. Alice Hubbard, Mrs. Clara French, Mrs. Cora Newman, Mrs. Ethel Collis, Mrs. Belle Eaton Flower Committee, Mrs. Booth.

Christmas Shut-In Committee: Mrs. Pearl Green.

Program committee: Mrs. Ruth Kempkes, Mrs. Bertha Conkey, Mrs. Iva Gay, Mrs. Amy Witt, Mrs. Myrtle Williams.

Grange Notes

Next Tuesday evening is Neighbors' night at Union Grange, Granby and Amherst granges being invited. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. Leland of the Hampshire County Extension Service, who will give an illustrated lecture. This meeting will be held at 7.30 instead of 8, the usual hour.

A dance under the auspices of the Grange will be held in Grange hall tonight, Wheeler's orchestra officiating. $5 is offered for the prize fox trot.

Bursting Bounds

A great idea is always bursting bounds. It never stays where it is put. It refuses to be imprisoned. It snaps the strongest fetters. A great truth grows and is certain to break the old forms. New wine must be put into new wine skins. The old skins will burst. The same thing happens when we try to keep a great idea in old receptacles.

Some one gave expression to a great idea in the following words: "Each for all and all for each." That was seen, first of all, to be true in the family. The unit was not the individual, but the family. The most honored individual was the one who was laboring the most diligently for the interests of the family.

This idea soon burst the bounds of the family and came to be applied to the clan or the tribe. And the great man in the tribe was the one who did the most for the tribe. Anything that was beneficial to the tribe was heartily voted, no matter how it affected a neighbor tribe.

But this idea of each for all and all for each could not be kept in the clan. And it has ever been bursting old bounds. Many there are who would be happy if they could keep the ideas in the old wine skins. But such are engaged in a hopeless task.

And now, at last, we are beginning to see that the principal, "Each for all and all for each," applies equally well to nations as it does to individuals. It was not long since when there was one law for the individual and quite another law for the nation. But the new great truth has worked like leaven, and in time all humanity will be leavened.

How true are those lines of the poet: "New occasions teach new duties. Time makes ancient good uncouth; They must upward still and upward. Who would keep abreast of truth."

Carnation, Wash.

A recent article in the Sentinel, which I wrote from here, brought an invitation from John L. Shumway, who lives about fifteen miles from Carnation, to visit him. Mr. Shumway was born and raised in Belchertown, coming to the Pacific coast 47 years ago, when he engaged in the lumber business, retiring some years ago.

We had a most delightful visit with Mr. and Mrs. Shumway, and he inquired about several of the hometown people whom he used to know. Among these were Mr. Edward Peeso, whose farm Mr. Shumway's people owned at one time, Miss Mary Allen, Mrs. Abbie Walker, the late Samuel Allen, Joseph Gould, Joseph Morse, and Guy Allen, also the owner of the hotel known as the Union House, and several others whose names were unfamiliar to me. As Mr. Shumway has never returned east, he was very much interested to learn of the many changes which have taken place since he left there.

It is probable that there are many of the older residents who knew Mr. Shumway, and this may serve to inform them of his present location.

As this may be my last article before starting on our return trip, it has been suggested that I include in it a brief description of the mammoth dairy barn which was recently constructed to house Carnation Farm "contented cows".

Some idea of its size may be gained when I mention the fact that it required 15 days' excavation work with a steam shovel to prepare the cellar hole for the foundation, and that the barn will house a total of 900 head, all under one roof. The building is four stories high and I will begin with a description of the basement.

Our first impression as we enter is of the Chicago Union stock yards. First there is a room 16 by 16 used solely for testing of milk. Then in a straight line there are three paddocks 16 by 22 feet, and eight box stalls 12 by 16. The aisle down which we walk is five and a half feet wide and on the opposite side are eight more box stalls of the same dimensions, a paddock 40 by 40 feet, then 30 stanchions, also a hospital with ten stanchions and six box stalls, an operating room 20 by 20, and lastly the herdsman's office.

Next comes the railroad, a narrow gauge affair over which the manure from the entire barn is hauled to the pit 150 feet outside. There are six cars, whose capacity is 800 pounds each, the average daily output being around 50 cars. Directly over the railroad are eight steel pipes two by three feet, through which the manure from upstairs is conveyed directly to the cars below.

To the right of the track we have 75 more stanchions, a paddock 30 by 20, another 40 by 30, eight box stalls 12 by 12, a store room 20 by 20, another paddock 16 by 25, and lastly six bull pens 16 by 16, with a 200-foot exercising yard attached to each.

Now for the second floor. There are really four separate barns on this floor, two of them tying up 50 head each; the third has 25 stanchions and 20 box stalls 16 by 16 feet, and the fourth 25 box stalls of the same size. To the right of these four barns is a vast grain storage space, also the grain mixer and grinder, and three silos 38 by 18 feet. A beet storage house with a capacity of 3,000 bushels runs parallel with the grain storage room.

The third and fourth floors are devoted entirely to hay and straw storage, all the hay and bedding being in bales. From the third floor to the point where the eaves are, (the plate, I think carpenters call it) is 42 feet high; the width of the floor is 60 feet, its length 300 feet. The fourth floor is really the peak of the roof, but there is sufficient room for a five-ton truck to drive in with a full load of hay or straw. As the barn is built into a side hill, there is easy access to all floors. It should be noted that this is only the so-called main barn, and I rather doubt whether a larger one exists in the entire country.

Connected with the main barn are six "rest" sheds, 200 feet long and 30 feet wide, all covered with roofs, into which the cows are turned daily all winter. The roof is necessary by reason of the almost continuous rainfall here from November till May.

The other barns are of much smaller capacity; the largest of these will hold 200 head in stanchions and 100 in paddock.

The calf barn has 52 individual box stalls eight by ten feet, and the sale barn 20 stalls 12 by 10, also another bull barn with 21 stalls ten by ten, and 60-foot exercising yards attached to each stall.

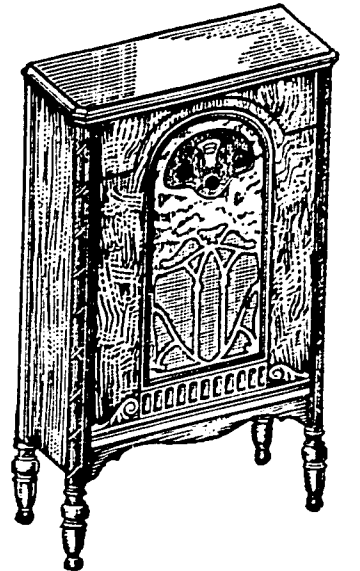

The average winter crew of men is around 60 to 70, with a maximum during silage cutting of 130. The bunk house has 52 rooms and is a three-story building, new and modern in every respect. The "hash-house" contains a modern kitchen and a dining room seating 140 people, ten men to each table. Two professional chefs prepare the food and it is served by a waitress. All of them are dressed in spotless white uniforms.

Carnation Farms is a very small part of the Carnation Corporation. Their various enterprises consist of numerous dairies and milk plants, grain mills and elevators, also factories for the production of breakfast foods. Their combined business transactions last year exceeded one and a half million dollars and this coming year is regarded as even more favorable to their interests.

Rovers Lose to Holyoke A. A.

By Noel

The Holyoke A. A. basketball team, one of the Paper City's leading semipro quintets and, undoubtedly, the smoothest playing combination brought here this season, easily defeated the Rovers on the town hall floor Wednesday night, 58 to 25. The Rovers, although greatly handicapped by their much superior opponents, played a hard game and received great credit from the crowd for their fine showing against this strong team. Ray Monahan, a member of the Churchill A. C., claimant of the city championship of Holyoke and Cal Roberts of the Falcons were the outstanding stars of the contest.

In the preliminary, the All Star girls' team of Holyoke downed the local maids, 42 to 7. The visiting quintet was made up of the leading players of that city and gave a fine exhibition of the hoop game. Summaries:

Rovers Defeat Supermans, 25 to 23

By Noel

The Rovers' basketball team turned in a neat victory last Saturday night on the town hall floor by downing the Superman A. C. quintet of Springfield in a well-played game, 25 to 23. The local five was the best team at the start and built up an early lead, which they held throughout the game, although the "fighting roosters" of Springfield threw a big scare into the home camp in the final period, scoring nine points to the Rovers' four, which almost tied the score.

The Rovers took a 5 to 0 lead in the first quarter. At the half-way mark, the local hoopsters were still out front, enjoying a 15 to 6 lead. But the Home City outfit was not to be outdone and began to do things in the third period and managed to cut the lead to seven points, and did still better in the last period, which has been stated above. The home team's lead, however, was the deciding factor in the victory and the reason they did not pile up more points was because they were missing many shots.

Elwyn Wood counted the first basket of the game, when he dropped the ball through the net from the vicinity of the foul line. The only other points scored in this period were Capt. Phil Dyer's floor goal and a gift toss by Stanley Rhodes. The visitors failed to score in this period. The home team kept up its good work in the second set-to and easily maintained its lead. The Supermans broke into the scoring column in this period with Reisner and Superman accounting for the points.

The last half was the feature of the game, with the Springfield hoopsters trying their best to overcome the Rovers' lead and return home as the triumphant "roosters", but it was all in vain. The local team had no individual star, for the entire outfit played a splendid floor game, while practically every player figured in the scoring, with Red McLean contributing the feature shot of the game, a neat, one-hand toss from the side of the court. Harry Kaplan and Chick Reisner were the losers' best performers.

In the preliminary, the Polish

Falcon girls' team of Chicopee defeated an all-star girls' quintet, made up mostly of local players, by a score of 24 to 11. The game was greatly enjoyed by the good-sized crowd, which attended the contests. Summaries:

Two Games Tomorrow Night

Manager Wilfrid Noel of the Rovers announces that his charges will play two games during the week-end. Tonight, the tribe will journey to Easthampton for a return game with the Whirlwinds of that town. The local team won the first game played here a few weeks ago by one point and another close contest is looked for in tonight's tilt. The following players are requested to be at the post-office at 6.30 p. m.: Capt. Dyer, Menard, McLean, Shumway, Wood, Rhodes and Boyko.

The team to furnish the opposition for the Rovers in the main game tomorrow night on the town hall floor at 8.30 is undecided as yet. A preliminary has been arranged for to be called at 7.45 o'clock. The Belchertown girls' team, playing its final game of the season, will be opposed by the Polish-American maids of Chicopee.

Local basketball fans who saw the latter team in action here last week will, no doubt, again be pleased to see that quintet opposed by the local regular girls' team.

The management of the Rovers also states that the games with the Holyoke quintets, played here on Wednesday night were arranged through Paul Barrett of that city, a former resident of this town and a great follower of the hoop game.

The basketball season is now fast coming to a close with many players packing up their suits for another season. A few more games still remain on the Rovers' schedule and it is hoped that these contests can be played off. Though the local team is not having a very successful season on the court, local supporters are taking great interest in these young players who, although opposed by much stronger opponents, are playing a wonderful game.

Next Wednesday night, the Rovers will play Tony Baldyga and his New City Canaries of Easthampton on the town hall floor at 8.15 p. m. Let's go!

It has indeed been a pleasure to spend five months here and we have both gained valuable information regarding the pure-bred cattle game. We leave here March 8th, and after visiting Portland, Seattle, Victoria, B. C., Frisco and Los Angeles, we shall sail from the latter city on the 17th for New York City.

The cruise of 5,000 miles takes down the coast of California, Mexico and Central America. Crossing between Central and South America via the Panama canal, we cross the Caribbean sea up to Cuba, then to the east coast to New York. Our boat is the newly built Panama Pacific liner "Pennsylvania", 630 feet long and 80 feet broad, with a gross tonnage of 33,000 tons. Stop-overs are made at all principal ports and the cruise will require 14 days. Unless there is a radical change in our schedule, we hope to land here again about April 5th, after the most eventful year of our lives, thus far at least.

Girl Scout Notes

The Girl Scout meeting was held at 3 p. m. Tuesday in the Scout rooms. After patrol corners were paired off and practised signalling. Mr. Knight gave us instructions on how to build bird houses, having several to show us. After the 9 o'clock night circle, we went home.

Exhibit Fire Apparatus

A demonstration of fire fighting apparatus was staged at the south end of the common yesterday afternoon. A La France pumper, just being delivered to the City of Springfield, was brought here for demonstration. When the Seagrave people heard of it, they asked the privilege of demonstrating their machine at the same time. This was allowed and so there was quite a bit of excitement in consequence.

Water was taken from the south well, lines of hose laid toward the center of the common and several tests made. A single stream was shot to the top of the flag pole, and later four streams were played at once over the trees.

The various pressure readings were taken down by the committee having the matter of investigation in charge. These will be tabulated and results compared. It was stated that the La France delivered more pressure, but many in the crowd seemed to be attracted by the Seagrave and its substantial appearance. Mechanics on the committee looked both machines over carefully to determine the respective value of the power units and drove the machines around the common.

The competing demonstrators wished one another good luck at the finish, but not until one of them had let loose a bet of $20, which was spurned, and tendered free cigars to the committee, which refused even this much pay.

Last Sunday the committee went to Broad Brook, Conn., to witness a demonstration.

Ladies' Social Union Supper

The Ladies' Social Union served a supper in the vestry of the M. E. church Wednesday evening. Strands of green crepe paper on the tables, green tinted napkins, shamrocks, Irish stew, and shamrock-adorned salads, betokened the fact that it was all in honor of St. Patrick. It was a hostess supper and the hostesses saw to it that the patrons had enough and to spare. When it came to ple, there was a staggering assortment to choose from.

And what do you know! While the waiters were ambling up and down the aisles with these pastry possibilities, who should invade the scene but "Amos 'n' Andy"! Through the courtesy of Bert Collis, a radio had been temporarily installed so that these much loved comedians might enter. This stunt has been going to be pulled off for some time, but this is the first time the "situation" has been handled.

As was the case with the supper, the entertainment had much of the Irish flavor, too. There were Irish songs by Mr. Matska and Miss Irene Matska, with Miss Eleanor Matska accompanist, and there were two readings by Mrs. Grindle, entitled, "St. Patrick was a Gentleman" and "The Birth of St. Patrick."

"Hanging out the Wash", a one-act play by Mrs. Amy Witt and Mrs. Bertha Conkey, dolled up as black comedians in red bandanas and attire to match, was the high spot of the entertainment. There was precious little wash hung out, (three pieces) and that not according to Emily Post, but there was much gossip and "ecstatic dancing" or rather "asthmatic dancing", judged by the results. The way Mrs. Johnson (Mrs. Amy Witt) went through exercise 24 or 27, or whatever it was, was a caution.

Mrs. Bertha Conkey vied for artistic honors with the breath-taking rendering of "Climb up, Ye Little Children."

The committee in charge of the supper was Mrs. Ruth Kempkes, Mrs. Alice Hubbard and Mrs. Belle Eaton. Mrs. Kempkes was in charge of the program.

1930 State School Program

Belchertown State school will be the scene of extensive building operations this season, with the erection of a new dormitory, an employees' cottage, an industrial building, a nursery, a mechanics' shop and a greenhouse, besides putting in 600 feet of tunnels, extending the sewerage system and building walks. There are also appropriations for furnishing and equipping the hospital building and installing an additional boiler, the total appropriations, exclusive of the maintenance fund, being about $313,500.

The hospital building, which came under the 1929 appropriations, will be completed at an early date, and furnished and equipped at an expense of $19,500, including $2,500 for the installation of an elevator. This building will have 60 beds for sick or operated patients and employees. On the ground floor are rooms for a dental suite, an X-ray suite, a modern laboratory, a dispensary, various examination rooms, two surgical dressing rooms, together with waiting rooms.

The next floor will be devoted entirely to the sick pupils of the school, with two six-bed wards and rooms for isolation cases. On this floor the nurse in charge of the hospital will have her private suite, and there will also be a reception room for visitors. On the next floor is the operating department with a dozen private rooms for surgical cases, which will likewise provide for the care of sick employees.

Another much needed building is the girls' industrial building to be erected at a cost of $50,000. This piece of construction will provide for the industrial department of the school with rooms for weaving and dyeing, rug making, fancy and hand work. The top floor will be a sewing room where a great deal of the clothing worn at the institution will be made. This will relieve the present congestion of class work and release the rooms now occupied in one of the ward buildings for the use of children who can best be employed within their own building.

Those who have visited the exhibit of this department each fall have marveled at the abundance of exquisitely fashioned work which has been evolved in spite of extremely limited accommodations for the pupils and instructors, so that to the public this building fills an obvious need.

The necessity for more beds in order to care for part of the waiting list is to be met by the construction of a $100,000 dormitory which will provide for 110 children. The plan of this dormitory is superior to those of previous construction, having the fire escape inside and changing the roof line from a hip roof to a full gable roof, which will result in a more attractive building.

Along with the dormitory will be a new employees' cottage, thoroughly fire proof, class A construction, which will provide accommodations for 20 employees. This building will cost $30,000.

A phase of the work which has scarcely been represented at the school is a nursery. This year will see the erection of a 50-bed building designed for young children and so arranged that practically everything is on the ground floor. This building, which is to cost $59,000, will make possible the admittance of children at a much younger age than have been cared for formerly.

The sum of $10,000 will be used to construct a utility shop for mechanics. This building will house the carpenter, blacksmith, machine and pipe shops, which now have crowded quarters in a basement room under the store.

Another much needed building is a greenhouse for starting the plants for the vegetable garden. With the short seasons of late years, it has been rather costly not to have had a greenhouse. This item has been allotted $1,500.

With all these new buildings, 600 feet of new tunnels will be necessary at a cost of $13,000. The excavation for these tunnels will be entirely by patient labor, and it is considerable of a proposition when it is considered that much of this tunneling is 25 feet below the surface of the ground.

For the extension of the sewerage system, $15,000 has been appropriated, which will complete the installation of the sewer lines at the institution proper. Other items of expenditure are $12,500 for the installation of an additional boiler, and $2,000 for continuing the construction of walks, including some grating also. Besides these expenditures, a sum of money has been set aside to purchase land of Fred T. Doerphol. This will add 60 acres to the property, making a total acreage of 785 acres.

This institution has grown rapidly in the last eight years, already numbering 980. By mid summer the former town farm buildings will be ready for occupancy and will provide accommodations for 50 boys. At present it is expected that the ultimate population may be 2,040, so that about half the bed capacity has been built already.

He's Missing Half the Music

THE night air nowadays is filled with music of remarkable accuracy of tone. The broadcasting stations have been accomplishing wonders in respect to improving their transmission. As a result, the ether waves that permeate cottage and mansion alike, now carry in their audio vibrations, sound reproductions of well high perfect fidelity.

But unless the person listening in is using a modern reproducer, which re-creates all notes from treble to bass, he will be missing half the charm of modern radio. The sets of a couple of years ago were greatly deficient in this respect of tone accuracy, and the man who is tonight using a 1926 or 1927 speaker is hearing not the gorgeous tone harmonies of 1930 radio, that are in the air, but merely a sort of "skimmed music, dated 1926" or whatever the year was when his outfit was made.

There is no TONE QUALITY equal in naturalness or fidelity of reproduction to that which is picked up by the Super Zenith screen grid circuit and made audible to you through the super size Zenith Syntonic-dynamic speaker. Pure, unadulterated, undistorted sound, whether it be voice, orchestra, the breath inhalation of a singer or the crash of man-made thunder. Zenith tone is "Humanized" tone at a whisper or at full volume.

Let a demonstration show you.

The Auxiliary Play

does everything from a sense of duty, and manages to make life miserable for everybody.

The fun and Irish wit of the two servants, Lizzie (Mrs. Harry Grindle) and Sarah (Mrs. Frank Rhodes), will afford you many a laugh. Mrs. Conti (Mrs. A. D. Moore), a talkative old Italian woman, introduces Madge (Miss Lillian Upham), a frail girl with a sweet disposition, whose young life has seemed somewhat a mystery.

Through the persistence of Aunt Euphelia, Marguerite (Mrs. Hazel Wunsch) is introduced. She is an ill-mannered girl, habitual user of slang, but good at heart and rising to the occasion, she saves an embarrassing situation. Then there is Peg (Miss Edith Atwood), a vivacious, earnest, sincere girl, always eager to make others happy, who becomes a match for Aunt Euphelia's schemes. Mrs. Barclay (Mrs. Winslow Piper) is a friend of Miss Weston, who through the efforts of Peg, experiences the happiest moment of her life.

Much time and hearty cooperation has been given to make this play a success and it is hoped the public will manifest much interest. Admission: adults, 35 cents; children under fourteen, 25 cents.

Faith and Friendship Night

Instead of our usual Faith and Friendship service on Friday night, we are embarking on a different adventure this week. The Rev. Robert Reed of Three Rivers has invited the Faith and Friendship Nighters to join with him in his Friday night service. Prof. McConnell of Boston University School of Theology is to be the speaker. Cars leave the church at 6.30. The service at Three Rivers begins at 7.30. All are welcome to go. Transportation will be furnished those who do not have cars if they will meet at the church.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE

W. Harold Snape, former Methodist pastor in Belchertown, is to be the guest preacher at the Sunday evening service this week. Mr. Snape is now Executive Secretary of the Goodwill Industries of Springfield. These industries seek to aid the friendless and unemployed not by charity, but by offering them a chance to work. Mr. Snape will preach on "Neighborliness." He will present his work and tell the personal results achieved. This task of helping men and women to rebuild their lives is an intriguing one. Come and learn about it. The collection taken will be given to Mr. Snape for the advancement of his work. Come, enjoy the service, and help this bit of constructive Christian social service.

Herd Tests 100 Per Cent

There is good reason for elation at the Holland Farm, as tests completed yesterday show that the herd at that place tests 100 per cent, something quite remarkable. There are 17 in the herd and all but three of these were raised at the farm. Those purchased were thorough-breeds.

Another test will be given in six months and if this is satisfactory, the herd will classify as Accredited.

Sermons in Song

By Rev. Rockwell Smith

The bluffest winds that March can blow
Are Winter's final wrath;
They prove to those who watch, that Spring
Treads down the season's path.
The foulest tempests of the soul,
The fiercest gales of Fate,
Can only prove Love's Spring will come,
Although she may be late.

Poultry Meeting

Seventeen attended the poultry meeting at Grange hall Monday evening. R. A. French started proceedings by introducing Mr. Stiles of the Amco mills, who in turn presented Joseph H. Bodwell, their service man, for five years a county agent in Hampden county. Although the meeting was held under the auspices of the organization for which Mr. French is agent, no mention was made of their feeds. The presentation was purely educational in nature.

Mr. Bodwell said we feed any animal to produce growth, to maintain and increase its weight and to get its commercial product. He said that protein promotes growth and that carbohydrates and fat put on flesh, and also stated that there are 18 different types of protein and that it has been proved that the more kinds there are in feed, the more economical it is in producing results. Alfalfa leaf meal was mentioned as an excellent vegetable protein.

Several charts were displayed. One showed the requisites necessary to produce the several parts of the hen's anatomy, another the average New York wholesale price of eggs for the last ten years, by months, while a third gave the grain consumption of a fowl from birth to old age. This last read as follows:

1st to 6 weeks 2 lbs all mash starter. 6 to 12 weeks 5 lbs. all mash grower. 12 to 20 weeks 6 lbs. all mash 6 lbs. scratch grain. 3 lbs. mash per month 3 lbs. grain per month. As per the above, Mr. Bodwell advised starting the chick on an all-mash ration. During the course of the evening, he advocated warm drinking water for poultry in winter, and lots of it as an egg is 65 per cent water, plenty of hopper space, and filling the latter from day to day as needed.

For those troubled with coccidiosis he advocated mixing tomatoes (fresh or canned) in the mash, for two days each week, putting in enough to make a crumbly mixture. He liked the idea of fresh soil on which to raise chicks, but he said that old land could be kept in condition if plowed, and if it wasn't, was likely to contaminate the new.

Brooder capacity, he said, could be computed by multiplying the number of square feet of floor space by 2 1/2. He advised large coal brooder stoves for the ordinary poultryman, and advocated a 10 watt lamp over the feeding trays during the night, the light to be tilted away from the stove.

Burlap coated with parawax on both sides was mentioned as better than glass and even better than manufactured products for window openings. It admits violet rays and keeps out wind and rain.

Mr. Bodwell said that the feeding of cod liver oil had been overdone, inferring that it paid to be temperate even in that. Too much of the oil, he said, produced excessive fat. In this connection he spoke of the superior qualities of green feed.

The speaker seemed to know whereof he spoke. He said that he had been enabled to go to college by reason of his ventures with hens and that he is still in the business, so his conclusions were not wholly theoretical.

At the close of the meeting, following the answering of questions, arrangements were made to visit on the next day the plants of those who cared to have a personal inspection of their flocks, and further light shed on their problems.

First Excise Warrant of Year

The assessors have submitted their first excise tax warrant of the year to Tax Collector C. G. Bartlett, who has sent out the tax bills. The warrant is for $2,956.76, covering around 400 cars.

The assessors announce that all who trade cars will have 60 days from the date of the transaction to file application in writing for abatement. Last year, owing to the newness of the law, there was some leniency, which will not be exercised this year.

With Our Subscribers

Letter from L. S. Parsons

My dear Mr. Blackmer:

It has occurred to me that possibly you and the readers of your paper would be interested in the daily life aboard one of the large ocean steamers that run between New York and the European cities, and so I will give you a short account of the daily life aboard the French line steamer, the De Grasse, which is named after the famous French General, Admiral De Grasse, who with Lafayette and Rochambeau played such an important part in the final surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., thus bringing to a successful conclusion our Revolutionary war.

At 11 a. m. on the 5th instant we steamed out of New York harbor, past the Statue of Liberty, out by Sandy Hook, and for the first two

Auxiliary Play

Those who attended the three-act play, "Three Pegs," given by the Auxiliary to Camp 83, Sons of Union Veterans, in Memorial hall Wednesday evening, have since been indulging in superlatives in describing it and that not without good reason. It surely was outstanding as to artistic merits. And the spot light of favor fell on no particular member of the cast, all being worthy of honor.

Much of the play centered around "Aunt Euphelia" (Miss Alice Hussey), the pious joy killer for everyone; the note of modernity was introduced with Mrs. Hazel Wunsch, one of the Pegs; Mrs. Frank Rhodes as the cook took care of all stomach pangs; her "sister", Lizzie, the Irish maid (Mrs. Harry C. Grindle) was perfectly irresistible; Mrs. Moore as the talkative Italian mother was a breath from the "foreign quarter"; Miss Lillian Upham, the undernourished girl and Miss Edith Atwood, the girl equal to all occasions, were the two other Pegs; Mrs. Piper was the fainting friend of forty; while Mrs. Gladys Ayers as Miss Emily Weston presided over the household with serenity, deciding all questions not cared for by "Aunt Euphelia."

Between the acts there was singing and ballet dancing by little Mary Young, niece of W. H. Young, a newcomer to Belchertown. This feature was well received. Miss Wheaton was accompanist and also furnished the opening musical number. Home-made candy was sold during the intermissions.

Principal Thomas Allen coached the play from the start and as a token of appreciation of his services, the players presented him with a silk scarf. Dr. A. E. Westwell of the State school had charge of the make-ups, and the background and colored lights were furnished through the courtesy of that institution.

A week from tonight the play will be repeated at the State school. This is the first time that a town production will have been given at the school.

There was a good attendance Wednesday evening. Proceeds will be between $40 and $50.

Baseball Season Opens

Spring is here, and with spring comes the baseball season. Belchertown High school began their battery practice this week and have some promising material.

Next week will see the entire squad at practice. There are nineteen candidates, of which the following are veterans: Menard, McLean, Garvey, Boyko, Hennemann, Serwatka.

A schedule of a dozen or fourteen games is being arranged, which are to be played on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Tells of The Goodwill Industries

The work of the Goodwill Industries of Springfield was presented Sunday evening at the Methodist church by Rev. W. Harold Snape, executive secretary, who told of the beginning of the work 35 or 40 years ago in Morgan chapel at Boston's South End.

From Boston the work spread across the country until by 1918 it had been established in all the large cities of the United States. About four years ago in 1926 the Goodwill Industries were begun in Springfield and since then $40,000 in wages has been paid to 250 individuals.

Mr. Snape showed one of the "miracle bags" which provides the life-giving fluid for the work and described the course of its contents at 139 Lyman St. The contents of the bag are first sorted and he said there was not a single article in the bags but what they could get some value out of. Some things are good only for salvage, some, like hoop skirts, are sold for costumes and some are taken by a man from New York or Boston and sent to Armenia, Syria, Turkey, Japan and India.

After sorting, some of the garments have to be stored away until the proper season for their use. Others are repaired, cleansed, pressed and then sent out to the Goodwill stores, where 1,000 people

Authority and Happiness

Walter Lipmann in his "Preface to Morals" declares that there has been a general breakdown in authority in the family, in politics, in art, and in religion. There is much truth in what he says. There was a time in New England when the Protestant minister was the only college educated man in the community, and he was considered an authority on many subjects other than religion. But now every Protestant clergyman knows that his people give to his words only that authority which they think his words are worth. The Roman Catholic Church has always spoken with more authority than has the Protestant Church, but the external authority there is not as great today as formerly. There is a breakdown of authority in the school. Less subjects are required today, and there are more electives. There is a decay of authority in the home. The children are allowed to do as they like. One goes so far as to say "There is nothing required."

But as Lippmann says again, "There is no freedom in mere freedom," and there is no happiness in a life which accepts no authority. Dr. Stocking is quite right in declaring that "the man who recognizes no authority is like a ship without a port." Smith and that "no normal man is really happy unless there is something which he feels he must serve." The happy people are those who live a life of struggle rather than one of ease, and a life of service rather than one of self-indulgence. Those who throw away all standards and all authority are not truly happy. Happiness comes not by throwing authority to the winds and by securing complete liberty, but by accepting the control of the highest authority, thus finding perfect freedom and joy.

days the ocean was like a mill pond, without a single white cap to be seen anywhere, but on the third day out, we ran into one of those eastern storms to be expected at this season of the year and which in a short time kick up an angry sea and bring on those mountainous waves which, as they bear down on the steamer, almost cause you to think you will be engulfed, but the steamer rides them well and shortly you are on the very top of the waves and looking down into a valley with another big wave coming on, and so it goes on, one big wave after another, with once in a while one so large that when it strikes the ship, it will cause it to shake from stem to stern.

With such a condition existing, our attendance in the dining room at meal times has grown less each day and at the present time of writing only about one-half of the passengers have any desire to be present. Fortunately Mrs. Parsons and the writer have felt no ill effects from that feeling known as seasickness, which causes one to first feel as though they would die, and as that feeling increases, not to care much if they did. One must have a real attack to know just what those feelings are.

Breakfast is from 7 to 9, at 11 hot bullion with crackers is served, from 12 to 2, lunch. At 2 p. m., horse racing, flat and steeple chase races. At 3 p. m., Punch and Judy show for children and grown-ups as well, at 4 p. m. moving pictures, most excellent ones being given; at 5 p. m., tea, cakes and sandwiches are passed around; 7 to 9 p. m., dinner; 9 p. m., instrumental concert, most excellent ones; and from 10 p. m. on dancing and cards and other games for those who enjoy such sports.

In this way one day after another passes on shipboard. To those who for one reason or another do not care for any of the amusements offered, there is an excellent library with all the up-to-date books, which are to be had for the asking. There is also published a daily paper which keeps us posted on the happenings of the outside world.

On account of the severe storms we are now passing through, we are likely to be a day late in reaching the port of Havre, France.

With the best of wishes, Cordially yours, Lawrence S. Parsons

Faith and Friendship Night

A rather unusual program is planned for the Faith and Friendship Night at the Methodist vestry Friday of this week. The discussion continues the series of Lenten meditations with the question: "Why Did Jesus Die?" Every age has asked this question. Each age must formulate its answer for itself. Come and bring an opinion with you. Come with an open mind, expecting to learn. Come ready to worship and to feel the challenge of the Lenten season.

The Leaguers of Fairview are to be the guests of the Belchertown League that night. Belchertown Leaguers will have charge of the program of entertainment. They invite you all to fellowship with them in this active way. Come out, have a pleasant evening, and show the young folks that you are standing behind them.

Married in Saxtons River, Vt.

A marriage of interest to Belchertown people took place Monday at Saxtons River, Vt., when Charles Edmund Snow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Snow of Holden, and Miss Evelyn Doris Stearns of Charlestown, N. H., were married by Rev. Walter R. Blackmer at the Congregational parsonage. Mr. Snow is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Randall of Park street and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Peck of Cottage street, both of his parents being natives of this town. Mr. Snow is a graduate of the schools of Holden and for four years has been connected with the New England Power company. Mrs. Snow is a normal school graduate and has been a teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Snow will make their home at Charlestown, N. H.

He's Missing Half the Music

THE night air nowadays is filled with music of remarkable accuracy of tone. The broadcasting stations have been accomplishing wonders in respect to improving their transmission. As a result, the ether waves that permeate cottage and mansion alike, now carry in their audio vibrations, sound reproductions of well nigh perfect fidelity.

But unless the person listening in is using a modern reproducer, which re-creates all notes from treble to bass, he will be missing half the charm of modern radio. The sets of a couple of years ago were greatly deficient in this respect of tone accuracy, and the man who is tonight using a 1926 or 1927 speaker is hearing not the gorgeous tone harmonies of 1930 radio, that are in the air, but merely a sort of "skimmed music, dated 1926" or whatever the year was when his outfit was made.

There is no TONE QUALITY equal in naturalness or fidelity of reproduction to that which is picked up by the Super Zenith screen grid circuit and made audible to you through the super size Zenith Syntonic-dynamic speaker. Pure, unadulterated, undistorted sound, whether it be voice, orchestra, the breath inhalation of a singer or the crash of man-made thunder. Zenith tone is "Humanized" tone at a whisper or at full volume.

Let a demonstration show you.

The people employed in the Goodwill Industries are of three classes. 1st, those who have grown old in the performance of every-day duties. 45 is old in the modern industrial life. The Springfield organization has among its workers four people whose ages total 302 years, an average age of 75 years. 2nd, folks that are handicapped physically or mentally, and who for that reason cannot find work in our industries. 3rd is a group of just unfortunate individuals. There are 150 on the list at the Springfield office, who would be glad to do work of any kind, but there is nothing for them.

An offering was taken for the work and bags were given to those desiring them. The Goodwill truck was in town Monday and will be here again in a month.

Death of Albert S. Brown

Albert S. Brown, 70, was found dead at his home on Egleston street Tuesday night by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Lincoln, on their return from Grange meeting. Mr. Brown returned Sunday night from a two weeks' visit with his son at Longmeadow, and, although he had been under the doctor's care since last fall, was evidently feeling much better and was apparently as well as usual when his granddaughter, Miss Madeline Lincoln, left him about 10 and went to bed.
Mr. Brown was born at Lunenburg, Vt., May 28, 1859, but spent part of his boyhood at St. Johnsbury, Vt. He married Ida W. Berry of Lebanon, N. H., Dec. 23, 1884, and lived most of his married life in Providence, R. I. On April 1, 1911, he purchased the Samuel Allen farm here, where they have since resided. Mrs. Brown died seven years ago.

Back from Florida

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard and son, Charles, returned Sunday from a trip to Florida in a house car. While they had traveled over 5,000 miles (the speedometer registered 2,691 going down, but blew up on the last day of the trip) home, as might have been expected, looked mighty good to these sightseers who left Belchertown the first week in December.

They went down by way of New York, where they visited children located there, but came back to these parts via the famous Bear Mountain Bridge. They saw sights galore, took in Washington on their return, etc., but one of the long to be remembered spots was Bok's Singing Tower at Lake Wales.

Of course the human element bulked large on the trip. On the day before they left Fort Myers, the point farthest south, they met "Clate" Green and "Ad" Moore, who were in the best of spirits, and they saw the Hazens both going and coming. The latter have three cottages besides their own at Camp Duval, ten miles north of Jacksonville, and all are full. The Howards report that the Hazens are enjoying their venture very much.

The house car fulfilled all expectations as to comfort and convenience, and the car itself caused almost no trouble. A tire valve was the only thing that went wrong.

But in spite of good luck, as before stated, these far flung travelers will probably for a few months at least, not find a spot more to their liking than the Howard home on John W. Jackson St.

Observes Anniversary and Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hadlock observed their 61st wedding anniversary last Saturday with a family party of 15. Among those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Worden and daughter of Townshend, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hadlock and children of Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. Hadlock have thirteen grandchildren living and twin girls for great grandchildren.

Mr. Hadlock also celebrated his 86th birthday on Tuesday of this week. Considering his years, he is remarkably active. Up until the present time he has maintained his license to drive a car, but he believes he will let it lapse now, by reason of his uncertain health.

Fire Department Busy

The fire department has been called to a number of fires this past week. In fact there were six calls Tuesday. One was to the Pratt farm on East Hill where fire destroyed a small building which was once a garage but which lately had been occupied by wood choppers. The blaze threatened the dwelling nearby, occupied by Louaine Squires and family, who less than a year ago were burned out of house and home when the old farmhouse on this place was destroyed.

While the fire truck was still at East hill, a call was sent in for a blaze at Hilcrest farm, where about 10 acres of woodland covered by young growth was burned over. A force of about 25 men fought the fire which was under control early
